THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOLUME 24, NUMBER 1.

KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1917.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

DR. WATERS A PRICE FIXER

AGGIE PRESIDENT HAS BEEN APPOINTED FOOD DIRECTOR OF KANSAS.

Cooperating With Herbert C. Hoover College Executive Will Have Entire Control of the Production and Consumption Activities in This State.

K. S. A. C. will probably see little of its college president this year. The appointment of Doctor Waters as federal food administrator for Kansas has been announced by President Wilson. Doctor Waters will have charge of the food conservation campaign in Kansas under the direction of Herbert C. Hoover, federal food director.

This appointment is the most important of recent posts which have been given Doctor Waters. August 13 it was announced that he had been made a member of the federal price fixing committee, and he hurried to Chicago at Mr. Hoover's request to meet with the wheat board, where he, a Kansan, represented the producing section of the United States. After the Chicago meeting had fixed the price of wheat and had adjourned, Doctor Waters left for Washington, where he met with the Hoover committee and acquainted himself with the work he is to do in Kansas.

The first appointment which came to Dr. Waters in the recent food drive was that of chairman of the Kansas state defense council. As executive of the Kansas State Agricultural College and an ardent advocate of increased production since he has been in Kansas, it is thought that there is probably no other man better fitted for the important post of food administrator of this state.

Details of the work which he will do in his new capacity have not yet been announced. Under the general plan, however, he will work to stimulate production in all lines and especially wheat acreage and live stock production. He will also handle the regulation of any industry in Kansas which may be decided upon by Mr. Hoover.

COLLEGIAN NEEDS REPORTERS, and the Reporters Need the Collegian Credit—Sign Up.

Wanted—Reporters, about 30 of them. One hour credit given. Inquire at Collegian office.

That is the want ad that might be inserted by the Collegian if more news chasers do not show up than were on the paper last spring. When the wholesale exodus of students commenced, The Collegian force was cut into half, then third and the year ended with only three or four students actively on the job. This leaves an opening this fall, and students who have had elementary journalism, or who have had previous experience as reporters, will be granted one hour's credit, if their application is approved, and their work satisfactory.

The Collegian contest will be run this year as usual, prizes being awarded to the highest ranking reporters. The five students who have the highest number of inches of their copy accepted will be listed in the masthead of The Collegian each week under the caption, "Five Leading Reporters."

PRESENTED A FARCE COMEDY.

"Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" Played in Summer School.

"The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," a farce comedy, was presented by the college summer school students July 28. The play was under the direction of Dr. J. G. Emerson, head of the department of public speaking.

The leading parts were taken by Miss Virginia Sherwood of Manhattan and Ivan L. Farris of Norwich. The remaining parts were taken by Lee Jewett of Burlington, Harold Snell of Douglas, William Pierce of Manhattan, C. B. Cross of Garnett, George Gibbons of Manhattan, Miss Garnett Glover of Iola, Miss Grace Lightfoot of Manhattan, Miss Nellie Oldham of Winfield, Miss Helen Boyd of Norton, and Miss Myra Hoffman of Manhattan.

"Jack" Kreamer in France.

"Jack" Kreamer of Jewell City, a member of the Beta fraternity here, 1915-16, is now in France with Uncle Sam's artillery.

FRESH TO MEET AT THE Y. M.

Christian Association Will Hold Open House This Week.

Open house will be held at the Y. M. C. A. for new men Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is the announcement made by Homer Cross, president of the cabinet of the Young Men's Christian association. Plans are being made by Herbert Moyer for entertainment these evenings. New students are requested to attend these open house meetings.

A big meeting is being planned for Thursday evening, at which time bible classes will be organized to be taught by trained leaders. This is the first time there has been a unified co-operation between the Christian organizations of the city and college to enroll the new students in bible classes. Those not enrolled before Friday evening will be canvassed by the Y. M. and Y. W. at that time. Classes will be established to accommodate those in rooming houses where there are enough students to make this work possible.

A chicken pie supper will be given Monday evening at 6:15 o'clock at the Presbyterian church for new men. Important men about the college will speak and everyone will get acquainted.

BIG SISTERS MEET TRAINS

Y. W. Committees are Busy Helping Freshman Girls.

Big sisters are real friends to new girls and are on the job more than ever before. An attempt is being made to reach every girl in college. The reception committee is busy meeting trains and showing the new girls to their rooms. The girls are going at the work in the same spirit as last year and the indications are that they will be equally successful. It is the opinion of Mildred Inspey, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A.

There are always chances of girls who have not been assigned rooms by the committee and who have secured rooms through other people, being overlooked. It will be appreciated if anyone knowing of such a girl will report the case to the Y. W. Tea will be served all day Monday and Tuesday until the assembly Wednesday in the rest room of the home economics building by the ladies of the advisory board of the association. All college girls will be welcome.

Vesper service will be held in joint meeting with the Y. M. and Y. W. in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening September 13 at 7 o'clock. Start the school year right by attending the meeting.

An Early Candle Light party will be given by the big sisters in the college gymnasium Saturday evening, 15, from 7 to 9 o'clock. Every girl in college is invited.

EDDIE WELLS IS IN FRANCE!

Star Athletic May be a Member of Pershing's Force.

Where is Eddie Wells? Last year's football and basketball star received a second lieutenant's commission at the close of the Fort Riley training camp, was chosen as one of the selected few who are to go to France immediately, was seen in Kansas City August 26 on his way to report at Hoboken, N. J., August 23, and has not been heard from since. The supposition is that Eddie probably boarded a transport for the trenches, and that he may now be one of Pershing's men on the other side of the Atlantic.

Wells—or rather, Eddie, for everyone knew him by his first name—made the unique record of winning places on Missouri valley football and basketball years in his first year of valley competition. He was a fullback in the gridiron game and played a guard position on the basketball five.

AGGIE MAN FIRST FROM RILEY.

Wright E. Turner is Now at Camp Funston With National Army.

Wright E. Turner, college student and track athlete, is the first man to be sent by Riley county in the draft. Turner left here Saturday for Camp Funston. He was a member of the Epsilon Epsilon Epsilon fraternity.

Only 5 per cent of the men drawn in the first draft are to report in the first quota. The remainder will be called in installments, the next call being September 19, when 40 per cent of each county's quota will be sent.

NO GLOOM IN AGGIE CAMP

CLEVENGER'S ELEVEN HAS BEEN HIT HARD BY WAR—SO HAVE OTHERS.

Ten Letter Men May Report at First Call of Aggie Athletic Mentor—"Germany" Shultz is Back to Begin Work With Line-men.

Eddie Wells won a commission. "Big" Doderill joined the matrimonial army. "Lefty" Husted became a pedagogue.

Carl Roda decided to stick to the farm. "Pete" Ptacek said he wasn't coming back at all, and then changed his return date to October 1, maybe.

Gingery enlisted in the engineers corps, and is headed for France. Captain Barnes, "Cap" Skinner, "Rasty" Wright and "Heine" Bayer were graduated.

And yet, looking over that list of catastrophes, calamities and hard luck dope, Coaches Clevenger and "Germany" Shultz smiled Saturday. And here are the why's of the smile.

Weak at Lawrence.

K. U. is not sure of more than three regulars back.

Missouri may have three regulars, and she may have six, all depending on whether Uncle Sam wants a Kansas City ambulance corps, in which three Tigers are enlisted.

Nebraska will return six letter men. But then the Aggies were shoved off the Husker schedule so the condition at Lincoln bothers the Aggie Athletic mentors very little.

At Ames, six old men are expected. Drake looks for five veterans. Washington's team is only a shadow of the plucky aggregation of former years.

And We Have Ten Letter Men.

On top of all this, these are the probable "K" men who will trot on the newly-sodded athletic field this afternoon under the direction of Captain "Stiff" Randels: Randels, L. Ptacek, Clark, Slattery, Oliver, Whedon, Enlow, Sullivan and Harwood. By October "Pete" Ptacek will be added to the squad, making ten letter men, the biggest squad of veterans returned by any school in the valley.

True, Eddie Wells, all-Valley fullback, is gone, but football fans who remember the conduct of one Nathan Harwood on the occasion of the Washburn-Aggie game last year, will not worry much about the fullback position. Nate's work in that contest sent Washburn enthusiasts away wagging their heads and wondering what would have been their luck had the regular Aggie fullback not broken his shoulder. For Nate hit the line hard, and seldom made gains of less than five yards.

Clark a Field General.

The generalship of Johnny Clark is another asset not to be overlooked. Clark, in his first year, took the quarterback job on the Aggie eleven just before three of the hardest games of the season were to be played, those with Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma. And Johnny piloted the Clevenger men to a tie with Kansas and a victory, each time by a single point, over both the Tigers and the Sooners.

Whedon is a shifty, heady, aggressive athlete who can play almost any position on the team. He may be used as an open center, or Clevenger may place him at tackle.

"Whedon is the ideal end, fast on his feet and heady, but I can't afford to waste 180 pounds on an end job, when my team may not average 165 pounds," Clevenger says.

Sully to "Come Back."

Sullivan is a player who may find himself this year. Sully's crippled foot hampered his work last year, but the former St. Mary's athlete says that the pad is all right this year, and he hopes to be returning punts with the form he showed in 1915.

L. Ptacek and Oliver, and possibly Sullivan will form a pair of well-built, but speedy half-backs. Enlow will be a valuable man at end if he continues in college long enough to get into action. He has an application to be sent to an aviation camp, and will continue his college work until the order to report is received.

Captain "Stiff" Randels and Slattery are the two most likely end candidates. "Slats" has been a mighty good substitute for two seasons, and as for "Stiff" there isn't an awful lot to say, because the Anthony streak is well enough known. However, those not acquainted with "Stiff's" playing had better wait until the speedster gets into action against K. U. before forming any conclusions about the Aggie leader's worth.

Part of the Squad.

With the "dope" very uncertain as to how many of the 1916 freshman and "scrubs" will return, the following is a list of athletes almost certain to report:

Fullbacks—Harwood, Bogue, Halfbacks—L. Ptacek, Oliver, Sullivan, Wooster, Yeoman, Guilfoyle, Hinds.

Quarterback—Clark, Sullivan, Hinds. Ends—Captain Randels, Slattery, Enlow, Dickerson, Keys, Enlow. Tackles—E. Ptacek, Whedon, Gates. Guards—Fletcher, Aye, Frankenhoff.

Centers—Whedon, Gates, Aye.

Brink to Texas Job.

Wellington Brink, until last week city editor of the Manhattan Nationalist and a graduate of the department of industrial journalism at the college, has accepted a position with the publicity department of the Texas A. & M. college, which is located at College Station, Tex.

HARD WORK FOR THE AGGIES

Four Valley Contests are Listed on Schedule Coach Clevenger has Prepared.

The hardest football schedule in Aggie history will be the one faced by the Clevenger-Schultz combination this fall. The athletes have less than three weeks to condition for the Baker game, September 29, and as a Missouri valley ruling prohibits the coaches from taking a part in the practices until September 15, the squad will be under the leadership of Captain "Stiff" Randels until Saturday.

Missouri, Kansas, Ames and Washington, all Missouri valley institutions, will be the most difficult games on this year's Aggie bill. The four games are consecutive, too, with Missouri leading off October 13 with a game to be played at Columbia, followed by games with Washington and Kansas on the Aggie field, and then a battle with Ames at Ames.

In addition to the valley contests, the game November 10 with the Emporia Normal promises to be no small battle, as the Emporians defeated the Aggies two years ago, and only spectacular work by "Stiff" Randels last year won a close—closer than the score indicates—14 to 9 frasco from the Teachers last year.

The Aggie schedule follows: Sept. 29—Baker at Manhattan. Oct. 6—Oklahoma A. & M. at Manhattan. Oct. 13—Missouri at Columbia.

Oct. 20—Washington at Manhattan. Nov. 3—Kansas at Manhattan. Nov. 10—Iowa State at Ames. Nov. 22—Kansas Normal at Manhattan. Nov. 29—Washburn at Topeka.

AGGIE MEN OFF FOR BRAZIL.

Reed Weimer and Louis Howard Chosen for Important Work.

Two of the four men from the United States who will develop purebred cattle herds for the Brazil Land, Cattle and Packing company are Kansas State Agricultural college men. They are Reed Weimer of Fredonia and Louis Howard of Hutchinson. They have already left for San Paulo, Brazil.

Murdo McKenzie, representing the Brazil company, came to the United States some months ago to obtain four college men for cattle development, and was so greatly impressed by the work of the animal husbandry department here that he chose half his men from this institution.

Four Duroc-Jersey hogs have been purchased from the animal husbandry department by Mr. McKenzie's company and will be shipped to Brazil.

First Lieutenant Cliff Stratton, '13, had rented apartments in Manhattan and it was expected that Mrs. Stratton who until their marriage last month was Miss Lenore Monroe of Topeka, had planned to attend college here, but Lieutenant Stratton was ordered to report at Deming, N. M., instead of at Camp Funston, and the plans had to be changed. The camp at Deming is for national guardsmen.

A CO-ED COLLEGE?

MEN MAY BE IN THE MINORITY THIS YEAR, MISS MACHIR THINKS.

MANY FRESHMEN ENTERING

First Year Students More in Evidence Than Ever Before—First Classes Will Meet Wednesday Afternoon.

A gentle sprinkling of alarm clock ringings, which began in the western portion of Manhattan as early as 4:30 o'clock this morning, had become general over the city by 6 o'clock, by which time probably 400 of the anti-slumber machines had dealt knock-out blows to the rest of probably 1,000 students and prospective students, all intent on getting in line early in an effort to get assigned early that, though vain, thrilled with bravado. For few of them will succeed.

Exactly one-fifth of the students thusly aroused jumped from their couches of repose, hurriedly but properly attired themselves, and then made a bee-line for Nichols gymnasium, dodging in at an Aggieville restaurant, on the way, to grab a ham sandwich. The other four-fifths rolled over at Big Ben's summons, turned the little lever on the clock from "on" to "off," and with a mumbled, "I'll get that assignment tomorrow morning," turned back to their slumbers.

War has Hit Hard.

And thus started the first day of enrollment for the college year on 1917-18, as years upon years have been begun in the past. The students form in long lines, lines that are shorter than usual, mute testimony that war has already called, and has not found Aggie men deaf.

Just how many Aggies have enlisted? How many are staying on the farm? How many, because the shekels in Dad's purse are fewer this year than before, are unable to return? And just how many will return?

These are questions being asked, but are not being answered. Miss Jessie McD. Machir, registrar, doesn't know, she says, and dodges anyone who pushes her for a prediction on the actual number.

Plenty of Coeds.

"I'll be girls, girls, girls," was Miss Machir's only prophecy. "How many boys will enroll, I don't know. The only figures that I will give out on the enrollment will come Wednesday noon, and we'll know what's what then."

The number of freshmen, Miss Machir thinks, will approximate the enrollment of first year students last year. Letters by the hundreds, asking for information regarding the engineering courses here, have been pouring into Miss Machir's office. A special campaign this summer to secure engineering students is probably the cause of the flood.

Camp Funston a Help.

Several new factors enter into the girl enrollment. The prospects are good for a number of girls who have sweethearts at Camp Funston, and perhaps an equal number who are on the lookout for 'em, coming to college here in order that they may be close to the men at the post. Then, too, there are a large number of "war brides" who live in Manhattan, and go to college while "hubby" soldiers sit at Camp Funston.

As in years before, the upperclassmen will enter the gymnasium at the northeast door and the freshmen and new students will enter at the west. A departure in the usual procedure is the giving out of numbers in the auditorium instead of at the gymnasium doors. The advantages of the new plan are that as soon as the numbers are given out, students may be free until their numbers are called at the door. The numbers will be called in quotas, as before. Another advantage is that in case of inclement weather—and there is usually a soaking rain due when the students roll into town—there would be no long lines of students standing out in the open.

The Freshman's Program. Another change is that the entrance fees are paid after the assignments are given out, along with the laboratory fees. A special list of all laboratory fees has been prepared for the new semester plan.

Here is the order of events for the freshman:

1. Receive number at northwest door of auditorium.
2. Enter northwest door of gymnasium when number is called.
3. Meet special committees on second floor of gymnasium, if student is not regular in his work.
4. Register in southwest room of gymnasium.
5. Pay Collegian subscription.
6. Receive record cards (old students receive dean's cards.)
7. Have assignment checked.
8. Pay student entrance and laboratory fees.
10. Leave gymnasium room by north door.

Classes Start Wednesday.

The registration starts this morning at 9 o'clock and continues until Wednesday noon. Classes scheduled to meet Wednesday afternoons will be held the first week, and students are expected to report at the classes with both lessons and books. After leaving the gymnasium, students are told to hunt up their classrooms, and they will find the assignments for the first few days work posted on the class room doors or the blackboard.

WANT WOMEN AS ENGINEERS

War Has Cut Down Supply of Men—Europe Using Women in Shops.

One hundred fifty young women studying to be electrical engineers—that is the goal which the engineering division of the college has set for the coming year.

Because of the war, men are already lacking for many engineering positions, and the supply will before long will still be smaller.

"Women are being employed as power plant operators in the largest central stations of Europe," commented Clarence E. Reid, professor of electrical engineering, "and are found entirely satisfactory. None of the machinery in these stations is operated by hand, but is all controlled by various forms of electrical motors, set into operation by the touch of a button, or by electro-magnets or air pressure, controlled in the same manner, so that physical strength is not at all necessary. Work of this sort is less tiring and less confining than many forms of work in which women are now engaged, for central stations operators may use seats freely, and have more variety of movement in their work."

In the United States telephone manufacturers and other employers of engineers are urging that women take up this field of activity. Desirable qualifications for entering upon engineering study comprise ability in mathematics and interest in scientific study.

IVY FULLER IN PICTURE.

Former K. S. A. C. Girl Makes Screen Debut in "Skinner's Baby."

So far the only entree for fame and fortune as a motion picture actress from the ranks of former students of K. S. A. C. is Miss Ivy Fuller, who every former student of recent years will remember, she being one of the most popular co-eds during her college life. Miss Fuller is now with the Essanay Film Mfg. Co. of Chicago, and made her debut in professional pictures in "Skinner's Baby" with Bryant Washburn. The "Skinner" pictures are among the most famous made the past year and extremely popular where shown. "Skinner's Baby" being the third of the series adapted from Henry Irving Dodge's famous stories. "Skinner's Baby" will be presented at the Marshall theatre on Tuesday, Sept. 11th, usual shows and prices, and will undoubtedly prove very interesting to the host of friends and acquaintances of Miss Fuller. She was selected by the Essanay Co. after having won the honors at the beauty contest held at the Movie Ball given in Kansas City early last spring.

Miss Story to Mankato.

Miss Marie Story, a prominent Manhattan girl and a graduate of the college in the class of 1917, left last week for Mankato, where she will have charge of the domestic science and art work in the high school the coming year.

Miss Helen Helm has been teaching in Tennessee during the summer.

"DADDY" WALTERS RETIRES

HE IS THE OLDEST MEMBER OF THE KANSAS AGGIE FACULTY.

Since 1876 Head of Architectural Department Has Been Active Figure on the Campus, Well Known by Students—Bak. to Succeed Walters.

Dr. J. D. Walters, who has served 41 years on the teaching staff of the college and who has been known by every student who has attended the institution since 1876, has been made professor of architecture emeritus in view of his long and efficient service as head of the department of architecture and drawing. This announcement has been made by Dean J. T. Willard, acting president in the absence of Dr. H. J. Waters.

Doctor Walters is the oldest person in point of service in the institution. He began his work with the college as instructor in industrial art. Since 1904, he has been professor of architecture and drawing. For many years he was editor of the Kansas Industrialist.

Has Been Well Known.

Doctor Walters has always been a college figure. Invariably at chapel exercises he would sit on the front row of the stage seats reserved for the faculty, always on the east end of the row and almost always by himself.

Cecil F. Baker of Chicago has been appointed to take Doctor Walters' place as professor of architecture and drawing. Mr. Baker has made a success as an architect in Chicago, and has done considerable writing on architectural subjects. He is a member of several important architectural societies and has held offices of responsibility. He studied in England, France and Italy in 1909.

Many other changes have been made in the teaching staff of the college. Vacancies have arisen because of war conditions. Several professors have reported for military service. There have been the usual number of resignations for other reasons.

The Other Changes.

H. B. Cummings, for several years professor of education in the West Tennessee State Normal, will be assistant professor of education in the college. Miss Flora Monroe of Dayton, Ohio, will direct the cafeteria. Miss Genevieve E. Parker of Boulder, Colo., has been appointed instructor in public speaking. M. W. Furr of Chicago will be instructor in highway engineering. John H. Parker has been appointed assistant professor in farm crops. L. H. Fairchild, fellow last year, will be assistant in dairy husbandry. Carl Homes of Kalamazoo, Mich., will assist in shop practice.

W. F. Pickett of Manhattan will be assistant in plant propagation and foreman of the greenhouse. W. S. Stevens of Columbus, Ohio, has been appointed associate in stock remedy analysis. Dr. H. F. Lienhardt of the University of Pennsylvania will come here as instructor in bacteriology. T. K. Vincent, a Kansas State Agricultural college graduate, will be temporary assistant in steam and gas engineering.

WANTED—NAMES OF SOLDIERS.

Collegian Will Print List of Men in Uncle Sam's Service.

The Collegian wants a list of all Aggie students who are in the service of Uncle Sam. A partial list is now available, giving the names of those who were commissioned at the Fort Riley training camp, but The Collegian wants to collect the names of all men who have joined the service in one big list, if that be possible. The only way this aim can be reached is through the students. Hand in the names of the students you know who have enlisted, been drafted, or who are officers, and the list will be published soon.

"Kit" Branches Out.

Elmer Kittell, former college student, who has been running a clothing establishment in Aggieville for the past eight years, now has a branch store downtown. The new Kittell store is on South Fourth street. Kittell will probably manage the downtown store himself, and Lawrence Endicott, also a graduate of the college, will have charge of the Aggieville establishment.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1917.

BEGINNING THE NEW YEAR.

This is the first issue of The Collegian for the college year of 1917-18. The Collegian begins the new year with no changes in policy, no changes from last spring in the men at its head, but with a renewed purpose to give the maximum in service to the student body for the support given by the students.

For the benefit of men and women new to K. S. A. C., we will say that The Collegian is not a money-making proposition. The paper belongs to the subscribers in the student body, and these subscribers elect a board of five to administer the paper. It is the duty of this board to see that The Collegian "keeps out of the hole," yet, they demand that an even balance be kept between the income and the disbursements. When the finances allow, small improvements are made in the paper, an extra member added to the staff or an extra column added to the paper's width, at the option of the board.

In the past, The Collegian has been a six-column, four-page newspaper. This year an attempt will be made to keep the paper standard newspaper width, seven columns to the page. Whether or not the trial is successful is dependent on this one factor: the disbursements must not exceed the income.

As to The Collegian's news and editorial policy, it stands for the fair and square deal. Every student with a prospect that will advance K. S. A. C. deserves encouragement, and The Collegian intends to help him. But it will take just as much pleasure in "lawing out" the parasite, whose aim is to receive, but not to give.

The Collegian is essentially a student paper, and it wants to feature the Aggie man or woman who is up and doing, who is progressive, who is thinking a bit ahead of the crowd.

Staffless and reporterless, The Collegian this issue is but a shadow of the peppery college paper that it will be when the entire force of news-chasers hits its stride. The Collegian will then contain news—lots of it—that will interest YOU. Does it deserve your support?

THE EDITOR.

THE BUSINESS MANAGER.

FROM HEART TO HEART.

Tacked above the desk of a downtown business man is this greeting: "If you spit on the floor at home, spit on the floor here. We want you to feel at home."

Mr. Freshman, that bit of advice is the best in the world—if you don't take it too literally. What it means to you is this: If you have been a leader in athletics at home, be a leader here; if you have been a good-hearted, congenial chap at home, be that same person here; if you have had to conserve at home, don't be a spendthrift here; if you have worked hard for what you have received at home; work just as hard here—for we want you to feel at home.

A freshman's greatest mistake is that he picks out the unusual college man, the flashy dresser and spender and the loafer, as the type he should imitate. And straightway he drops the aims and ideals that he brought from home, grows lax in his work, and, following in the footsteps of some older student, goes a pace that ends in his being given a dishonorable discharge from the institution.

So, for a while, remain just as you were at home. Pick your friends and your ideals carefully. Progress, but don't confuse the term, and think that it means living higher, staying up later at nights or spending more money. For—

We want you to feel at home.

A move in the right direction is the decision of Miss Machir's to have the registration numbers handed out at the auditorium instead of at the gymnasium doors. It does away with the long waits that have made the task of getting out an assignment one to be looked forward to be looked forward to with little joy.

EMERITUS TITLE TO "DADDY."

When a college professor is close enough to his students that they give him an affectionate nickname, he has won their hearts. Such a man is "Daddy" Walters, known in the dignified college catalogue as Dr. J. D. Walters, who has retired from active teaching in the institution, and has been granted the title of professor of architecture emeritus.

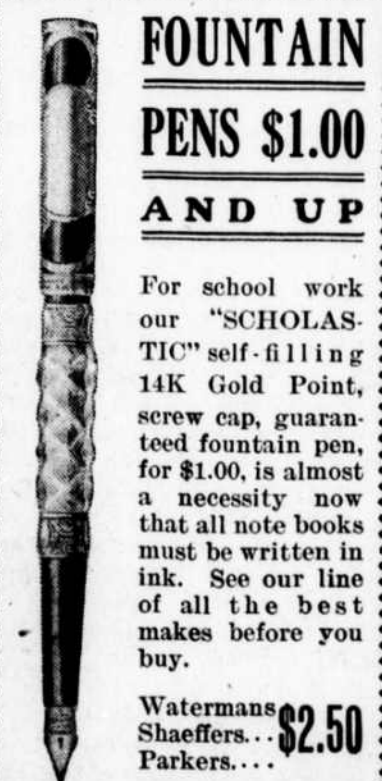

The football situation looked most very gloomy just after "Pete" Placek announced that he would go into football retirement this year. There was a scanning of the lists on the parts of Clevenger and Schulz for a man to take "Pete's" place, and no one was found. On top of that, "Dod" Dodrill, the other star tackle Clevenger has been counting on, sent in a nicely engraved wedding announcement to the Aggie mentors, announcing that the big tackle had enlisted for war—although he was not entering the service of Uncle Sam. Then "Pete" helped matters out a little by writing back that he was coming, not until October 1, but that he was coming anyway, and football matters took on a different aspect.

Tom Neeley is one of the Kansas high school stars who will be wearing the Purple and White of K. S. A. C. next year. Neeley will enroll today in the dairy husbandry course. When Neeley was but a sophomore in the Enterprise high school, he stepped the 220-yard dash in 22 2-5 seconds, and has been going at a better clip each successive season. Last spring he went to Chicago at Coach Stagg's invitation and won the quarter-mile dash from the classiest field of high school quarter milers in the country at the big Chicago interscholastic meet.

Jack Evans, Osage City's prize sprinter, is another high school star who will be an Aggie student after today. Track fans who watched the Osage speedster set two new marks and tie another in the Kansas high school meet here this spring are waiting to see what will happen when the diminutive sprinter gets into action against K. U. and Missouri within a few years.

The athletic field that nearly 1500 Aggie students labored on last November is showing the effects of that work. The Bermuda grass has grown to form a closely-knit sod which is expected to hold up under the tramping of the Aggie pigskin booters during the coming season.

AGGIE BAND MAKES A HIT

PHILADELPHIANS SAY IT IS THE BEST THERE IN AGES.

Boys Have a Steady Job Playing for Concerts, Dances and Ball Games.

Burr Ozment's crack Aggie cadet corps band, now with the First Regiment, Marines, is carrying Philadelphia by storm. The boys are dated full, playing engagements at dances, ball parks, and in the amusement parks of the city. An interesting letter received by Dick Richardson from his brother, K. T. Richardson, both Aggie students, tells of the band's success in the Quaker town. Richardson is a member of the Ozment organization.

The letter follows: "Dear Brother:—We were supposed to play for a smoker tonight but it rained and we didn't have to. Sure am glad as we are being worked pretty hard lately. We have to get out and rag around on two parades, then get the dickens if we don't play just so on concerts. Of course, we have to practice for concerts so you see we don't get much liberty. Supposed to have had liberty yesterday afternoon, but we had to go up town and play for a dance until 11 o'clock at night. The worst of it was we had to work our heads off while the sailors or flat-foet got to dance and talk to the girls. Of course, dancing did not worry me any, but the thought of playing for flat-foet was what hurt. We got all the ice cream, cookies and lemonade we wanted.

"Guess I told you we got to play for a military stunt in the American League ball park. Received lots of applause but didn't stay to see the second game.

"Thought They Would Leave. "Well, it looked for a while as though we would be sent somewhere, but it don't look that way now. Sometime ago we were all sworn in as a second class band and examined again, so that places us where they can send us any time. Our clothes were all checked and we were told not to wear any more of the old Aggie uniform, but being one of the first signs of a change, our captain was provided with everything pointed toward our leaving. Of course, we all got a little excited and thought we were to leave soon but our captain has made arrangements for us to play for some big Red Cross affair on September 9, so I guess we will be here, that long.

Band Is Commended.

"They say we are the best band they have had here for ages and they may take a notion to make us a post band. That means stay here. However, we are just in for time of war and they may send us any time. We are with the First regiment and will stay with it if our captain has his say. They sure think we are some band here. The colonel of inspection was here the other day and complimented us very highly on our music and the bunch in general.

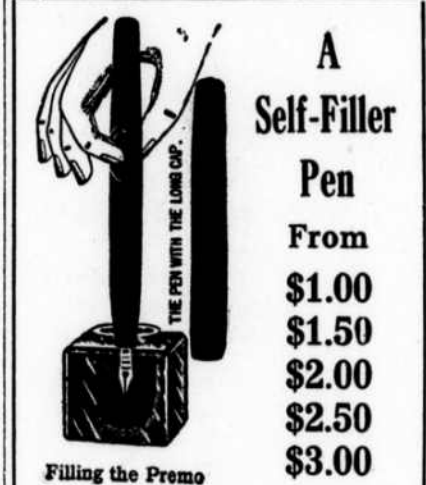

"I think we will know and be allowed to write home if we leave."

DRILL ON MONDAY THIS YEAR.

Hours Have Been Grouped—Distinguished Institution Again.

Military drill has been switched from a three-afternoons-a-week subject to Monday morning, when all three of the required hours of drill will be given. Until the number of students is known, the organization of the cadet corps can not be forecasted. W. B. Wendt, who will be in charge of the military department in the absence of a regular army officer, and Maj. Fred Carp, student head of the cadet corps, are hoping that enough freshmen and sophomores will be enrolled to make at least two battalions.

A clothing store that makes you feel at home

HOME is the place where a man does just as he pleases; everybody is glad to see you and you have your own way.

One of our ambitions is to have students feel at home in this store; to cultivate all through the place an air of congeniality and good-will; not anxious to sell something, but eager and willing to be of service.

One of the best ways we know of inspiring confidence and understanding is to have fine stocks of Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes here for you to choose from. Most men know what these goods are; that they stand for the highest achievement in clothes-making. When a man buys one of these suits or overcoats he knows that he will get all-wool fabrics, good style and fit, and his satisfaction is assured.

We'll be glad to have you come in any day and see these good clothes. You'll feel right at home here the minute you come in the door; you're the head of the house; what you says goes.

AND WILSON SALUTED BACK

PRESIDENT RUBBED AGGIE MAN'S ELBOWS.Former Student, Now a Soldier, Is Seeing the Sights in Nation's Capital.

A Kansas Aggie rubbed elbows with President Wilson the other day. In a letter to a friend here, the former student, now a corporal in the Second Engineers and stationed at the American University grounds in Washington, D. C., tells of life at the Capital city, of the parades and reviews, and of the senate in action. Here are parts of the letter:

"To begin with, we have fixed up the camp considerably, which makes me believe that we will stay here for some little time. Last Saturday the entire regiment passed in review before Secretary Baker at the army and navy building. It was about a 14-mile hike altogether, but was not nearly so tiresome as a 5-mile hike at El Paso. The Second Engineers was the only regiment to pass in review.

The President Saluted.

"Yesterday was the big parade on Pennsylvania avenue. * * * That certainly was one event I'll never forget. I saw President and Mrs. Wilson several times during the day. The President led the parade, walking in ordinary dress between three men who were in dress. The Marine Band, of course, was the leading musical organization. The parade lasted for more than two hours. We were not in it. Every other outfit within a radius of fifty miles was. * * * You will probably see the parade in the Hearst Weekly Movies. I saw the parade at Thirteenth street. I noticed the movie machine was pointed my way, so it might be that you can see me—three of us are lined up together along the rope.

"After the parade and after having supper, two of us decided to go to the National theatre. We asked a cop if there was a chance to see the President. He looked us over and told us to stand next to the side entrance, and if he was to come, we could see him. So we did this. Within ten minutes, here came a line of cars and all stopped quickly right in front of us. Before we knew it, the President was standing on the curb before us. We saluted, he returned the salute, and touched our elbows with his left hand as we were saluting. There was a little thrill sent through both of us, and I don't believe we are quite over the shock yet. The show itself was about the best I have ever seen. We got good balcony seats for $1.50 each.

LaFollette was Storming.

"Something I have forgotten to speak of was the fact that I have seen the senate in action three times. * * * When discussing the revenue tax on large incomes, LaFollette was indeed in a radical condition. He paced the floor back and forth and yelled so loudly that it was impossible to understand him up in the gallery.

"* * * The uniform of a soldier sure is a pass anywhere in Washington. To get into the Senate chamber as just like walking in as if we owned the whole Capitol. No passes are required for us."

For good service and good eats go to the Students Inn, Aggieville.

TWO BATALIONS OF CADETS

MORE STUDENT SOLDIERS HAVE BEEN ENROLLED THAN WERE EXPECTED.

Upperclassmen Sign up for Military Drill in Larger Numbers Than Ever Before, Although Number of Juniors and Seniors is Far Below Normal.

With the enrollment in the upper classes far below that of the last few years, more juniors and seniors have enrolled for work in the military department than ever before. Included in this year's cadet corps will be fifteen seniors and thirty-five juniors, a total of fifty for the two classes.

This increase in the upper classes, together with a larger enrollment than was expected of freshmen and sophomores, will enable W. B. Wendt, assistant professor of applied mechanics, who has charge of the military department this year, to organize two battalions, a band, a machine gun company and headquarters and supply companies. Whether or not the battalions will be composed of three or of four companies has not been determined.

The number of students enrolled in the department is 510.

Organize Corps Monday.

The organization of the corps will probably take up the major portion of the first drill period, Monday, when the students enrolled in the course will be arranged in units. Under the new system, the corps drills the first three periods Monday, instead of Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the seventh hour, as was the plan last year.

Acting Commandant Wendt announced yesterday that all students who are to drill will report in the gymnasium Monday, and that the old men will be assigned to drill the recruits later on out on the parade grounds.

The large enrollment of upper classmen will probably provide enough commissioned officers for the entire corps. A number of former officers who were not in the corps last year have signified their intentions of aiding with the department work this year. A meeting was held yesterday afternoon, attended by nearly thirty former officers.

More Field Work.

The training this year will be along more practical lines, according to Mr. Wendt. Last year considerable time was devoted to parades and other ceremonies. The course mapped out will include range work, practice marches, extended order, interior guard duty, and other problems to be worked out by the commanders.

"We don't mean, however, to disregard the company and battalion foot work," Mr. Wendt said yesterday. "We must uphold the reputation the college has made the past four years with the war department, and will expect to keep the men in shape for an inspection at any time."

ON A MILITARY BASIS.

Y. W. Welcome Saturday Will be a Series of War Stunts.

In keeping with the war times the regular Y. W. C. A. party for new girls to be given at the Nichols gymnasium Saturday night will be carried out in true military style.

All college girls are expected to be on hand to welcome new students. The stunts for the entertainment of the visitors will range from enlistment to examinations for the aviation corps. There will be recreation centers, ammunition factories, and other war time representations. This early candle light party is to be held from 7:00 until 9:00 o'clock Saturday night, September 15.

DO AWAY WITH BAND UNIFORM.

Musicians Not to Distinguish From Other Cadets.

The uniform to be worn by the Aggie bandmen this year will not differ from the serge suits of the other cadets. Last year the cadet band was equipped with a band uniform that distinguished its members from the men who drilled in the companies.

The advantage of the change is that once a student is assigned either to a company or to the band, he may be changed, without being forced to purchase a new uniform, according to W. B. Wendt, in charge of the military department.

DAVE GRAY SAVING THE U. S.

Former Animal Husbandry Man in Employ of Uncle Sam.

David Gray, former assistant in the department of animal husbandry, writes back from Washington that he is hard at work doing his "bit." Dave sent a dollar bill for The Collegian with the letter, which read:

"Dear Collegian: Please find here-with one hard-earned dollar for as much of the college news as it will pay for. We are all busy saving the world here in Washington. There are several old K. S. A. C. men here, Turner Wright, Duncan Stewart, and several others. I understand that L. B. Mann, '15, comes the first of October.

"My sincerest wishes for a happy and prosperous year to you all.—David Gray."

Gray resigned his position here last spring to accept a place in the horse division, bureau of animal husbandry at Washington.

NO ATHLETIC PEP?

Eleven candidates out for football practice yesterday.

One spectator out at football practice yesterday.

And last year the Aggie team tied for the Missouri Valley championship! Aggie men, where is the pep?

Coaches Clevenger and Schulz can't get out to direct the practice. Perhaps that's the excuse for the size of the squad, and the low number of spectators, but it can't be the reason. Captain "Stiff" Randels has led his little squad of men through preliminary work every day this week, hoping each afternoon that the next day would bring enough men to liven up the work.

Is this a pep-less college? Can't enough football candidates be secured for a scrimmage? Or have the efforts of Clevenger and Schulz to put the old school in the athletic limelight met with no appreciation?

The large number of veterans who have gone leaves all kinds of room for new men to win places on the eleven this year, or at least to land a place on the squad.

Perhaps when regular practice begins, there will be more life. Perhaps, when visions of trips to Missouri, Ames and Washburn loom up, business will pick up out on the athletic field. But it had better do that quickly, or it will be too late, for athletic teams can't be built in a day.

EXEMPTED MEN MAY VOLUNTEER

Unless Exempted by Reason of Their Occupation.

That the war department may be suspicious of the exemptions of some of the local draft boards is indicated by the following orders just received by Sergt. George H. German, local recruiting officer:

"Men registered under the selective service law who have been called for exemption and rejected by their local boards because of physical defects, or who have been exempted under the rules and regulations prescribed by the president for the government of local boards, and registered aliens registered and drafted who have not taken out their first papers and who have of may claim exemption or who have or may claim exemption or who by local boards, are eligible for voluntary enlistment.

"Applicants who have been exempted because of their industrial occupation, however, will not be accepted or enlisted.

"It will be understood, of course, that subjects of the enemy country or its allies, whether registered or not, are not eligible for voluntary enlistment."

The local office is advised also that nine vacancies exist in company B, signal corps at Iowa, for which recruits are desired.

James S. Simmons, Jr., of Charleston, S. C., enlisted here this morning for service in the 59th division National army, now stationed at Camp Funston.

"BUSTER" CAVE NEARLY BOMBED?

Former Aggie Football Player Reported to Have Escaped Injury.

It was reported here Thursday that Dr. Russell Cave was at the hospital in France where Dr. Fitzsimmons was killed by bombs dropped by the Germans, but that Dr. Cave was out of the hospital at the time and escaped injury. He and Dr. Fitzsimmons were classmates in college it is said.

'CONSCRIPT' ENGLISH PROF.

H. W. DAVIS TO HELP WITH WORK OF STATE FOOD ADMINISTRATION.

Doctor Waters Needs Aggie Man as Executive Secretary—Dean Willard Will Take Charge of Many Details of College Management, in the President's Place.

college. Preliminary plans for the inauguration of the conservation campaign, similar to the national effort now being made by Herbert C. Hoover, federal food administrator, were drawn up.

A great deal of importance is attached to the work of the committees, for each state is acting independently in the campaign. All the work of this state will be directly under Doctor Waters, who in addition to being the state's food administrator, is the chairman of the state council of defense.

Willard Into Water's Office.

Kansas' call to Doctor Waters will probably allow him but little time to attend to the smaller details of the management of the college, and Dean J. T. Willard, dean of the division of general science, will be in the president's office for at least a part of the year.

Another Aggie man was added to the list of K. S. A. C. men enrolled in war work when H. W. Davis, associate professor of English, was "drafted" by Dr. H. J. Waters to be the executive secretary of the food administration committee of Kansas, of which Doctor Waters, as the federally appointed food administrator for the state, is the head.

Mr. Davis gave up his class work in the English department yesterday, following President Waters' request that he take the appointment. In his new capacity, Mr. Davis will be in charge of a large clerical force which will be a part of Doctor Waters' staff as soon as the food conservation campaign soon to be launched by the committee is well under way.

Drawing Up Plans.

One of the committees under President Waters met with him yesterday. Included in the committee were Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Mulvane of Topeka and Dean E. C. Johnson, Mrs. Mary P. Van Zile, Miss Frances E. Brown and H. W. Davis, all of the day. Dean Willard also intends to remain closely in touch with the work of the division of general science, and will have both offices under him.

Doctor Waters will probably continue to occupy his present office in Anderson hall, with Dean Willard having his desk in the outer office. It may be, however, that the large clerical force which will be under President Waters' direction may demand that he be given more room, in which case another suite of offices may be fixed up.

President Waters was in Topeka yesterday conferring with state officials and members of the state council of defense in regard to the food conservation plan.

CO-EDS IN A TENNIS SERIES.

Girls Will Battle for Supremacy on the College Courts.

In order to do their share toward keeping up the interest in college athletics, K. S. A. C. co-eds will stage a fall tennis tournament it was announced today.

As the spring term tennis champion is not attending here this year, there will be a new champion. From the number of girl tennis players who are entering the tournament, keen competition is expected. This is open to all college girls and any who wish to enter are asked to see Miss Ethel Loring at the gymnasium as soon as possible.

SHOW HOW ROADS ARE BUILT.

Aggie Exhibit Being Displayed at Topeka Free Fair.

An Aggie road display is on exhibit at the Kansas Free Fair, held in Topeka this week. The exhibit was prepared by the mechanical engineering department. Tests of hardness, toughness, cementation, abrasion, brick rattle, stone and concrete are shown, and models of concrete bridges are displayed.

Next week the exhibit will be moved to Hutchinson, to be shown at the state fair held there.

GIRLS WANT WORK IN "GYM."

Classes are Overcrowded and New Ones are Opened.

The enrollment in girls "gym" classes is as large as ever, according to gymnasium instructors. As soon as the classes are organized, plans will be made for the fall hockey tournament. The field has been put into order and teams will be put to practice soon.

A game schedule is to be arranged for this fall. This semester each girl has been permitted to enroll for two days of regular gymnasium work and one of hockey, folk dancing, esthetic dancing, or swimming. The swimming pool which is being repaired, will be ready for use within a week and swimming classes will meet. Special classes have been arranged for the seventh and eighth hours on Wednesday and Friday for those who were unable to obtain a class according to the schedule.

WHAT IS AN EDUCATED MAN?

The First Qualification is the Open Mind, Doctor Mason Says.

The open mind is the great distinguishing mark of the educated man says Dr. Wilbur N. Mason, former president of Baker University, now chairman of the state board of administration, who addressed the student assembly at the first chapel meeting for the year Wednesday morning.

"To be truly a man a man must have a fine sense of values and of discrimination," said Doctor Mason. "He must modify the truths of yesterday by today's outcomes. He must be responsive, ready to be convinced, willing to learn. He must have a wide vision and an eye to behold truth from any resource. He must give more than is asked or required, not merely serve nor barely 'get by.' The really educated man crams an over-plus of fine enthusiasm into his every day living. He puts himself into his work. Such a man is master of the art of high living."

A CALL FOR TRACK ATHLETES.

Long-Distance Runners Will Meet This Afternoon.

All cross-country men are asked to report at the gymnasium this afternoon at 4 o'clock. E. A. Bauer will again have charge of the runners, and will start them on a program of training which he hopes will develop varsity track material. Last year a squad of between fifteen and twenty candidates were out for the work each day, and a squad of men was taken to Lawrence to compete against the Jayhawkers when the Aggie pigskin men met the Olcott eleven.

CAFETERIA HOURS LONGER

Increased Trade Has Caused Demand for More Service.

The college cafeteria which opened September 6 has lengthened the meal hours to accommodate the many students who are finding it more convenient to make this their regular boarding place for this year.

The cafeteria is now doing about capacity business. Many more students are taking breakfasts this year than last and there is the usual lunch time line. The breakfast hour now is from 7 to 8:30 o'clock, but there is little patronage after 8 o'clock, according to Miss Monroe, cafeteria manager. The noon meal is served from 11:30 until 1:15 o'clock except on Monday, chapel day, when the door is opened at 12 o'clock. This gives no one an excuse to cut chapel to be first in line, but will give every one an even start from the auditorium. The evening meal is served from 5:15 until 6:30 o'clock.

IT IS DOCTOR MACKLIN NOW.

Wisconsin Grants Rural Economics Expert a Degree.

After having spent three years in special study for a doctor's degree, Theodore Macklin, in charge of rural economics, was granted the degree at Wisconsin university this summer. Doctor Macklin specialized in agricultural economics, taking work under the leading economics experts in the country.

Arthur J. Sahlberg has reentered college after a year's absence. He has been employed as assistant superintendent of a tungsten mine at Silvermine, Mo., in the Ozarks for the past year.

1475 ARE ENROLLED

FALL SEMESTER OPENS WITH TWO-THIRDS AS MANY AS LAST YEAR.

THE GIRLS ARE PLENTIFUL

Registration of Co-eds Will Probably be Far Above Number Expected—K. S. A. C. Is Better Off Than Other Institutions, Says a Former Aggie Student.

The enrollment of students at the close of the registering work yesterday was 1475, a decrease of 760 from the total fall enrollment last year. Because the registrar's office is still busily engaged in registering late arrivals, the results have not been tabulated either by classes or by sexes.

Probably the freshman class will constitute close to a half of the total number of persons registered. It will at least be one-third, it is thought.

Pleanty of Coeds.

The prediction that the girls would probably be in the majority, instead of the two to one ratio of men of former years, also will probably be born out. In many of the classes, where last year the men were at least 50-50, only a scattering of persons of the male gender now is seen.

Notwithstanding the smallness of the enrollment, the number of persons back in college is a surprise to a number of college authorities who have been close to the student situation this summer. In many of the Eastern colleges, less than a 50 per cent enrollment is expected. At Wisconsin, according to W. A. Sumner, '14, who was visiting friends here yesterday, the college authorities are hoping for 60 per cent, but not expecting more than 50 per cent. From a study of the situation in other institutions, the conditions are much worse than at Manhattan, thinks Mr. Sumner, who was formerly assistant in industrial journalism here, and is now bulletin editor at the Wisconsin university experiment station.

Nearly Done Tuesday.

The work of enrolling proceeded without a hitch the fore part of the week. More than a half of the students entered the first day, and by Tuesday evening only a few remained to be assigned. Assigning ended on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. Since that time students who have had to be reassigned, and new students, have been taken care of at the registrar's office.

The special winter semester, which is scheduled to begin November 1, will draw enough students to hike the enrollment figures materially, Miss Jessie McD. Machir, registrar, believes. The winter term has always been the heaviest in the past, and this special semester, arranged for agricultural students, is expected to in a way take the place of the fall term. The enrollment in the division of agriculture is especially low this year, showing that many of the students are probably on the farm this year.

PLEDGE DAY IS SATURDAY.

Week of Excitement Will End When Fraternity Buttons are Placed.

Saturday it'll all be over, and probably 100 students will proudly be wearing fraternity or sorority pledge buttons or ribbons, but right now the Greek letter people are about the busiest on the hill. Parties, "dates," "exclusives"—no man has ever entered one of those—and alleged slumber parties have worn the Greeks and the would-be Greeks to a frazzle this week.

The pledging will occur Saturday afternoon, just as soon as a list of eligibles is received from the dean of women and from Dean W. M. Jardine, in charge of fraternities.

A VESPER SERVICE SUNDAY.

All College Women Invited to the Congregational Church.

Vesper services will be held at the Congregational church at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon for all college girls. This is the regular service arranged each year for the first Sunday following the opening of college. Miss Mildred Inskip will talk on Personal Patriotism and there will be special music.

ALL TO STUDY THE BIBBLE.

Churches and Y. M. Combine to Push New Study Plan.

By means of a new plan of cooperation between the churches of Manhattan the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. of the college, every college student is to be interested in the Bible study course which will be offered at the various churches each Sunday morning.

As a follow-up of the "Pep" meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night a canvas of all students will be begun to enroll them in one of these classes. The classes will be arranged according to the college year and it is the present plan to have the freshman and sophomore classes led by students. The junior and senior classes will be under the instruction of faculty members and residents of Manhattan. The Voluntary Study Courses will be used.

370 TO READ OWN PAPERS

Collegian Campaign of Y. W. Yesterday a Success—To Continue Today.

"I Read My Own Collegian. Do You?"

After a day of active campaigning about seventy-five Y. W. C. A. girls have seen to it that at least 370 more students and instructors will do so in the future. The association had charge of the sale of Collegian subscriptions for the day, and worked under the supervision of eight captains. With last night's returns, Miss Helen Boyd had the largest number of sales to her credit. However, the total results were not known last night, as it was decided by the girls to carry on the campaign among the townspeople and the college alumnae today.

Each captain had charge of ten workers and at 5:30 o'clock yesterday when the last figures for the day were posted the team of Miss Helen Stewart was in the lead with fifty-two sales. The standings of the teams were recorded at the end of each hour on the bulletin board in Anderson Hall when the workers turned over funds and subscriptions to their captains. At 5 the standing of the other seven teams were: Velma Carson, captain, 49; Gladys Gall, captain, 39; Lola Sloop, captain, 36; Frances Stall, captain, 35; Betty Cotton, captain, 29; Hazel Merrill, captain, 28; Laura Shingledecker, captain, 25.

As many of the workers did not turn in complete reports and had numerous "promise" subscriptions to be secured later in the evening, it is expected that the scores will be changed considerably and that some other team may still get the treats offered the winning team by the association.

BERTRAND ST. WORK COMPLETE

Work Being Done on Alley Paving Back of Baltimore Hotel.

Inquiry of City Engineer Ar Rhodes this morning as to "What doing?" brought the reply, "Nothing." But it developed in conversation that the concrete work on the Bertrand street storm sewer, where a concrete box 4 by 5 feet in size, extending from Fifth street 350 feet west has been in course of construction, is completed. From this point a 27-inch pipe will be laid, but work on that will be delayed until labor is more plentiful than at present.

Work is being begun today on the paving of the alley back of the Baltimore hotel.

The new street signs are all in place, and nearly all of the incorrect house numbers have been changed. Property owners have complied readily with the order for these changes Mr. Rhodes said.

WHEDON SABOR HAS ARRIVED.

Prize for Best Drilled Company Given to Captain.

The saber awarded to Cadet Capt. E. F. Whedon in the competitive drill last spring arrived last week. Captain Whedon's company nosed out Cadet Capt. Bennett's company in the race for the best drilled company last year. The saber was the gift of Jacob Reed Sons, Philadelphia, the makers of the cadet uniforms last year. Whedon was in command of Company B.

Joe Williams who left college last spring to enter the training camp at Fort Riley is now with Depot Brigade 164 at Camp Funston. Mr. Williams is a Second Lieutenant in the cavalry.

REAL FOOTBALL WORK NOW

COACHES CLEVENGER AND SCHULZ WILL DRILL MEN TOMORROW.

Missouri Valley Ban is On September 15, and Aggie Mentors Will Begin a Program of Intensive Training to Fit the Men for the First Game of the Season.

The Aggie eleven will get down to work tomorrow. A squad of from ten to twenty candidates for the team has been out on the college field each afternoon this week under the leadership of Captain "Stiff" Randels, but both Clevenger and Schulz, free from the restrictions made by the valley conference against caging before September 15, will direct the work beginning Saturday.

This year's squad probably will not exceed thirty in number. Not only did the war call take a large number of last year's varsity, but practically all the major stars of the freshman varsity went a well. Both Dale and Hedrick, star tackles, are with the marine band at Philadelphia, Quinlan has been drafted, and others have not enrolled in college for military and other reasons.

Only a Few Out.

The men who have been working the first week included Captain Randels, Slattery, Enns, Frankenhoff, Aye, Fletcher, Randels, Enlow, Emerson, Hoffines, Fairman, Harwood, L. Plack, Barnes and Nordeen. Others expected out today or tomorrow are Gates, Dickerson, Key, E. Plack, Hines, Whedon and Boggs.

The work of whipping the men into shape will probably present a harder problem than ever before. Randels and Clark are the old veterans in the squad, although there are a number of players who saw service in the important games last spring.

"We'll work twice as hard, and not get half the results," was the way Coach Clevenger summed the situation up yesterday.

Randels and Clark Regulars.

Neither of the coaches will predict what men will be found in the lineup that will face Baker September 29, only two weeks from tomorrow. Captain Randels is sure of his end position, and Slattery will probably be a leader in the race for the other end job. The other line positions will probably be filled by Fletcher, Gates, Whedon, Frankenhoff, Aye and Hoffines, but Clevenger does not know what men he will pick for the positions. Whedon is an all-around linesman, and can play either of the three forward positions equally well. In the backfield, Clark is assured of his position as quarterback, and Harwood is far ahead of any other fullback candidate. The two half-back positions lie between L. Plack, Barnes, Fairman and Hinds. Hinds will also make a good substitute at quarterback, which is the position he played on the yearling eleven last fall.

THREE AGGIE MEN ON PROGRAM.

Waters, Jardine and Cochel Speak at Morning Fair Meetings.

Dr. H. J. Waters, W. A. Cochel, professor of animal husbandry, and W. M. Jardine, dean of the division of agriculture, were among the principal speakers on the program of the morning meetings held at the Kansas state fair this week.

Tuesday was designated as live stock day, and in the morning Professor Cochel gave a lecture on live stock feeding problems. Yesterday morning the defense council meeting was held. At this meeting, Doctor Waters spoke on the food control act and Dean Jardine on the need of a 200,000,000 bushel crop of wheat for 1918. Governor Arthur Capper also addressed the meetings.

DOCTOR WATERS ON PROGRAM.

College Head Will Speak at State Irrigation Congress.

At the state irrigation congress, which meets at Scott City September 26 and 27, H. J. Waters, president of the Kansas State Agricultural college, will speak.

Pump irrigation experts will also speak. The visitors will be entertained by the Scott City Commercial club and will be taken to visit J. W. Lough's new $75,000 electric power plant, and other large irrigation projects.

FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 14, 1917.

NO CAUSE FOR WORRY.

A decided slump in enrollment, which looms up particularly large when this year's figures are compared with last year's record-breaking number of students, has caused many who have been here for the past two or three years to view the prospects of a successful school year with alarm. Why?

Here are a few facts regarding enrollment, many more students enrolled than were expected; a much larger percentage of students registered than were present at three Eastern colleges, which opened this week; probably as large a ratio of students have entered K. S. A. C. as will enter any institution in the country.

This year's figures are not cause for worry or discouragement, but they should bring encouragement. With Kansas one of the largest of the agricultural states, and with conscription taking a large number of farm workers, it is only natural that a large decrease should be felt.

One result sure to be obtained by the decreased enrollment is an awakening of Kansas and Kansans to the realization that the nation is really at war. Persons who have been in the Eastern states during the summer report a marked difference in the attitude of the citizens of the two sections. In Eastern institutions, the return of as large a percentage of students as is present at K. S. A. C. would cause general hilarity. Yale and Harvard will be without football teams, it has been announced, a sure indication that the authorities at these universities do not look for a normal enrollment.

Instead of being gloomy over the situation here, let us look at the enrollment as being over, instead of under, normal.

A WAY TO PREPARE.

War times are periods of preparation. There is a chance that any man now in college may be called into the service of his country. In such a time he should be getting ready to do his "bit" in the best way possible. The college cadet corps offers every able-bodied man in college an opportunity to learn the fundamentals of soldiering, and the college offers an hour of credit for the three hours spent.

Leaving patriotism aside and thinking only of one's self, what better offering can be found anywhere?

Last year, in the face of conscription which might have affected probably 500 students, the enrollment in the college cadet corps did not increase. But this year, when the college enrollment has decreased, the cadet corps has been held up to near normal because of the large number of students who have signed up for drill after having completed their allotted two years.

Many more have taken advantage of an A-1 opportunity to prepare. Why not more?

An athletic poster published by the extension division this summer and sent out to the high school students of Kansas is the best piece of advertising work used by the college. A poster in the form of a folder contains the athletic records of the college last year, and shows pictures of the Aggie eleven, the Aggie basketball five and of Coach Clevenger.

The sale of Collegian subscriptions yesterday shows that a large number of the students will "Read Their Own."

The Collegian offers to give a tin medal to the person who figures out a more complex system for registration than the one now in use at K. S. A. C.

MUSINGS OF A SENIOR.

When the quizzes are all over, When the grades are all turned in, And my thoughts are homeward turning, And the weather's hot as sin;

Then I thank my lucky stars And give thanks to my attending Fate; For I've passed the course that got my goat, I crammed before twas too late.

Prof. Iles is the one who had me scared, He looks so terrible you know; He pumped me with questions all the time, Seemed trying my ignorance to show.

It seemed his delight to make me feel bad, I don't know why he should do it, I studied so hard to make good grades I am mad, I don't like him a bit.

He gave us a quiz every day The last week, don't you know I crammed every night till 1 o'clock; To keep my grades from falling low.

But after all things are not so bad, When you know this is your last year, And now we go forth to fight again Far away from Alma Mater dear.

But we will remember the profs for ever and aye Who made our lives miserable here And still think every day and hope and pray That students from them can steer clear. Z. Q.

Girls don't forget that the Bungalow store is the place to get your sewing supplies. A large stock of long cloth and nainsook. Lace and embroidery at the same old price. The Bungalow, Aggieville.

The Chicago Tribune has received the following cryptic communication: "My wife having signed my exemption claim in behalf of herself and our two babies, I hereby place her before the convention as a candidate for president. 'She has kept me out of war.'" Serial No. 1,563.—Wichita Beacon.

Alvin Jolly will be one of the big men on the Aggie freshman eleven who will be a tough proposition for the Varsity men to handle in the practice scrimmage this fall. Jolly is a tackle, and was easily the best high school football man in the state last year, according to men who have looked over the interscholastic teams. He was captain of the Manhattan high school eleven last year, and the Manhattan aggregation was the leading claimant for the state title.

Kecker, basket ball star, is another athlete who hasn't reported. Coach Clevenger was counting on Kecker, Captain Van Trine, Wooster and Clark to form a quartette of fast basket ball players, and with a center that Clevenger hopes to develop, another valley championship in the indoor sport might be in prospect. Without Kecker, the Aggie stock will slump materially, for although a substitute last year, the speedy forward would be in a class with almost any of the valley goal-tossers this year.

Boy, page Carl Rhoda. Coach Clevenger has written the big Aggie guard a couple of times this summer, and doesn't know for sure what the big fellow's intentions are. For a while Rhoda was sure to return, then he wavered, and now no one knows.

Rhoda would be a tremendous asset to the Clevenger-Schulz eleven just now. He is a fast, heavy and aggressive. With Rhoda back, to play alongside "Pete" Placek and Bill Whedon, the center of the line would not be nearly as weak as many of the valley forwards.

"Slim" Fullington, center on last year's basketball five is sprouting wings down at Austin, Tex.—learning to fly an airplane for Uncle Sam, in other words. "Slim" writes back that he likes the work well, and if he doesn't land a commission in the service, may be back to cavort on the Aggie basketball court again this year. The return of the lanky center would give Clevenger a squad of two forwards, two guards and a center—all letter men—which would be far and above any other valley school's luck. There is probably little chance of Fullington's return, however, as he had been in Austin less than three weeks when he was made captain of the cadet junior wing, whatever that is.

Clevenger's dream of an athletic stadium may become a reality this fall. By the time that the Aggies are playing the major games on their schedule, nearly 50,000 soldiers will be at Camp Funston and at Fort Riley, and probably every one of the soldiers who can buy transportation for Manhattan will attend the games on college field this fall. As a rule, the soldier is a sport-loving individual, and the Aggie athletic management may be forced to put up special bleachers this year to care for the increased trade caused by the soldier influx. General Wood, commanding Camp Funston, has announced that the men will be at leisure Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. Coach Clevenger has arranged his schedule so that every home game is to be played on a Saturday. The increased attendance will probably prove a solution to the financial problems that have been the worry of every Aggie athletic director for the past dozen years. Under the able management of Clevenger and Schulz nearly $500 was chopped off the athletic deficit last year.

'MILLIONAIRES FOR A DAY'

NOTHING TOO GOOD FOR AGGIE BANDSMEN AT PHILADELPHIA.

One Day the Musicians, Now the Marine Band, Dined at A Fashionable Club.

Princes couldn't expect more than the members of the First Regiment Band, Marines, now stationed at Philadelphia, are receiving at the hands of Philadelphia, writes Sergt. John S. Gullledge, who enlisted when the cadet band was taken in as a unit last spring.

Portions of Gullledge's letter follow:

"This is my first experience of a cold day in the North. We all got cold in the parade this morning. But it is more to the point to tell about yesterday. The band was invited out to one of the best private clubs in Philadelphia. Two 'swell' meals and then we played golf, tennis, and baseball, just as we felt like. For myself, I am crazy about golf. We were millionaires for a day—that's all. The two Fisher boys, myself and the drum major rode home in the club president's $7000 car. Next Saturday we are going out to the Curliess Country Club for the afternoon and evening.

"Mr. Ozment has gone to Washington, D. C., for a short visit with Mrs. Ozment. "Scrub" (Fisher) has been directing the band and I have had charge of the parades. Today we have been trying out some men for a band leader for a new band at training camp near here. Tonight we have to play at a concert, and it is cold enough to wear an overcoat. I never heard of such foolishness, but orders are orders and orders, and they can't be changed.

"This afternoon I washed two full uniforms and I almost froze my hands. I would like to be back in Manhattan today and see all of the old and new students. I know that they are all coming back now to enter college."

The band is stationed at the Philadelphia Marine Barracks.

(Note—The Collegian wants to keep its readers in touch with Aggie men in service. Letters with human-interest incidents in them are desired.)

"THE MILLIONAIRE VAGRANT" STARS CHARLES RAY

Charles Ray appears in "The Millionaire Vagrant," a drama by J. G. Hawks, and produced under the supervision of Thos. H. Ince, which will be exhibited at the Wareham. It is the story of the startling adventures encountered by a young millionaire, who, voyaging into life's maelstrom, makes many startling discoveries and abounds in a series of quick action situations that carry along the plot to an unexpected and strutting climax. ***

WATERS PRAISES IVY FULLER

AGGIE GIRL NOW IN "MOVIES" IS COMMENDED.

Moving Picture Field an Important One in Life of Today, President Says.

Doctor H. J. Waters has written Ivy Fuller, former Aggie student, who is now acting in a series of moving picture plays for the Essanay corporation, a letter of praise and encouragement.

President Waters' letter follows:

September 5, 1917.

"Miss Ivy Fuller, '1425 Argyle Street, 'Chicago, Illinois.

"My Dear Miss Fuller:—It is a genuine pleasure to me to learn, upon my return from the east, of your progress and achievement in your chosen profession. I have always been interested in you, as have all of us here at the college, and I am glad to know that you are fulfilling those expectations of worthy success which we have felt for you.

You have entered upon a field of work which has already taken an important place in American life. In the very few years that the motion picture has existed, it has become one of the dominant art forms, and essentially the one form which appeals to the great mass of the people. It is destined to play a still more important part in the development of American appreciation and culture, and I shall look forward to your being in a position to assist the motion picture to a realization of its possibilities along the best lines.

"When a young woman of my acquaintance enters upon a more or less public vocation, I feel like offering her my congratulations, but at the same time I feel always like expressing the hope that her work will not destroy any of the fine principles and ideals which she holds. I do not think that the drama—motion picture or spoken—tends in this direction any more than other professions. In your case, I trust that you will never find it necessary to act in a play which will shock your sensibilities or to take a part of which you may be ashamed. So long as you are with the Essanay people, I am sure you will be protected in this respect. Indeed, I have confidence in your own character and training as a protection in itself. Young women of your type preserve their principles and ideals.

"I hope you will let me hear from you from time to time as, to your work and progress. I shall always be interested.

"With all good wishes, I remain
"Sincerely yours,
"H. J. WATERS, President."

GREEKS THROUGH PLEDGING

MEN'S AND WOMEN'S FRATERNITIES NAB PROMISING FRESHMEN SATURDAY.

Forty were pledged by the fraternities, and the Sororities secured thirty-five—nearly as many pledged this year as were taken in last year.

After a week of strenuous "rushings" in which week were crowded the maximum number of dances, dinners, banquets, luncheons, teas, choco-lates, slumber parties, "dates," smokers, and even a watermelon raid, the Greek letter organization pledged Saturday, and eighty-five freshmen are wearing the buttons or colors of the fraternities and sororities on the hill today. Of the eighty-five, forty are men who pledged to eight different organizations, and thirty-five are women, divided among the six women's fraternities of the college.

The sororities delivered their formal bids to the "rushers" Saturday morning, and the freshmen had the privilege of choosing the fraternity to which she wished to belong. Women's Pan-Hellenic rules said, of course, that none of the girls should be pledged until Saturday. Well, maybe it was a curious coincidence, but none of the women who pledged received more than one bid, it is said and each took that one bid.

The fraternity bidding season opened at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when a list of eligible men was certified to each of the fraternity presidents by Dean W. M. Jardine, in charge of men's fraternities. And (here's another coincidence, perhaps) almost all the freshmen who were prospective pledges broke all afternoon dates with all but the one chosen fraternity, and then at 4 o'clock were loosed, each proudly wearing a Greek-letter insignia.

The tax enrollment evidently had only a partial effect on the activities of the Greeks, for nearly as many were pledged this year as last.

POLITICAL BUG IS BUZZING

CLASSES HOLD FIRST MEETINGS OF NEW YEAR.

Men Hold Their Own in Sophomore and Senior Organizations—Juniors are Suffragettes.

That Aggie classes still have plenty of pep was indicated today by the prompt reorganization of the senior, junior, and sophomore classes and the nomination of officers for the fall semester. The meetings were well attended, although approximately only one-third of the usual number of boys was present.

Despite the scarcity of boys the junior class was the only one to nominate a girl for class president. Nominations for men officers predominated in the sophomore class, for girls in the junior class and were about evenly distributed in the senior class. The class meetings are held in the usual rooms, handed down from one year to the next, senior meeting in C 27, the juniors in the old chapel, the sophomores in A-73 and the freshmen in the auditorium.

The candidates for office in the senior class are: President, Helen Harbaugh; Secretary, Irma Boerner; Treasurer, Herbert Helmkamp, Mr. Franz; Assistant Treasurer, Gladys Spring; Class Scribe, Mary Dakin; First member of Student Council, Elwyn DuPois, Forest Zeigler; Second member, Oona Faye Wilson; Stella Strain; Third member, Forest Zeigler; Fourth member, Pauline Richards; Marshall, Hazel Merrill; Assistant Marshall, George Gibbons.

There will be very little competition in the junior class at election as one candidate has been nominated for the majority of officers. They are: President, Velma Carson; Vice President, Vera Olmstead, Mr. White; Secretary, Mary Mason, Gussie Johnson; Treasurer, Bruce Brewer, Gordon Hamilton; Class Historian, Naudia Dunn; Student Council, Robert Hargis, Vera Olmstead, Ruth Thomas; Marshall, Torby Fletcher, Betty Cotton; Assistant Marshall, Sarah Drake; Chairman of the Social Committee, Sarella Herick, Sarah Boell; Boys' Athletic Director, John Clark; Girls' Athletic Director, Sadie Maude Douglas.

The hour and day for the meeting for election of officers will be posted on the bulletin boards

Red Cross Class to Meet.

A Red Cross class in Nurses' Aid or "Elementary Hygiene and Home Care of the Sick," will be organized at 3.30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in Room 40 of the domestic science building. This class will meet at 3.30 o'clock Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week for five weeks. Miss Kennedy will give the instruction.

George Hoffman and Carlton Hall of Coffeyville have arrived to enter college.

THIS WAR IS A REAL WAR

AMERICA MUST GET DOWN TO BUSINESS SAYS GENERAL WOOD.

Conscription is held up as the Test of a Democracy That, Having Given Equality of Opportunity, Now Demands Equality of Obligation for National Service.

Democracy, if it is anything, is a condition under which equality of obligation goes hand in hand with equality of opportunity, declared Major Gen. Leonard Wood, in speaking before the students of the College and a large number of townspeople of Manhattan in the auditorium Monday afternoon.

General Wood was military governor of Cuba, commander of the United States army in the Philippines, special ambassador to the Argentine Republic, and is now major general in the United States Army, with command of Camp Funston at Fort Riley.

"We have had little wars before, but they have never compared with this war today," said General Wood. "We have not gone into this war because we love war—in fact, no nation has been more anxious to keep peace than ours."

"This war will not be easily won," said General Wood. "Many hundreds of thousands of our boys must go across the sea, and many, many thousands of them will not come back. They are going against a nation whose soldiers are willing to die in heaps—whose soldiers are the best trained men and as good soldiers as ever stepped forth to the march, although they belong to a nation whose acts we condemn."

Allies in Bad Shape.

The situation of our allies is bad, the general pointed out, and the breakdown in Russia will make the war much longer and much more serious. "We must finish it on the other side," he declared, "or it will be finished here."

Will Be Won by Men.

"This war will not be won by new inventions—not by some wonderful production of Edison, or some marvelous combination of circumstances, the former chief of staff said; it will not be won in the air, and all the talk of winning in the air means nothing, although we need all the aeroplanes we can get; but this war will be won by the machine God made—men, well trained and well disciplined."

Need Universal Service.

General Wood emphasized through-out his address, which was crammed with facts—facts and common sense—that the only safeguard which will save our nation is universal training and preparedness against war. "In time of peace prepare for war," he quoted from George Washington. That nation which sends its men untrained and undisciplined against the trained and disciplined men of an enemy, is a murderer of its citizens, he gave as the message of Light Horse Harry Lee to his countrymen. Preparedness does not mean getting into war, he declared, but preparing for the inevitable, he declared, and he made his audience believe it, too.

"The nation that waits until war is declared to make its preparations is the nation that will have the large heaps of unnecessary dead on the battlefield. We are now in the sixth month of the war—longer than the average duration of modern wars, he pointed out, and we see our cantonments not yet completed, our officers' training camps still going on, and the first of our drafted troops just coming in. Ask yourselves, he told his audience, what would have happened to us if we had had to meet the Teutonic allies while we were getting ready. We should thank God that we had allies to hold the line while we are getting ready."

In this country we have equality of opportunity and that means equality of obligation, General Wood declared; and that means universal military service. We are not going to have the money-getter and the slacker stay at home and let better men do their fighting.

Belgium Not Prepared.

A striking feature of the general's address was the statement of the reason why Germany chose the road through Belgium into France rather than through Switzerland. Switzerland, with its universal training, had the better army, and though that road into France was shorter, it would have cost a million men to travel it. Numbers amount to but little unless trained—a wolf never gets frightened by the size of the flock of sheep.

Praises Local Conditions.

You have made our work of training an army about three times as easy as it would have been, General Wood told his audience, by getting rid of rum. That will be of much help. The men we send to the war will come out of it—those who do come back—better men than when they went in, more conservative and thoughtful, with more respect for the rights of others, and with their minds and bodies better trained and co-ordinated.

Introduced by Kammeyer.

General Wood was introduced by Prof. J. E. Kammeyer, who referred inspiringly to the distinguished visitor's services to our country, against the Apache Indians, in the Spanish-American war and at San Juan Hill, in the Philippines, as military governor of Cuba, as an author and scientist—all because he has the genius of hard work, of devotion to duty, and of consecration to our country, the professor declared.

SKINNER WANTS TO COME BACK.

But Former Aggie Football Captain Likes Marine Corps.

A former Aggie football captain, Emmett Skinner, is now with the United States Marines at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. He is a first lieutenant. Lieutenant Skinner writes back that he is enjoying life with the marines. Parts of his letter to an Aggie professor follow:

"I am getting along fine with my work thus far. In fact I have already come up to first lieutenant. Nevertheless, as the football season draws near I have a very funny feeling. I would like mighty well to be back on the gridiron at K. S. A. C. fighting for the Purple and White. Believe me, those were good old days. I certainly do hope there is to be a football team there this year. I have heard unofficially that there would be no team. I suppose most of the boys have gone to one or another of the divisions of the army or navy. The more that go in the better it looks for the College, I think, for this is the time that is bound to bring out what is really in a man. Do you remember the Missouri-Aggie football game last fall? A man by the name of Chandler played center on the Missouri team. He is now down here on the Marine Corp and has already been promoted to Sergeant. That right in them."

TWELVE TENNIS COEDS SIGN UP

Championship on Courts Will be Fought Out Soon.

Twelve entries already have been made for the fall tennis tournament and Miss Ethel Loring, physical training instructor asks that all girls who are interested report at the gymnasium and sign up early this week so that the matches may be drawn.

It is planned to play off the tennis tournament and have it out of the way before the beginning of the regular fall hockey tournament. The following girls have been entered for tennis so far: Clementine Paddelford, Celia Loran, Edna Chapin, Marguerite Hammerly, Martha Baird, Sibel Blackburn, Elizabeth Wadley, Bess Gordon, Betty Cotton, Josephine Hagenbuch, Jamie Cameron, and Marie Johnston. The champions of former years, Miss Ferol Stratton and Miss Florence Evans are not in college this year and a new expert must be established.

MISS KING IONIAN PRESIDENT

Officers are Elected for Fall Semester by Society.

The Ionian literary society met and elected the following officers Saturday afternoon: Margaret King, president; Helen Harbaugh, vice president; Emma Stinson, recording secretary; Rosalie Godfrey, corresponding secretary; Bella Nelson, treasurer; Anna Roemick, marshal; Alpha Latzke, assistant marshal; Harriet Morris, chairman of board, Blanch Crandall, second member, Mae Rich, third member; Hazel Merrill, chairman of lookout committee, Addie Middleton, second member, Ima Findley, third member; Enid Beeler, Mary Dakin, and Elizabeth Circle, program committee; Donna Faye Wilson, critic.

Miss Laura Ramsey, who is teaching in the high school at Clay Center, will spend the week end in Manhattan.

LET'S DO IT AGAIN

By Walter Houghton

When "Germany" Schulz from Michigan came, And Clevenger fresh from his Tennessee fame, They instilled in the Wild Cats the spirit of scrap. That wrote KANSAS AGGIES all over the map. For with passes and end runs and line bucks galore We counted the touchdowns and ran up the score. You know how we ruffled the hopes of K. U. And the fate of the Tiger that came from Mizzoo, Of the fame we won in the Valley, but then, Come on Kansas Aggies, let's do it again.

And then, after winning gridiron fame We tried the basket shooting game, We hushed Nebraska's golden corn, K. U. went home morose, forlorn, You saw the knot, you heard the wail, You know who fixed that Tiger's tail. Of all the teams none could survive A combat with our Wild Cat five, They crowned them Champions, but then, Come on Kansas Aggies—let's do it again.

AGGIE WRITES FROM FRANCE

AMOS PAYNE IS WITH AMERICAN FLYING SQUADRON.

U. S. Soldiers expect to See Service at the Front Within a Short Time.

The words "France" and "front" have an appeal to the imagination of everyone. Amos Payne, a Freshman last year in general science, writes back from France that he expects to be at the front soon. Payne's letter to his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Payne of Manhattan, follows:

"On active service with the American expeditionary force, Aug. 29, 1917.

"Dear Mamma—I have received several letters from home since reaching France, much of the mail being forwarded from San Antonio.

"The foreign school squadron, how the 29th provisional aero squadron, is now settled. But I am in detached service with 20 other men and expect to be very near, if not directly at the front in a few days.

"I have enjoyed almost every moment of the trip. We have had certain hardships, of course, but not nearly so bad as I expected. The French welcome us with the greatest of enthusiasm.

Offered French Wine.

"I found a real home for my pal, Ivan Pyle, and myself at our aviation base. The oldest boy, Edward, in this family invited us to his home and offered us his best wine. I expected him to feel bad when I refused, but he brought out some soda water and seemed to enjoy the toasts just as well.

"This is the finest Y. M. C. A. I am called tunic but am not sure. The toward one in our camp, but have not gone very far as yet. This Y. M. C. A. is a most elegant organization. The building once belonged to Napoleon the Third and has kept its fine furnishings to a great extent.

"I have seen many historic buildings since reaching France. I wish I had studied my ancient and modern history better so I could place all the monuments, castles, towers, and the like.

France is Beautiful.

"For picturesque beauty, I have never seen anything equal a view seen from the upper windows of one of the barracks which we first occupied. The old houses, with their steep tiled roofs; the extremely crooked streets and the tall stately poplars are all blended together in a harmony which no artist could ever duplicate. A closer view of the town does not detract from the picturesque of the scene. I wish I could bring to you some of the sights I have seen. The one-horse, two-wheeled carts are still in use. If two horses are used one is in front of the other. The boys run around with dresses about knee length over their trousers. (I guess the dresses are called tunic but am not sure). The gardens and court yards are all fenced in with high stone walls and when the shopkeepers close for the night, instead of lighting up their show windows, they completely cover the glass with a wooden frame work.

"In the country there are many places where the land is cultivated in strips according to the old feudal custom. Nellie will remember our discussions in medieval history. Although there are many places where American harvesting machinery is used, and in these places a whole field is planted to the same crop.

"Well, I must close and get back to my barracks. I don't know what my address will be but will write as soon as possible. With love,

"AMOS."

NEW MEN IN CHEMISTRY DEPT.

Eleven Changes Made in Staff of Dean Willard.

With the opening of a new school year, eleven changes have been made in the chemistry department. L. D. Hammond has been appointed instructor; C. W. Thing, R. E. Preston, and J. S. Richtig are assistant professors.

Miss Lois Witham, Miss Stella Harris, fellows, will have classes. W. S. Stevens has been appointed analyst for live stock remedies and E. S. West will assist Doctor Hogan in the teaching of animal nutrition. An instructor has yet to be elected to fill the position of C. W. Burchard, who left Friday for College Station, Texas. Miss Fern Humphries will relieve Miss Alice Melton, secretary, of stenographic duties and Miss Jessie Allen will take the place of Miss Florence Justin who is now employed in the Purify Serum plant at Sioux City, Iowa.

OPEN THE QUILL CONTEST

Manuscripts Should be Handed in Before October 15.

The Quill club contest is now on, and all manuscripts that are to be considered should be presented to Miss Ada Rice, chairman of the contest committee, not later than October 15.

The contest for this semester promises to be interesting, according to Miss Rice. One manuscript, a play, has already been turned in and a contestant who won a $1,000 literary prize last year will enter. Any manuscript of literary merit will be accepted for the contest. It must be an original article, or short story of from 800 to 3,000 words, submitted on regulation size theme paper 8 1/2 by 11 inches and in typewritten form.

The membership of the Quill club is limited to thirty-five. From five to seven members are usually elected after each contest. The club meets on the second and fourth Monday of each month.

Y. W. HAD GOOD LUCK.

BODA BACK FOR FOOTBALL

GIANT GUARD AND CENTER WANTS AN AGGIE SUIT AFTER SEPT. 23.

Telegram From Paradise Athlete Means That Clevenger Will Have Ten Letter Men to Work With After "Pete" Placek Enters College Next Month.

Coach Z. G. Clevenger.

Manhattan, Kansas.

"Will report for football practice September 23."

CARL BODA.

That telegram, received yesterday afternoon by Coach Clevenger, set an office full of football sympathizers wild in the gymnasium building yesterday, and hiked Aggie football prospects from 20 to 30 per cent higher than before.

"Now we'll have a line," was the first remark of "Germany" Schulz, line coach, and a smile a mile wide went with the remark.

Promising Linesmen.

There was an instant hunting of the rolls, and then a dopping of what the forward port of this year's Aggie eleven would resemble. Here is a tentative lineup doped out: Captain "Stiff" Randels and Slattery, ends; Whedon and E. Placek, tackles; Gates, Fletcher, Aye and Frankenhoff, guards and Roda, center. The list was submitted to Coaches Clevenger and Schulz, but neither had anything to say as to the probable lineup.

Yesterday's excitement was heightened by the fact that "Sully" Sullivan, whom Dame Rumor had said would not wear Aggie moleskins this fall, had checked out a suit, and would come out regularly for practice. "Sully" will be needed as a half-back worse than at his old stand at quarter, for Johnny Clark pretty nearly has the pilot position cinched. L. Placek probably leads the candidates for a half-back job, and with Sullivan, Hinds, and Fairman battling for the other half-back position, a startling offensive combination is guaranteed, for Nate Harwood will not be inferior to many of the Valley fullbacks this fall.

More Men Needed.

Coaches Clevenger and Schulz met with the candidates for the first time Saturday, and a squad of twenty-five men was out last night, the largest squad of the season.

"We need more men," Clevenger said last night. "There are plenty of men in college who have the weight and the fight to make good linesmen, and we are in need of a good squad of substitutes. If the squad doesn't increase in size, I will almost have to take the entire aggregation on trips."

Without another dozen or more men, hardly enough candidates will be out to make up a good scrimmage. The roll of men who have been coming out regularly includes Captain Randels, Clark, Whedon, L. Placek, Slattery, Enlow, Sullivan, Harwood, Gates, Fletcher, Keys, Hinds, Aye, Frankenhoff, Hofflines, Hixson, Lindholm, Enns, Magrath, and Fairman.

Ten Letter Men.

When "Pete" Placek returns October 1, ten letter men will be included in the Clevenger-Schulz squad. The veterans are Captain Randels, Clark, E. Placek, L. Placek, Slattery, Enlow, Sullivan, Harwood, Roda and Whedon. The Purple and White meets the Baker Methodists a week from Saturday. No dope is available on the Methodists. "Ducky" Groves is captain of the eleven, and has returned to college, it is said.

AGGIE SCIENTISTS AT TOPEKA.

Dean Willard and Mr. Ott Attend the State Board of Health Meeting.

Dr. J. T. Willard, dean of general science and C. A. Utt, associate professor of food analysis, attended the first quarterly meeting of the State board of health at Topeka Friday. Dean Willard is an advisory member of the board.

Traveling agents are sent out by the state board to examine food products, samples of which are sent either to the chemistry department here or to the University for analysis. All dairy products, milks, cream, ice cream, and cheese, meat, flour and cereal products are tested in the laboratory here. Many odd products and unclassified samples are also sent in for examination.

WANTED—A REAL CHAPEL HOUR.

At a time when college enthusiasm and democracy are bound to ebb because national conditions throw a shadow over all college life, it is unfortunate that the daily chapel hour melting pot of co-operation, has been abandoned in favor of the one-hour chapel once a week. True, the entire student body did not take advantage of the old hour to attend chapel. But whether the 10 o'clock chapel bell meant a stroll down to Johnnie's with a "date," whether it meant a half-hour at the assembly, or whether it meant 30 minutes of "cramping" for a final or a six-weeks quiz, the old chapel hour was the time when students forgot for a while the classrooms and the professors, and "mixed."

College traditions calls for the college chapel hour. Without it there is something lacking in college life, something that has added a bit of spice and ginger to every college day in the week. In reducing the chapel period, have not the college authorities measured the cold value of time in hours and minutes, without remembering that "all work and no play makes Jack—and Jill, too—a rather dull individual?"

Without the chapel period, classes must meet Saturday afternoons, it has been said. But does this not take the interest of all but the liveliest away from class affairs? How many students will come back on the hill especially for a class meeting?

Perhaps it is too late for a change to be made this semester. But next semester it is hoped that the old chapel will be revived. The Collegian hopes that the chapel attendants will be as large under the present system as under the old, for the chapel exercises are an asset, whenever the hour comes. But it is afraid, just as it is afraid, that there will be few students who will straggle up on the hill Monday mornings especially for chapel, and that is what a majority of them must do to attend the exercises.

A JAM-LESS HALL.

Gone are the days when Main hall was jammed so full of bustling, jostling, struggling college students, jammed so full that it often took five minutes to traverse the length of the building. The "jam in main hall" has been the bane, the delight, the sorrow and the pleasure of perhaps 10,000 students who have been in attendance at K. S. A. C. sometime within the last ten years. They have gone away with thoughts of that crowd at the postoffice. But these are war-times, times of conservation, and unless a concerted effort is made, the old school will have to do without its "jam in main hall" until after the war.

WOOD A REAL GENERAL.

Typical of the big men of the army was Major Gen. Leonard Wood, U. S. A., who brought home to Kansas Aggies yesterday a realization of what war may mean to each, a warning of what each must do, and a plea for a larger enrollment of college men.

The general is a man with steel-gray hair, with an erect carriage, and with eyes and facial expression that win men to him. His men say he is a strict disciplinarian, but they swear by him.

Perhaps there were some things

the big man of Uncle Sam's army said that did not please some peace-loving members of his audience. But the general, like his close friend, Theodore Roosevelt, tears wrongs to pieces, but at the same time suggests the right. For years, General Wood has told Americans that the army was a failure, that it would fail in the crisis because it was not large enough. And now that he is in position to say "I told you so," General Wood is not looking back at what he said, but is advising universal service in the future as a preventative for such crisis as America faces today.

There are two special lessons that students should draw from General Wood's talk. One is that democracy offers opportunity to all and should demand service from all; the other, that the college man should continue his education until his country calls him.

Bugle Calls In Park Better Than Big Ben

The co-ed who just will stay up late at night does not have to set her alarm for early morning study. For more dependable than a Baby Ben, more persistent than an intermittent and oh twice as thrilling as anything, is the bugle which goes off every morning. Anyone who lives near the park where Company I is stationed knows the uselessness of trying to continue a dream after the bugle has begun to sing about the "soldier in the sky, with the bullet in his eye."

No matter how late the dance held, Irene cannot put on the trip and sleep till noon—she cannot shut her window against it. She has no more than closed her eyes when the bugle begins to bugle and Irene who has never been profane in her life wraps her pillow about her ears and agrees that war is hell.

Did the Sororities Try to Pledge Him?

Dear Editor—I am a boy here for the first time, and the last if I can get money enough to go home on.

I like girls but I do not care to act like one. I was met at the train by big sisters. But I repulsed them. Then a girl called to ask me to join her Sunday school class but I was firm. Then I got an invitation to a Y. W. party. I refused to go. But the limit to endurance came when the authorities sent me a note asking me to call and explain how I happened to be staying at a boys' rooming place. So Mr. Editor will you please print it in the newspaper that no matter what I appear to be I am NOT a girl.

Yours truly,
MARION FRANCIS.

1,506 ENROLL IN COLLEGE.

Stragglers Raise the Total Past the 1,500 Mark.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the total enrollment at the Kansas State Agricultural college had reached 1,506. A few students are still straggling in.

More students are coming in late for assignment this year than general. The reason for this is laid to the fact that college began a week earlier this year than it has in previous years and the students did not go to the trouble to look at their catalogues or to inquire the exact time of registration.

SELECT PROFITABLE COWS.

Prospective Dairymen Should Make Careful Selection.

The prospective dairymen should consider the selection of profitable cows, the markets, the location of the farm, and the prospects for profits, according to J. B. Fitch, associate professor of dairy husbandry in the college.

"Experience with dairy cattle is the main essential in this business," said Professor Fitch. "The dairymen must not only be a good judge of cattle, but he must understand how to feed and care for stock in such a manner that will bring best results."

De Mille and Jeanie Macpherson and produced under the personal direction of Mr. De Mille, whose many creations have made him one of the foremost masters of photoplay technique, this film offers a particularly timely subject of patriotic theme.

Its Really Serious
This Absence of Men

Males of the Species are Rare, and Members of Fairer Sex are Pondering Over the Situation—Men From Camp Funston Will be Salvation of Many Who are Threatened With Dateless Week Ends.

Said the Senior—"I don't miss 'em much in class time. There never were any in my classes, except two or three in English sometimes."

Said the Junior—"Yes, but you're Home Ec. My classes are simply dead. They used to make up three fourth of the classes—and now just one, or two, or three scattered about."

A bunch of co-eds slowly up the main walk from Aggieville, gravely discussing the situation. Before them strolled more co-eds and around in sandy places groups of twos and threes sat with open books. Up Lovers Lane trooped some more.

"I knew just how it would be before I came back," went on the Senior. But I thought that the girls could run the college this year, even if it always has been two to one before."

"Wonder what the class meetings will be like?" asked the enthusiastic Soph.

"Do you suppose we can have any at all?" wails the freshman. "Wish we could organize soon. Will there be any of the big hikes now that they used to come home from college and tell about?"

The Freshman was quieted in time to hear a passing co-ed remark that eshwas really getting quite accustomed to carrying her own books and note books. And another said that she was so used to paying her share of the bill that she almost insisted when she did have an occasional date.

"I'll bet the ones that are here will be popular," put in the Freshman.

"You know, one of them just the same as said that to me," flared the Senior. "But I told him that they wouldn't be quite worshipped, not to worry. Why there isn't a girl here who doesn't have some one from her home town at the Fort."

"Say, I think it would be fun to line up in Main hall, like they used to," invented the Soph. "My, how I used to hate to plow through that double line, when I was a little freshman. This would be a good chance to get it back at some of them."

"Our matron says that the only difference that she notices is that the telephone and the porch swing aren't going so much"—added the Junior. For myself—I'm here to study—"

Sh—s—s! One of 'em passed, dodging his way among the co-eds. The noon bell tolled and the discussion of the hour came to a close as the co-eds scampereed to various classes where there were none or very few or 'em."

At most of the football camps the same story was to be heard. "Four or five veterans have returned." With such handicaps to work against the coaches have set to the task of developing teams from new material though a number of "varsity" men are back at most of the institutions.

Prospects at the University of Kansas took a boost this week when the return of Captain Neilson was announced. At the Kansas State Agricultural College, Coaches Clevenger and Schulz are meeting with their squads. Indications are that the Aggies will have a strong team on the gridiron, though not as powerful as eleven as the 1916 aggregation.

Coach Kennedy of Washburn is only sure of three letter men. At the first practice this week only eight men reported. Last year's freshman squad is expected to bear the brunt of this year's football burden for Washburn.

Thirty-four men have reported for practice at the College of Emporia while several more have signified their intention of donning suits. Only three of last year's regulars are on the firing line. Coach McCrory is working for a speedy eleven.

lege. The Pittsburg Normal squad shows the effects of the war. The team faces a heavy conference schedule. The Hays Normal eleven has a schedule of more games than last year. The Haskell Indians will meet four or five Kansas elevens on the gridiron. Not so many large eastern schools will be played this year. The team has lost several of its stars of last year, among them being two former captains.

A GREAT RUSSIAN PLAY.
Norma Talmadge in "Panthea" at the Marshall.

A devoted wife submits to dishonor to save her husband's life. Was she wrong? This is the theme and question raised in the powerful photodrama, "Panthea," in which the popular Norma Talmadge will make her first appearance as a Selznick-Pictures star at the Marshall theater on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss Talmadge, who recently left the Triangle company to head her own producing organization, will be seen in the role made famous on the stage by Mme Olga Petrova. The part offers the talented young star her greatest opportunity for the expression of her emotional powers, and judging by reports from New York and other large cities where the picture has been shown, Miss Talmadge has made a tremendous hit in her new portrayal.

As directed by Allan Dale, the picture excels in its rapidity of action, building up its big climaxes in fashion that is certain to hold the most hardened picture patron spellbound. Striking scenes depicting the persecution of the Nihilists by Russian police and the destruction by fire of a vessel at sea, while outside of the thread of the main story, lend additional force to the production. ***

GOOD MATERIAL FOR DEBATE

Only Five are Left From Big Squad of Last Spring.

The fall try outs for debate will be held in November. They will be preceded by the usual inter-society debates. The three pennants won last year by the Franklins, Athenians and Brownings will be open for capture this semester. The question for debate will be "Resolved—That a land policy promoting tenantry would be more beneficial to agriculture than a land policy promoting ownership."

The following men will be on the Ames debate: Fred Carp, H. Clyde Fisher, H. A. Moore, Arthur Boyer, E. A. Herr, L. G. Lucas, H. H. Nelson, Calvin Medlin, Earl Frost and Walter Houghton.

Debate prospects are bright this year because so many of the old men are back, according to Don L. Burk, debating coach.

At a meeting of those successful in the spring term tryouts, it was found that only five debaters who made the squad last spring will not be in college this semester.

A committee of five was elected to draft a set of rules by which the debaters are to be governed in their work. When the rules are completed they will be submitted to the inter-society debate council for its approval. The committee is composed of Miss Lola Sloop, chairman; Miss Myrtle Counselman, C. J. Medlin, A. F. Swanson, and M. W. Converse.

Leo Moser at Funston.

L. C. Moser, who has nearly completed the work for his degree from the college, is a member of the national army, and is stationed at Camp Funston. Mr. Moser gave up an excellent position in the publicity department of Swift & Company, Chicago, and declined to make any claim for exemption from military service.

HOW MANY AGGIES IN FRANCE?

Four Already Have Arrived There—Do You Know of Others?

Aggie Men in France.
Lieut. E. D. Wells, U. S. R.
Corp. A. H. Brewer, Second Engineers.
Private Martin Soule, Second Engineers.
Private Amos O. Payne, Aero Squadron.

At least four former Kansas Aggie students probably have arrived in France by this time. The last letter received from Lieut. E. D. Wells, better known as "Eddie," was written September 8, from Hoboken, N. J., and said, "I can't say when we are leaving, but it will be within a VERY few days." A letter from Corp. A. H. Brewer, written at Washington D. C., September 9, was not so vague. Brewer wrote, "Our stuff all is packed and we leave this afternoon." Martin Soule was in the same regiment. Amos O. Payne was written from France that he is with the American Provisional Aero Squadron.

FOOTBALL BOOKS UP TO $2.00

Present Price of $1.50 for Five Games Changed September 23.

Football season books will rise in price after September 27. That is the edict of the athletic board. Instead of costing $1.50 as at present, the tickets will be priced at $2.

Two dollars was the price originally intended to be charged for the books, and they were printed with that price on them, but just before the tickets were placed on sale at enrollment time, the board decided to give the students a chance at the five games for $1.50.

With single admissions to the Jayhawk, Washington and Oklahoma A. & M. games at $1 and the Baker and Normal games 50 cents each, the student effects a $2.50 saving by purchasing a season book at the $1.50 price.

NEED ONE MORE STUDENT.

Nurses Aid Class Has but Nine Members to Date.

The Nurse's Aid class met Wednesday afternoon as announced. Nine women signed for the course, but as ten members are required in order to organize a class, they will disband unless others enter. The class will meet again Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in L-10. New members will be gladly received.

THE ALPHA BETAS ELECT

Society Chooses Otto Githens President During Fall Semester.

The Alpha Beta literary society has elected the following officers for the fall semester: Otto Githens, president; Miss Mary French, vice president; Miss Olive Logersbion, recording secretary; H. D. Franklin, treasurer; Samuel Thackery, corresponding secretary; Ira Plank, marshal; V. I. Turner, assistant marshal.

WEBSTERS ELECT OFFICERS.

Shields is President—Open House Saturday Night.

The officers of the Webster society for this semester, chosen at the first meeting for the term are: B. Q. Shields, president; W. H. Borland, vice president; R. D. Nichols, recording secretary; J. H. Moyer, corresponding secretary; D. A. Hine, treasurer; W. D. Denholm, critic; E. E. Lindholm, marshal. The Webster literary society will have open house for freshman Saturday night.

Installed River Gauge.

The engineering division installed during the summer a river stage recording gauge in the laboratory of the engineering building. This gauge, through an electrical connection and a float at the river, records the stage of the river at all times. This is one of a few of those gauges now in operation in the United States, and the only one in Kansas.

H. B. Walker a Captain.

H. B. Walker, drainage and irrigation engineer in the extension department of the college, has been commissioned a captain in the regular army and is now in training at Fort Leavenworth. H. W. Broberg, '11, at present is looking after Mr. Walker's work here.

Arthur Urruh, '15, is farming at Pawnee Rock.

LYCEUM IS IN NEW HANDS

PUBLIC SPEAKING AND MUSIC DEPARTMENTS IN CHARGE OF NEW COURSE.

Dramatization of Alcott's 'Little Women' Will be First Number of List of Noted Performances to be Shown This Year—Prices are Reduced.

Under the management of the public speaking and music departments, at the reduced price of $1 and $1.50 and with a program picked by the heads of the two departments from the best talent in the country, the college lyceum course will open October 19 with a dramatization of Louisa May Alcott's famous story, "Little Women," under the new name of the Artists Series.

The course will consist of four excellent numbers. Dr. J. G. Emerson and Prof. A. E. Westbrook, who are responsible for the numbers in the course, combed the country for the best of musical and dramatic performances. An effort has been made to combine the artistic with the popular and the educational with the interesting and the entertaining.

A Sweet Play.

Of the first number of the course, "Little Women," a noted dramatic critic has said:

"I never attended a play in my life that affected me as 'Little Women' did. It is so simple and sweet. It is typical of American life; its great dramatic power lies in its simplicity. It is a reflection of the best thought of American life. I am rather sophisticated and plays do not affect me, unfortunately, as they once did. But when I listened to this I was young again and enjoyed the same emotions and the same hopes and same generous impulses of youth and I was not ashamed to find that I could weep again."

A prominent concert manager—one who is supposed to know the tastes and the wishes of the country—said: "If it were possible for 'Little Women' to be brought to the smaller cities, it would enjoy greater success than any play that has ever been produced."

New York Cast.

Arrangements have been made with William A. Brady whereby it is possible to present this play to the smaller cities, using the same New York cast very largely. The play will be produced by Mr. Wim. J. Keighley, who will himself take one of the roles. There are thirteen people in the cast and each one was selected because of a special fitness for the part to be played. The costumes and scenes, of the Civil War period will give the play a setting that is a marvel for detail and accuracy. The company carries its own stage settings and special scenery, which are faithful to those used in the original production in New York City.

November 20 Miss Christine Miller, one of America's most noted contraltos, will give a song recital and sometime in January, Miss Zenola MacLair, imitative recital artist, will give an evening of readings. The Ziellner String Quartette has been secured for February 25.

In March the department of music will again present the musical festival week.

CHORAL SOCIETY WANTS SINGERS

Chorus is Open to All, Director Westbrook Says.

Do you sing? or rather, can you carry a tune? Then the choral society of the college wants you to meet with it in the auditorium next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

"I wish it to be generally understood that the chorus is open to all persons who can sing," announces A. E. Westbrook, director of music. "School of agriculture students, short course people, college students not regularly assigned to choral practice, faculty members and townspeople are heartily welcomed."

Work is to be begun soon on the "Elphah" which will be given as an oratorio at Christmas time. Music sheets are provided by the department.

L. R. Hiatt, '17, is office secretary in the county work department of the international committee of the Young Men's Christian association. The headquarters of the department are at 124 East Twenty-eighth street, New York City. Mr. Hiatt is also doing some editorial work on Rural Manhood.

If Their Love Letters From the Girl at Home Should Get Mixed Up—

Trouble is in store for the post-office employees. In the list of students who have entered college this fall, there are four pairs of persons whose first and last names are identical, a pair of twins whose first and second names are transposed, and a pair of students, one of which has for his two Christian names, the Christian and family names of the other.

William Cloud Mills and William Cloud Mills are cousins. William the first is a freshman in animal husbandry and lives at Lake City, while William No. 2 is a first year of agriculture student, residing at Lipscomb, Texas.

Bruce H. Meeker, freshman in dairy husbandry, is no relative of Bruce P. Meeker, freshman in general science, although both live in Wichita. And then there are Lloyd B. Hamilton, Salina, freshman in agriculture, and Lloyd Lee Hamilton, Wichita, freshman in industrial journalism, neither of whom ever heard of the other until their mail was mixed up the other day. Fred D. Howard, a freshman in agriculture from Kinder, Mo., has also had post office troubles with the mail of Fred H. Howard, a freshman in agriculture from Cottonwood Falls.

Louis Lucile Cox and Lucile Louise Cox, twins and both freshmen in home economics from Alton, might easily have a mail-box mix-up. Perry Pitts Rumwold's name starts off just like that of Perry Pitts, but the latter is satisfied with but two names.

MORE ENTER TENNIS SERIES.

Six Girls Into Battle for Women's Championship.

Six more entries have been made for the college girls tennis tournament to be held soon, running the total up to eighteen. The girls are coming out unusually well for the busy opening weeks of school, according to Miss Ethel Loring, but a number more entries are needed. Miss Edna Chapin, tennis champion in the Manhattan high school tournament last spring, now attending college, has entered the contest.

Those entering this week are: Anna Baenigh, Dorothy Brigham, Marjorie Brown, Sarella Herrick, Esther Joss, Jessie Evans. The college courts are in good condition and many practices are being held.

ORGANIZE CADET CORPS TODAY.

Officers Will be Appointed at a Meeting This Afternoon.

Regimental organization of the college cadet corps will be effected at a meeting of the commissioned officers of the corps at the commandants office at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Acting Commandant W. B. Wendt has decided that the corps will consist of eight companies, divided into two battalions, besides the machine gun company and the band, and officers for each of these organizations will be chosen.

Commandant Wendt and Cadet Major Fred Carp have drawn up a tentative list of assignments, and this schedule will be submitted to the officers at the meeting.

ISSUED A DEBATE FOLDER

Extension Department has Novel Advertising Plan.

A departure in advertising was in a folder published by the extension division in the summer telling of college debate and oratory. This folder contains statements as to the organization of debate and oratory, the 1916-17 debate schedule and a picture of the auditorium. The folder was sent to high school graduates in the state.

FORUM ELECTS CLYDE FISHER

Journalism Student Will Head Debate Organization.

At a meeting Wednesday afternoon, the Forum elected the following officers for the fall semester: H. Clyde Fisher, president; Anna Marie Johnson, vice president; Helen Mitchell, secretary; O. J. Medlin, treasurer; Gussie Johnson, marshal.

A resolution was passed to stimulate enthusiasm in debate.

Miss Joy Andrews, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and an honorary member of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity, has been elected to succeed Miss Nellie Reed as teacher in the zoology department.

CHANGE COLLEGE FACULTY

THIRTY-FOUR NEW PERSONS HAVE BEEN ADDED TO TEACHING FORCE.

Resignations of Twenty-Six Members of Faculty Have Been Received Since College Closed in Spring—A Normal Number of Changes.

Professors come and professors go. Along with the new year of college comes the new faculty members, as well as the new students. With the closing of the college year there are the resignations of some of the faculty members to accept other positions and the changing of the student body by the graduation of Seniors.

The addition of names to the faculty roll for this year has about tallied with that of other years. Thirty-four persons connected with all departments of the college, have been elected to positions. Here are the faculty changes and appointments with the name of the school from which degrees were secured:

Lienhardt, University of Pennsylvania, instructor in bacteriology; W. E. Patterson, Minnesota Agricultural college, specialist in dairy husbandry, extension division.

The Resignations.

Old students will be especially interested in the resignations among the faculty members. Since the closing of college last spring twenty-six resignations have been recorded. They are: Miss Estella Boot, assistant professor of English; W. A. Etherton, professor of rural architecture; Dr. J. C. Jackley, instructor in bacteriology; R. E. AGGIES WIN BRONZE MEDALS

Airman in France One Student Successful in Contest.

Amos O. Payne, last year a freshman in engineering, and now a private in the twenty-ninth provisional aviation squadron in France, and Jefferson Flora, last year student in engineering, were the two successful contestants from the Kansas State Agricultural college in the essay contest conducted by the Aero Club of America. Both men received bronze medals.

The contest was open to the students of all colleges and universities in the United States. The essays were on aeronautics.

Dean Van Zile a Speaker at Y. W. Meeting.

"The Worth While Girl" was the subject of a talk given yesterday afternoon by Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of women, at the first regular Thursday afternoon meeting of the Y. W. C. A. The meeting was well attended. Next Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. will be explained to all new girls and former members by the cabinet of officers.

HIGHS FACE STIFF SCHEDULE.

Will Play Eight Games, Mostly With Larger Schools.

With eight football games on schedule, with 14 of last year's regular players gone and with but three letter men back for work this fall, the Manhattan high school football team faces a stiff schedule of eight games, the most of which are with larger schools than Manhattan.

Fourteen men from last year's squad are out, due to graduation, joining the national guard or some other branch of the military service.

The eight games scheduled for the team this fall are as follows:

September 28, Junction City, at Junction City.

October 5, Hutchinson, at Manhattan.

October 12, Emporia, at Manhattan.

October 19, Clay Center, at Clay Center.

October 26, Salina, at Salina.

November 2, Lawrence, at Lawrence.

November 16, Abilene, at Manhattan.

Miss Ethel Arnold, senior in home economics, and her sister, Mrs. Edith Haas, '15, of of Courtland, spent Thursday in Topeka at the free fair.

PRACTICE GAME TOMORROW

VARSITY AND FRESHMEN WILL TANGLE IN FIRST ENGAGEMENT OF SEASON.

Forty-Nine Candidates are Out for the Yearling Eleven, and Coaches Cleveland and Schulz Have Thirty Men Trying for the Varsity Squad.

Freshman inexperience and weight will mix with varsity steadiness and speed in the first practice scrimmage of the season tomorrow. Both squads have been driven at top speed for the past week, and a first-class gridiron battle should result.

The news that big Carl Roda would be back the first of next week had a stimulating effect on the Varsity's practices this week. The first exercises of falling on the ball, running down punts, and other similar seasoning work gave way the middle of the week to signal practices and instruction in plays.

Coach "Bill" Tuttle has been unable to pick out his most likely freshman candidates, as the yearling squad probably is the largest in Aggie history. State high school stars such as Jolly, Meeker, Burton, Lofgreen and Currie probably will be sent in against the Varsity at some stage of Saturday's contest.

Several new men have reported to Coaches Cleveland and Schulz this week. "Cutie" Boyd, formerly an end on the Joplin (Mo.) high school eleven, is a new backfield candidate, and Manzer, a 180-pound giant, is trying for a place in the line.

The Varsity squad includes Captain Randels, Whedon, Gates, Slattery, Clark, Harwood, Enlow, L. Placek, Sullivan, Fletcher, Aye, Frankenhoff, Hofflines, Vermette, Lindholm, Macgrath, Keys, Hards, Hixon, Barnes, Fairman, Nordeen, Wettig, Enns, Honeywell, Emerson, Boyd, Manzer, Coffey and Lyons.

The candidates for the freshmen eleven are Kauffman, Huycke, Murphy, Burton, Robinson, Meeker, Jolley, Lofgreen, Getty, Epperson, Freland, Day, Silket, Marrs, Thackery, Currie, Kirkpatrick, Wood, Kirkwood, Quigley, Dehn, Reed, Parthemore, Cowell, Wilson, Crow, Godwin, Howard, Harvey, Lynch, Nova, Mills, Martin, McKinney, Hollister, Cummings, Crawford, Price, St. John, Rucker, Elliott, Sohlberg, Schmidt, Houston, Welking, Gardner, Benedict, Brown and Lee.

HE ADMIRES AGGIE CAMPUS

Oklahoma State Professor More Pleased With Each Visit.

W. L. Carlyle, dean of agriculture and director of experiment stations in the Oklahoma State Agricultural college, was in Manhattan, Tuesday on his way from the state fair in California. He was the guest of his daughter, Helen, senior in animal husbandry.

"On each visit I mark with pleasure the development of this institution and this time it seems even bigger and better than ever before," commented Dean Carlyle.

Dean Carlyle also expressed his admiration for the beauty of the campus. This is the first time he has seen it at this season of the year and he said that its ever changing beauty was always a source of wonder to him.

AVIATOR'S LIFE DANGEROUS.

Four Killed in a Week at Aviation Camp in Canada.

Four embryo aviators—two of them Americans—is one week's death toll at the aviation camp at Toronto, Canada, being attended by A. A. Grant, a junior in general science last year.

"It isn't a pleasant sensation to be up 4,000 feet and have some 'boob' run into you and knock off your rudder and tail, and then see that old earth rise up and hit you in the face," Grant writes.

For Mrs. Purdy.

Employees of the registrar's office at the college entertained Wednesday evening with buffet luncheon at the home of Miss Jessie Machir in honor of Mrs. Purdy. Those present were Miss Grace Craven, Miss Cora Pittman, Miss Eva Kell and Miss Jessie Machir. Mrs. Purdy is leaving her position in the registrar's office.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1917.

Freshmen, prepare. The Purple and White dome coverings which are to be the insignia of your class are due to arrive the last of this week, or the first of next. After they arrive—well, ask last year's freshmen.

YOUR HELP NEEDED SATURDAY.

When the Clevenger-Schulz eleven lines up against "Bill" Tuttle's freshman aggregation in the first scrimmage of the season Saturday, how many rooters will be in the stands?

This is a year of wonderful possibilities for the Aggie eleven. On paper, the squad is much weaker than last year's crew, but no valley team will be up to standard this year. Right now is the time to encourage the boys who are going to fight Kansas Aggie battles this fall. And there aren't many better ways for Aggie men—and women, too—to show the players that the students are behind them than to attend that first real practice.

It wouldn't be a half-bad idea to invite your Camp Funston or Fort Riley friend over to watch Saturday's football melee.

CADET CORPS WAS JUST AS GOOD.

The fact that the college cadet corps did not again rank as a distinguished institution last year should not be taken to mean that the student soldiers were not as efficient as the year previous, when the Aggie corps headed the war department's list. Only colleges in which there are officer's reserve training corps are entitled to the higher rating, and the absence of the corps here disqualified the school from the coveted honor.

When President Waters asked last spring to have the training corps here Secretary of War Baker answered that the course could not be instituted during the middle of a school year. Since then, nothing has been learned regarding the establishment of the corps here.

K. A. C. needs the training corps. Will it come?

HITS THE "DATES" HARD

"Gee Whiz, a date tonight and four solids tomorrow."

A fair co-ed bubbled the complaint. Under the semester plan, few are the lucky ones who can have a sigh of relief when the last hour of work is completed Friday, and see only a few laboratory classes to attend on the morrow. For although Saturday always has been a word day with Kansas Aggies, few of the classes required preparation, and the student was a care-free individual Friday evening.

Pity the Profs.

The cafeteria opens at twelve o'clock on Mondays. Chapel dismisses at the same hour. Since the teachers always sit way up front they must bring up the rear of the stampede that breaks for the bread line. Which seems to irritate them. Who knows but what there is going to be a change?

Stop! Don't wear that straw hat another day. Go to Miller's Clo Store and see their line of Fall Hats and Caps.

In the works of the General Electric company at Schenectady, N. Y., are A. E. Hopkins, '16, George Usselman, '16, Andrew Harold, '16, R. D. Van Nordstrand, '12, R. H. Oliver, '17, and W. C. Ernsting, '17.

The A. V. Laundry will give you the service that pleases.

AUGUST IS DAN CUPID'S MONTH
HIS ARROWS FIND 32 HEARTS

No one can accuse Professor Cupid of taking an August vacation. The little God of Love had his bow and arrow working over-time during the hot month of the summer, and at least sixteen Aggie couples were his victims. If this war keeps on, and if the supply in the quiver is not exhausted, what will be Dan's September harvest? Several "war brides" are included in the August list, which follows:

The marriage of Miss Mollie M. Smith of Westphalia and Mr. Leo C. Moser of Courtland took place August 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Blachly, 6823 Dante Ave., Chicago. The Rev. Dr. Harold L. Bewman of the Hyde Park Presbyterian church officiating.

Mr. Moser, who has practically finished his college work, is now in the army. He was prominent in literary and other circles in the college, being a member of Sigma Delta Chi, the Quill, and other organizations, and president of the student council. He won several oratorical contests.

Good seed==
and good clothes

WHEN you farmers are ready to plant your crops, do you buy the cheapest seed you can find, regardless of quality? No, indeed, you don't; you get the best your money can buy; you know that paying a few cents or dollars more may mean hundreds of dollars more when the crops are harvested.

The same thing is true of clothes; by paying a few cents or dollars more for such goods as Hart Schaffner & Marx make, you get the quality that means many dollars saved in longer wear and greater satisfaction.

And right here we want to emphasize this point: here we guarantee your satisfaction absolutely and "your satisfaction means to us just what satisfaction means to you—it's "up to you".

Could anything be fairer or squarer?

The Bluffer Defined.

The reason so many people who know nothing are able to recite for five minutes at a time is really very simple. The inquiring Prof. arouses their sense of duty to their vocal organs and the rest of the class. They select a minute idea, shoot it through the vacuum in their heads, where following the principle of the manufacture of puffed wheat, it expands, and is delivered to the class in its carbonated form.

But Who's Been Using the Rouge and Paint?

We will call him Jones. But his name matters not, its what happened to him that counts.

He was a freshman and, as freshmen go—green. He went to the Y. M. C. A. to register and find a room. He dropped his suit case beside dozens of other suitcases and waited his turn at the desk.

It probably was a half hour later when he turned to go—boarding and rooming house lists in hand. His suitcase was gone. John made inquiries, but everyone was busy. They couldn't help him, and didn't seem to care. It was here that our hero became suspicious. This was just one of the practical jokes he had been told would be played upon him. A light form of hazing, he told himself.

He would not be outwitted for a while yet, he decided. He would show them that old Greenville had one promising son anyway.

So John selected a nice fat looking suit case and departed.

Now, it so happened that the Y. W. C. A., also, had headquarters at the place where John had registered. And yesterday he saw a pretty co-ed wearing one of his new cravats as a middy tie.

John Jones says the girl looked happy and that "he should worry." But what puzzles us is what happened to the poor fellow who was the last man there and had to connect with the "little sisters," snitense?

By the time she is through assuring them she will come to class meeting, without fail she arrives at her class 10 minutes late and sinks thankfully into her chair.

WOMEN WANT WORK IN WAR

SEVERAL FIELDS ARE OPEN IN THE INDUSTRIES.

College Has Modified Course in Electrical Engineering for Benefit of Fairer Sex.

It was suggested at a meeting of the society for the promotion of engineering education held in Washington in July that it would be well for engineering schools to encourage young women to prepare themselves seriously and thoroughly for the engineering profession. Special attention was called to the work in telephone engineering.

The faculty of the engineering division of K. S. A. C. decided to modify the electrical engineering course slightly for women who might wish to take up this work, eliminating such work as is directed toward electric railway, power and transmission engineering. In the telephone business, when a city operating company is in need of a new switch board, it must be designed and built. Parts and apparatus however are standard. This work calls for knowledge of telephone apparatus, the needs of the operating company and calls for painstaking care and ingenuity. Such work seems as well suited to women as to men.

Electrifying engineering is a comparatively new profession for men. It consists of the designing of correct lighting for churches, theatres, homes, dry goods shops, jewelers stores, and factories of all kinds where good lighting is essential. It is also concerned with the exterior lighting of buildings and street lighting.

"The natural good taste and artistic ability which the majority of women possess, combined with the necessary knowledge of laws of light and engineering should make a pleasant and profitable field for women," says C. E. Reid, professor of electrical engineering.

"Before encouraging the many young women who inquired regarding the course, to enter," said Professor Reid, "I went to several of the firms who employ each year from one to two hundred graduates of electrical engineering to learn what the openings would be for women who had completed the course. I found that none of them were contemplating any radical change of plans, but that all were employing more women in positions of increasing responsibility and demanding more training.

"These companies maintain educational departments at considerable expense which have charge of the technical graduate for the first year or two of his employment. About the only unfavorable comment of the possibility of women in the engineering forces of industry is that the average term of her employment is shorter than that of men, calling for a greater expense. Each company replied that there would be openings for college women from time to time and especially under the present war conditions. Many inquiries have come in to the department concerning the course from among the girls enrolled here. Some have asked that electives from other courses be changed to the electrical engineering course." "In general, women will have much difficulty securing employment in the industries but in special cases the college will encourage women to pursue engineering courses," says Dean A. A. Potter.

SPORT DOPE.

"Bill" Tuttle, all-Southern halfback and a baseball star for four years on the Kentucky university team, is the new coach of the freshman team Tuttle, who is a fellow in the agriculture division, has taken on the coaching duties in addition to his other work, and will round up a bunch of freshmen to fill the gaps next year which will be caused by the graduation of a number of this year's star pigskin booters. Tuttle has not had a chance to see many of his men in action, but several promising type athletes are reported to have checked out suits, and a strong eleven is expected.

And now comes the report that Frankenhoff, substitute linebacker last year, has developed the drop-kicking fever, and is spotting the goal posts from a goodly distance. The Aggies have not had a real point-making booter since the days of "Les" Howenstine, when that athlete one year sent three drop-kicks over the bars in a game with Washburn, enough to win the game.

LETTER FROM O. C. THOMPSON.

Former Y. M. C. A. Physical Director Tells of His Work.

The many friends of O. C. Thompson, who remember him as physical director of the Y. M. C. A. here about 1911 and '12, will be much interested in a letter from him to S. J. Pratt; but will regret his illness. Mr. Thompson writes from Rose Lake, Idaho, where he has been general secretary of the Industrial Y. M. C. A. His letter was dated August 27, and is as follows:

"Dear Mr. Pratt—I have been tempted to write to you several times this year but now that I am going to leave here I will drop a line. I am having some tubercular trouble and the doctors say that I must quit work at once and take a rest in bed for a few months. I am going to California next week and will not come back here as there will be plenty of positions open there for me as soon as I get well. I was offered the physical directorship at Spokane just lately but I wanted to build up the work here, so I stayed. The men walked into the building here this morning and laid down $500 and said it was mine as a present. Now I guess that we have some big men here in Rose Lake also. Mrs. Thompson and I have liked it here very much and we hate to leave but it 'Go' this time. I will drop you a line after I get down south but in the meantime write me here at Rose Lake. Wishing that I could repeat some of the good old times that we had at Manhattan, I remain,

Yours very truly,
O. C. THOMPSON.

Lieut. L. C. Allis, post exchange officer at Camp Funston, has engaged Arthur Anderson to assist in the exchange. Mr. Anderson will begin his work Saturday morning.

VOLUME 24, NUMBER 5.

KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1917.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

NOT ALL NEEDED IN FRANCE

AMERICA CAN USE MANY MEN IN HOME INDUSTRIES, SAYS POTTER.

Six Are Needed Here for Every Soldier Sent Abroad—The Day of the Specialized Engineer Is Coming

Experience in this war shows that for every man in the field there must be, at least six men on the farms and in the industries to take care of the soldier's necessities, in the opinion of A. A. Potter, dean of engineering, who spoke before the faculty and students in chapel Monday morning.

"Engineers are playing so prominent a role in the industrial activities of this country that no industry can hope to become important unless its conduct is entrusted, in a large measure, to highly trained and experienced engineers," declared Dean Potter. "It is due mainly to engineers that our civilization has advanced more during the past fifty years than in the previous two thousand years. At the same time, engineers are playing an important part in the whole-sale slaughter and demolition of modern warfare, engineering knowledge being utilized by nations in their struggle for power."

As Managers of Nation. "American engineers are found to be particularly well trained for positions of responsibility, as related to the broader problems of life. The time is not very remote when people and nations will recognize that trained men are needed in peace, as well as in war, in the councils of states and nations. There will then be no more politics in the selection of a governor or of a president than there is in the selection of a manager for a large corporation."

"Modern industrial problems," said the speaker, "are not only mechanical, but also human. Every engineering problem presents a two-fold problem of materials and of men. Engineering, scientific and business methods to armed conflict," said Dean Potter. "Modern victory is the result of a mixture of organization, business methods, heroism and hard, dirty and nerve-racking work. Modern soldiers are highly disciplined workmen. They must be supplied not only with guns and munitions, but with food, clothing, trucks, aeroplanes, and many other things which engineers must supply."

Needs More Than Armies.

The world war in which we are now engaged has demonstrated, during the past three years, that large armies alone cannot produce victory, but that the nation is best prepared for peace or for war which has the greatest number of educated men, the most capable research workers, and the best organized industries. It is now recognized that the military strength of a country is its industrial strength, for the proper organization of which engineers are responsible.

"After this war is over, the field of the engineer will be greater than ever before. The largest part of the civilized world will have to be reconstructed, and American engineers will have a fair share in this work."

"The aid which engineers and other scientific men are giving in killing men on a large scale is more deplorable unless this wholesale murder is to result in true democracy, in breaking down false doctrines, and in teaching men tolerance and unselfish service for principle and for humanity."

MORE AGGIE GRADS PLACED

Five are County Agents and Two Home Demonstrators.

The following K. S. A. C. graduates have been appointed as emergency agents by the extension division of this college. Miss Jaunita Sutcliffe for Cowley county; Miss Ellen Nelson for Seward county; Miss Maude Coo for McPherson county; Miss Ellen Batchelor for Wyandotte county; and Miss Elsie Baird for Anderson county. In addition, two city home demonstration agents have been appointed. They are Marian P. Broughton for Kansas City, Kansas; and Mary W. Ward for Topeka.

F. E. Whipple, sophomore in civil engineering, who has been with the Kansas City Structural company the last two years, has returned to college.

SELECT STOCK JUDGES.

Aggie Team Will go to Swine Breeders' Meeting October 3.

Twenty senior animal husbandry men are working out daily endeavoring to become efficient judges of livestock and to make the stock judging team this fall. As usual, Dr. C. W. McCampbell, associate professor of animal husbandry, is coaching the work. He is being assisted by L. J. Horlacher, who was a member of the stock judging team representing Purdue university that won first place at the International Livestock exposition at Chicago last fall.

A team composed of five men will be chosen in a few days to represent K. S. A. C. in the contest to be held October 3 at Omaha, Neb., at the meeting of the National Swine Breeders' association. The team that is to go to Chicago to the International will not be chosen until later.

SOPHS AND JUNIORS ELECT

But Freshmen Haven't Started—Class Manages Royal Purple.

The sophomore and junior classes are now well organized and ready to start into business with new official staffs. The seniors called a special meeting Saturday for the selection of a class book manager and a member of the Royal Purple board. Another meeting will be called as soon as the ballots arrive, for the election of the remainder of the senior class officers. The freshmen are still waiting for someone to take time enough to show them how to get together for the first time.

At the senior meeting, Saturday George C. Gibbons was chosen as the manager for the 1918 Royal Purple. Mr. Gibbons fills the place made vacant by the resignation of Lieut. J. M. Boring, U. S. R., now at Camp Funston. Ivor Mall was appointed to succeed Lieut. H. A. Dunham, U. S. R., as member of the Royal Purple board.

The following sophomore officers were elected: C. J. Medlin, president; E. W. Frost, vice president; Ernestine Bily, recording secretary; Ray Forree, treasurer; L. B. Bates, corresponding secretary; J. H. Moyer, marshal; Clifford Kuisley, assistant marshal; J. V. Keene, boys' athletic director; Callie Jennison, girls' athletic director; M. P. Schlaegel, class historian; S. D. Capper and Miss Ida Findly, student council.

The junior class, the first to announce the new staff of officers for the fall semester favors the suffragettes, eight to five. The officers who are to serve are: Miss Velma Carson, president; Miss Vera Olmstead, vice president; Bruce B. Brewer, treasurer; Miss Mary Mason, secretary; Miss Ruth Thomas, Robert Hargis, Will Nye, members of the student council; Miss Sarella Herrick, chairman social committee; Miss Sadie Maude Douglas, girls' athletic director; John Clarke, boys' athletic director; Torby Fletcher, marshal; Miss Sarah Drake, assistant marshal.

GRAPE JUICE THE PENALTY

Brownings Who Marry Must Pay in W. J. B's Sectar.

From present indications it will be well to stick around the Athenian-browning hall Saturday. There is one case of grape juice in sight and a good chance for more.

In the informal pledging service of the Browning society it is a time honored custom that the new member take the vow that upon leaving her sister Brownings and changing her name she pay the penalty to the society in grape juice. If she marries "just anybody" the law calls for the forfeiture of one gallon of the beverage. But if her "man" is an Athenian two gallons are demanded.

Yesterday a letter was received by the president of the Browning society from a former member, Sophia Maelzer, 14 (now Mrs. H. E. Shaner) saying that a crate of grape juice had been shipped from Omaha, Neb., to the Brownings. But the Brownings aren't satisfied yet. They say that on checking over the records that they find that one Mollie Smith (Moser) has not yet paid her fine, which for marrying an Athenian would be two gallons of grape juice.

As the Brownings and Athenians are having a joint program Saturday night the "treats" are appreciated.

L. A. Leonard of Kansas City and Miss Winifred E. Conroy of Manhattan were issued a marriage license Sunday.

SOCIETIES SELLING TICKETS

LITERARIES ARE IN A RACE FOR PRIZE IN ARTISTS SERIES CONTEST.

Commission of Eight Per Cent Will Be Awarded Leading Society—Seat-Sale Contest Will Close at the End of This Week.

The literary societies have entered a contest to sell season tickets to the Artists' Series, which formerly was the Lyceum Course. The contest, which began yesterday, lasts for one week, closing Saturday evening.

To the society selling the largest number of tickets, the management will award a large banner as a trophy, and a commission of 8 per cent on all tickets sold. The society selling the second highest number will be given a commission of 7 per cent, the society standing third a commission of 6 per cent, and all others a commission of 5 per cent.

The lyceum has been under the management of the literary societies in previous years, but by agreement of the societies and the college authorities it has been decided to place this activity under college management. The series now is under the supervision of the departments of music and public speaking, and is being managed this year by Earl Taylor.

The literary societies have pledged their support in the sale of tickets and are doing their best to insure the success of the course. The series is an expensive one, and will require the sale of a large number of tickets. The prices have been greatly reduced, however, so that the series will be within the reach of all.

There are fewer numbers this year, the idea being to provide a few good numbers at a comparatively low price. The prices will be $1.50 for the 700 best seats and $1 for the remaining number. These prices are for the season tickets and may be reserved for the entire series of four numbers. Single admissions will be $1.00 for the best seats and 75 cents for the remainder.

Miss Clara Scholer, who was graduated from the school of agriculture last spring, is attending business college in Topeka.

60 MORE MEN THAN WOMEN

FAIRER SEX ARE IN MINORITY, FIGURES SHOW.

Late Enrollments Run the Men's Totals Up—A Normal Enrollment Later.

The surprising part of it is that there are more men here than girls—sixty more of them in fact for the count, has just been finished at registrar's office.

The count was made to ascertain the percent of men and women attending college. At first as the workers in the registrar's office checked off one for the men and one for the women the race was a neck-and-neck one. But finally the former surged ahead and came out in the finals with 892 against 748 for the women. The results were surprising and no figures were given out until the work could be checked back.

"It has been generally believed," said Miss Jessie Machir, registrar, "that the girls here this year outnumbered the boys two to one. I guess it has just been a case of seeing what we are looking for. Every one speaks of the many girls who are attending college, of the number of boys who have been drafted, and of the Adamless Eden."

"In my opinion, by the end of the year the college will be running at about normal. There are 20 late assignments which have yet to be added to the first count. The special war semester to accommodate boys from the farm opens November 12, and will be a help. The shop short course opens October 22, and January 7 the agricultural short course."

From present figures there are less than 500 freshmen this year in place of the usual 600. But the enrollment of students in the senior class is much heavier than was expected.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB MEETS.

Representatives From Seven Nations at Initial Meeting.

China, Switzerland, Mexico, Armenia, Germany and the United States were represented at the social meeting of the Cosmopolitan club, held on Friday night at the home of Phillip Young, 1411 Fairchild avenue. Thirty persons were present.

Short talks were given by J. E. Kammeyer, professor of economics, R. G. Taylor, instructor in history, L. H. Limper, instructor in modern languages, and several of the foreign students. Musical selections by members of the club were features of the evening.

The Cosmopolitan club is a college organization established for the mutual enjoyment and instruction of foreign and American students. Regular meetings will continue throughout the year. Those interested are privileged to attend.

SEND BOOKS TO SOLDIERS

College People Are Co-operating in Nation Drive of Librarians. "American Methods."

An important meeting of the library board of Manhattan and interested people of the town and the college was held Thursday evening at the Carnegie library for the purpose of working out the plans of the American Library association to furnish books, periodicals, and other reading material to the soldiers in the cantonments, battle front, and all military posts in America and abroad. The local committee was appointed to work with the Library Board in the raising of the apportioned sum from Manhattan. The endeavor of the committee is to raise a sum equal to 5 per cent of the population of Manhattan, which is about $400. The committee will begin work immediately and it is thought that the required amount will be raised before the last of next week, $50 was subscribed to the fund the night of the meeting.

Following is the committee appointed at last night's meeting: Dr. C. F. Little, president; Miss Mary Lee, secretary; Mrs. Guy Armstrong, C. M. Breese, Prof. N. A. Crawford, D. E. Deputy, Mrs. L. E. Downs, Miss Fannie Dunlap, college librarian, Mrs. Chas. Luntz, Mrs. M. E. Payne, Rev. A. N. Reed, Miss Constance Syford, and the local board of which the following are members: Dr. C. F. Little, Mrs. E. B. Purcell, Miss Josephine Harper, Mrs. William Stingley, Mrs. W. S. Elliott, Rev. D. H. Fisher, Harry Hoffman, T. A. McKee and Mayor S. F. Goheen.

DEMAND FOR TEACHERS STRONG.

State Schools Swamped by Calls for Instructors.

"We have over 50 calls for teachers who can handle agriculture and manual training and possibly a dozen for manual training exclusively, as well as calls for teachers in other lines of work," was the statement of Prof. H. L. Kent.

All the state schools are experiencing the same difficulty in trying to fill vacancies over the state with competent and qualified teachers, this being especially true in the departments of agriculture and manual training.

Conrad, professor of civil engineering, has passed his physical examination and is expecting to receive a commission at any time.

A "PEP" CHAPEL TOMORROW

"Something must be done"—that has been the opinion of leading Aggie students who have watched the gradual decay of athletic "pep" here. While Coaches Clevenger and Schulz have been working to put out the best Aggie eleven in history, enthusiasm within the student body has been at a surprisingly low ebb, and students have doggedly refused to awaken.

Several students and alumni were discussing the athletic situation last week. One alumnus suggested a new plan of handling Aggie "pep" matters. The others eagerly adopted the plan, made additions and suggestions, and decided to "feel out" other students on the plan. The idea caught on like wildfire, and soon had not only the approval of the students interviewed, but the "O. K." of President Waters, of the athletic board, and of Coaches Clevenger and Schulz.

The plan finally evolved was this: Instead of the old Rooter's Club—a large, clumsy organization at its best—a new body, composed of the presidents of each of the four classes, the captains of each of the four Varsity teams, the president of the Y. M. C. A., and the editor of The Collegian, would handle "pep" matters. Made up of the Aggie students who already have shown initiative and enthusiasm, the new student "pep" committee would have as its aim the creation of enthusiasm for athletics in any manner it chose fit. Feeling that likely men become candidates for the team and that regular cheering practices be held at the afternoon practice scrimmages would be a part of the body's work. In other words, the organization, by adopting a plan of control already proven successful in Eastern colleges, would stir up Aggie roots to an enthusiasm as high as that of other institutions.

Advantages of the plan are that the body would be self-perpetuating, as the members acquire their membership through the holding of some other office; that no delay will be encountered in organizing in the fall, thus giving the team support when it most needs it—at the start; and that interest will be kept up throughout the entire year in other sports, a thing lacking in the past.

Problem No. 1 was how and when to organize. President Waters suggested that classes be excused at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday for a special half-hour chapel. The president of the senior class will preside at the meeting.

Problem No. 2 was a financial one. It was decided that instead of the annual Rooter's Club tag day, each class would ratify the new plan, and agree to pay one-fourth of the expenses of the organization, just as they do for the student council.

Problem No. 3 was the naming of the organization. None of the suggestions suited, and "Jury" Hayes, '17, settled that matter by offering a $10 prize to the student suggesting the best name. Suggestions must be handed in by Saturday, October 6, and the name chosen and the successful student's name will be published in The Collegian October 9.

The plan has been worked out, and all that remains is the full approval of the student body at the special student assembly Wednesday morning. Catering to no special clique, clan or faction, the plan should appeal to every student. With each of the members a representative of the entire student body, no more democratic, yet efficient, manner of handling the "pep" situation has been suggested. The work is concentrated on the ten students, and the blame for any inaction can be traced directly to those responsible.

The Collegian takes no credit for originating the plan. It merely presents, with its fullest approval, what has been suggested by others as a real means of reviving "pep."

Attend chapel Wednesday and show that you, too, are behind the plan and behind the team which this year will make Aggie history.

RODA BACK IN MOLESKINS

BIG GUARD WAS IN SCRIMMAGE FOR A FEW MINUTES.

New Aggie Back-Field Stars in First Real Practice—Stars on the Freshman Eleven.

Aggie football practice struck its full stride yesterday afternoon, when, with big Carl Roda back in a uniform, the Varsity again took the yearling eleven to a trimming. The big guard was in the scrimmage just long enough to make his presence known to the Tuttle eleven, and then Schulz sent in a substitute. Roda, although toughened up from working on his father's ranch at Paradise, has had none of the preliminary football work, and the Aggie coaches were taking no chances.

In Saturday's scrimmage, the first of the season, the new Aggie back-field, with Johnny Clark at quarterback, L. Ptacek and Sullivan at half-backs, and Harwood playing full-back, fiddled the heavy freshman line, running three touchdowns across the goal line in the first half of the game, and then charging down the field repeatedly for scores after both sides had substituted with second-string men.

Although working with signals they had used but one day, the yearling eleven was not easy. Several times, with the Aggies in possession of the ball within a few yards of the goal posts, the freshman line braced, and the ball did not go over. Cummins, a right tackle and "Dingy" Burton, in quarter, were individual stars of the Tuttle squad, although Meeker at full-back was a hard plunger for the Varsity lineemen to stop.

The Varsity lined up with Captain Randels and Slattery at ends, Whedon and Gates at tackles, Fletcher and Frankenhoff at guards and Aye at center. The freshman lineup was Burton, quarter-back; Currie and Lofgreen, half-backs; Meeker, full-back; Elliott and Novak, ends; Lynch and Cummins, tackles; Quigley and Schmidt, guards; and Murphy, center.

AGGIES AT BIG KANSAS FAIRS

Canning Teams Were Under Supervision of Extension Division.

The extension division of the college played quite an important part in the state fairs held recently at Topeka and Hutchinson.

There were four canning teams at both of the fairs under the supervision of Otis E. Hall, state club leader of the extension division of this college. Demonstrations in canning were given on each of the four days of the fair. These demonstrators were not picked because they were experts, but just because they were practical women doing the work as they were accustomed to doing their regular canning work in their own homes.

The boys' and girls' club exhibits and demonstrations at Topeka were in charge of Otis E. Hall, L. C. Williams, Miss Lottie Milan, and Miss Florence Whipple of the boys' and girls' club department of the division of extension. These four people with the addition of Paul Imel supervised similar work at Hutchinson.

The Mother-Daughter canning clubs of the state had exhibits entered at the fairs. The clubs represented at Topeka were from Maple Hill, St. Marys, Leavendotte, and Bonner Springs. At Hutchinson the representative clubs were from Bonner Springs, Fair Oak and Rush county, and Emporia.

In addition there were many individual exhibits at both fairs, including agricultural, garden clubs, and sewing clubs.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1917.

A PROGRESSIVE STEP.

The proposal to place the management of athletic "pep" in the hands of ten students is typical of the advancement being made in the business and political world today. The commission form of government gives power into the hands of only a few chosen representatives, but whenever things go wrong, there are not a hundred different persons to blame—all the fault can be found with the commission. It will be that way with the new "pep" board: if the plan doesn't work, everyone will know who is to blame.

About time for a regular "pep" meeting, isn't it? Better let that "date" alone next Friday evening, and get in with the bunch. Or, better yet, take "her" along.

By the way, why wouldn't it be a good idea for the women's Pan-Hellenic association to place its official fan on pep-night dates? Not to be out-done, non-fraternity girls would follow, and there might be a real "pep" meeting. Or, Miss Co-ed, if that plan isn't carried out, and "he" suggests a picture show, why not make a few hints about college spirit? There are several "he's" who need the hints.

With one of the best-liked men in college speaking, less than 200 students attended chapel yesterday morning. It begins to look as if the schedule-makers had shoved a man-sized job on to Professor Kammeyer, who must provide a chapel whether the students go or not. At an unhandy hour and on the lightest college day, the chapel period is gasping for breath, to speak figuratively. Perhaps next semester will bring a change in time, and the pulpit.

The freshman caps aren't here. They will be in the middle of the week, the sophomore committee say. But just because the purple and white caps haven't arrived a couple of weeks ahead of time will not be an excuse next Saturday.

Editor of Electrical World Comments on Engineer's Contribution.

A. A. Potter, dean of engineering, is author of the principal article in a recent number of the Electrical World. The title of his article is "Oil Engines as a Relief Against Coal Prices." The article is illustrated with drawings.

The editor of the paper commends Dean Potter's article, saying: "Our readers will find an excellent summary of the present condition of the oil engine situation in Prof. A. A. Potter's brief paper. We have discussed the matter repeatedly in these columns from the commercial standpoint, but it is an excellent thing to have the fundamental facts brought together in so clear a form as here."

Dinner Work Class Into Food Conservation Problem.

The class in dinner work in the division of home economics will experiment this year in the use of flour substitutes and fifty-fifty breads. According to Miss Margaret Haggart, professor of domestic science, the girls will follow the suggestion of Herbert Hoover in attempting to work out a satisfactory combination for bread flour of soy beans and wheat.

"JUST BECAUSE DAD IS."

Co-eds Give That Reason for Political Preference.

"Because my Dad is" is the most frequently heard statement just now in Don L. Burk's title class in argumentation and debating. Members of the class have been asked to tell why they belong to one of three important political parties. Many and varied are the reasons given but none of them seem to prove the point. Because father claims membership in a certain party is the most popular reason given.

Later the class will conduct a mock murder trial in which two of the students will be principals and the rest of the class lawyers for the state and the defense.

"The Home of Good Shoes"

Good seed==
and good clothes

WHEN you farmers are ready to plant your crops, do you buy the cheapest seed you can find, regardless of quality? No, indeed, you don't; you get the best your money can buy; you know that paying a few cents or dollars more may mean hundreds of dollars more when the crops are harvested.

The same thing is true of clothes; by paying a few cents or dollars more for such goods as Hart Schaffner & Marx make, you get the quality that means many dollars saved in longer wear and greater satisfaction.

And right here we want to emphasize this point: here we guarantee your satisfaction absolutely and "your satisfaction means to us just what satisfaction means to you—it's "up to you".

Could anything be fairer or squarer?

SHIFT DRAFTED ENGINEERS

FORMER AGGIE STUDENTS MAY BE TRANSFERRED FROM INFANTRY.

Dean Potter Is Behind a Movement to Utilize the Special Training Which Drafted Men Have Received in College—More Names Wanted.

Former Kansas Aggies, whether graduates of the course in engineering or only former students in that division, who have been drafted into national service, will be placed in parts of the service for which they are best fitted if the efforts of A. A. Potter, dean of the division of engineering, succeeds in a movement in which he is co-operating with the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education.

College men who have had engineering work will be of more value in other than the infantry or cavalry arms of the service, Dean Potter and the others working on the plan believe. An effort will be made to have all Aggie engineers who have been drafted, shifted to units where their training will be of the most value.

Dean Potter is now collecting the names of all former engineering students who have been drafted. He already has the names of fourteen former students, and has sent their names into the society's headquarters at Washington. The names sent in are those of E. V. Kessinger, '17; G. A. Cunningham, '17; W. N. Caton, '17; L. A. Tubbs, '17; O. A. Hindman, T. W. Bigger, George Hamilton, M. E. Johnson, R. B. Eck, P. R. Winchel, R. A. Means, S. W. Honeywell, S. E. Barnes and Ray Vermette.

The Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education at its meeting in Washington July 7 appointed a committee to study the relation of the engineering schools to the national government in the present emergency. This committee, after a thorough study of the situation, recommended to the Secretary of War that the students and alumni of technical institutions who are drafted into the national army, be assigned to branches for which their special technical training fits them. The committee undertook to furnish a list of such students, and it is requested that all Aggie students who knew of former engineering students now in service, report the fact to Dean Potter.

TOUCHDOWN FOR FRESHMEN.

"Ding" Burton Carries Ball Across Varsity Line in Scrimmage.

The freshmen scored on the Varsity! Of course, Coach Clevenger gave them the ball on the Varsity's ten yard line, but that didn't make any difference, the fact remains, "Ding" Burton, quarter for Wichita high last year, took the ball and went through the whole Aggie line for a touchdown. In the opinion of the freshmen, life is worth living if they can do something like that to the Varsity.

W. V. MORGAN HERE MONDAY

Gubernatorial Candidate Will Address the Students at Assembly.

W. V. Morgan, lieutenant-governor of Kansas, editor of the Hutchinson News and one of the seven or eight candidates for governor of Kansas, will talk on "Canada and the War" at student assembly Monday morning.

Mr. Morgan spent his summer in Canada, and while there made a study of the part the Canadians are playing in the war. He is known throughout the state as a forceful, aggressive speaker.

Blaine Crow in Charge of Work in Labette County.

Blaine Crow, an experienced farmer and a graduate of the Kansas State Agricultural college, has been appointed emergency demonstration agent for Labette county.

Mr. Crow is the tenth emergency demonstration agent appointed in Kansas. The other nine emergency agents are at work in Cowley, Finney, Ford, Hodgeman, Ness, Kingman, Rush, Stevens, and Seward counties.

A vote was taken at an open meeting of the Manhattan grange favoring the employment of a county agricultural agent in Riley county.

EVERYONE OUT TONIGHT!

The old-time "pep" was tapped at the special assembly Wednesday morning. Every one felt like "cutting loose." Was Wednesday's showing only a flash, or will the students turn out for a big meeting at the auditorium tonight?

Right now is the time for the student body to show its mettle. Until now, prospects have been rosy. But Ole Man Jinx, in the form of indignities, has hit the Clevenger eleven hard, and the team needs support, and needs it badly.

It is a poor friend who is a friend only when one is prospering, and friends are never willing to help when one is slipping. To just the same degree, it is a poor student body which is loud in its praise when the team's prospects are bright, and then knocks when a bit of hard luck strikes the eleven.

The freshmen will be out tonight. That is always taken for granted. How many upperclassmen will attend the pep meeting?

PLANTS WHEAT ON A CONTRACT

Warren E. Crabtree Will Complete Work by November 12.

Warren E. Crabtree, last year a sophomore in agriculture, has a contract to prepare the ground for the planting of 1,000 acres of wheat in Scott county. He is using his own engine and covering the ground twice, first with tandem disks and next with harrows. He pulls two disks, covering 15 feet at a time. The second time over the ground he pulls six six-foot sections of harrow, making 36 feet at a time and covering from 12 to 15 acres an hour.

Mr. Crabtree will complete his contract in time to enter college the first of November.

CAN'T GO TO SATURDAY HOP

PROBABLY NO STUDENTS WILL DANCE AT HARRISON HALL TOMORROW.

Both Pan-Hellenic Associations Back Up College Authorities in Their Demand That Visitors Must Show Passes.

An old, old college problem again came to a head Wednesday night.

For the past three weeks, "Johnnie" Harrison's Aggieville dance hall has been crowded with students and out-of-town visitors, the latter group being composed mainly of men from Camp Funston.

College authorities demanded that some means be taken to discriminate between visitors whose presence was not desired, and those who were welcomed. It was suggested that each person who wished to attend the dance secure a permit from the college student affairs committee. Commissioned officers from Funston, and others who were known and vouched for by college students, were to be granted the permits, it was understood.

Mr. Harrison refused to grant this demand.

Greek Associations Act.

Wednesday night the men's pan-Hellenic association met and voted to instruct all fraternity men to remain away from Saturday night dances at Harrison's, at least until the faculty approved the "hops." At a special mass meeting of all sorority women, called by Mrs. Mary P. Van Zile, dean of women, practically the same ruling was decided upon affecting the women. After the general meeting, the women's pan-Hellenic association met, and appointed a committee to confer with Mr. Harrison.

To the women's committee, Mr. Harrison offered this compromise: He would keep an approved list of persons at the dance hall door, and would not admit anyone not approved. This plan will be presented to Dean H. L. Kent, new head of the student affairs committee, when he returns today. Mr. Kent was out of town yesterday.

Harrison said yesterday that he did not object to some means of identification, but believed that the ruling that an admission card must be presented each time by each person admitted to the hall would cut down the attendance, because many would forget their permits.

Caused Trouble Before.

The dance problem has been an old one. Two years ago the college student affairs committee ruled that organizations could not hold more than one dance a term, and that none but organizations could hold dances, thus eliminating the so-called "subscription" dance. This resulted last year in students obtaining permits for dances under the names of various clubs, charging $1 a couple, and pocketing the profits. A ruling then was made that no student could make money from the "hops" and a refund, profit-sharing rule was passed, requiring each club representative to refund the profits to his guests.

That plan was admittedly a failure, for few persons ever called for their refund, and the dance managers made money as before.

This year it was decided to take the dances out of students' hands, and let Harrison run them himself. As the matter stands now, no students probably will attend the dance Saturday night, unless the college authorities and Mr. Harrison come to an agreement today or tomorrow.

START A CLASS IN FEEDING

Tests Will Be Made on Poultry by Members of New Class.

A new class was begun Tuesday in the poultry husbandry department. The work in this class consists in procuring certain foods to insure healthy poultry and of a better quality. Every two weeks the food is changed and a study made of the results. At present the class is studying milk feeding.

The Browning and Athenian literary societies meet for their first joint program of the year Saturday night. The program will be of a military nature, honoring members who are now in the national service. Military talks and stunts will furnish the entertainment for the evening, and grape juice the refreshments.

WILL TEST TRACTOR ENGINES

Dean Potter Arranges for Use of New Drill at Hays Station.

A. A. Potter, dean of the division of engineering, accompanied by F. A. Wirt, assistant professor of farm machinery, went to Hays recently to make arrangements for co-operative tests on tractor engines, and to test a new form of drill being perfected by the division of agriculture.

GIRLS HAVE THE PEP, TOO

Co-Eds all in Favor of New Plan—Call Meeting Today.

At a mass meeting yesterday afternoon the girls of K. S. A. C. proved that they are no "pikers" when it comes to supporting college athletics. The big gathering was called yesterday for the purpose of cooperating with and supporting the newly organized "Pep" association.

Heretofore the girls who were interested in showing that they meant to help the teams along have formed a "Girls Rooters' club." But the formation of such a club has not met with the approval of authorities. After a discussion of the situation yesterday it was finally agreed that an organization of all college girls would be effected, but not in the form of a rooters club. The main aim set was to get as many girls as possible out for the football games and to get them there in one big representation. This, it was decided, would give the boys a lot of backing.

That the girls had already made plans for boosting the football team was shown by the fact that a large per cent of those at the meeting already had bought tickets and by the time they left $25 more had been sold. Another mass meeting has been set for this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the old chapel. Every college girl will be expected to be there and have some plans for the furthering and support of all college activities that need to be "pepped" up.

This afternoon officers for the new girls' organization will be elected and plans made for the practicing of college songs.

NO CHARGE FOR FIRST DEBATE

Aggie-Ames Talkfest November 17 Will Be Free to All.

No admission will be charged at the Aggie-Ames debate to be held at the college auditorium, November 17. This was decided by the debate council at its first meeting last Monday afternoon.

The question to be debated is "Tenancy versus Ownership." This is an agricultural question of great importance, and to be debated by two of the leading agricultural colleges of the middle west.

A committee of three will be elected from the council to provide programs to proceed all the college debates. It was decided that the inter-society debates should be postponed until after the Ames debate. The fall try outs will be held the week following the inter-society debates, which will be a Saturday night.

College Club Dance.

The College Club will give a reception and dance for the faculty and new members of the teaching staff, Saturday evening, in the domestic science building.

O. K. NEW PEP PLAN

STUDENTS VOTE UNANIMOUSLY TO ABOLISH THE OLD ROOTERS' CLUB.

BIG PEP MEETING TONIGHT

Couples Will Talk and New Cheer Leaders Will Be Given Tryouts at First Night's Workout—New Committee Gets into Action.

By a vote of approximately 1,000 to 0, the student body voted at the special "pep" assembly Wednesday morning to do away with the Rooters' Club, as a "pep" organization, and to substitute for the club a committee of ten, composed of the presidents of the four classes, the captains of the four Varsity athletic teams, the president of the Y. M. C. A., and the editor of The Collegian.

The meeting was a demonstration of real "pep." To begin with, there were enough seniors in the pit to object strenuously to the presence of a few lower classmen in the senior's sacred section. In a melee that left a couple of opera seats splintered and broken, the upper classmen forcibly ejected the invaders.

Harold Hiltz, newly elected president of the senior class called the meeting to order, briefly explained the purpose of the assembly, and then called upon "Jury" Hayes, 17, one of the chief advocates of the new plan, to present the proposition to the students.

"Jury" Didn't "Cuss."

Hayes made a remarkable speech, that is, remarkable for "Jury." He spoke for five consecutive minutes, and in all that time never even said "damn." It probably is "Jury's" record, his friends say.

"That gave me a brain-storm Saturday," Hayes said, referring to the cheering at the first scrimmage. "There was plenty of cheering, but no one did a thing except the freshmen."

Here the yearling students broke in with loud applause.

"But their yelling was all aimed in the wrong direction," "Jury" continued, and he then read the freshmen a lecture on placing college loyalty above class spirit.

After Hayes spoke, Ivor Mall moved that the "pep" plan as outlined in Tuesday's Collegian be carried out, and the motion passed unanimously.

"Shorty" McLeod then was elected cheer leader, and the thousand students gave "Jay Rah" with gusto, and the meeting adjourned.

"Pep" Meeting Tonight.

The "pep" committee got down to business immediately. At the first meeting Wednesday evening, permanent organization was effected, and it was decided to call a monstrous "pep" meeting for tonight. Both Clevenger and Schulz have prepared orations, and members of the team will be available for speeches.

Tonight's "pep" meeting will be the official tryout for yell leaders. "Shorty" McLeod will need four or five assistants, and all high school cheer leaders and upper classmen who have had experience will be invited to get up on the platform and try their hand at extracting volumes of noise from the rooters. The meeting has been called at 7:45 o'clock.

The "pep" committee is composed of Harold Hiltz, president of the senior class, who is president; Miss Velma Carson, president of the junior class, secretary; Giles Sullivan, baseball captain, vice president; Ralph Van Trine, basketball captain, treasurer; Lee Randels, football captain; Charles Enlow, track captain; C. J. Medlin, sophomore president; Homer Gross, Y. M. C. A. president; Bruce B. Brewer, editor The Collegian, and the president of the freshman class, who has not been elected.

As yet, no one has suggested a name for the new committee. "Jury" Hayes, 17, has offered a $10 prize to the student suggesting the best name.

THE CADET BAND CAN NOT HELP

No Music on Football Field Saturday—Instruments Not Here.

A football game without a band will be something of a novelty in Manhattan, but Aggie students will have to do their cheering Saturday without the usual aid of the crack Aggie cadet corps band. The bandmen are more than anxious to do their "bit" in the awakening of "pep," but they can't do much playing without their instruments, Prof. R. H. Brown, band leader, said yesterday. The band instruments are being repaired.

"We have some excellent material, and I hope to have a real band as soon as the instruments arrive," Professor Brown said. "In the meantime, the rooters will have to do extra duty in arousing the 'pep' spirit."

RECEIVE RARE SPECIMENS

Several Species Represented in New Additions to Museum.

Several specimens have been received for the college museum by L. K. Dice, instructor in zoology, and curator of the museum.

A Mexican brocket, one of the smallest species of the deer family, a lemur, western chipmunk, a chickeree or pine squirrel, and a porcupine are among the specimens received.

800 EAT AT CAFETERIA

Manager Must Cater to the Taste of Student Body.

Catering to the popular taste is a ticklish task, as well as a big one, according to Miss Flora Monroe, manager of the cafeteria at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"The cafeteria serves meals to nearly 800 persons daily," said Miss Monroe, "and I find that potatoes run a close second as the 'staff of life.' Other vegetables are not popular even in salad form, but fruit salads go rapidly."

Every one likes meat, but the more expensive meats do not go nearly like hot cakes as do those that sell at five cents.

"As to deserts, there is no question as to which is best liked," Miss Monroe pointed out. "Pie seems to be everybody's middle name, and the most popular kinds are the meringue pies, especially cream, lemon and chocolate. Puddings and other deserts go well, but not as well as pie. Ice cream is a standard and is often taken with pie. Cake and cobblers are popular."

Coffee is a standard beverage, milk is taken oftener in warm weather.

For breakfast, eggs and cantaloupe are most frequently chosen, but the students do not seem to care for fresh fruits.

PROFESSORS NOT SLACKERS.

Engineering Men had Work to do During Summer.

The members of the faculty of the division of engineering were no slackers last summer. Several of them were doing their bit along the line of their special training. Others were doing what they could toward the betterment of their college work.

A. A. Potter, dean of the division of engineering, spent the summer in his office at Manhattan with the exception of one week which was spent in Washington at a conference on engineering education. L. E. Conrad, professor of civil engineering, was engineer on a large irrigation plant. C. E. Reid, professor of electrical engineering, who spent the summer in Manhattan, devoted his time to special investigation of value to Kansas. F. A. Wirt, assistant professor of farm machinery, was connected with the John Deere Plow company securing practical experience along the line of farm machinery.

W. W. Carlson, professor of shop practice, worked with the Root-Vandevort company of Moline, Ill., designing special tools and jigs so that Kaiser Wilhelm and his colleagues may receive shells of the best possible workmanship. F. C. Harris, instructor in architecture, and F. F. Frazier, assistant professor of civil engineering, were connected with the Fuller construction company as engineers at Camp Funston. Edward Grant, instructor in molding, also aided with the production of munition at the Root and Vandervort company of Moline, Illinois.

POSTPONE HYGIENE CLASS

Course Will Be Opened November 12, When New Students Arrive.

The class in hygiene and social problems which is scheduled to meet Monday the eighth hour has been postponed until November 12. Short course students arriving at that time will have an opportunity to attend the class. Preceding the reopening of the class E. A. Bauer, assistant professor of physical education for men, will send notices to each member of the class.

TWO OUT OF BAKER GAME

SLATTERY AND SULLIVAN INELIGIBLE—VERMETTE IS DRAFTED.

Loss of Pair Regulars Will Weaken Chances of Clevenger Eleven in Game Tomorrow with the Methodists from Baldwin.

Sullivan and Slattery are ineligible, and Vermette has been called to report for the draft Sunday. This is the latest and worst news from the Aggie camp.

No other blow of the year has hit the Aggie aggregation as hard as this one. Sullivan had a berth as half practically clinched, and Slattery was due for a season's work at right end while Vermette has been playing a fast and heady game at guard. This loss will cripple the team seriously, and make the demand for material more imperative than ever. The coaches hold out some slight hope that Sullivan and Slattery will be able to make up their work, but it is doubtful.

The Baker game Saturday is not causing much worry, although reports from Baldwin tend to credit Baker with having an unusually strong team. The coaches at Baker were able to be out with the squads a week earlier than the Aggie mentors, and are said to have put in their time well. The Baker team this year is built around two all-Kansas men. Grove at half, and Stewart at end. A hard fought game is expected, but a feeling of confidence prevails that the Aggies will start the season with a victory.

No definite information has been given out as to the tentative line-up for Saturday, but it is probable that the coaches will give everybody a chance in the game. In this way they will get a line upon a man's ability in a real game. No places are decided yet, and the season's regular line-up probably will not be settled until before the Missouri game.

Center—Aye, Fletcher.
Right guard—Lindholm, Schlaegel, Manzer.

Right tackle—Whedon, McGrath.
Left half—Hinds, Bogue, Hixson.
Right half—Placock, Keys, Fairman.
Fullback—Harwood, Fairman.

The officials for the game will be Dr. J. A. Reilly, K. C. A. C. referee; C. E. McBride, Kansas City Star, umpire; and Ed. W. Cochrane, Kansas City Journal, head linesman.

DRY FARMING WILL AID

A CHANCE TO SHOW LOYALTY.

The college enrollment this year fell short of the usual number of students who register for the fall work. Miss Jessie McD. Machir, registrar, has explained that many of the students are holding off for the special semester which begins December 12.

The special semester presents a means for every Aggie student to do his "patriotic bit." With the enrollment in colleges throughout the country smaller than ever before, and with a heavier demand than ever for college graduates, each Aggie student should see to it that every young man or woman in his home community who would otherwise be idle during the winter, come to Manhattan to college.

Practically all the work in agriculture, engineering and general science will be repeated in the special semester. In addition, there are several short courses in each division of the college.

A letter home to one who would like to come to college, but thinks he can't may hike the Aggie enrollment a couple hundred this year.

ARE THE FRESHMEN SLOW?

At last the freshmen have done it—called a class meeting!

Posters appeared on the college bulletin boards yesterday morning, and the yearlings will begin their life as a college organization after tomorrow, when they are scheduled to meet in the auditorium.

Whether this year's class is "slow," or whether the lack of a convenient meeting hour has been a handicap, is not known, but it is not within the memory of the oldest inhabitants when any previous freshman class waited until the end of the third week of college before it became organized.

The freshmen will have an opportunity tonight, and again tomorrow afternoon, to settle the question of whether or not it was "slowness."

ORGANIZED THE ROTARY CLUB.

Charles Dawson, Governor of Division, Starts Club Off on Right Foot—

At a meeting of the business men of Manhattan, held at the commercial club rooms Wednesday night, the international organization called the Rotary club, was organized. Charles Dawson of Muskogee, Okla., governor of the Eleventh district of Rotary clubs, was present and presided at the meeting. The Eleventh district comprises the following states: Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma. The following officers were elected: President, Dean A. A. Potter; vice president, C. A. Scott; secretary, Robert C. Smith; treasurer, E. L. Knostman, and sergeant-at-arms, Max Wolf. Other members of the board elected are: Clarence Johnson, C. E. Heartburg, H. W. Brewer and B. R. Hull.

ON GOOD CIRCUIT.

Vaudeville Same as Presented in All Large Cities.

In connection with the change in policy of the Marshall theater, it is gratifying to learn from the management this morning that contracts have been made with the Western Vaudeville Managers' association of Chicago for all acts appearing at the Marshall. This is the vaudeville circuit known as the "Western Association," and should guarantee high class bills at all times, as no "fill ins" and "independent" acts, as are shown in the smaller towns and villages and were formerly shown in the 10 cent houses in connection with pictures, will be offered. In fact, for the first time in its history, Manhattan is to have an "honest to goodness" vaudeville house—that is, where vaudeville predominates and is featured.

The Marshall further announces that a good orchestra, the largest ever carried in any theater here regularly, has been secured. Experienced ushers and doormen, professional stage hands, etc., have been employed, and in fact, everything has been done to insure a high class amusement enterprise in every particular, and one that Manhattan may well be proud of.

The change in policy goes into effect on Monday next, with three shows daily, and the innovation should prove a big winner if all advance promises are fulfilled.

Are Emergency Agents.

The following Kansas State Agricultural college graduates have been appointed as emergency agents in Kansas counties: Miss Jaunita Sutcliffe, '09, for Cowley county; Miss Ellen Nelson, '11, for Seward county; Miss Maude Coe, '02, for McPherson county; Miss Ellen Batchelor, '11, for Wyandotte county; and Miss Elsie Paired, '15, for Anderson county. Miss Marion P. Broughton, '14, is the city home demonstration agent for Kansas City, Kan.

Philomathians Elect Officers.

The Philomathian Literary society has elected the following officers for the fall semester. Irene Pieratt, president; Vesta Kinyon, vice president; Hazel May, recording secretary; Emma Larson, corresponding secretary; Anna Amstutz, treasurer; Amy Conrow, critic; Mary Fankhauser, marshal.

W. G. Allee Resigns.

W. G. Allee, former instructor in the department of physics, has resigned on account of the health of Mrs. Allee. He has accepted a position in New Orleans as science teacher in the high school. No one has as yet been appointed to take the place left by Mr. Allee.

The Parisian Cleaners have opened their new up-to-date cleaning shop at 1214 Moro St., Aggieville. Prompt service and best quality of work guaranteed. Phone 619.

Gave Joint Program.

The Lincoln and Philomathean literary societies, and the school of agriculture students gave a joint program in F-3, Wednesday evening.

Fill the Silos Soon.

Silo filling at the agricultural college will begin within a few days. The dairy husbandry department has four silos to fill each holding 100 tons, and the animal husbandry department has three larger silos. These departments will need the help of a number of students.

CANADA NURSES WOUNDED

MAINED SOLDIERS ARE TAUGHT NEW TRADES AT CONVALESCENT HOSPITALS.

Canadians are Good Fighters, Says W. Y. Morgan, Who Predicts That the Football Training of the Americans Will Come in Handy in Trenches.

Canada has the best system of caring for her wounded soldiers of all the countries now at war, in the opinion of the Hon. W. Y. Morgan, lieutenant governor of Kansas, who addressed the students and faculty at general assembly Monday morning.

More than a thousand wounded men are brought home to Canada every month, and these men are cared for in large hospitals, explained the speaker, who spent last summer in Canada studying the conditions there. Many men, he pointed out, come home from the war with an arm or a leg or an eye missing, and these hospitals are equipped to teach them some trade, as soon as they have recovered from their wounds.

"There is hardly a man suitable for war to be found in Canada," declared Mr. Morgan. "The women of Canada have had to do the work of the tens of thousands of men who have had to go to war. The work in stores, in munition plants, and on farms, as well as practically all other work, is being done by women and children and old men."

American and Canadian soldiers are better equipped for war than are the soldiers of other countries, in the opinion of the speaker. Germany, England and France have very few sports of any kind, while most American and Canadian boys have had good training in different sports. The boys of other countries have had too little food and too much drink. They are just as brave, but they are not physically as fit as our boys.

"The German people have been taught that they are the mightiest people in the world and that it is their divine right to command the world, and they would try to convince you that such overlordship would be the best thing for the world. We stand for the government in which the strong protect the weak. There it was inevitable that the two governments would clash."

ADVISORY BOARD MEMBERS TALK

Older Members Will Address Y. W. Meeting Thursday.

"If I were a college girl again" will be the general subject for a series of short talks to be given by the members of the advisory board of the Young Women's Christian Association at the meeting Thursday afternoon.

The advisory board, composed of town and college representatives, will have charge of the entire program and intends to make it one that will be of interest to every college girl. The ten members of the board who will have parts are Mrs. Mary P. VanZile, Miss Jessie McD. Machir, Mrs. H. J. Waters, Mrs. J. T. Willard, Miss Grace Derby, Mrs. H. W. Brubaker, Mrs. Emil Pfuetze, Mrs. Charles Lantz, Mrs. W. W. Ramey, Mrs. L. E. Melchers.

Miss Derby will take up a phase of the college life in a talk on "My attitude toward college activities." Mrs. Pfuetze, "My attitude toward my home folks." Mrs. Brubaker, "My attitude toward the church." Mrs. Melchers, "My attitude toward my associates," and Mrs. Willard, "My attitude toward the college administration." The meeting will be held in the Y. W. C. A. room in the Domestic Science building at 4 o'clock.

MEASURE FOR CADET UNIFORMS

Men Drilling Must Make Deposits Sometime This Week.

All men taking drill, and who haven't their uniforms must secure their measurements this week. Men are ordered to call at the office of the commandant on either Tuesday, Wednesday, or Friday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 5:30 o'clock. There they will be given a fee card. This card must be taken to the office of the financial secretary, the deposit for the uniform paid, and the receipt returned to the commandant. Then the men will be issued cards to the Knostman clothing store, where the measurements will be taken.

FRESH TO ELECT WEDNESDAY

Special Meeting Called at Noon—Officers Nominated Saturday.

The freshman did it all right. They met in the auditorium Saturday afternoon, about 200 of them, and nominated officers for the fall semester, thus preparing the way for the organization of the class as a class. The nominees are: President, Hartzell Burton, Hobart Cammack, Chain Robison; Vice President, Arthur Stuewe, Bruce P. Meeker, Floyd Cole; Secretary, Eugent Huff, Mr. Hobbins, Wayne Burnette, Mr. Ewalt; Treasurer, Merton Otto, Jack Evans, Clayton Smith, Miss Louise Cox; Marshall, Mr. Circle, Alvin Jolly.

A special meeting has been called for Wednesday at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of voting on the candidates. The meeting will be held in the old chapel in Anderson hall, instead of in the auditorium. Ballots will be distributed to those who are present at the meeting, and may be cast during the day. No ballots, it is announced, will be given out after the meeting, which probably will not last more than 10 or 15 minutes.

OPEN PURPLE MASQUE CONTEST.

Fifty Dollar Prize Not Awarded—Produce Play This Semester.

The Purple Masque play writing contest, which was placed on the shelf when the war upset the general order of affairs last spring, is again open to any college student.

A prize of $50 is offered to the student submitting the best three-act play suitable for local production. The contest will close February 1 and the prize winning play will be staged in May.

WANT EVERY GIRL IN Y. W.

Two Membership Committees Begin Big Campaign This Week.

"Every girl a member" is the aim of the Y. W. C. A. membership committee and the second cabinet both of which are conducting a membership campaign this week.

Miss Ruth Thomas as leader of the membership committee and Miss Hattie Droll as leader of the second cabinet have appointed five sub captains, who, in turn, have each chosen five girls. This makes 60 girls who will each be given the names of 10 college girls whom they will be expected to give a personal invitation to join the Y. W. C. A.

While both captains are working toward a single aim, they are rivals for the treats which the side that secures the most members will be given.

A bulletin board in main hall indicates the progress of the contest by means of colored circles. The name of every girl in college is written on the bulletin and those who are members at the opening of the campaign have a purple circle placed after their names. Those who join at the invitation of the membership committee are marked with a red circle and those who join at the invitation of the second cabinet have a green circle to indicate which side has won them. The campaign will close Saturday night.

QUIZZ WEEK IS NEXT WEEK

It's Only a Short Time Until First Examinations are Scheduled.

Eat, drink, and be merry this week, for next week you die. In other words, the first quizzes of the year are only a week away. The scholarship deficiency reports, which every instructor must submit to the dean of his division, are due Saturday, October 13. In the college catalog, the date the reports are due is given as Saturday, October 11, but this was a typographical error, John V. Cortelou, professor of modern language and editor of the college catalog says.

Examinations to remove conditions are to be given Saturday of this week. The college catalog also stated that those examinations were to be given Saturday, October 6, but the correct date is October 6.

OFFER PUBLIC SPEAKING II.

New Instructor Has Charge of New Class.

Enrollment in the public speaking classes is larger this fall than ever before. Miss Ada Dykes, the new instructor in public speaking is teaching the class in Public Speaking II. This is the first time Public Speaking II has been offered.

FIX DANCE DIFFERENCES

HARRISON AND COLLEGE COMMITTEE AGREE TO HAVE LISTS APPROVED.

College Students, and Persons Vouch for by Students, Will not be Deprived of Permission to Dance in Aggieville Hall.

One more the dance problem apparently has met with a solution.

An agreement has been entered into between "Johnny" Harrison, owner of the Aggieville hall, and Dean H. L. Kent, representing the students affairs committee of the college, that a list of those who wish to dance at the hall be kept on file at the hall, and that all persons who dance must have their name on this list, which will be approved by the college authorities.

Sorority and other girls who have attended the dances with out-of-town men have filed a number of names with Dean Kent to be approved. The names already submitted probably will be passed upon favorably by the committee, until a complaint is lodged against any person recommended.

All students are placed on the list, but each must give his name at the hall entrance, the committee has ruled. This is to avoid an appearance of discrimination against the visitors.

The differences were patched up in time for the fraternities and sororities who had united with the faculty committee in placing a ban on the Saturday dances, to attend last Saturday's "hop."

TALK OF CALORIES IN SLEEP

Senior Girls Measure by Weight Everything Edible.

"Hundred calorie portions" just now is a by-word with every member of the senior domestic dietetics class. Anything edible that is measurable is measured up in hundred calorie bits.

According to a senior girl, she tries to forget the calculations while she is eating her meals, when she passes a store window and even tries to banish the measuring process from her dreams, but to no avail. She knows how many calories the student girl requires for one day, for one meal. She is finding out the value of a peanut butter sandwich, of a teaspoonful of butter, of one of lard, of a slice of bread, of a biscuit and of a certain amount of potato. From complaints that have arisen from so much "hundred calorie portion" chatter the girls have been instructed to thing to themselves.

JUDGES TO OMAHA TODAY

Fifteen Seniors to Compete at Swine Breeders' Convention.

Dr. C. W. Campbell, associate professor of animal husbandry, and 15 senior animal husbandry students will leave this morning for Omaha, Neb., to attend the meeting of the National Swine Breeder's association.

The five most efficient judges of swine will be chosen to act as a team to compete against teams from other colleges in a judging contest to be held Wednesday. Prizes amounting to $600 are being offered and an interesting contest is expected. Thursday will be spent in Kansas City at the American Royal Live Stock show.

Those making the trip are Dr. C. W. Campbell, G. C. Ware, H. C. Colglazier, F. H. Gulick, C. L. Reeve, A. C. Hancock, Ford Haggerty, D. C. Curry, W. H. Brookover, J. F. Eggerman, H. M. Birks, Frank Blecha, J. E. Williamson, R. V. Morrison, L. F. Barnes, and W. D. Denholm.

MORE MUSICIANS ARE NEEDED.

Dozen Instruments are Not in Use, Professor Brown Says.

Two double basses, two cellos, two violins, one oboe, two clarinets, the drums and a set of symphony are band instruments for which there are no players.

"We are anxious to have these instruments used in the band," said Prof. R. H. Brown, band leader, "and also in the orchestra. The tuition is moderate and free classes may be formed if there are enough interested."

Hockey Experts Flee as Tomboy Whales Away as in "Shinney" Game

A real, live tomboy who knew all about "shinney" but wasn't accustomed to the game in its civilized form known as field hockey, caused havoc among the co-eds in a recent game played by the members of a gymnasium class. The girls scattered in all directions with squeals of terror when the "shinney" expert raised her stick above her head to take a good sound drive at the ball.

It is against the rules of field hockey to swing the stick over the shoulder for a drive but as the newcomer didn't know this, the other co-eds who were particular about their noses made room when they saw what was happening. The instructor, ascertaining the cause of the commotion, showed the girl the regulation stroke. All went well until the play grew more exciting and the heroine forgot all save the necessity of swatting that ball before her opponent did.

Then there was a mad rush to other parts and the "shinney" player was left alone. Again the instructor came to the rescue and accepted the sorrowful apologies of the tomboy co-ed. The others all eyed her suspiciously and began bargaining among themselves on changing positions.

"Don't you see that the girls are all afraid of you?" asked the instructor. "I'll remember—I'm used to playing real tin can shinney."

But to ease the minds of others less accomplished in this line, she was relegated to a back position on the field and the game went on.

PEP STUNT IS A MYSTERY

Committee is Working on Plan for Something New for Friday.

The "pep" committee is arranging for a big stunt for next Friday night's meeting in the auditorium. Just what the stunt is to be has not been announced, and probably won't be announced. The committee meets tonight at 7 o'clock at the Acacia house to work out the plans for the new line of entertainment, which members of the committee say will be the "real thing."

Arrangements are also being made by organizations to attend in a body. The Pi Beta Phi sorority attended the last meeting, and each member brought a freshman. The "vets" were also there.

JOURNALISM IS PROFITABLE

W. Y. Morgan, Publisher, Tells of Financing a Newspaper.

Year in and year out the newspaper business is not surpassed as a profession, in the opinion of W. Y. Morgan, lieutenant governor of Kansas and owner of the Hutchinson News, who spoke yesterday afternoon before the students in industrial journalism.

"Our business has become a rather well paid one," said Mr. Morgan. "The leading men in the state, generally, are newspaper men. This applies to politics and religion, as well as to business. Even the lawyer must stand in with the reporter in order to get his speeches into print when he makes a public address."

The world is moving fast but the newspapers keep ahead, the speaker said. There is always a demand in this field for young men and women with a liberal education. The work is hard and often there is not much fun connected with it. The profession, however, is now highly respected and those following it are esteemed in their communities.

THRESH OUT GIRLS' PROBLEMS

Y. W. Will Take up Questions Asked at Round Table.

A question box is to be installed in the Y. W. C. A. office in the domestic science building. Any query relative to the work of the association, the purpose or concerning any problem of the college girl may be dropped unsigned into the box. The questions will be taken up at the Thursday afternoon meetings or at a general 'round table' to be arranged for later in the semester.

Visits Canning Champions.

Otis E. Hall, state director of the boys' and girls' club, returned Saturday from the annual meeting of the Glenwood Canning club in Leavenworth county. This club is the champion canning club in the United States.

BAKER EASY FOR AGGIES

METHODIST LINE RIDDLED BY NEW CLEVELER BACKFIELD IN 25 TO 0 GAME.

Hinds and Placek Star in Offensive That Advances Ball Ten Times as Far as Opponents—Purple Line Too Much for "Ducky" Groves.

Clevenger's backfield delivered the goods, "Germany's" line held like the proverbial stone wall, the Kansas Aggies played real football, and the Baker Methodists were defeated 0 to 28, in the season's opener Saturday.

With all three regulars from last year's eleven gone, the backfield that Coach Clevenger patched together during the past two weeks rounded the ends and riddled the line like Aggie backfields of old. Big Leo Placek ploughed through and around the line, and refused to be downed until at least two, and sometimes as many as four and five Baldwin athletes, had attached themselves to his person. Harwood hit straight through center just like Eddie Wells did last year.

But Hinds was the sensation. The diminutive speedster, a star quarterback on Scott's freshman eleven last year, blossomed out as a real open field star. He didn't surprise those who knew him, but many in the stands who expected that the "boy" would last through only a few minutes of play, were convinced that Hinds was a man when it came to "stick-to-it-iveness," fight, endurance and ball carrying ability.

Hinds is a flashy player who attracts attention every time he makes a play, partly because of his size—or lack of it—and partly because of his speed. In Saturday's contest, it was no uncommon stunt for the speedster to be tackled, bounce away from his tackler, fall on his back to the ground, and arise with the same momentum with which he fell, reeling off another five or ten yards.

The line held, as a line is supposed to do. Whedon and Roda were the big factors in the forward group, but Frankenhoff, Gates and Aye, playing side by side in the middle of the line, allowed the Baker men no holes through which to plunge for gains. Keys flashed brilliantly at end, and Captain "Stiff" Randels was the same old all-valley player, catching Johnny Clarke's forward passes and the Baker men who came his way, with the same ease of execution. Clarke's steadiness at quarter was an important factor in the "get away" of the newer members of the eleven.

The Aggies marched down the field four times, each drive netting a touchdown. On the first drive, the ball was lugged 60 yards. Then a penalty of 15 yards took the ball back to the 22-yard line. Hinds took the ball on the first play and sifted through the entire Baker eleven for the remaining distance to the goal line, making the first score of the season.

Substitutions—Agiess, Enlow for Randels; Frankenhoff for Roda; Manner for Gates; Fletcher for Aye; Vermette for Frankenhoff; Magrath for Whedon; Dickerson for Keys; Sullivan for Hinds; Bogue for Placek; Fairman for Harwood.

Summary—Touchdowns: Hinds, Harwood, Placek, and Harwood. Goals from touchdown: Randels (2), Harwood, Clark. Punts—Agiess, two for 55 yards; Baker, eight for 280 yards. First downs: Aggies, 21; Baker 3. Distance gained: Aggies, 260 yards; Baker, 25 yards. Forward passes: Aggies, 3 for 60 yards. Penalties: Aggies 35 yards.

Park Autos in Right Places.

T. R. Robbins, head of the custodian department, requests that all autos be parked in the places made for them, and not on the drives.

ORGANIZE A MANDOLIN CLUB.

Nine Sign Up for Instruction Under Professor Brown.

The demand for instruction on the mandolin and guitar has induced Prof. R. H. Brown, band instructor, to give instructions on both instruments.

Several players have met with Professor Brown and have organized a mandolin club. They desire to secure more players. The following are members of this club: Miss Bess Curry, Donald Thayer, Roy Carr, Miss Florence Dial, Mrs. Harting, Miss Maude Deeley, Miss Edith Bruner, C. H. Cloud, and Miss Effie Witham. Beginners are especially urged to join.

SENIORS ELECT FALL OFFICERS

Harold Hiltz Chosen President and Irma Boerner Secretary.

Senior class officers who will serve for the fall semester were elected at a recent meeting of the class. The senior class is well represented on the hill this year in spite of conditions which have kept many from college.

Harold Hiltz was chosen president; Helen Harbaugh, vice president; Irma Boerner, secretary; Herbert Helmkamp, treasurer; Gladys Spring, assistant treasurer; Hazel Merillat, marshal; Mary Dakin, class scribe; Ivor Mall, member of class book board of control; George Gibbons, class book manager; Edwin DuBois, first member of student council; Stella Strain, second member; O. T. Bonnett, third member, and Pauline Richards, fourth member.

IOS LEAD TICKET SELLERS

Society is an Easy Winner in Artist Series Contest.

The Ionian Literary society was an easy winner in the ticket selling contest, for the artists' series which closed Saturday night. The society sold $252.50 worth of tickets. The Franklins came second with $131.50 worth of sales to their credit, and the Hamiltons were their close competitors with a total of $128 worth of tickets sold.

The leading society won a penant, and 8 per cent commission on tickets sold. The second highest society received a commission of 7 per cent, and the third highest received a commission of 6 per cent. The rest of the societies were refunded 5 per cent of their sales.

Some of the organizations have turned in money since Saturday night, but this is not counted in the contest as regulations were that all money should be in by Saturday night, according to C. J. Medlin, who had charge of the contest during the absence of J. E. Taylor, business manager.

The following is the standing of the societies in the contest: Ionians $252.50; Franklins $131.50; Hamiltons $120; Eurodelphians $121; Brownings $83; Athenians $67; Webster $35.50; Alpha Betas $11; total $829.50.

CROSS COUNTRY MEN ARE OUT.

Revenge on K. U. the Goal of Director Bauer's Squad.

Although few of the students are aware that the Aggies have a cross country team, this fact has not kept the men on the team from working out every afternoon, in the hopes of being revenged upon K. U. for their defeat of last year.

The cross country team entered into a contract with K. U. last year to have a cross country run before the annual football game between the two schools. This year marks the second run, the last one on the contract. Besides the K. U. run, E. A. Bauer, director, is trying to schedule runs with Baker, Ottawa, and other schools in this part of the country.

Director Bauer says he would like to see more men interested in this sport. It is for the college, and is worthy of the hearty support of everyone, he believes.

Freshmen candidates are wanted by Mr. Bauer.

Quinn May go to France.

John M. Quinn, a former student in the school of agriculture, is with the coast artillery, stationed at Honolulu. In a recent letter to his brother, Henry P. Quinn of Company I, he stated that his regiment was expecting a call to France at any time.

PLANS THREE-ROOM SCHOOL.

Doctor Walters is Preparing Pamphlet for Consolidated Districts.

A pamphlet on modern, three-roomed school houses for small consolidated district schools is being published by Mr. J. D. Walters, professor of architecture emeritus.

"The district teachers are used to one-room school houses and it is difficult for them to arrange their classes to conform with three rooms," said Doctor Walters.

"How to plan the building is another difficult problem for the district. Their plan of building is to have the three rooms in a straight line."

SEWING SHIRTS FOR SOLDIERS

Making Hospital Garments is the Work of Housekeeper's Class.

Hospital shirts for the soldiers are being made by the girls of the housekeepers' course. The domestic art department is working in correlation with the Red Cross. The goods for the 45 shirts has been furnished them by the Red Cross. The girls will make these shirts as their regular class work instead of garments for themselves as housekeepers usually do.

SOME MORE ABOUT CHAPEL

The Collegian has another "bone to pick" regarding chapel exercises. Yesterday while the Hon. W. Y. Morgan, lieutenant governor of the state, was speaking, not less than a dozen students rudely arose and leisurely left the building. It was decidedly uncomplimentary to Mr. Morgan, who really was talking in a humorous vein that should have held the attention of any one, but it was even a worse "slam" at those who left, ever if they did want to get ahead of everyone else at the cafeteria.

There will be a real "pep" meeting next week. Watch for it, and make your plans accordingly.

The band was practicing "Aggie Loyalty" during drill period yesterday morning, and many a freshman out on the parade grounds listened intently to the strains. The band was one of the big things lacking at the Baker-Aggie game Saturday. With the band out at the game, and it will be out next Saturday, "pep" just comes naturally.

Clevenger's performing Wildcats proved to be better trained than expected in Saturday's combat. This not only was the opinion of Aggie students who watched the game, but it was the verdict of the officials, all of whom are close students of the gridiron game. Indicative of the attitude of the officials is the instructions given his local correspondent by one of the men, who is sports editor of a Kansas City newspaper, to send 300 words and lineup, instead of the 100 words that he had previously ordered.

Leading sports editors of the middle West have been paying more and more attention to Kansas Aggie sports during the last two years, all of which goes to show that the Aggies are putting out real athletic teams. Where two or three years ago the sports editors of papers were contented with 100 words on an Aggie sporting event, they will double and sometimes triple that order now.

REPAIR COLLEGE BUILDINGS

New Floor in Main Hall, and Gymnasium Floor is Revarnished.

Although handicapped by an inadequate working force, the general repair department under G. R. Pauling has done extensive work on college buildings. A new floor has been laid in Anderson hall. Two rooms have been finished in the attic of Denison hall which will be used by A. G. Hogan, assistant professor of chemistry, for experiments in animal nutrition. A room is being finished in the engineering building for use as a fuel testing laboratory. The revarnishing of the main floor of the gymnasium will be complete within 10 days. The women's swimming pool is being rebuilt. It is being made of concrete and lined with enamel. The pool will be ready for use in two or three days.

NEW POLICY AT THE MARSHALL

Opens as Vaudeville House Today With Star Attractions.

A radical change has been made in the policy of the Marshall theater since Saturday night, when the last feature picture, for some time at least, was presented. Today the Marshall is a vaudeville theater in every sense of the word, showing the higher class of vaudeville acts in conjunction with the latest comedy pictures and the Pathe News. The Marshall has enjoyed good success as a feature house but with the great changes which have taken place in Manhattan during the past few months it has been apparent, according to the management of the Marshall, that Manhattan needs something besides pictures, and they have therefore decided to make the change from a feature policy to one of vaudeville.

A large orchestra will be carried, plenty of ushers and other attendants. In fact, it is stated, everything done to add to the enjoyment and comfort of the theater going public. The large entrance on Houston street will be used for all attractions, which will enable the management to better take care of large crowds, and when the Marshall makes its bow as a vaudeville theatre today it will be in mid-season form with nothing overlooked to win the favor of its patrons.

The opening bill is the Three Hayashi Japs in an original Japanese novelty, Poole and Pembroke in a singing act and Standley and Lea offering a Novelty Musical act. The pictures will be Mack Sennett's "Fame and Shame" and the world famous "Pathe News."

Complete Gymnasium Repairs.

The gymnasium floor has a new coat of varnish. During the first of the week, two men were busy scraping off the old coat of varnish, and sandpapering the floor to get it ready for the new coat. The floor is now in fine condition, smoother and faster than ever, and marked off for basketball and other indoor sports.

Obliging Young Frosh Smashes Junior's Bags

The Rock Island depot, a Junior who had been riding the train for several hours two suit cases, weighing fifty pounds each, a freshman and a student from the school of agriculture, and we have the setting, properties, and cast for a drama which may have been either a comedy or tragedy.

The Junior alights from the train followed by the freshman. Junior is carrying the two heavy suit cases. Freshie follows behind looking about him wondering. Junior spies the Y. M. C. A. station and introduces freshie to the man in charge. Freshie talks while Junior goes to look for a baggage man.

At this point the school of ag. man comes onto the stage and watches the Junior who is dashing excitedly about looking for the baggage man to haul his trunk. Junior finally captures his man. Then he comes back to the Y. M. C. A. station for his suit cases. School of ag. man has them and says he will take them to the car line and show him the car that takes him to the Y. M. C. A. building.

"But I can carry them," interposes Junior, "I guess I know my way about."

"No I will carry them. I am a Y. M. C. A. worker and have been appointed to look after such men as you. Lets walk up and catch the Foyntz avenue car."

They start. Junior looks guiltily at the School of Ag. man. He knows how heavy the suit cases are, having carried them before. Two blocks have been traversed. School of ag. man begins to sweat. Junior looks more guilty and glances around to see if any one recognizes him.

"Is this your first year here?" asks Junior of his baggage smasher.

"No," proudly comes the answer. "This is my second year in the school of agriculture. Have you ever been in Manhattan before?"

"Oh yes, several times. You see this is my third year here, and my room is at 355 North Fifteenth street. I thank you very much for carrying my suit cases."

"Oh Hell," comes the exclamation with peculiar and forceful emphasis. School of ag. man set the suit cases down very emphatically, while he puts into use some of the vocabulary not taught in college and says he must make another train.

Joseph Sweet, '17, has resigned as assistant in experimental breeding in the University of Wisconsin to enter the officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan.

Carl Roda is rounding into his old time form, and the freshmen are the ones that will tell you so. The big linesman is tearing into the opposing line in regular mid-season style, and his friends are looking wise and prophesying and all-valley position for him this year. Here is hoping they don't miss their guess.

The Aggies have prospects for some good kickers this year. Johnny Clarke and "Hobe" Fairman are both booting the pigskin for 50 yards right often. With these two for punters, and Frankenhoff for drop kicking, the Aggie kicking department should be stronger than it has been for several seasons.

Frank Bergier, '14, who taught physics and chemistry the last two years in the Kearney (Nebr.) high school is in the officers' training school at Fort Logan, Colo.

A Rough House.
Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle in his latest and greatest Paramount Comedy, "A Rough House," is the offering at the Warehouse Theatre Thursday, October 4th.
Number One: "I think that a street car (hic) hash just passed."
Number Two: "How do you know?"
Number One: "I can see its tracks."

Freshie: "Why does Rarick have all those letters tacked on to his name?"
Senior: "That shows that he got there by degrees."

Jack: "Why does a blush creep up a girl's face?"
Jill: "Because if it ran, it would kick up too much dust."

March Down Town—Organizations to Attend in Bodies.

TONIGHT'S PEP MEETING

Begins at 7:30 sharp.

Lasts for an hour and a half.

Free show at Wareham's

Theatre.

Dean Jardine, "Mike" Ahearn

and others will give short, spicy talks.

Fraternities and sororities have voted to attend.

Women are to sit in west half of auditorium, men in east half,

and freshmen in the pit.

Freshmen will wear their caps during the meeting.

And there will be stunts,

stunts, stunts, to make the meeting different from anything of its kind ever held here.

Something doing every minute—that is the aim of the "pep" committee, which is planning an all-college "pep" meeting for tonight.

Originality will be the keynote of the evening. There will be one major stunt—you will be surprised, it is promised—and then there will be stunt after stunt, interspersed with yells and short talks, the latter lasting about five minutes each.

No one but the members of the "pep" meeting know what the big stunt is to be. Here is just a hint, which will show you that something worth while is being planned: the major stunt probably will cost in the neighborhood of $15.

Jardine and "Mike" to Talk.

Both Coach Clevenger and Coach "Germany" Schulz have begged off for the evening, and although they will be on the platform with the members of the team, other speakers have been secured for the evening. One of the talkers is W. M. Jardine, dean of the division of agriculture, and a 100 per cent football fan. He is chairman of the athletic board. Dean Jardine will talk nearly ten minutes. "Mike" Ahearn, the grand old man of Kansas Aggie athletics, is another faculty member who is on the program. "Mike" placed the Aggies in the athletic limelight back in the days when he coached teams on which played Jake Homes, Jack Gingery, Bobby Christian, and other gridiron athletes known to every Aggie alumnus. As to "Mike's" talks, they are a mixture of Irish humor and good common sense, and Mr. Ahearn probably will draw his full share of applause.

The rooters will begin gathering by 7 o'clock, and it is predicted that the lower floor will be overflowing before 7:30 o'clock. No one is to be allowed to sit in the balcony, until the main floor is filled.

All Over by 9 o'clock.

At 9 o'clock, the main part of the "pep" meeting will be over, and the enthusiasts will form outside the auditorium to march down-town, where they will be given a free show at Wareham's theatre immediately.

The Greek-letter organizations have taken a lead in hiking the attendance. At its meeting Wednesday night, the Women's Pan-Hellenic association, the sorority governing body, voted unanimously to instruct the sororities to attend in bodies, and that the sorority girls should meet their "dates" after—not before—the "pep" meeting.

AGGIE MAN IS AN AUTHOR

Harry A. Moore Lands Story in the Youth's Companion.

Harry A. Moore, sophomore in industrial journalism, has received word that the Youth's Companion has accepted a short story which he wrote. The title of the story is "The Barn Runners." It is the second story Mr. Moore has ever submitted for publication. He received $50 for the story. "The style of the Youth's Companion was carefully studied, and then the story was written with that particular market in view," said Don L. Burk instructor in English. Mr. and Mrs. Burk helped Mr. Moore with suggestions when he was writing the story.

Mr. Moore is a member of the Franklin Literary society, and of Pi Kappa Delta, and is a college debater. The student body will be divided into three groups to encourage competitive cheering. The freshmen, just the men, will occupy the pit, with each Fresh wearing his cap. Execution of this order is to be left to the freshmen unless they show themselves incapable of defending the ancient cap-wearing custom. The women, including the freshman women, will occupy the west half, both downstairs and upstairs, and the men will sit in the eastern portion of the auditorium.

BIG SISTER PARTIES SOON

Older Girls Will Continue Acquaintances Made During Enrollment.

Big sister night will be October 12. That is the night when several homes of faculty members will be open to big and little sisters for early candle light parties.

Two or three big sister captains, with their little sisters as guests, will meet in each home to which they have been invited, for a few hours for the purpose of acquainting new girls with each other and to continue the spirit of friendliness between the upper classmen and the freshmen beyond the time of enrollment.

FINISH FIRST TENNIS ROUND

BUT SEVERAL MATCHES HAVE NOT BEEN PLAYED.

Many of the contests in co-ed series were lost by default—second round begins.

Tennis preliminaries have been taking all the vacant hours, noon hours, and after "eights" as far as the co-eds have been concerned for the last few days.

Owing to the short time since the announcement of the start of the tournament and to conflicting hours and assignments, also the lack of a week end in which to catch up, a number of the first matches which were to have been played off by October 4, have been delayed and are carried over until today. The returns of the contest so far follow:

Elsie Cuthbert won from Ethel Mendenhall, 6-0, 6-0.

Marie Johnston won from Betty Cotton, by default.

Mary Braddock won from Josephine Hagenbuch, by default.

Florence Mather won from Clara Allen, by default.

Marian Darks won from Elven Price, by default.

Pay Hall won from Ethel Roop, 6-2, 6-0.

Addie Sandman won from Luella Sherman, 6-1, 6-0.

Ruth Thomas won from Katherine Foster, 6-0, 6-1.

Elizabeth Wadley won from Evelyn Beckett, by default.

Martha Baird won from Lyle Hoag, 6-0, 6-0.

Lucille Hartman won from Abbieclaire Dennen, by default.

Edna Chapin won from Sarella Herrick, 6-4, 6-0.

Bess Gordon won from Margaret Armentrout, 7-5, 6-0.

Preliminaries are to be played today by Janie Cameron and Ina Allen, Marval Merillat and Gladys Carson, Isabel Hamilton and Jesse Evans, Alice Nieman and Ruby Canady, Buena Myers and Ferol Stratton, Anna Roneigh and Marion Wishard, Esther Joss and Marjorie Brown, and Marie Sieher and Dorothy Moseley.

Juniors Meet Saturday.

The junior class will meet Saturday at two o'clock in the old chapel.

Carl P. Thompson, specialist in animal husbandry in the extension division, acted as judge at fairs at Great Bend, Finland, and Hartford this week. Next week he will judge at Chanute and White City.

Miss Hilda M. Lancefield of Portland, Ore., has arrived to take the position of reference assistant in the library, which was left vacant by the resignation of Miss Elizabeth H. Davis.

WHEN AGGIES MEET AGGIES

OKLAHOMA A. & M. ELEVEN IS HEAVIER THAN CLEVELAND-SCHULZ TEAM.

Game With Athletes from Sooner-Land Will be a Test of the Back Field and Line Which Starred in the Contest With Baker.

The game Saturday with the Oklahoma Aggies will be a real and crucial test of the strength of the Aggies in every department. The question that is worrying the coaches is whether the Aggie ends and backs can stop the running and passing game of the Oklahomans.

The Oklahoma team this year is exceptionally heavy in the line, with a lightning fast backfield, the whole team averaging 166.7 pounds. The line averages 179 pounds, with Lawrence at left tackle weighing 202 pounds, Chase at left guard weighing 192 pounds, and no linemen weighing less than 175 except the two ends, who weigh 165 and 157 pounds. This makes a formidable line, and one that will test fully the power of the Aggie backs in line bucks.

The man that the Aggies will have the real trouble in stopping, though, is Gallagher, captain and left half. Gallagher is said to be a whirlwind end runner, and strong in a broken field. He is one of the fastest track men in the Southwest conference, and if he once gets loose, a score is nearly certain. The Oklahomans play both a running game, and a passing game, with Gallagher always the star. In the opinion of Coach Clevenger, though, if the Aggies can stop Gallagher, they will win.

Although they will be outweighed four to six pounds to the man, on an average, the Aggie Wildcats do not fear 'em. According to the dope in the Aggie camp, Gallagher will meet his match in speed, broken field running, and in taking passes, in the person of one George Hinds, and that the Oklahoma line, heavy as it is, will have a hard time in stopping Placek and Harwood on line bucks. Captain "Stiff" Randels is also figuring on giving the Oklahoma ends quite a little trouble when it comes to end runs.

Physically, the Aggies are in good shape. Although there were several minor injuries from last Saturday's game, none of them were serious, and nobody will be out of the game. Strengthened with the addition of Sullivan and Slattery, who are both eligible for Saturday's game, and heartened by their showing in the Baker game, the Wildcats are confident of a victory Saturday.

The line-up for the game will be as follows:

Okla. Aggies	Pos.	Kan. Aggies
Kay	re	Keys, Slattery
Graham	re	Whedon
Stafford	rg	Frankenhoff
Bailey	c	Aye
Chase	lg	Gates
Lawrence	lt	Roda
Percy	le	(C) Randels
Ault	qb	Clarke
Lookabaugh	rh	Placek
Gallagher, c	lh	Hinds
Coldiron	fb	Harwood

The officials for the game are: Ed W. Cochran, Kansas City Journal, referee; Dr. Isadore Anderson, umpire.

FIRE AT COLLEGE TAILOR SHOP

Warehouse Burns as Result of Explosion—$500 Damage.

The warehouse belonging to W. P. Barber, of the College Tailor shop, burned down Tuesday a. m. at about 2 o'clock, caused by friction of silks that were being washed in the gasoline washer, causing the gasoline to explode. Mr. Barber had no insurance on the building and the damage is estimated at about $500. No one was injured in the fire.

Miss Elsie Bonney, student last year, stopped over in Manhattan Wednesday on her way to Battle Creek, Mich., where she will attend school this year. She was accompanied by her friend, Miss Grace Guyer, who will attend Northwestern.

The poultry department has received a display case in which to exhibit numerous photographs. A rack also has been added to the equipment for the purpose of displaying charts.

GETTING READY FOR AMES.

Aggie Debaters Working Overtime to Defeat Iowa.

To the uninitiated, A-60 might be the rendezvous of a band of anarchists upon certain nights. But as an actual fact it is the meeting place of the men comprising the Ames-Aggie debate squad.

Under the tutelage of Don L. Burk, assistant professor of English, and coach of debate, and of J. C. Emerson, professor of public speaking, the squad is meeting three times a week. On the night of November 16, these men will attempt to decide whether satisfactory methods of tenancy are more important for the corn belt farmer than ownership.

The three affirmative speakers who will argue at home are: A. W. Boyer, C. J. Medlin, and H. H. Nelson.

H. Clyde Fisher, Turner Barger, Harry More, Earl Frost, and Walter oughton are all trying for a place on the negative team that debates at Ames.

ZETA KAPPA PSI ELECTS.

Zeta Kappa Psi, honorary forensic fraternity for women, have elected the following officers for the fall semester: Miss Lola M. Sloop, president; Miss Donna Faye Wilson, vice president; Miss Stella Strain, secretary; Miss Gussie Johnson, treasurer; Miss Hazel Merillat, marshal, and Miss Mary Dakin, historian.

COLLEGE GIRLS FOR A DAY

Y. W. ADVISORS TELL OF THEIR UNDERGRADUATE DAYS.

How Older Women Would Do It Over Again the Subjects of Many of Yesterday's Talks.

Five members of the advisory board of the Young Women's Christian association were college girls again yesterday afternoon and in a series of short talks to the girls who attended the meeting, told of changed attitudes toward college activities and how "they would do it over again."

Miss Grace Derby, association news advisor, spoke of the attitude that the girl should take toward college activities.

"First of all the college girl tells herself that she is coming to college to gain knowledge. Once here she expects to study and to follow instructions. But she cannot gain her entire education from the classroom. She must have interest in the literary societies, in class meetings, in athletics, in Y. W. C. A. work and in the support of the activities of the institution."

Mrs. H. W. Brubaker, membership advisor, told of the girl's attitude toward the church. "A girl cannot be a Christian and flunk," she said. "It involves too much."

The attitude toward college associates was the subject of a talk given by Mrs. Melchers.

"The choosing and polishing up of high ideals is the duty of every college girl. There are two ways of going thru college, following the easiest way, and digging out a path of her own," Mrs. Melchers said.

Mrs. J. T. Willard spoke of the college girl's attitude toward the college administration. "You think," she said, "that you have hard problems to meet your college schedule. But you are still in college. Those who are over you now have many problems to work out. The willingness to cooperate cheerfully with those who have the schedules to make, the teachable spirit, the right attitude toward those who are trying to instruct, means a great deal toward the betterment of college life."

Mrs. Emil Pfeetze told of her idea of the attitude of the student toward the home people. "A majority of parents have made some sacrifice to send daughters to college. They expect returns and the girl can give them much happiness through her close touch with them while she is away at school."

R. M. Sherwood at McCune.

R. M. Sherwood, specialist in poultry in the extension department, is holding an institute meeting at McCune on Friday and Saturday of this week. He is assisted by C. G. Ellison of Parsons and Miss Emma Johnson of the state normal at Pittsburg.

KEEP UP DEBATE SCHEDULE.

Council Votes to Continue With Six Talks Each Year.

The maintenance of the regular schedule of six debates, including three girls' and three boys' debates was decided upon by the debate council.

In order to better advertise the debates thruout the community the council elected a publicity manager. W. A. Giles, junior in industrial journalism, was chosen.

A motion passed to assess all literary societies and other organizations participating in debates, 50 cents for each active member enrolled up to November 1, payable on that date. These organizations, also, will be assessed for all new members joining between November 1 and January 26, payable on the latter date.

The council decided to eliminate the expense of an advisor on the Ames trip.

SERVE LUNCHES TO SENIORS

Girls in Dinner Work Classes Will Serve Men—$1.50 for Four Lunches.

Senior boys are to have an opportunity to eat lunches cooked by senior girls in the dinner work classes of domestic science, according to Miss Margaret Haggart, professor of domestic science.

Beginning October 8 and continuing until the end of the term, senior boys will be welcome at the dining room of the domestic science department for lunches. There will be eight tables and the class is desirous of having at least one senior boy at each table every day. The cost will be $1.50 a week, lunches being served on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays.

READ ESSAYS AT QUILL MEETING

Writers Also Will Discuss Preparation of Papers.

Quill club will meet with Miss Ada Rice at 917 Osage street Monday evening. Business will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. Several original essays will be read and essay writing will be discussed.

GIRL ATHLETES WILL MEET

Association Will Elect Officers for Fall Semester Tuesday.

The Girls' Athletic association will hold the first meeting of the year Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the gymnasium. Only girls who are members are asked to attend this first meeting. Lists of those accredited with membership in the organization will be posted in the gymnasium, on the bulletin board in Anderson hall, and on the bulletin board in the domestic science building.

The association this year will have a much more active part in college athletics than formerly. Tuesday afternoon in addition to the regular officers for the Association a manager for each sport and activity will be chosen so that by leadership the games may all be of relative importance. There will be a "hike" manager, swimming overseer, director for field hockey and one for indoor games. The senior, junior, sophomore and freshman classes will also each be asked to choose a girl for athletic manager if they have not already done so.

Membership in the Girls' Athletic Association is earned thru the "point" system, twenty-five points being required for entrance. The points are made thru gymnasium work and interclass games. Credit is given for the class teams of field hockey, basketball, and base ball, for tennis, swimming, esthetic or folk dancing, class record, organized hiking and apparatus tests. A schedule of the number of points allowed for each activity will be composed by gymnasium instructors and will be posted. One hundred sixty points wins a purple "K" and a large percent of last year's members have made a good start toward the coveted letter.

PASS PHYSICAL EXAM

GRADUATES ARE EXEMPT FROM QUIZZES, BUT MUST BE O. K. IN BODY.

MEANS TWO YEARS IN ARMY

At the End of Period, Provisional Officers May Remain in Service if Government Wants Them, or They May Resign Honorably.

Fifteen Kansas Aggie graduates who have shown proficiency in military science are needed by Uncle Sam. The war department has sent a call to the college, through President Waters, for 15 honor graduates, who, if they pass the physical examination, will be granted second lieutenancies and be sent to Fort Leavenworth for further instruction.

Because of the standing of the cadet corps of the college, applicants who have been graduated are required only to pass the physical examinations, but others who wish to apply for provisional second lieutenancies will be examined in two or more subjects. The subjects are arranged in two groups, and students who have had a large amount of military science and of engineering work will have an easy time getting admittance to the Leavenworth camp.

Provisional second lieutenancies last for two years. At the end of that time, if the war department is satisfied with the officer, he is retained. He may be honorably discharged, however, at the option of the department, or he may withdraw at the end of that period if he chooses.

The letter received by President Waters from the adjutant general follows:

In accordance with the provisions of Paragraph 36, G. O. No. 79, war department, November 18, 1913, the professor of military science and tactics, after consultation with the president of the college or school, is requested to report to the adjutant general of the army the names of such students belonging to the graduating class as have shown special aptitude for military service.

In the absence of the professor of military science and tactics, you are requested to furnish the department with this information, using the attached forms for that purpose.

Fifteen blank forms were received by President Waters, who has turned the letter and the blanks over to W. B. Wendt, acting commandant, who is making a search for available men to recommend. All candidates are requested to send in their names as soon as possible if they desire an appointment. Wesley G. Bruce, '17, is the only person who has been recommended so far.

Prof. K. J. T. Ekblaw Arrives. The new professor of farm engineering and farm agricultural, K. J. T. Ekblaw, has arrived from Washington, D. C. His office is in the new agricultural building.

Cosmopolitans to Elect. Cosmopolitan club will meet Friday at seven o'clock in K-55 to elect officers and to determine a time for regular meetings.

William E. Peterson, specialist in dairying in the extension division, held a farmers institute meeting at Whiting and judged at Holton and at a community fair 60 miles southwest of Lawrence this week.

T. H. Sparks, specialist in entomology of the extension division, held farm and home institute meetings at St. Francis, Almena, and Lenora this week.

A PROTECTIVE MOVE.

The college student affairs committee can not be blamed, and should be praised, for its attitude on the dance question. Mr. Harrison, as owner of the Aggieville hall, had no means of excluding undesirable persons from the hall unless there was some gross transgression. But, under the new ruling, students are admitted on the same grounds as before, and the college man and woman—and especially the woman—are sure that their associates have met with approval.

The move can be chalked up as one of the achievements of the new chairman of the committee, Dean H. L. Kent.

Monday's chapel speaker is the Rev. Drury Hill Fisher, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The Rev. Mr. Fisher talks with students in the man-to-man way that has always pleased. That is the reason that he has been chosen to talk to the students Monday. It would pay you to hear him.

Men, Don't Read This!

The section that was set aside for them at the football game last Saturday wasn't big enough, so they will be given a bigger reservation for tomorrow's game.

They didn't have dates, and the organizations vied with each other in getting the largest crowd out, and at tomorrow's game the numbers will be increased.

The "Pep" hat will make its initial appearance tomorrow also. This is a symbol of Aggie Loyalty, a small white hat with a purple ribbon.

A cheer leader has been assigned to this section (a man) to assist those who wish to root.

They will be at the "Pep" meeting tonight. The West side of the Auditorium has been set aside for loyal co-eds.

"Tex" Bell, who has been employed as a checking clerk in the depot quartermaster clothing warehouse at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., has enrolled in college.

DAIRY MEN TO COLUMBUS

STUDENT JUDGES WILL ATTEND BIG NATIONAL SHOW.

Large Dairy Farms Will be Visited on the Way—Three Students on Team.

The college dairy judging team will leave Wednesday, on an extended trip to Columbus, Ohio, where they will enter in the dairy cattle judging contest in the National Dairy Show, to be held October 19.

The team will visit a good many of the great dairy farms of the country before going to Columbus. After leaving Manhattan, the men will go to Kansas City, where they will spend a day inspecting the Longview Jersey farm, and the Overland Park Guernsey farm.

The team will leave Kansas City Wednesday night for Waukesha, Wis. As Wisconsin is the greatest dairy state in the union, the opportunity to visit the great dairy farms here will be unlimited. More than two days will be spent visiting all of the large farms in that vicinity. Herds to be visited include the Guernsey, Holstein, and Ayrshire breeds.

After leaving Waukesha, it is the plan to spend Monday visiting the Blue Valley creamery, the Fox River Butter company, and Babson's farm, all near Chicago. The team will leave Chicago Monday, en route to Columbus, where the men plan to spend three days visiting the herds in the vicinity of Columbus.

The National Dairy show will start Friday, October 19. This is the largest dairy show in the country, and the contest between the teams of the different colleges entered is always a hard fought one. The main prizes are two $400 scholarships, awarded to the best men in all classes. Besides these, there are a number of loving cups and medals, which are offered to the other winners.

The team this year consists of S. M. Mitchell, D. A. Hine, and L. R. Saum, all seniors in dairy husbandry, with J. R. Mingle as alternate. The places on the team were decided by dairy tryouts, which have been held since the beginning of the semester. J. B. Fitch, associate professor of dairy husbandry, will accompany the team on the trip, and act as instructor.

The dairy team has always stood high before, and a successful trip is looked forward to this year. Last year the team was high team on Guernseys, and sixth in ranking of all of the competing teams, with J. R. Dawson, high man on Guernseys. In 1915 the team was second among all competing teams, and also high team on Ayrshires.

Miss Letha Lasswell, student in the college, had as her guest the first of the week, her brothers Carl and Homer Lasswell, of Rossville. They made the trip by motorcycle.

"The best is the cheapest" isn't true of everything.

BUT it's true of clothes. All-wool fabrics wear longer, keep their shape better, hang better, and fit better than "Mercerized cotton" fabrics; and these are the things you want your clothes for.

All-wool clothes will cost you more than cotton, of course; the point we make is that even at the higher prices they're cheaper.

It is a real economy to buy a Hart Schaffner & Marx suit and pay $25, or $30 or even more, instead of putting $12 or $15 into a suit that's made of "mercerized cotton" fabric which will fail absolutely to do the things you expect of your clothes. You may save a few dollars; but you lose money in the end by buying such clothes.

Marshall Theatre Presenting High Class Acts.

The bill for the balance of the week at the Marshall is really an exceptional one. The vaudeville section of the show opens with a very high class society dancing team, Fenner and Tolman, who really are "educated dancers" and present a very in a "black and tan" act for above class act. Leslie & Lillie are next the average. This act introduces the song: "20th Century Squaw" and several parodies, and the offering merits the encores they receive. The headline act is Alvarette, Rego and Stopitt in an English Pantomime Acrobatic act, which is "different" to say the least and pleased very well indeed. Taking it all in all the offering surpasses even the advance notices. The show, entact, has just left the Hippodrome Road Show, on the Pacific Coast, and is something above the average for Manhattan. Today the pictures are announced as "Lonesome Luke's Wild Woman" and the Pathe News, containing views of the "Rainbow Division" of which so many of the "home" boys are members.

The students of the milk feeding class in the poultry department are finishing fattening their first lot of chickens and will put them on sale next week.

G. E. Thompson, specialist in crops, and George O. Green, specialist in horticulture, of the extension division were judges at the wheat fair at Wichita this week.

AGGIES IN 23-0 VICTORY

OKLAHOMANS COULD NOT RESIST SPEED OF CLEVENGER'S BACK FIELD.

Hinds Starred in Attack and Defense, Making the First Touchdown—Only 48 Yards Were Made Through Line Built up by Schulz.

The Aggies established themselves as real contenders for valley honors by giving an exhibition of high-grade football Saturday. The victims of the afternoon's onslaught were the Oklahoma Aggies, who never seriously threatened the Clevenger goal, while Randels, Whedon and Hinds scored Kansas Aggie touchdowns, and Randels booted a kick from placement, the score of the Purple adding up to 23 points.

As in the game last Saturday against Baker, and in the games yet to be played, it is hoped, "Heinie" Hinds was an almost unsolvable puzzle to his opponents. Hinds' performance was merely a repetition of his showing in the first game. He rounded the ends like a streak, he blocked and always "got his man" when the other fellow was carrying the ball, he tackled fiercely, and when it came to making a few yards straight through the line for the first touchdown, it was Hinds who turned the trick, after other had failed.

Captain "Stiff" Randels blossomed out as a real star again. One of the reasons why he didn't show up as much as Hinds was that he did not carry the ball as many times, but "Stiff" was good for a real gain every time. In the last quarter, he worked the old hidden-end trick on the visitors, receiving a 5-yard pass from Clarke, and carrying the ball the remaining 20 yards for a touchdown.

The line fought, too. The backfield play was not the only show of Missouri valley form. The line with which "Germany" Schulz has been laboring gave evidence yesterday of having the same amount of fight in the pinch that last year's forwards, who had a valley reputation, possessed. Whedon and Roda were the individuals most in the limelight but the line worked as a unit, and there were no outstanding athletes. During the first three periods, the Oklahomans failed to make a first down, their only two downs coming in the final quarter, after Schulz had sent in his second string men.

The second string men did nearly as well as the first eleven, two of the three Kansas touchdowns coming in the last period. At the beginning of the quarter, Captain Randels attempted a place-kick from the 30-yard line. The attempt fell short, and Ault of Oklahoma juggled the ball on the goal-line until Whedon had time to come down the field and pounce on the bounding pigskin after it had crossed the goal-line. The other touchdown in the fourth quarter was the result of Clarke's pass to Randels, and the Aggie leader's 20-yard run to the goal lines.

Clarke Outkicked Ault. The first Kansas touchdown came at the end of the first quarter. Clarke lead the team up the field with first downs being made four times in succession. Then Hinds bucked center for the two yards that meant a touchdown.

The second and third periods were featured by a punting duel between Clarke and Ray, although Captain Randels found time enough to boot a 23-yard place kick. Clarke's nine punts went 330 yards, an average of 38 yards to the kick, while Ray, with a yardage of 450, kicked fourteen times for an average of 32 yards. Many of Ray's kicks were long and spectacular, but a few had boots cut down his average.

Clarke's playing was the best in his career. He showed a life and a push on the field that sped up the work of the entire team.

VETERAN GIRL DEBATORS BACK.

Three-Fourths of Last Spring's Squad Have Returned.

The outlook for girls' debate is better than ever this year, according to Don L. Burk, debate coach. Nine "K" girls are back and only three of the girls who made the squad in the spring tryouts are not in college.

A sufficient number are in the squad now to furnish the teams for the entire year without the girls who will enter from the fall tryouts to be held the last of November. Competition, the chief requisite for strong debate teams, will be extremely keen.

A pentangular contest will be arranged between Washburn, Ottawa Kansas State Agricultural college, probably Fairmount and one other college not yet chosen. This will take the place of the dual debates with Ottawa and Washburn.

400 GIRLS JOIN Y. W. C. A.

CAMPAIGN CLOSING WITH MEMBERSHIP OF 60 PER CENT.

Names of All College Women Listed on Bulletin Board in Main Hall.

Four hundred girls have joined the Y. W. C. A. in the past week. This brings the proportion of the college girls who are members of the Young Women's Christian association up to 60 per cent.

The campaign closed Saturday night but as all of the captains have not checked up their lists it is not known whether the second cabinet under the leadership of Miss Hattie Droll, or the membership committee under the leadership of Miss Ruth Thomas, secured the most girls. The contest was a close one and the side that wins will do so only by a small margin.

Many interesting and helpful facts were gathered by the committees. The girls who did not join as well as those who did, were asked to fill out cards stating their preference in Y. W. C. A. work and criticizing any feature, fault, or virtue of the local association. The girls expect to study these criticisms carefully with the purpose of making the association interesting to as many girls as possible.

The lists of names are still on the bulletin board in main hall and it is hoped by the girls in charge that the 40 per cent whose names are not yet marked by a colored circle will see fit to become members this semester as the Y. W. C. A. members feel that the Association is doing a big work in this war, and there is an opportunity for war work open to every girl.

Will Talk to Agricultural Students. A. P. Olinger of the Kansas Moline Plow company will give talks on growing wheat before the agronomy and farm machinery students Friday from 9 to 10 o'clock and 10 to 11 a'clock. All students are invited.

PRESIDENT WATERS HAS RESIGNED

After Eight Years of Service, College Executive Quits to Become Managing Editor of Weekly Newspaper.

A BLOW TO K. S. A. C.

DOCTOR WATERS' ADMINISTRATION HAS BEEN ONE OF GREAT GROWTH.

IS KNOWN OVER THE NATION

College Head Has Been Considered for Portfolio of Agriculture in President's Cabinet—Is State Food Administrator.

President Waters has resigned.

To a group of faculty members Saturday afternoon, the man who has been at the head of the college for the past eight years, told of an offer he had received to become managing editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star. The enlarged field, President Waters felt, made it advisable for him to resign as president of the college to take up the newspaper work.

Doctor Waters will leave the college just as soon as he can be relieved, which will be before the first of the year, and perhaps by December 1. Added to the inducement of a larger field in which he has an opportunity to study intensively the agricultural problems of the middle west, was an offer of salary reported to be in the neighborhood of $12,000. Doctor Waters for many years has been recognized as a leader in agriculture and education. A graduate of the University of Missouri, and a former student of European universities, he was for many years connected with the college of agriculture and the state board of agriculture of Missouri. For 15 years he was dean of the college of agriculture.

Came Here in 1909. In 1909, when the board of regents was seeking the strongest agriculturist in America for president of the Kansas State Agricultural college, it decided unanimously to call Doctor Waters. He accepted, and since that time has been head of the institution, developing the teaching, investigation, and extension activities to a point of high efficiency.

Doctor Waters' eminence in agriculture and education has been nationally recognized. In 1912, he was for a long time considered for the secretaryship of agriculture, and in the following years he has made special commissioner to the Philippines. When war began President Waters was called into frequent conference with government officials. Recently he was appointed federal food administrator for Kansas. He served also as a member of the price fixing board on wheat. He is chairman of the state council of defense and an officer in numerous other state and national organizations. He is widely

WHAT FACULTY MEMBERS SAY

Dean J. T. Willard—The outstanding characteristic of President Waters is his recognition and grasp of the larger problems of economics, sociology and education in their relation to the fundamental, permanent interests of agriculture, and of rural communities.

Among the most prominent features of his administration of the college, have been its thorough organization under the deans and other administrative officers; the raising of the entrance requirements to the college to 15 units of high school work; the strengthening of all of the curricula which this advance made possible; the establishment of the school of agriculture, and the great enlargement in the work of college extension. He has also succeeded in raising notably the standard of the qualifications of teachers in the institution.

The pronounced success of his administration has been recognized by constantly increasing appropriations by the legislature for its maintenance, and the college now disburses the largest total income of any institution in the state.

Dean A. A. Potter—I admire and respect Doctor Waters for his executive ability, for his breadth of view, for his scientific attainments and for his human qualities.

As an executive he has been eminently successful. He was always fair, looked for and secured results, and gave those under him every opportunity to develop. His executive ability has been demonstrated by the fact that the college faculty has had, during his administration, no cliques. Each and every one connected with the institution was ready at all times to co-operate with and to follow Doctor Waters, as all knew that he had at heart the interests of the institution, the state and the individual.

Those of us who have watched the growth of K. S. A. C., particularly with reference to standards of scholarship and standing as an institution of higher education, feel greatly grieved at the possibility of Doctor Waters resigning at the present time. The loss will be felt not only by K. S. A. C. and by the state of Kansas, but by all the land grant institutions of the United States, on the councils and committees of which Doctor Waters has had a most prominent part.

Dean H. L. Kent—For farsighted constructive work, in the institution and out over the state and nation, in the field of agriculture and in the field of economics, for human sympathy and interest in the work and welfare of the students, and fellow workers, I have never known the equal of President Waters. We will miss him in the future growth of the college. Men came here to work and stayed because of their confidence in him. The institution occupied its place in the state because of his clear-sighted vision of what it should do. We will miss him more for his leadership in the state at large—I can only hope that his leadership in the new field will be of the same large service to us. The personal contact we must forego in the future, and that we regret most of all.

Prof. J. O. Hamilton—When President Waters takes up his larger work, the institution will lose an executive whose vision has meant the growth of the college, the faculty will lose the inspiration of a man whose life has been spent in service for others, the student will lose a friend whose heart and sympathetic nature enabled him to enter into the spirit of student life in all its phases, and the state and community will lose in Doctor and Mrs. Waters two ideal Kansans whose places cannot be filled.

Prof. J. E. Kammeyer—The resignation of President Waters is a severe loss to the college and to the state. In executive ability he ranks with the highest, and adds to this the ability and attainments of the scientist and the teacher—a rare combination indeed. A man of large vision, yet not visionary; an idealist, yet safely and sanely practical; a scholar, but blessed with an abundance of good, common sense; quick to decide, but never rash; always courageous, full of enthusiasm but not bluster; kind and generous but never weak; a hard worker and a hater of shams; a leader with whom it was a pleasure to join in service to the state; this is Doctor Waters. Regretfully and reluctantly we accept his decision to leave us. "When comes such another?"

Prof. L. E. Conrad—In the resignation of President Waters, the Kansas State Agricultural college loses a man whose place can be filled only with the greatest difficulty, if at all. His administration has been characterized by the advance of the institution from a place of comparative obscurity to one of outstanding prominence among the colleges of its class, and by repeated changes in the curricula, each one of which raised our standards of work. The teachers in the division of engineering regret the resignation of President Waters.

Prof. N. A. Crawford—Many of us feel that Doctor Waters is the strongest president in the United States. Certainly no man has a broader appreciation or a clearer vision of the economic and educational needs of the nation, and especially the Middle West. To this the heart of America, he stands out as a recognized leader and prophet of that world democracy whose great hour is about to strike.

Prof. Ralph R. Price—The educational world has few men who have the combination of marked educational achievement and administrative ability, together with the deep, sane, broad-minded view of the large usefulness of educational institutions that President Waters has manifested in a truly brilliant manner at the Kansas State Agricultural college. He has placed our institution on the educational map of the world, and has won for it the enthusiastic support of the whole state.

JOURNALISM PRACTICAL—HOLTON

Study of Newspaper Style an Asset to Everyone.

The industrial department is doing the most effective work of all departments in this college in getting the students to work on the job, in the opinion of Prof. E. L. Holton, head of the department of education who spoke to the journalism students Monday afternoon.

"The best kind of teaching is the teaching that gets the students to working at the job," said Professor Holton. "Although I do not know what all the other departments are doing, I do not know of any other department of this college that is teaching so effectively."

"The whole philosophy of the perhaps the world's greatest educational philosopher, Dr. John Dewey, of Columbia University, is based upon the idea that nothing is educational unless the idea is experienced."

"Both printing and journalism meet that one test better than any other subjects. No matter what the student is going to do when he leaves college, he will come in daily contact with the products of journalism."

MANY IN HOUSEKEEPERS COURSE

Officers' Wives are Attending Classes in College.

Students of the housekeepers course meet Wednesday and elected class officers. Miss Ellenor Boyd was chosen as president, Miss Mildred Mueller, secretary, and Miss Marjorie Lyle, treasurer.

Forty-five girls are enrolled for the housekeepers course this year, including a number of officers' wives. The work offered is much more practical than formerly, according to Miss H. E. Jones, instructor in domestic science. The course is longer this year also, as 216 hours are offered in place of the 176 of last year, giving an addition of 40 hours of class instruction. The class work this year deals with the immediate problems of the housewife and in the sewing classes instruction is given in the making of Red Cross garments in the place of the regular sewing for the girls themselves.

AGGIE TEAM RANKS FOURTH

REPRESENTATIVES FROM FIVE COLLEGES AT SWINE SHOW.

A. C. Hancock Ranks Seventh Out of Twenty-five Contestants—High Man.

Kansas Aggies took fourth place at the Second Annual National Swine show held at Omaha from October 2 to 9. Five teams were entered representing Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa, South Dakota and Kansas. Out of a possible score of 3,350, Nebraska ranked first with 2,879 points, Missouri second with 2,877 points, Ames (Iowa) third with 2,745 points, Kansas fourth with 2,502 points and South Dakota fifth with 2,257.

A. C. Hancock, senior in animal husbandry, ranked seventh out of the 25 contestants and was the high man for the Aggies. He received a prize of $25 in cash. The team received a check for $60.

Reports of the judges showed that the students were the most familiar with the Poland China, Duroc Jersey and Berkshires. The low scoring was done on the Chester Whites and Hampshires. The teams coming from the institutions having the largest herds of these later classes showed great gains on that account and this probably accounts for the Kansas Aggies going into fourth place.

Those on the team were A. C. Hancock, G. C. Ware, W. D. Denholm, C. L. Reeve and O. F. Blecha. The alternates were H. M. Birks and W. H. Brookover. Dr. C. W. McCampbell, associate professor of animal husbandry was the coach.

The Aggies had the largest bunch of supporters of any team there. Sixteen Aggie men were present to encourage the boys in their work. Those who went on the trip as supporters were J. E. Williamson, H. C. Colglazier, F. Haggerty, D. E. Curry, J. F. Eggerman, F. H. Gulick, Lester Barnes and B. Q. Shields.

The team visited the American Royal Live Stock show at Kansas City on their return trip.

'NO MAN IS TOO BIG'

GOVERNOR CAPPER PROMISES NEW PRESIDENT WILL BE WELL QUALIFIED.

THE STAR SOUGHT WATERS

Offer From Newspaper Was a Surprise to Aggie President, the Governor Says—State Could Not Approach Big Salary Promised.

The state board of administration will immediately begin a nation-wide hunt to find a man big enough to occupy the chair of president of the college, just made vacant by President Waters' announcement that he had resigned and desired to enter other work before the first of the year. That was the statement made over the telephone last night by Governor Capper, who is chairman ex-officio of the board of administration.

"We will go out with the same methods that the board of regents used in 1909, when they found President Waters and placed him in charge at Manhattan," said the governor, who was chairman of the board that chose the retiring executive, and who was probably more instrumental in bringing President Waters to K. S. A. C. than any other one man. "Members of the board will not wait for applications for the position, but will hunt out the best man for the place. I can not predict when the new executive will be chosen, but it probably will be soon, as President Waters has expressed a desire to be relieved of his duties at Manhattan by the first of December."

The board had had no intimation that President Waters was to leave," the governor said. "The first that I knew of his decision was last Thursday, when he walked into my office and told me that he had decided to make the change," Governor Capper said. "The state made no attempt to equal the offer of $12,000 a year which, it is said, President Waters is to receive on the Kansas City Weekly Star staff. The Star offer was as much of a surprise to President Waters as to the governor, Mr. Capper said, for the Aggie president had made no advances towards taking up work with the Star. "They went after him, I guess, and went after him good and strong," the governor remarked. Governor Capper said that the board had had no time in which to consider a successor to President Waters, and that no man was in view. He refused to be quoted as to the attitude of the board towards promoting any present Aggie faculty member to the chair.

DOCTOR WATERS—A REAL MAN.

While faculty associates of Doctor Waters' have united in telling of him as they have seen him as they rubbed shoulder to shoulder with him day by day, his eulogy can not be complete without a few words from the standpoint of the student. There are few graduates and undergraduates of the college who have been able to penetrate that dignity and business-like exterior of the president to see the human side of the man, but in those who were so favored, there is a feeling of deep regret that a true friend is soon to leave.

Doctor Waters is a fine combination of almost every element that goes to the making of a real, big man, with the word "fine" used in its most uncommon form. He combines tact with courtesy, and while he probably has the most compelling personality of any man in Kansas, the force he uses in managing men always makes them admire, and never despise, him.

Doctor Waters excels as a worker, who never quits until he had accomplished his end. His work, as Governor Capper says, is his play. The writer remembers a remark of the president when the two were discussing vacations.

"But then one who enjoys his work doesn't need a vacation," Doctor Waters said. "The greatest vacation from work is more work."

The words were typical of the man. The Collegian can not hope that President Waters will tire of his new work and want to resume his work in Manhattan, for it realizes that he is too big a man for the position he now holds. Not many years ago, another college professor broke away from his college ties, and entered a larger field. That man now is President of the United States.

The Collegian ventures no predictions, but believes that Doctor Waters is just as big a man as the one who made a similar decision ahead of him.

CONGRESS TO CONVENE HERE.

Class in Argument and Debate Will Hold Mimic Session.

The United States congress will hold a session at the college in a few days. The class in argument and debate under Don L. Burk, assistant professor of English, has been organized into a national house of representatives. Last Friday each member of the class was asked to state which political party, and which state he wished to represent.

Following is a list of the representatives: Republican—Don L. Burk, New York; C. R. Abernathy, Wisconsin; Miss Elizabeth Cotton, Missouri; Miss Lola Chaffee, Colorado; Miss Ethel Arnold, Utah; Miss Helen Boyd, South Dakota; and H. H. Nelson, Texas.

The Democrats—A. W. Boyer, Kentucky; C. J. Medlin, Alabama; H. E. Mathers, Illinois; Walter Houghton, Kansas; Milo Carry, California; Miss Lola Sloop, Wyoming; and Miss Marion Darkes, Montana.

Socialist—H. Clyde Fisher, Oklahoma.

Each member of the class will propose some bill now before congress or which is likely to be presented, and will be expected to fight the bill through the house.

The gentleman from Oklahoma, Socialist member of the house, holds the key to the situation, as his vote will decide the fate of the bill if the members support the party bills.

FISH NIBBLES "GERMANY" TOE
ANOTHER FLOPS OVER HIS BOAT

Germany, Clev, and Mac were entertaining a bunch of stay-at-homes with fish stories that thrilled. A cub under the table furiously jotted down notes. The result:

"We sure had some fishing this summer up in Canada," Mr. Macklin started off. "It happened like this. At the end of an eight chain portage on the Seine river we stopped to get dinner. Some of the fellows chopped wood, others got the grub out of the duffle bags while the rest completed their portage. Each had three loads over the trail. At the end of my first trip I put my pack sack down with the water flowing by on each side.

Just Right for Fish.

"To the left a few hundred yards was a little falls glistening in the sunshine. From the falls and rushing past on my left was a rocky, foaming rapids that looked like the real place for the big fellows. I rushed back over the trail for second load and again for my third and then my task was done.

"It was my chance to do some fishing. I walked out on a ledge of rocks with a big pool off to one side. I cast the dowa-diac a hundred feet out into the rapids and then slowly reeled in. The rush of the rapids jerked on my line. I thought surely something would strike but nothing happened. The bait came slowly up from the still water at the edge of the rocks. Then I cast again with orders for a big one, but somehow there was nothing doing.

"The night before had brought a ten-pounder the second cast—would I or would I not beat it? And with that I gave a third cast that was as unsuccessful as the former ones. I decided to give one more, and if no luck came I would put away my rod.

A Sixteen-Pounder.

Out over the foaming, bubbling pool I sent the dowa-diac and landed it in the middle of the swirl. And say fellows it seemed as though I had a rock—only that rock made a header down stream. 'Hey fellows, I have got the bottom of the whole lake!' I shouted. And Dean and 'Thor' came rushing down to see what had happened. All at once with a heart thrilling rush the fish shot up from the water, full length into the air. Get your camera. Ben,' cried the Dean, 'he is a beauty,' and a fourth one joined our admiring party.

"Never have I caught a fish that played so hard as that fellow did for every rush was 30 feet from the reel, torn off in that humming, jerking fashion that thrills a fisherman clear to his toes. To top the climax at the end of every rush the fish lunged up into the air clearing his whole striped body from the water. Five times did that game cousin of the tiger fish rush and leap from the water before coming to the edge of the rock at my feet. Then we got the scales, not the fish scales either, but the real kind, and that fellow proved to be a sixteen-pounder, fighter."

It's Germany's Time.

"Say, boys, you ought to have seen 'Clev' and me fishing at Lake Wawasee this summer," broke in Germany Schulz.

"Fellows do you know that we were up to our necks in fish. Yes Sir! That's a fact. Why every evening I had 'Clev' carrying home candy buckets full of bass, bluegills, shad and goggle eyes. I say 'Clev' carried them home for I proved to be the better fisherman of the two. It takes endurance and patience to be a fisherman and you fellows all know that I have both.

"Speaking of endurance, I must take off my hat to 'Clev' for one one thing, and that was when the accident happened. It was not exactly like an accident for it was partly carelessness on my part. You see 'Clev' and I were coming in one evening from across the lake and he decided to change positions at the oars. We had been looking around most of the day trying to find a gravel bottom for bass fishing but had had poor luck.

"Well, when we changed positions in the boat it did not take me long to discover there was some gravel, bottom directly below us. The going down was not so slow, but it took me an age to come to the top. 'Clev' made a hero of himself and soon had the boat righted and swung around in my direction. But I couldn't climb over the edge. The boat dipped water every time that I tried to get in.

His Toes Were Fish Bait.

"After several attempts, I came near going to my watery grave. All the time the bass were nibbling at my feet and biting me on the legs. There were lots of them and they felt almost as large as sharks when they would strike against me. This attack on my lower extremities by the fish helped me to keep courage for they had me frightened until I was nearly a nervous wreck. I hung on to the rear of the boat and was finally dragged to shore by 'Clev' who sure did his duty at the oars.

"The next day we came out again to the place where we had discovered the gravel bed, and believe me boys we sure did pull in the bass. We caught so many that we had to have a motor boat haul us into camp. That was our biggest catch, and had the game warden come to interview us that day we would not be coaching here now, but would be serving out time behind, well—just—the mosquito bars."

Here's a Real Yarn.

"I bet I can tell the fishiest fish story that you have ever heard," interrupted Macklin. "It happened like this: I was up on the Mantrap series of lakes and it was my last day fishing. I was anxious to catch a really large fish. We were going home to dinner and were starting over a bar, on the western side of which was a bay more than 100 feet deep. It was fed by springs so that the water was exceptionally cold. I insisted on going over and trying a cast of two.

"I made a cast in close to the shore. No results. Then we moved part way around the pool and I cast in towards a big fallen tree. There was a swirl and then a splash and something had my line, down, down, to the bottom he went, straight out to the middle of the pool. Between shouting directions to my ignorant guide and playing the rushes of my desperate fish I had all the excitement that an angler wants to have for 20 minutes at a time. Most of my line—150 feet—was off the reel. What might happen should he rush twice in succession? I hated to think of it.

Flopped Over the Boat.

"At last we got him up to the boat. 'My he is a beauty, get your gun ready,' I told the guide. And then the big fellow came up right alongside of the boat. 'Shoot him,' I ordered the guide and the stupid fellow clicked the trigger clear round the whole six and not a shell fired. 'Hit him over the head with the oar,' I yelled, and when the guide tried, the fish made a rush and took out 30 or 40 feet of line.

"I had to fight him slowly back to the boat. Desperate and hoping not to lose the best fish of the season, I handed the rod to the guide and slowly placed both hands in the water and drew them up around the muskies' neck. With a quick squeeze and a jerk I brought the fellow over the side of the boat.

But alas, not so easily landed—no not that fellow. With a sideways flop he threw the dowa-diac into the water and himself went into the water on the opposite side of the boat. My right hand was a mass of blood. My middle finger had slipped into the teeth on the gills and was badly peeled. I lay down in the boat hardly daring to speak, I was so angry. The fish was gone and my casting hand was almost out of commission.

Landed at Last.

"I was determined that I would have that fish. We started out again to see what could be done. We went back to the same fallen tree and I made a cast that was extra long and was calculated to recatch my fish. But instead of the fish my dowa-diac caught on the trunk of the tree where it slanted into the water. We went over to unloose the bait and there in a pool of clotted blood was my muskie bleeding to death. I forgot my injured hand and grabbed the fish and landed him in the boat. The hook that had been torn from the dowa-diac was still in his upper jaw."

ORDER THE NEW DRILL SUITS.

Olivauto, the New Color, is Lighter Than Olive Drab.

Olivauto serge drill suits for the Aggie cadets who ordered their suits this week will be delivered here within a month, W. B. Wendt, acting commandant of cadets, announced yesterday. The contract with the Jacob Reed Sons company of Philadelphia calls for the furnishing of the suits within three weeks from the date of measurement, but the scarcity of all army material probably will cause a delay of at least a week, the company says.

This year's suits are costing the cadets only $18.70 as the result of a wise move made last year by Capt. L. O. Mathews, U. S. A., who foresaw the advance in materials and contracted for the goods for this fall's delivery. Suits of the same material are now selling on the market for $12 and up it is said.

Through a special arrangement made by Mr. Wendt with the Knostman Clothing company, a pair of leggings will cost $1.25. The regular price is $2.

The Olivauto serge with which the suits are made will be slightly lighter in color than the olive drab suits of former years, owing to the substitution of American dyes instead of the German dyes formerly used, Mr. Wendt says.

"The best is the cheapest" isn't true of everything.

BUT it's true of clothes. All-wool fabrics wear longer, keep their shape better, hang better, and fit better than "Mercerized cotton" fabrics; and these are the things you want your clothes for.

All-wool clothes will cost you more than cotton, of course; the point we make is that even at the higher prices they're cheaper.

It is a real economy to buy a Hart Schaffner & Marx suit and pay $25, or $30 or even more, instead of putting $12 or $15 into a suit that's made of "mercerized cotton" fabric which will fail absolutely to do the things you expect of your clothes. You may save a few dollars; but you lose money in the end by buying such clothes.

'Meanest Yet' Students Are Co-eds! They Place Brick in Anderson Hall

Just because Johnny used to pull the legs off of flies and laugh at the actions of the mutilated creatures people thought him heartless and called him "the meanest yet."

But recently two co-eds with the assistance of a brick and Anderson hall fostered and put into operation a scheme the like of which Johnny has never conceived.

One noon hour the two co-eds, comfortably filled with cafeteria delicacies, decided to make sport at the expense of the student body in general.

They picked up a little brick from the rear of a building, placed it in the very center of a dark spot in Anderson hall and waited for results. Realizing that this hall is the stamping ground for those who delight in breaking all pedestrian speed rules, the pair hoped for big things. The thuds of the feet of the first onrushing victim was soon heard. He was tall, angular, and bashful, but he strode manfully forward, blinking the while in order to accustom his eyes to the light.

But alas! Too late! Innocence collided with impediment. He kicked the brick, half stumbled, muttered an exclamation which sounded something like, "I beg your pardon," and rushed on, face red from the giggling of the elves of mischief.

Over and over this scene was enacted until the bell began to ring. Then Anderson hall traffic became so congested that the joke was on the brick, which was booted so lustily and continually that its sides shrank from the onslaught. No one offered to remove the obstacle. The tall ones tripped over, the short ones bumped and then hurried around, while some missed the fun altogether by not being able to wait for a chance at the brick.

But all the time the co-eds held their post, hysterical with glee over the fate of their unsuspecting fellow men. When necessity forced them to go, they left the unvanquished in its

SPORT.

Nebraska showed Nebraska Wesleyan under a 100 to 0 count, the Kansas Aggies had little trouble with their brother Aggies from the south, Missouri was scored upon but once and scored twice herself in the Tigers' 14 to 0 victory over William Jewell. Jewell, Kansas showed neither a strong defense nor a slashing attack in the Jayhawkers 0 to 22 game with Illinois. Ames nosed out a 7 to 0 victory over Coe college, Drake tied with Penn college, and Washington didn't play, which leaves the Missouri valley eleven ranking in this order on the basis of their showings in the first real test of the season: Nebraska, Kansas Aggies, Missouri, Kansas, Ames Drake and Washington.

The failure of the Missourians to down William Jewell under a larger count was a big surprise of Saturday's contests. With all three of her plunging back field men back this year, Missouri was counted upon to display an offensive that would riddle the Jewell's line. But Rider, Viner and Collins had plenty of difficulty in puncturing their opponent's defense for the one earned touchdown that Missouri scored, and what makes the reports from Columbia sound still more optimistic, is the statement that the playing, and especially the tackling of the Tiger veterans was ragged.

If the Illinois lineup really was as badly crippled as the reports indicate, the showing of Olcott's Jayhawkers was nothing extraordinary. But it must be remembered that Illinois is a Big Nine eleven, and there is bound to be a difference of two or three touchdowns between Big Nine and valley eleven, with the balance in favor of the teams in the major circuit. The contest with the Sucker team, however, was the first one of the year for the Jayhawkers, and before the Lawrence eleven meets any of the valley schools, there may be a change in the Olcott eleven's play that will make it a valley contender.

PRES. WATERS HAS RESIGNED

known as an investigator and writer on agriculture.

Declined Other Offers.

In the last five years Dr. Waters has received many offers of positions in other parts of the country at large increases in salary. He declined them all, however, feeling that his heart was in the middle west and that in this region he could do his best work.

"It is with profound regret that I shall sever my relations with the board of administration and teachers and students of the college," said Dr. Waters today. "In my work, however, I trust that I shall continue to be in a position to promote the highest interests of the Kansas State Agricultural college as well as those of the other institutions of Kansas."

The board of administration will search the country for the strongest man obtainable to fill the presidency of the college.

College Has Grown.

Through President Waters' ability as an organizer, the college has shown marked advancement along every line of endeavor, and has risen to a high place among educational institutions. The rating of the faculty has been raised and changes have been effected in the college administration.

President Waters gave the college a standard ranking by raising the entrance requirements from six to 15 units of high school work. The school of agriculture was established at the time of this change. By putting each dean in direct charge of the work of his own division, President Waters has thoroughly organized the work of the college. Carrying the organization further the council of deans, as an executive body has come to act upon many important matters in relation to the institution. The instructors in the various divisions have also been organized into divisional faculties under the direction of President Waters.

The experimental work of the agricultural college has had his personal support through suggestions and cooperation. The extension work of the college which has attracted country-wide attention has been placed in a separate division and enlarged. The summer school has been given more consideration. Outside of academic problems, President Waters has taken an active part in the solution of agricultural and educational questions of common interest and has become a recognized authority.

'LITTLE WOMEN' IS SWEET

FIRST PLAY IN ARTISTS' SERIES HAS A STRONG APPEAL TO AUDIENCES.

Same Cast Which Played in New York Will Show Dramatization of Louisa M. Alcott's Famous Book at the Auditorium Monday.

"Little Women," the first number in the 1917-18 Artists' Series, will be shown at the college auditorium at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening. Coming direct from a successful season in New York, the play promises to be one of the best ever shown in Manhattan.

When Louisa M. Alcott wrote "Little Women" the book was hailed as one of the most successful portrayals of American life yet produced. Simple and sweet, yet humorous, the book took with the American audience. What success the book enjoyed has more than been exceeded by the play, which has had long and successful runs in all the large cities of the country.

Just recently the play has been placed on a lecture run, where its previous successes have been duplicated. Although appearing in other lecture numbers, "Little Women" is not on a regular lecture course, and it was at much trouble and expense that the play was brought here.

Simple in style, unique, strong in emotion and typically American, the play has a fascination. It is sunshiny, yet it has its shadows.

Twelve players are in the cast that will appear here Monday. Special scenery, the same as that used in the New York productions, is carried with the troupe, and will be used here.

The seat sale for the series has far exceeded expectations. Only a few good seats remain in the reserved blocks now shown at the co-operative book store in Aggieville. Seats may be reserved up to 6 o'clock Monday evening, according to Earl Taylor, business manager. After that hour the seats will be on sale at the auditorium.

GIRL ATHLETES ORGANIZE.

Point Winners From Last Year are Eligible to Association.

The Girls' Athletic Association is to be a real working college organization this year. That was decided at the first meeting of the semester held Tuesday afternoon.

By means of the "point system" of earning membership in the Association through athletics activities and by new attendance rules only girls who are actually interested in college activities and the making of the club an organization of standing will be included as members. As an organization, it will be representative of the girls of the college.

A meeting has been called for Thursday, Oct. 18, at 5:00 o'clock in the gymnasium, immediately following the afternoon Y. W. C. A. meeting. Only members are asked to attend. Membership lists have been posted in the domestic science hall, in Main hall, and in the gymnasium. Association officers, and athletic managers will be elected and the "entertainment" plans of the Association discussed.

PLAY EMPORIA HIGHS TODAY.

Collins Eleven Will Tangle With Normaltown Heavyweights.

The Manhattan high school football team will meet the Emporia high school team on the college athletic field, this afternoon at 3:45 o'clock. This game is the second of the season to be played at Manhattan. The Manhattan highs have won the first two games, defeating Hutchinson here last Friday, and should have the support of all the loyal Manhattan students, as well as the townspeople, that they may win the state championship this season. Emporia high school always turns out a good football team, and it will no doubt be a good game.

More Enroll for Speaking.

The public speaking department is located on the second floor of old 56 and 53. This fall's enrollment in public speaking courses showed a 10 per cent increase over that of last fall, despite the falling off in the general college enrollment.

His Father a General Four Brothers in Army Aggie Enters as Private

A son of a distinguished soldier enlisted in the infantry branch of the army here yesterday when Martin D. Sibert, son of Major General William L. Sibert of headquarters staff, First division, signed up with Sergt. George H. German, local recruiting officer. Special permission by telegram was received from Washington to enlist the boy, who weighs 227 pounds, although he is only 19 years of age. Along with Mr. Sibert enlisted his college chum here, Floyd B. Oliver, who went into the aviation section of the signal corps. Both boys have been attending K. S. A. C.

When asked by Sergeant German where his home is Mr. Sibert replied: "Guess I haven't any except the army. I was born in the army, and that has been my home ever since." His step-mother lives in Pittsburg, Pa.

General Sibert was opposed to his son enlisting now, it is said, and told him that if he should enlist before he is 21, special pains would be taken to see that he be made a mounted orderly. The boy finally decided to take a chance, however, and chose the infantry, saying, "I want to get right into the thick of it."

General Sibert, the boy's father, is in charge of the training of the American troops in France. He ranks next to General Pershing with the expeditionary troops. Four of General Sibert's sons are commissioned officers in the regular army.

AGGIES WANT COMMISSIONS

Four Have Asked to be Recommended for Lieutenantcies.

Four Aggie graduates have answered the call for provisional lieutenants in the United States army.

A. A. Anderson, '14, of Bartlesville, Okla., C. W. Gartrell, '15, Birmingham, Mo., A. E. Hylton, '17, Manhattan, and Wesley G. Bruce, '17, New York city, have sent in their applications and have been recommended by the military department.

C. W. Gartrell, A. E. Hylton, and Wesley G. Bruce were formerly captains in the cadet corps.

All men wishing to apply for commissions are required to turn in their names as soon as possible.

HAS APPEARED IN THEATRICALS.

Miss Ada Dykes, Assistant in Public Speaking, Was Successful.

A new addition to the faculty is Miss Ada Dykes who comes as instructor in public speaking. Besides having charge of the classes in public speaking I and II, Miss Dykes will coach the play which will be presented by the Purple Masque sometime during the week preceding Christmas.

"Miss Dykes comes to us direct from two years of successful participation in first class theatricals at the University of Kansas, where she was considered one of the most unusual of the players appearing before university audiences in recent years," said J. G. Emerson, professor of public speaking. "She is an accomplished dramatic reader and has back of her a course of splendid training in expression and interpretation work. We consider ourselves fortunate in being able to bring to K. S. A. C. an artist of such experience to take charge of our dramatic work this fall."

"JUST LOVE JOURNALISM."

Co-eds Who are in Majority in Department, Take to the Work.

Journalism seems to make a strong appeal to co-eds in K. S. A. C. judging from the number enrolled in that course. A large number of the girls taking the industrial journalism course changed that course after two or three terms work in the courses in home economics and general science.

In Mr. Keith's class in typography here are 15 girls and four men. The girls say they "like typography fine" except that they think the periods are too long, and the type gets their hands dirty. Nevertheless, they are sticking to the course, and all declare that they "just love journalism."

Geo. O. Green, specialist in horticulture, judged at the Marshall county fair at Blue Rapids Wednesday. He spoke and judged at a farm and home institute at Burlingame Thursday and Friday. Among the other speakers were Miss Louise Caldwell of the extension department, Charles A. Scott of the Iowa Register, and T. A. McNeal editor of the Mail and Breeze.

A 51 TO 49 CHANCE

AGGIES HAVE A SHADE, JUST A SLIGHT ONE, THINKS CLEVENGER.

VALLEY TITLE IS AT STAKE

If Missouri Wins, Purple Hopes of a Championship Probably Will Have Gone—Aggie Win Means a Chance at the Laurels.

A little better than an even chance for an Aggie victory—that is the view taken by Coach Cleverger of the critical Missouri valley contest that the Purple eleven and Schulte's Missourians will engage in at Columbia tomorrow afternoon.

"I believe that we could have won last week, judging from the Tigers' showing against William Jewell," Cleverger said last night. "If the boys play in the same fashion in which they have been performing the past two afternoons, we can take an optimistic view of the situation. However, you never can tell in football. We may be stale, and Missouri may be going strong."

The game will be a hard one, in the opinion of Coach Cleverger. It will be a fight from start to finish, and the team that gets the jump, and that has the final punch will win.

From reports, the Missouri team will have nearly the same kind of attack that it did last year—a strong rushing game, with split backs, off tackle runs, and end runs as the favorite ground gainers. They do not neglect the forward pass, but do not use it as much as the rest of the valley teams. The line charges fast, and has three veterans from last year in it—one end and two tackles—and will prove hard to break through. Slusher the veteran end, is the strong man in their line, and will have to be stopped, in the opinion of the football critics.

Missouri's backfield has three old men, Collins, Rider, and Viner, all hard fighters. Their quarter is new, but was under the training of Stanowski last year. The great feature of their backfield work is the smoothness with which they get their plays off, and run their interference. From reports they have no one speed merchant that is likely to get away for a touch down, but the whole backfield will have to be watched every minute. The kicking department of the two teams are just about on a par, neither kicker having an advantage in the games played so far. The weights are also well balanced, as the average will not give either team an advantage of more than one or two pounds to the man.

The condition and spirit of the Aggie Wildcats is great. The highest ambition of any man on the team is to get just one good crack at a Missouri Tiger. The return of "Pete" Placek at left tackle gives the Aggies a left side of the line that has no superior in the valley, while the right side has already shown what it can do. The side line critics who are on the field every afternoon, are watching with interest to see who will win the position of right guard, Gates or Frankenhoff. Frankenhoff's injury to his leg in Tuesday's scrimmage will give Gates a slight edge, though, for the Missouri game. L. Placek is expected to be in shape for the game Saturday, although the injury to his nose from last Saturday still gives him a little trouble.

Coach Cleverger says that he will take two full teams to the game, but the men have not all been selected. The squad will leave Manhattan Friday morning, on the 5:50 Union Pacific, and will arrive in Columbia at 3:45 that afternoon, where they will take a final work-out on Rollins field.

The probable line-up for the game is as follows:

Kan. Aggies	Position	Mo. Tigers
Randels (C)	le	Slusher
Placek	lt	(C) Hamilton
Roda	lg	Berry
Aye	c	Greenwood
Frankenhoff	g	Kirkpatrick
Gates
Whedon	rt	Bass
Key, Enlow	re	Schroeder
Clarke	qb	Stevens
Hinds	lh	Collins
L. Placek	rh	Rider
Harwood	fb	Viner

The officials will be C. E. McBride, Kansas City Star, referee; E. C. Quigley, St. Marys' umpire; and Ed. W. Cochran, Kansas City Journal, head linesman.

PI KAPPA DELTA ELECTS

Arthur Boyer Heads Honorary Debating Fraternity.

The Pi Kappa Delta honorary debating fraternity has elected officers to fill the vacancies of men who have joined the army since the last spring election. They are A. W. Boyer, president; C. J. Medlin, secretary; and H. Clyde Fisher, treasurer.

COLLEGE LACKS THREE CHEMISTS

Department Members are Doing Double Duty Now.

The chemistry department is unusually busy this semester on account of the fact that the department is short three men. These vacancies are due to the resignations of Winifred Barchard, instructor; K. W. Reed, assistant; and J. S. Richtig, assistant. While it is expected that these places will be filled within the next few weeks, the present shortage of instructors necessitates overtime working on the part of the other members of the department. Dean J. T. Willard's duties as acting president require his time away from the dean's office to a considerable extent, so his secretary, Miss Alice Melton, has taken over much of the work usually done by Doctor Willard.

BRYANT WASHBURN COMING

Movie Star Will Appear at Big Ball Tuesday Evening.

The first movie ball ever held in Manhattan will be staged at the college gymnasium Tuesday night, October 16, at 8:30 o'clock. The ball will be given in connection with the convention of the Kansas branch of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America.

There will be many features in connection with the ball. Bryant Washburn, the well known Essanay star, who has appeared in some of the greatest film successes of this country, and who has been seen a good many times on the local screens, will lead the grand march the evening of the ball. Daquet's 10-piece orchestra will furnish the music for the evening. About 1,000 couples, it is expected, will be in attendance, and room for this number will be provided for the evening.

The management has arranged to give prizes for the best impersonations of screen stars and many contestants are expected to be present. For particulars of the contests or anything that pertains to the ball, call the Marshall theater. The price of admission to the gymnasium is 25 cents, if you don't dance, and $1 for those that dance. Tickets are on sale at both of the local theaters.

The motion picture convention will meet in this city October 15 and 16. The different clubs of Manhattan are planning to get cars to help entertain the visitors on those days. A trip to Fort Riley and Camp Funston is being planned for the second day.

NEW MAGAZINES FOR LIBRARY.

Current History Class pays for extra Copies of Periodicals.

The current history students under Professor James have made an appreciable addition to the library periodicals by subscribing for five extra copies of the Literary Digest and American Review of Reviews. Heretofore these two magazines have been so in demand that students have become discouraged over trying to find one not in use and many do not even try to depend on the library copies. The additional numbers will make it possible to find a copy not in use most any period. The current issues will be found in the black binders on a table in the periodical room during the day and at the reference desk in the evening.

"Bob" Leyding Was Back.

R. D. Leyding, '17, was a visitor at the college Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Leyding is now in the employ of the Doherty company, and is in charge of the construction of a large plant in Okmulgee, Okla. This plant is intended for the manufacture of gasoline by one of the new processes using casing head gas. Mr. Leyding reports himself as being well pleased with the work.

WE'LL TWIST THAT TIGER'S TAIL.

By Walter Houghton.

This week you know we're going to twist That striped Tiger's tail, And if on Saturday you'll listen You will hear his dying wail.

You'll see him madly paw the air, You'll see that big bow-knot You'll hear those shrieks of anguish, That will never be forgot.

You'll see his coat all tattered, His stripes all black and blue, A poor bedraggled Tiger E'er with him the Wild Cat's through.

PURPLE MASQUE PLAY SOON

DRAMATIC SOCIETY WILL HOLD TRYOUTS FOR PLAY.

Only Three of Last Year's Stars are Back—Many Openings for Newcomers.

The Purple Masque will stage a play this semester, and soon as a suitable play is chosen a date will be set for the try-outs for which any college student is eligible.

The Purple Masque play has always been a big event of the year in the minds of all college students whether or not they are directly interested in dramatics. But war and graduation have made such inroads upon the local theatrical ranks that the advisability of producing a play is to be questioned unless some new talent comes to the front. Many of last year's stars have not returned to school.

Miss Margaret Hale who played a prominent part in "Man From Home" last year, is teaching dramatics in the convention of the Kansas branch of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League of America.

There will be many features in connection with the ball. Bryant Washburn, the well known Essanay star, who has appeared in some of the greatest film successes of this country, and who has been seen a good many times on the local screens, will lead the grand march the evening of the ball. Daquet's 10-piece orchestra will furnish the music for the evening. About 1,000 couples, it is expected, will be in attendance, and room for this number will be provided for the evening.

The management has arranged to give prizes for the best impersonations of screen stars and many contestants are expected to be present. For particulars of the contests or anything that pertains to the ball, call the Marshall theater. The price of admission to the gymnasium is 25 cents, if you don't dance, and $1 for those that dance. Tickets are on sale at both of the local theaters.

The motion picture convention will meet in this city October 15 and 16. The different clubs of Manhattan are planning to get cars to help entertain the visitors on those days. A trip to Fort Riley and Camp Funston is being planned for the second day.

Those Kind Alpha Delt.

Do you know what Alpha Delt took pity on a cold mess sergeant from Camp Funston and gave him a nice downy comfort?

WILL TEACH WIRELESS HERE

THE PHYSICS DEPARTMENT WILL TRAIN MEN LIABLE TO THE DRAFT.

United States Army Officer Requests Dean Potter to Institute Course Because the Army is Short of Expert Telegraphers.

A special course in wireless telegraphy will be given by the college physics department, beginning November 12, for the benefit of men within the draft age who are liable to be called into service.

The installation of the new course followed a series of letters between Capt. John A. Kick, United States signal corps, and A. A. Potter, dean of the division of engineering.

According to Captain Kick, the army now is short nearly 12,000 telegraphers. To make up for this alarming deficiency, measures must be taken to train men in the work before they enter the army. The pay for men in this branch of the signal corps ranges from $30 to $81, and there is said to be an excellent chance for men with experience to become commissioned officers.

The course at the college will be concerned mainly with the teaching of the Morse code, and the familiarizing of the students with the receiving and sending ends of the wireless. Special attention will be paid to the mechanical side of the outfit, and it is expected that each student will, before the end of the course, be able to take full charge of a wireless station.

While most of the practical work will deal with the wireless, theory and some practical work will be given in laying wire lines in conduits, as the students may be called upon to operate either a wire or a wireless outfit.

The course probably will continue 20 weeks, according to Dean Potter. Much depends, however, on the interest taken by the students in the work. It is possible that when the students have familiarized themselves with the work, the course will be discontinued.

Persons desiring to enter the training can obtain information by inquiring of Prof. J. O. Hamilton, who will have charge of the class.

AGRONOMY STUDENTS ORGANIZE.

"Tri K" Will be Similar to Saddle and Siroloin.

Tri Ks is the name of a new organization composed of representative students of the agronomy department organized for the advancement of agronomic activities in this college and to encourage and to develop the members of the society along this line.

The idea of the club was conceived a year ago and the club is now fully organized into a permanent society. This club holds the same relation to the agronomy department that the Saddle and Siroloin club holds to the animal husbandry department. To be eligible for membership, a candidate must have completed two or more semesters of a four year course in agronomy.

New pledges will be wearing the club colors of gold and green soon. The officers are: George Gibbons, president; J. E. DuBois, secretary; William Tuttle, treasurer.

Company G to Hike.

Company G, of the college cadet corps, will go on a military hike Friday evening under the leadership of Capt. Harry Colglazier, the company will meet at the auditorium and hike to Hackberry Glenn.

Juniors Meet Saturday.

The junior class will meet Saturday at 2 o'clock in the old chapel. There are several important business matters to be attended to as soon as possible.

M. W. Clark, leader of the city band and for three years candy maker at King's, is opening a candy kitchen and ice cream parlor at 322 Poynts avenue. Mr. Clark is having the interior of the room completely refurnished, making it a very attractive place, which he will open about the middle of this month. He has been engaged in the candy business for nearly 14 years.

Miss Mabel Bennett, '15, is manager of a Y. W. cafeteria in New York City.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1917.

THE FRESHMEN HAVE AWAKENED

The freshmen are to be congratulated. From a bad start which included the new members of the college the "deadest ever" freshmen, the first year students have gained both in "pep" and in standing with the upper-classmen since the football season began.

One good bit of evidence is the predominance of the freshman cap, not only at the games, but on the hill all the time. Another good showing is the freshman's sections part in the cheering at the football games. But, more than any material thing, is the just plain "pep" that the freshmen are showing in general.

SOME "PEP" NEEDED.

The "K" fraternity has neglected one of its duties this year. In the past, the appearance of a freshman on the campus wearing his high school letter after the first game of the season was the occasion, first, of a sound lecture, and second, of one of those forms of outdoor sports in which barrel staves and strong, right arms play a predominant part.

It is about time that the athletic men were defending themselves against the invasion of high school monograms, for several are yet to be seen on the hill.

While placing lights along the walk that leads down to the main gate, the college authorities have neglected to use lights which already are in place. Wednesday night, which happened to be very dark, saw not a light lit along the walk that leads from the library to the south gate.

BILL TOLD 'EM WHAT WAS WHAT.

Former Aggie Arrested Army Officers at Lawton, Okla.

"Bill" Woolley, '18, who is located at Lawton, Okla., was appointed military mayor of that city, going on duty from 7 o'clock in the evening until 7 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Woolley passed an edict that no soldier, Officer or private, should appear on the streets after 11 o'clock at night. Several captains thought that the ruling was a joke and stayed out later than 11, and let people know that they were staying. They spent 10 days in the guard house.

Miss Robinson Crusoe.

She found Friday on Monday but she loved him all week. Intrigue, adventure and romance make a very pleasing offering of Miss Robinson Crusoe, a Metro wonderplay of Society in New York and Thousand Islands, starring Emmy Wehlen, at the Warehouse Theatre tomorrow.

The freshmen awakened with a start and sat bolt upright in bed. Yes, it was pouring rain and all the bedroom windows were up. Jumping quickly out of bed, she stumbled across the sleeping porch and into her room, after bumping her head severely against the door.

It took several minutes to feel around in the dark and get to the window, for she too sleepy to turn on the lights. Finally her task was accomplished and she managed to reach her bed without further mishap, except to stub her toe on the foot of the bed.

By this time she was thoroughly awake and as she climbed back into bed she discovered that the rain was nothing more than the street water hydrant which had been turned on to wash the streets.

Clad as Chimney Sweep Aggie Prof. Makes Run For Train—Discovery.

An old furnace hat, smoked with the promise of many fires, tattered and spotted by hard wear, is not the conventional head covering for a dignified college professor while making a railroad journey, but such trivial details as hats do not trouble the unruffled calm of W. A. Cochel professor of animal husbandry, who traveled to Wichita and St. Joe last week adorned with such a hat.

It is said, that on being rudely awakened by the jitney man, who was to take him to the depot, Mr. Cochel dressed hurriedly and, frantically groping for his hat as he left the house, was rushed to the station.

He was brought suddenly to the realization of his predicament by the amused stares of his fellow passengers.

TEACH 100 SUBJECTS AGAIN

Special Semester Will be an Opportunity for Many.

Men who say out of college this fall to help in the great national food drive will not thereby forfeit their opportunity to go on with their college work. A special semester is the unique educational plan that has been adopted to give these patriotic young men a chance to go ahead with their studies.

This semester, in which more than 100 courses will be offered, will open Monday, November 12, and will close March 30. It will be therefore of standard length. At the close of this semester students will be permitted, if they wish, to take subsequent courses that will give them an additional half semester's credit. Thus entering in November, a student can get in the present academic year three quarters of an entire year's work.

Many in Farm Work.

Many students left college last spring to engage in farm work, and after working through the summer are staying during the autumn in order to help out with wheat planting and harvesting of spring-planted crops. A large proportion of these, it is anticipated, will return for the special semester.

Naturally the greatest number of men who have stayed out of college for farm work consists of students in agriculture, and the special semester contains an especially large proportion of classes to meet their needs.

Engineering Subjects Available.

The freshman and sophomore subjects in engineering are also offered, and there is a large assortment of subjects in the division of general science, many of which are adapted to the needs of women as well as men. Classes will be opened in the school of agriculture.

Among the departments in which work will be offered are animal husbandry, agronomy, chemistry, military science, poultry husbandry, bacteriology, dairy husbandry, English, botany, mathematics, horticulture, education, industrial journalism, publication, history, physics, mechanical drawing, shop practice, and applied mechanics.

"Betrayed."

Miriam Cooper, star of The Honor System and The Birth of a Nation, will be seen at the Warehouse Theatre Monday in the R. A. Walsh drama, "Betrayed" a thriller mixed with sobs and laughs.

Small Talk at Table Discourages Freshmen

Boarding house chatter may blight the college ideals of many a refined freshman. The anticipations of a well bred freshman, enrolled in agronomy, were smashed utterly, by the small chatter that swept across the table at a popular boarding club in town.

Young Frosh had just finished reading a lengthy article on "up-to-the-minute air craft," before going to the club for dinner. A light of eagerness shone in his face as he heard the boarding place.

"I'll be able to talk a little about the war with the rest of them," thought the frosh. "I'm anxious to know what they think of the maximum price the government has placed on wheat. Dad and I couldn't agree on that subject."

While he was contemplating the interesting things he would soon hear discussed, the customary college boarding house chatter began in the house half way down the block.

"Stop frizzing your hair, Stella. We'll be late to dinner. It is six o'clock now."

"Wait just a minute. I heard there is to be a new boarder tonight, and you know the first impression is the most lasting."

A few minutes more and Stella came dancing down stairs with the impressive curls floating above cheeks, lips, and throat of a pink and white color scheme.

"Ello girls. Come over and sit by me. Got something to tell you," greeted a sport junior "vet" from behind a pale, curling mustache. "O-ee, looky. We're going to have fried halibut and tomatoes for dinner."

Just then the new boarder walked in briskly and took the only vacant seat near the end of the table. Conversation ceased for a minute as the tableful of college students stared frankly and questioningly at the new comer.

"Hello old boy have a bit of sustenance," greeted the 'classy' junior, passing the bread to the equally frank and interested freshman.

After the girls had exchanged a few whispered opinions concerning the nifty little wave of hair on the left side of the frosh's head, the conversation again dropped to the level of the victuals served.

"Pass that gravy this way, Judke. I can't seem to get my potatoes covered. You look sleepy, Louise. Didn't hike last night, did you?"

"You bet I did. Been hiking for the last three nights. I'd go again tonight but my chem. prof. scares me silly when he asks about things I've never heard of before. He's one man I can't bluff."

In the next five or six minutes small talk ran on about the college professors. No professor on the hill was slighted in this uplifting conversation. The latest dances, hikes and "dates" were the next topics of lively discussion.

Meanwhile the frosh sat back with a surprised, yet somewhat disappointed feeling. Once he had tried to edge in a query concerning a new invention of a certain kind of shoe, but he was quickly squelched by a stiff mono-syllabic answer. Then a burst of laughter, caused by a new joke played on some freshman, silenced the frosh for the rest of the meal.

The meal over at last, the frosh left the table with a feeling of relief. "I'm glad Dad never went to college," thought the freshman, "if college makes the students uninterested in the big things of the day."

lege makes the students uninterested in the big things of the day."

Freshmen are distinguished by:

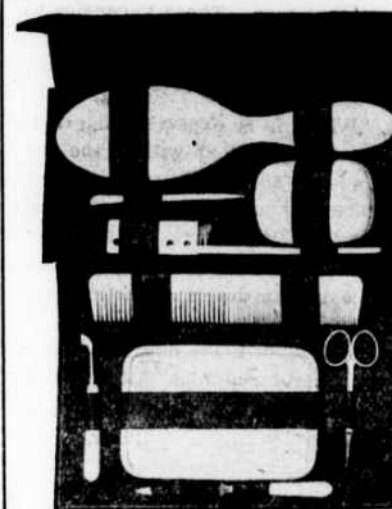

Wrist watches,
Purple shirts,
Loud, flowery neckties,
Coarse laughter,
Pin headedness,
"I know it all," attitude,
Silly questions,
Unpressed trousers,
Uncombed hair,
A week's growth of beard,
Shoes that are rarely polished,
Plenty of cheap jewelry,
And a pocket mirror.

Employment seeker—Say kid is there a job open here to a live, hustling, college graduate?

Office boy—Well there is goin' to be if I don't get a raise next week. —Exchange.

Miss Corinne Sweet, '17, writes from Florence, where she is teaching, that she is enjoying her work. She is teaching domestic science, English and physiology.

SPORT.

"Pete" Placek was out on the football field Monday, looking things over.

The husky tackle says he is in good condition, and only needs two or three days under "Germany" Schulz, for developing plenty of wind. Placek has been with the herds of the Taylor Hereford farm of Louisville, Ky., and says that such work does not let a man get out of condition.

Placek's return gives the Aggies a left flank on the line that can't be matched in the valley—Randels at end, Placek at tackle, and Roda at guard. Such a line-up can't be beat.

Frankenhoff hurt his leg in scrimmage Tuesday, and was in bad condition for awhile. He refused to leave the field, though, and kept trotting around until his leg was O. K. again. Frank says he didn't want to take any chances on not getting back into the game, because he knew which freshman it was that was on top of him.

An interesting struggle between Gates and Frankenhoff is being staged out on the field every afternoon. One of them will start at right guard in the Missouri game.

TO PRESENT A M'GRATH PLAY

"Man on the Box" Chosen as the Purple Masque Production.

"The Man on the Box" has been decided upon as the Purple Masque play for this semester. The try outs, which will begin today, are open to all college students.

"The Man on the Box" is a three-act comedy dramatized by Grace Livingston Furniss from Harold McGrath's novel. It is a live play with good character parts and an up-to-date plot.

Persons interested may see Miss Ada Dykes in Room 53 in the old agricultural building this week, to receive instructions regarding the tryouts. It is hoped by Miss Dykes, who is coaching the play, that a large number of students will report for tryouts.

The play will be staged in the week preceding the Christmas holidays. Persons who make good in this production will be eligible for membership in the honorary dramatic fraternity.

1,000 ACRES KEEPS HIM BUSY

Former Student Writes of His Work Since Withdrawal.

Agricultural duties are occupying the time of C. W. Howard, sophomore in general science who withdrew from college last year to work on his father's farm at Colby, Kan. In a letter to friends here he says, "We have a little over 600 acres of wheat planted and the remainder of 1,000 acres yet to plant. We prepared all of the land and will sow it with our Nilson tractor. Besides this we have plowed 200 acres for others and expect to do some drilling after ours is in."

JITNEY CAR SMASHED BY FAST-DRIVEN FT. RILEY CAR

A jitney car belonging to the Anderson & Bell line was badly smashed Saturday evening at the corner of Twelfth and Colorado streets when a Fort Riley car, said to be traveling at an excessive rate of speed, dashed into it.

The Fort Riley car, which was filled with passengers, turned completely over, but no one was seriously hurt. The jitney car was driven by Carl Anderson, who was just starting on a Camp Funston drive, and had driven home to fill his tail light tank.

NEPHEW OF HARRY SMETHURST MEETS HEROIC DEATH IN WAR

Harry Smethurst has just been advised of the death in action on the Somme, July 10, of a nephew who enlisted in May, 1916, in the Royal Fusiliers. The boy had been seven months in France.

Struck by a shell and told that he had but a few minutes to live, he asked his comrades to write to his folks, telling them that "I died quite happy, knowing that I have done my duty in this terrible crisis."

Captain Dally and Dr. McGinnis of Fort Riley spent Sunday in town.

H. E. DIVISION IN THE LEAD

AGRICULTURE SECOND CHOICE OF STUDENTS HERE THIS YEAR.

Official Tabulation of Enrollment Figures Shows That Freshman Lead the Classes, and There Are 70 More Men Than Women.

The register is now complete. Each individual has been counted, assorted and pigeon-holed for the fall semester.

The official count and arrangement by classes and divisions has just been completed in the office of the registrar showing a total attendance of 1,606. Of this number 768 are women and 838 are men, giving the latter a majority of 70 over the women, or 10 more than when the former count was made. The number of late assignments this semester has delayed the summing up of registration figures. Up to date, there are 437 freshmen, 316 sophomores, 264 juniors, and 230 seniors. The freshman students constitute a little more than half of the men enrolled.

In the school of agriculture there are 189 students, 61 of which are women, and 128 men. Here the "specials" claim the largest per cent, or 98 members, followed by the first year with 54, the second with 27 and the third with 10. Fifty-two women are taking the housekeepers' course and eight the lunch room management.

In the regular college courses, 84 students are enrolled for special work, 57 women and 27 men, while 8 women and 18 men are doing graduate work.

Checking up by divisions, that of home economics leads with a total of 499, seconded by the division of Agriculture with an enrollment of 307. There are 4 girls enrolled in the division this semester. Only 207 students have chosen the course of general science, 120 of them women and 87 men. The department of electrical engineering has the fourth highest enrollment, or 194. In the veterinary medicine there are 65, in mechanical engineering, 59, in civil and highway engineering, 40, and in industrial journalism, 40.

In the four remaining divisions the enrollment is exceptionally light, that of architecture being 13, including two women and 10 each in the departments of agricultural and flour mill engineering. A decided increase in the general college enrollment is expected with the opening of the special term, November 12.

SOPHS "HIKE TO FLAT ROCK

Second Year Men Give the First Class Social Event of Semester.

The first big class hike of the season was given Friday night by the sophomore class. Saturday morning solids were forgotten as 6:00 o'clock approached and hikers appeared from every direction to meet at the usual place, the south gate of the campus. About 60 sophomores chaperoned by Professor and Mrs. J. S. Hughes and Professor and Mrs. E. V. Floyd hiked to Flat Rock. A program had been prepared, music by a quartet, several readings, and a stunt by members of the class. As usual there were the "eats." Professor Floyd and Professor Hughes both gave short talks to the students.

NEW MAGAZINES FOR LIBRARY.

Current History Class pays for extra Copies of Periodicals.

The current history students under Professor James have made an appreciable addition to the library periodicals by subscribing for five extra copies of the Literary Digest and American Review of Reviews. Heretofore these two magazines have been so in demand that students have been discouraged over trying to find one not in use and many do not even try to depend on the library copies. The additional numbers will make it possible to find a copy not in use most any period. The current issues will be found in the black binders on a table in the periodical room during the day and at the reference desk in the evening.

Lieutenant McClelland of Fort Leavenworth spent the week-end with home folks.

CO-ED REPORTER LEADS CONTEST

Sixteen Are Now Entered in Collegian Race for Honors.

Checking up the reporters at the end of the fourth week who have been engaged in the Collegian contest finds Miss Estel Wollman in the lead with 82 inches to her credit.

The contest is opened at the beginning of each semester to any college student who wishes to compete with the others in a try-out for the amount of news which is printed in the college paper. The race is usually close among five or six workers. There are now sixteen students entered for the contest, all from the department of journalism. The five reporters who have submitted the most material up till the present time are, Ethel Wollman, 82 inches; Velma Carson, 71 inches; C. P. Miller, 64 inches; H. T. Enns, 56 1-2 inches; and Dora Cate 38 inches. Ruth Henderson closely follows Miss Cate with a standing of 37 inches.

FROM SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE

AMOS PAYNE WRITES BACK OF CONDITIONS IN TRAINING.

Former Aggie Student Has Been Made An Orderly—Leather Goods Are High.

Amos C. Payne, one of the Manhattan boys in France, has written the following letter to his mother and folks here, telling of his experiences there:

"Advanced Air Service Headquarters, American Expeditionary Forces, France.

"Dear Mamma and All of You:—I am enjoying a comparative rest at the headquarters. When we went on detached service we thought we were going to the front where shot and shell would be flying all around us. What we really did was to go to a place where we could sleep in barracks, could wash ourselves and our clothes, and eat the very best of food. "I came up here as 'chauffeur,' but it seems that around headquarters a chauffeur is expected to act as orderly most of the time. It is essential that we always look spic and span. We are supposed to wear leather belts and puttees and always have our clothes pressed. Real leather is very high in France and for this reason I spent almost all my month's pay for clothes.

"I have received but two or three letters from America since leaving the foreign school squadron. I have heard that a large amount of mail has been lost in transit. Perhaps my home letters are among the lost. Are you receiving any of my mail? Keep writing at your end and I will do the same at this end. Some mail must certainly come across.

"Well, I must close. More later. "My address is

"AMOS O. PAYNE, "Advanced Air Service Headquarters, American Expeditionary Forces, France, (U. S. P. O. 706)." Griffin Leaves for Berkley, Calif.

Ben F. Griffin, senior in agronomy, has received orders from the war department to report at once to the aerial division of the signal corps reserve, stationed at Berkley, Calif.

Mr. Griffin enlisted in that branch of the service this summer and has been waiting for his call. He was enrolled in college and would have finished his course this semester.

A Promotion for Moser.

Leo C. Moser, 17, stationed at Fort Riley, has just received promotion from private to sergeant of ordinance, first class. This is one of the highest non-commission offices. Mr. Moser will now have 72 hours leave each week.

STIFF'S KICK WON IT

GOAL FROM TOUCHDOWN AGAIN BROUGHT VICTORY OVER MISSOURI TIGERS.

HINDS STAR OF THE GAME

Clevenger's Newest Back Field Discovery Hammered Tiger Line, Rounded the Ends, and Tackled Like a Veteran—Aggies Scored in Third.

(By Collegian Representative.)

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 13.—Sometime, somewhere, somehow, the Missouri Tigers are bound to win a game of football from the Kansas Aggies. That's according to the laws of chance. But today in Columbia, confronted by a superior team, the Missourians failed for the third consecutive year to wrest that victory from the men from Manhattan, and went down to a 6 to 7 defeat. Which is according to the laws of football, for the best team won.

History records a similar victory last year. In 1916, it was "Stiff" Randels' good right toe that described a semi-circle in the air, meeting midway with a football held in place by Johnnie Clarke, said ball mounting upward through two goal posts and across a goal-bar for the one point that twisted the Tiger's tail. Stiff's toe had the same opportunity today, and the much talked of digit of the Aggie leader's pedal extremity repeated, while Captain Hamilton's attempt was very, very close to the goal posts, but not quite close enough to count.

Hinds Makes a Touchdown.

The historian will remember that toe of "Stiff's" because of those two boots, for each gave the Aggies a good start in a Missouri valley championship race, but listed alongside the remarks about Mr. Randels will be laudatory sentences concerned with the playing of "Heine" Hinds, who made good in a pinch.

"Heine's" big chance for glory came near the end of the third quarter. With Clevenger's diminutive half back plunging the line and rounding the ends for more than half of the Aggie gains, the Purple eleven finally established itself on the Tiger's 6-yard line. Here three plunges advanced the inflated skin of the swine to within two yards of a chalk line which ran parallel with the Tiger goal posts.

The Aggies had been there before, but had failed. This time Johnny Clarke called a batch of signals, the Aggie line leaped forward, and 137 pounds of avoirdupois, the property of Mr. Hinds, hurled themselves straightforward over or through that staunch Tiger defense, and the touchdown that meant another knot in the Tiger's tail had been scored. Then came "Stiff's" historic foot feat, and the score stood 7 to 0.

Then the Tigers Scored.

The Schulte men came back with a rush. A forward pass and a first downs for Missouri brought the ball to the Aggie 20-yard line. "Germany" Schulz's pet line braced, and the drive was halted. But the Missourians had another play, and a 15-yard pass from Morris to Slusher, and a short run by the latter, brought about a Tiger score. Two thousand Tigers held a similar number of breaths as Captain Hamilton swung his toe into a try for goal from touchdown, but the silence up-set Hamilton's nerves, and the attempt was three feet wide of the posts.

The real way to write this story would be to place the name of Hinds between every second or third word. When it comes to distance gained, the record is Hinds; if individual playing is spoken of, Hinds stands out; if team-work, fight, grit, speed, good sportsmanship, and endurance stand for anything at all, they stand for Hinds.

A Touchdown Didn't Count.

That final lunge over the Missouri goal line wasn't the only time Hinds crossed into the sacred territory that lies back of the Old Gold and Black posts. Hinds swooped around the line once in the first quarter, scooped up a fumbled ball that a Tiger back had dropped, and sprinted 25 yards to what apparently was a touchdown. But a Missouri lineman had fouled, and the ball was brought back, and given to the Tigers, who kicked out of danger. Aside from the playing of Hinds, no

COLLEGLIAN BOARD ELECTION.

Four members of The Collegian board will be elected by the subscribers Thursday, October 25, from 1 to 5 o'clock. Candidates must be from the junior or senior class, and petitions, signed by at least 20 subscribers, must be in Prof. N. A. Crawford's hands by October 22.

SHORT COURSE IS DIFFERENT

Students Can't Understand When New Semester Begins.

Many students have confused the special semester, which is to begin November 12 and continue until March 30, with the regular short course which begins January 7 states Hugh Durham, assistant to the dean of the division of agriculture.

"Inquiries are received every day from students who do not understand that these two courses are entirely distinct," said Mr. Durham. "It should be remembered that the special semester which begins November 12, is for the regular students, and college credit will be given for work taken. The five short courses which begin January 7 and last until March 2 are the same courses that have been given in the past."

The next round of the tournament is to be played by October 20.

MANHATTAN TRIMS EMPORIA

Highs Win Out in Second Half—Hylton Makes Touchdown.

The Manhattan high school football team defeated the Emporia high school team on the college athletic field Friday afternoon in a poor exhibition of football, 6 to 0.

The first half of the game was featured by many fumbles and bone heads by both sides. The ball stayed in the middle of the field during most of the first half. The last half showed better football. In the early part of the third quarter, Hylton pushed the ball over for the only score of the game, and Houston failed to kick an easy goal. The Emporia boys were on the two-yard line once in the third quarter, but were held for downs by the local bunch, and the Manhattan team was within striking distance of their goal four times but to lose the ball on downs or fumbles. Emporia made most of their gains on the use of the forward pass, while Manhattan completed but one pass. The touchdown in the third was made through a series of line bucks.

Officials: M. F. Ahearn, referee; Dave Wooster, umpire; Keith, head linesman.

The Manhattan boys play their next game at Clay Center next Friday, October 19.

FRIDAY ARMSTRONG LIKES FRANCE—FINE ROADS THERE

In a letter from Friday Armstrong, "Somewhere in France," just received by his mother, Mrs. Guy Armstrong, he gives his address as Co. A, 2nd Field Batn, Signal Corps, A. E. F., via New York, where his friends may address him.

Friday says that he is feeling fine, and likes that country. He is impressed especially with the roads there, which he says are the best he ever saw. "Tell Dutch he should be here with his car," he says.

STUDENTS, THOUGH MARRIED

MANY WHO HAVE ENTERED NUP-TIAL BONDS ARE ATTENDING COLLEGE.

Camp Funston is the Cause of Most of the Married Women's Decision to go to K. S. A. C.—Specialize in Home Economics and Music Courses.

Not all co-eds are foolish co-eds. At least, there is an element present among K. S. A. C. women this year that should be decidedly astute. This element will undoubtedly act as a safety valve in classrooms where co-eds abound and will most assuredly dictate to, or certainly pacify, autocratic professors who attempt to subjugate timid members of the weaker sex.

Superior numbers is not the force referred to, for statistics show the co-eds to be still in the minority. Newly acquired suffrage does not account for the state of affairs as they now exist. The women have long ago taken advantage of their right to vote on student activities.

But today, a brand new agency is proclaiming itself. A novel potentiality has been born of circumstances, and a readjustment will be necessary to meet its demands.

The college widow is with us as never before. Twenty-nine married women representing several states, have registered and are taking work this fall. And they are expecting, with a perfect right, the same consideration given to other students in college.

Who are these wives? What are they studying? What are their demands? Easy enough.

The majority of the married women are in some way connected with the men at Riley or Camp Funston. They are either the wives of officers, of soldiers, or of contractors and laborers. They are here to be near their husbands in order to make a home for them when circumstances permit the men to come to Manhattan.

Registration cards show that the women are specializing either in music, physical training or some phase of home economics. A few are taking cafeteria management.

It is believed that there are wives attending college under assumed names. But the following have registered under their proper titles: Mrs. Lora, H. Bell, Mrs. Mary Lane Bowman, Mrs. J. B. Brickell, Mrs. Watkins A. Broyles, Mrs. Delphine H. Coy, Mrs. Gladys B. Davis, Mrs. H. W. Davis, Mrs. Olga S. Coatsworth, Mrs. H. Diefendorf, Mrs. Anna Davis, Mrs. E. V. Floyd, Mrs. Florence Harvey, Mrs. Arvilla F. Hale, Mrs. Edith W. Herrick, Mrs. Lois Tucker Jordan, Mrs. E. B. Keith, Mrs. Helen Keith, Mrs. L. H. Limper, Mrs. Katherine Graham McCunniff, Mrs. Laura D. Moore, Mrs. Agnes H. Martling, Mrs. Mollie Smith Moser, Mrs. Marguerite O'Connell, Mrs. Frank Root, Mrs. M. I. Shields, Mrs. Maud L. Quintus, Mrs. Margaret E. Wood, Mrs. Dessie Pope White, and Mrs. Lucile Berry Wolf.

PROTECT AGAINST TYPHOID

Physicians Are Vaccinating College Students This Week.

To protect college students from typhoid germs, the college has decided to vaccinate all students without cost. Three local physicians, Dr. J. D. Colt, Dr. E. F. Moffitt and Dr. Belle Little, have been secured to administer the vaccine, which is being supplied by the federal government.

The office of the college physician is open each day this week from 8 o'clock to 9:30. Dr. E. J. Moffitt is in the office Mondays and Wednesdays, Dr. Belle Little, Tuesdays and Thursdays, and Dr. J. D. Colt, Fridays and Saturdays. Three weeks will be necessary for the three doses, which must be given a week apart.

The three down-town doctors are caring for college students in the absence of Dr. C. M. Sawyer, college physician, who was called back to the army when the war broke out, but who now has an application in to be released that he could resume his work here. Because of the cost of employing the down-town physicians, the college does not pay for any dressings or medicine.

Miss Clara Gensley of Kansas City, Mo., was a week end guest of Miss Helen and Miss Ellenor Boyd of 1130 Vattier.

DRAFTED FOR EDUCATION.

Boys under 21 have been drafted to continue their education, that the class of intelligent men may not be diminished in a future decade. Let us be sensible about the thing. The work lies at each man's hand to be done—the one for the rifle, the other for the book. It should be done as alloted.

Only let those who are drafted to remain remember this: As those who serve on the battlefield or in the fleet will do their work faithfully and well to their utmost, so they who serve in keeping alive our heritage of knowledge must do their work faithfully and well. They are stewards to serve in place of the brave young men who have gone. From that responsibility, from that draft, there is no exemption.—Harvard Crimson.

PLAN ENGINEER'S SEMINAR

FRESHMAN WILL HAVE PLENTY OF LECTURE WORK.

Out of Town Speakers and Faculty Members Will Address Students.

An interesting schedule has been mapped out for the seminars and lectures to the engineering students. The work for the freshmen will be entirely lecture work. A. A. Potter, dean of the division of engineering, is now giving a series of lectures on "How to Study." The work of the upper classmen will consist mainly of the writing of papers, except on days when general seminar is held.

The following is the schedule as far as it has been worked out: September 13, general seminar, Dean Potter; September 20, freshman lecture, Dean Potter; and upper-classmen tell summer experiences; September 27, general seminar, Dr. J. D. Walters, professor of architecture emeritus; October 4, freshman lecture, upper-classmen go on inspection trips about Manhattan; October 11, general seminar, C. W. Boynton of the Cement Gun company; October 18, freshman lecture, Dean Potter, and papers by upper-classmen; October 25, general seminar, R. S. Kellogg, secretary of National Manufacturers Lumber Association, or R. G. Kloeffer, assistant professor of electrical engineering; November 1, freshman lecture, L. E. Conrad, professor of civil engineering, and papers by upper-classmen; November 8, general seminar, Mr. Kellogg or Professor Kloeffer; November 15, freshman lecture, C. E. DEAN VAN ZILE TO GIRLS

NEW CONDITIONS CALL FOR NEW CONSIDERATIONS.

Force That Women Add in War Measured by Adherence to High Standards.

Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, as dean of women of the college, has a message for every girl enrolled as a student here:

"Because of the national crisis there is in the hearts of women everywhere an unrest—a desire to do—a discontent and impatience because there seems so little for women to do—a refusal of heart to give their dearest and best as a sacrifice, if need be, on the altar of democracy. Because these conflicting emotions are in all our hearts, it will be difficult for us to settle down to the daily routine of our work; but for the present at least I consider that this is the greatest service we college women can render.

Influence Woman's Bit.

"These days are different from all other days, and our college life will of necessity be different from what it has ever been before. There is, therefore, the challenge to college women to honestly and earnestly face new facts and new conditions, in order that they may know what is expected of them.

"Wherein is woman's power but in the reverence and love she creates in her heart and mine? The force and power that women will wield in this conflict will, therefore, be measured by the influence they exert on the men who are being called to the service. I would not have the college woman think of her influence in any sentimental sort of way, but in a serious, earnest consideration of the things that will make her a power for good. Unswerving adherence to truth—to principle; loyalty to friends; universal kindness and helpfulness; note refinement and delicacy goit and expressed in every act—is man's ideal for the moment, but it is the daily living of such standards that holds lives and hearts true.

All Must Work Together.

"Let the old girls forget their assurance and the new girls their timidity in the remembrance of the common ties of interest and purpose that bind us together in one sisterhood. Live each day, remembering that to be great is to be simply true, that she whose purpose and impulse is to be loyal to her best self—to be genuine—will feel the consciousness of being a factor in the happiness and up-life of our college community."

COCAINE IS DEADLY DRUG

Insanity Will Result From Continued Use, Says Dr. Dykstra.

Three habit forming drugs and their effects upon the users, were described by R. R. Dykstra, professor of veterinary surgery at student assembly Monday.

The drugs described were Indian hemp, cocaine and morphine, of which Indian hemp when used moderately is least harmful. Morphine and cocaine are the two most commonly used in the United States, and the Harris Antinarcotic Act was passed for the purpose of controlling the sale of these drugs.

"Cocaine, which is made from the leaves of the cocoa plant, causes the user to experience hallucinations and to see visions," explained Doctor Dykstra. "One common effect is a sensation as of vermin crawling on the flesh. The cocaine habit is practically incurable and ends in insanity."

Morphine, a product of the poppy plant, acts as a relief from pain and fatigue. Its effect is that of soothing rest, and the user suffers torment when not under its influence. When used in excess morphine causes a leader pallor of the skin and emaciation.

MARINES' PHYSICIANS HAVE REMEDY FOR FLATFEET

Washington, Oct. 15.—Owing to the number of otherwise splendid applicants rejected from the United States marine corps for flat feet, marine corps examining physicians have issued the following simple exercises and pointers, which if followed, they say, will remedy that ailment:

During exercises at all times turn the toes in.

Walk with toe of each foot pointing to the front; in straight line, if possible.

Stand with toes turned in; raise body on toes, slowly, as high as possible. Rest a second, then with weight of body borne on toes, lower slowly down to floor, and repeat.

When in the house in stocking feet, walk on toes; heels not touching the floor, and toes turned in.

When sitting, cross the legs, the foot always resting on the outer side. The wearing of broa toed shoes with the metal "arch supporter" absolutely abandoned, also is advocated.

War Not the Reason Many Study French Language Prof. Says

That the large decrease in the number of students taking German this year is due not so much to the war situation as to the change in the course of study, is the opinion of L. H. Limper, instructor in modern languages.

"This is the first year that French has been optional with German for home economics students," said Mr. Limper, "and naturally, therefore, the number of those taking German decreased. In normal times we would have expected a decrease of more than 50 per cent because something new coming in would always attract. The decrease has, however, been somewhat greater.

"The study of German has nothing to do with patriotism. Whether or not German should have a place in the school curriculum is purely a pedagogical question. Its value has never been questioned. German scientists will be even busier after the war than before. The same, of course, is true of the French, and no scientist will be well equipped unless he can read in the original, before others have had time to translate them are discoveries made by French or German scholars.

"Present relations France and the United States has stimulated an interest in conversational French, while heretofore the principal purpose has been to give a reading knowledge rather than a speaking knowledge of both French and German.

The University Daily Kansan, in commenting about the decrease in enrollment here, states that two-thirds of the students enrolled are women. As a matter of fact there are sixty more men than women.

Aggie stood out. Captain "Stiff" Randels broke up many a Tiger play back of the Missouri line before the widely heralded veteran Schulte backfield could get under way. "Pete" Pateck's play was always in evidence and Roda and Whedon were important cogs in an Aggie defense that allowed Missouri to make but 76 yards from touchback during the entire fracas, while the Aggies gained 156 yards, more than double the Tiger total.

Aggies Ahead on Gains.

Harwood played the best game of his life at fullback. He was next to Hinds in ground gained, and should be ranked next to the speedy half back in the offensive machinery. Clarke and Leo Pateck both played heady football. Clarke carried the ball twice during the game, and gained each time. Leo Pateck was not in the form he had already shown this year in the ball lugging department, but he ran excellent interference for Hinds and Harwood.

There is no question but that the best team won. Even Missourians admit that. If there is such a doubt it can quickly be settled by the statistics of the encounter which show that the Aggies gained the most distance in each quarter: The yardages of the two teams by quarters follows:

Aggies 33 42 50 31—156
Missouri 17 12 19 28—76

In first downs, too, Cleveland's men were outstandingly ahead. The ratio was 16 to 7.

Each Period's Results.

The play by quarters.
First quarter—Hamilton kicked off to Leo Pateck, who returned ten yards. The Aggies were held for downs. Rider fumbled to Whedon. Hinds rounded the end for 10 yards. Clarke punted 45 yards. Hinds recovered a Tiger fumble on the 25-yard line and raced to a touchdown, only to be called back because a Missouri man was caught holding. The Tigers were forced to kick. Randels' attempt at a place kick from the 25-yard line was low. Slusher punted 40 yards to Clarke. The Aggies made downs. Clarke kicked 30 yards. Rider made the first Missouri downs on an end run and Viner followed with a 13-yard gain. The Aggies held, and took the ball. Schroeder recovered Leo Pateck's fumble on the Aggie 25-yard line just as the quarter closed. The period was characterized by fumbles on both sides.

Second quarter—Whedon blocked an attempted Missouri place-kick, and recovered the ball on the Aggies' 40-yard line. The Aggies made first downs four consecutive times, Hinds and Harwood hammering off tackle for most of the gains. Morris knocked down an attempted pass. Enlow blocked Slusher's punt on the 10-yard line, recovering the ball. Hinds made 6 yards but the Tigers held on their 1-yard line. Slusher kicked 17 yards. Randels rounded the end for 6 yards, and Harwood made downs. Tiger line held on its 6-yard line. Randels attempt to place-kick was blocked by Greenwood, who recovered the ball. The half ended 0 to 0, with the ball near the middle of the field in possession of Missouri.

Third quarter—Greenwood again kicked off to Leo Pateck. The Aggies made downs on a Missouri penalty. Harwood and Hinds made first downs. Clarke punted 45 yards. Missouri was penalized 15 yards for illegal interference. Slusher punted 30 yards. Clarke completed a short pass to Hinds, but the Tigers took the ball on downs. Rider made first downs for Missouri and the Tigers made another first downs. Slusher kicked 15 yards. Clarke punted 25 yards. Slusher punted 15 yards. Aggies made downs. Hinds gained 12 yards. Hinds went over for a touchdown, and Randels kicked goal. Randels kicked off.

Fourth quarter—Missouri made first downs. Morris passed 15 yards to Slusher. Missouri made downs. Morris again passed 15 yards to Slusher, who scored a touchdown. Hamilton missed goal. Hinds made ten yards. Aggies scored first downs. Rider intercepted Aggie pass. On next play, L. Pateck intercepted Tiger pass. Hinds made first downs. Forward pass from Clarke to Hinds made first downs. Aggies tried three passes, and lost the ball on downs on the Missouri 20-yard line. Slusher kicked 40 yards to Clarke.

Summary—Touchdowns: Hinds, Slusher. Goal from touchdown, Randels. Gains: Aggies 156 yards; Missouri 76 yards. Forward passes: Aggies, 3 out of seven for 38 yards; Missouri, 2 out of five for 40 yards. Penalties: Missouri, 40 yards; Aggies 0.

A Few Postscripts.

Saturday's victory was the first of four that the Aggies must accomplish. Washington, the Jayhawkers and Ames are to be played in succession.

The "subs" who made the trip were a pretty gloomy lot. The regulars were in such perfect trip that Cleveland didn't need to send in a substitute. This is an Aggie record, old timers say.

For fight and nerve, "Pete" Pateck must be complimented. "Pete," who had been out but one week, played the full game and finished strong.

Johnny Clarke's play shows improvement with each game this year. Johnny's generalship has always been outstanding, but he has never fought as he fought Saturday. With an improvement in just general "pep" Johnny should be the leading pilot of the valley this year.

The Aggie line was not flashy, but it was consistent. The fact that Missouri made but seven first downs and advanced the ball only 76 yards shows that. "Germany's" men were especially strong when the goal was in danger.

"They would never have gone through that line for a touchdown," one of the players said.

It wasn't the cough that carried her off.
"Twas the coffin they carried her off in.

WANTS "STIFF" OUT

TIGER PRESIDENT BELIEVES THAT RANDELS IS NOT ELIGIBLE.

"O.K." SAYS J. O. HAMILTON

Competition at Southwestern Does Not Affect Randels' Play Here Says Former Athletic Board Chair.

"Stiff" Randels is eligible, has been eligible, and will be eligible for the remainder of the college year.

That is the opinion of Prof. J. O. Hamilton, former chairman of the athletic board and who has been familiar with the complaints in the Randels case, and of Athletic Director Z. G. Clevenger.

Dr. A. Ross Hill, president of the University of Missouri, gave publication to a story Wednesday that "Stiff" was ineligible because he had competed with Southwestern college two years before coming to Manhattan and that for that reason, he expected that the 7 to 6 victory of the Aggies over the Tigers would be wiped out of the season's records.

Southwestern Not On List.

President Hill's "discovery" that Randels had competed previous to enrolling in K. S. A. C. is true; and is known over the valley. But before making his charges that the Aggie star was ineligible, President Hill evidently forgot to look in the Missouri valley rule book, where a list of accredited Missouri valley colleges is listed. Players who compete at colleges in this list are barred from play in the Missouri valley one year for every two year's play at the minor school.

The accredited list does not include the name of Southwestern college. Other institutions of the same prominence of Southwestern, but which are not listed, are, among others, Haskell institute and St. Marys college. Dean W. M. Jardine and President Waters, the two persons highest in authority on the Aggie athletic board, are out of town, and it is not known what answer they made to President Hill's charges.

An Alumnus "Discovered" It.

According to President Hill, an alumnus of the University of Missouri, who is now living in Kansas, wrote Frank Chambers, registrar of the university, informing him that Captain Randels had played with Southwestern. President Hill was out of town and not until Saturday was a protest made to Coach Clevenger.

Dr. W. E. Meanwell, Tiger athletic director, spoke to Clevenger just before the kickoff, telling the Aggie coach that "he had been instructed by President Hill to protest the playing of Randels," according to Clevenger. At that time it was too late to change the Aggie lineup, and Coach Clevenger did not do so. He was acting under the authority of the Aggie athletic board, he said, and that body had not informed him that Randels could not play.

Conference May Decide.

Randels was not informed of the trouble until Tuesday of this week. The Aggie captain will play in the Missouri game, Coach Clevenger says. The Aggie athletic board decided that Randels was eligible at a meeting it held last spring, according to Coach Clevenger.

If President Hill wishes to push his claims, the supreme court will be the eligibility committee of the Missouri valley conference. Until that body declares the Aggie leader ineligible, "Stiff" Randels will continue to perform as an Aggie.

ANOTHER CHANGE IN CHEMISTRY

Two New Men Into Vacancies Caused By Resignations.

The chemistry department is still undergoing changes. Saturday afternoon, R. E. Preston of Buena Vista college, Storm Lake, Iowa, arrived to take the place left vacant by the resignation of K. W. Reed, assistant. C. W. Thing, assistant, has left for Pasadena, Calif., where he will take up a position in the high school. E. S. West will take the place of Mr. Thing.

A PROGRAM AT FORT RILEY

Orchestra and Glee Club Will Entertain Soldiers.

The college orchestra and the men's glee club have arranged a program to be given at Fort Riley, October 23. The orchestra, under the leader, R. H. Brown, associate professor of music, will play the following selections: "Funston's Fighting Twentieth," by Weeler; selections from Chocolate Soldiers, Tiras; waltz, "Only Girl," Herbert; and "Kansas City Spirit," Sorrentino.

The men's glee club, under the direction of Arthur E. Westbrook, professor of voice will sing the following selections: "Dearest Farewell," Jungst; "Comrade Song," Priellard; "Vikings Song," Faning, and popular melodies.

Miss Ada Dykes, public speaking assistant, will give selected readings. The members of the men's glee club who will go to Fort Riley are: Sebort Wilkins, Davy Davis, J. R. Mingle, Albert Hancock, Claude White, W. R. Schell, Howard O'Brien, Lloyd Miller, Lester Jones, Harold Knapp, Russell Knapp, C. H. Cloud, Sam Mitchell, E. S. Lyons, W. B. Carey, C. E. Hutto, G. W. Corzine, Elmer Gilbreath, Sheridan Spangler, Orville Gibson, R. E. Carr, Chain Robinson, Paul Mann, O. T. Bonnett, C. H. Meyers and John Elliott.

TO DR. HILL OF MISSOURI

Greetings:

Did you not, Doctor Hill, in the matter of the alleged ineligibility of our "Stiff" Randels, act without very much consideration of the "other fellow" in giving publication to the report before having thoroughly investigated the case, the "other fellow" of whom we speak being K. S. A. C.?

Did you not, Doctor, act hastily in issuing your statement before you had looked up the list of accredited schools in your Missouri valley rule book, or before you had placed your evidence before the athletic board of the school complained against, as the rules say you should do?

Was it not, Doctor, lacking in well something, to tell the coach of a visiting team, only ten minutes before the game commenced, that you were going to protest the playing of one of his men, who was at that time suited up and ready to play? Would that not, Doctor, just about take the pep out of any man, when pep was most needed?

Don't you think, Doctor, that it might have been sour—but, we'll quit, Doctor, because it maybe that we have said enough. However, Doctor, we can't help from hoping that that little 7 to 6 matter—

But then, goodbye, until basket ball season.

Very truly,

WE KANSAS AGGIES.

NO PEACE TALK IN WAR TIMES.

State Contest Called Off Because of European Disturbance.

In all probability, no state peace oratorical contest will be held in Kansas this year. The sentiment of the national board, under whose auspices the contest is held, and of the state officers in charge, is against having the contest, because of war conditions.

Dr. J. G. Emerson, professor of public speaking, is casting about for another contest to take the place of the peace oratorical. The college may be invited to participate in the Old Line State contest, although as a rule no college is allowed to compete without having been admitted to membership the previous year.

Co-eds Have Only a few Contests Remaining in Series.

One match has been played off in the sixth round of the girls' tennis tournament. Marie Johnston won from Addie Sandman with a score of 6-4, 6-3.

Four more matches will decide the winner of the college girls' tournament. Ruth Thomas and Isabel Hamilton will meet Martha Baird, winner in the fourth round. Marie Johnston will play the successful one in combat, and Edna Chapin will play the final survivor.

PLEDGE TO DO WAR WORK

AGGIE GIRLS WILL MAKE RED CROSS SURGICAL DRESSINGS BETWEEN HOURS.

Member of National Y. W. Board Spoke at Women's Mass Meeting Tuesday and Mrs. Van Zile Offered Use of Room in the D. S. Building.

Every college girl will have an opportunity to do her bit for the country and for the soldier boys. A room is to be opened up in the domestic science building in which Red Cross surgical dressings will be made by co-eds during all their vacant hours.

The work is being done in connection with the patriotic league, promoted by the Junior War Work council of the national board of the Young Women's Christian association. The local work of the league was started Tuesday at a mass meeting of all college girls.

Miss Lucy Riggs, one of the national board of the Y. W. C. A. told the girls of the real work which they have to do in this time of national crisis, is being true American girls.

Mrs. E. S. Brown, who is in charge of the Red Cross work in the southwest district, which includes Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Arkansas, and western Tennessee and Kentucky spoke to the girls explaining the urgent demand for Red Cross supplies.

Red Cross Can Work.

"The Red Cross is the only organization which can get our things across the water and distribute them to the soldiers," said Mrs. Brown. "Should we not heed their call when they ask us to help them with their work? Never since the war began has the demand for surgical dressings been so great."

Mrs. Mary P. VanZile, dean of women, gave an outline of the plans for the local work. Room 53 of the domestic science building will be equipped by the social service committee of the Y. W. C. A. and the material will be furnished by the Manhattan chapter of the American Red Cross association. One qualified worker will be in charge each day from 9 to 12 o'clock and from 1 to 5 o'clock.

The work which will be purely voluntary, is for the purpose of making a vast amount of supplies and not for certification.

Will Teach Knitting.

Instructions in knitting will be given on Wednesday mornings from 9 to 12 o'clock. Because of the scarcity of Red Cross yarn, the workers will not be given the regular yarn until they have proved themselves capable of making acceptable articles. The knitted articles are so much in demand that the yarn will be given only to those who can bring back the finished articles in a comparatively short time.

Because great care must be taken to keep all dirt, bits of hair or thread from the dressings, each worker will be required to provide herself with the head-dress and a large white apron with sleeves. The cap or head-dress is made of a one-yard square of India linen, with a one-inch hem on the four sides. One side is hemmed in the opposite way from the others making a cuff to turn back on the forehead. Only those holding a teachers' certificate for surgical dressings can wear the Red Cross cap and apron.

Not all the dressings used in the hospitals will be made by the girls. Only a certain set of those most in demand will be selected.

The Pledge They Take.

A large percent of the college girls have already joined the patriotic league. Following is the pledge which the young women take:

"I pledge to express my patriotism by doing better than before whatever work I have to do; by rendering whatever special service I can to my community and country; by living up to the highest standards of character and honor and helping others to do the same."

Will Go to the Game.

The Ionia Literary society will not have a meeting Saturday afternoon on account of the football game but will have a joint program with the Hamiltons in the evening.

ENTERTAINMENT AT FUNSTON

College Faculty Members Help Out At Army Camp.

Miss Ada Dykes, of the public speaking department, Miss Patricia Abernathy, assistant in piano, and Prof. A. E. Westbrook, director of music, went to Camp Funston, Tuesday evening to entertain the soldiers with a program under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Miss Dykes gave readings.

Miss Dykes has had unusual experience for a woman. In the recent presidential campaign she was the only woman speaker Republican day Kansas with Senator Charles Curtis making speeches. When a senior at the university of Kansas she was College Day speaker, the first woman at the university to have that honor.

LITERARY SOCIETIES HIKED

Brownings and Athenians Were at Flat Rock Saturday.

The Browning and Athenian literary societies, chaperoned by J. G. Emerson, professor of public speaking, and Miss Lenore Richards, went out to Flat Rock Saturday afternoon. They ate a supper composed of beefsteak, doughnuts, apples, pickles and coffee. A short program furnished the entertainment after supper.

100 PRIZE TO AN ORATOR

Valley Oratorical Offers Bonus and Medal to Winner.

The college will again be represented in the annual Missouri Valley Oratorical contest to be held at Ames in the early spring. The contest this year will be under the control of a board composed of faculty members from the various institutions represented. Last year it was financed entirely by Drake university, where it was held. The feature of the present arrangement is that all expenses of the orator are borne by the college from which he comes.

J. G. Emerson, professor of public speaking, already has plans under way for the selection of a representative orator. The contest is open to any student who wishes to try out.

"We have the material for a winning orator this year if we can but get it to come out," said Mr. Emerson. "President Waters and Acting president Willard, in so quickly and heartily giving their approval to this plan, and backing it up with funds, have opened to the students of the college an enlarged field for training in practical public speaking. I hope that it may come to the notice of all."

The prize for the winner of the contest is $100 and a gold medal, the prize money having been donated as a permanent fund by an Iowa man.

HAVE FLOWERS ON CAMPUS.

Short Course Girls and Freshmen Boys Have Plants at Greenhouse.

Anyone walking through the greenhouse will see many boxes filled with hundreds of tiny plants. These are the cuttings which have just been made by the class in floriculture of short course girls under the direction of William Pickett, foreman of greenhouse.

Cuttings of coleus, daisies, carnations, roses, begonias, and Wandering Jew have been made, and they will be allowed to grow until the end of the short course term, when the girls may take any they wish home and the rest will be saved for use on the campus.

There is a similar class for freshmen boys in plant propagation and their cuttings will be used for plants on the campus next spring. The plant propagation class has also finished bringing in the canna bulbs and dahlia roots from the campus and has stored them for next year's use.

EVERYONE WANTING TRACTORS.

College Cannot Secure Machines Because of Large Demand.

That tractor engines are in greater demand this year than ever before is shown by the fact that the farm engineering department has had difficulty in procuring the usual number of tractors. The department has only been able to obtain three tractors. Several letters from factories received by W. H. Sanders, instructor in farm engineering state that although workmen are working overtime they are many orders behind. One factory reports 2000 orders which it is unable to fill and another reports 4,300.

FIGHT MUST DOWN WEIGHT

PIKERS WILL BE TEN POUNDS HEAVIER THAN PURPLE ELEVEN. TUTTLE SAYS.

One Half Back Weighs 150 Pounds, and the Washington Team's Average is 175 Against 164 of Aggies—Probably a New Purple Back Field.

A fight and a victory—that is the program for Clevenger's Wildcats next Saturday. If they fight, they can win, in the opinion of Bill Tuttle, who scouted the game at St. Louis last Saturday when the Pikers played Lombard college.

The Pikers this year have a heavy team, one that averages about 173 pounds. But the Aggies proved what they could do to a heavy team when they beat the Oklahoma Aggies 23 to 0. The reports indicate that the Pikers have a fast, smooth working team, with an unusually heavy pair of half backs, one of them weighing 180 pounds and the other 170, and these are the men that the Aggies must stop. Washington does not play much of an open game, their favorite plays being off-tackle bucks. They have several open formations though, that will keep the Aggies on their toes all the time, Tuttle says.

The freshmen have been playing the Pike formations all week, and the Varsity has been stopping them without any appreciable gain, which makes the outlook decidedly optimistic. The Varsity, on the other hand, has been gaining consistently against the freshman line, when the latter were playing on the Pike defensive formations.

The condition of the Aggies is rather battered, in one or two places, but most of the men are in fine shape. Leo Placek at right half, probably will not start the game, owing to the injury to his nose in the Oklahoma Aggie game, that was opened again last Saturday. Frankenhoff is still having trouble with his game leg, and it is doubtful if he will be in condition by Saturday. Bogue, Fairman, Sullivan, and Hixson, however, have been showing up in first class style in the scrimmage this week and the line-up will not be weakened to any great extent.

The Aggies are out for blood now; they tasted it last week and it was so good that they can't do without it now. This game is one more stepping stone to the Missouri Valley championship, and the Wildcats are going to make sure that it is going to be a solid one, even if they have to treat the Pike bunch pretty roughly to do it.

The Pike line-up has not been announced, but the Aggie line-up will probably be as follows: Capt. Randels, le; Placek, it; Roda, lg; Aye, c; Gates, rg; Whedon, rt; Enlow, re; Clarke, qb; Hinds, lb; Sullivan, Bogue, rh; Harwood, fb.

The officials will be Dr. J. A. Reilly, K. C. A. C. referee; C. E. McBride, Kansas City Star, umpire; and Ed. W. Cochran, Kansas City Journal, head linesman.

HER VOICE A "REVELATION"

Chicago Critic Compliments Miss May Carley, Now In Opera.

Miss May Carley, instructor in voice in the college, who is now engaged in opera work, has been highly complimented by Herman DeVries, Chicago's best known grand opera coach and critic.

"Miss Carley," said Mr. DeVries, "causes me to resort to a platitude by forcing me to say that her voice was a revelation. She has the finest contralto I have heard in years."

Her first role was that of Azucena, the gypsy mother in Verdi's "Il Trovatore," which she sang in the Chicago American, October 4.

MANY ARE HERE FROM SEDGWICK

County Is Next to Manhattan District Figures Show.

Sedgwick county next to Riley leads in the number of students sent here to college. This year Sedgwick county claims 58 students. Of this number 39 are boys, and 19 girls. Last year Sedgwick's representation was 84 and Shawnee came as a close second with 83.

This year Shawnee is again running a close second to Sedgwick. The total enrollment for Shawnee is 48, 17 being boys and 31 girls.

CO-ED "CUBS" TO MEET SOON

Theta Sigma Phi Will Hold Open House In November.

Theta Sigma Phi will hold an open house meeting the first Monday in November. All girls who are enrolled in the four year course in industrial journalism are invited to attend. The meeting will be held in K-55 from 7 to 9 o'clock. Women Journalists with practical experience will be asked to give talks, and the purpose and aims of Theta Sigma Phi will be explained to the girls. Theta Sigma Phi is the national honorary fraternity of women journalists.

NOW FOR THE FIRELESS COOKER

Electrical Ranges Have Been the Work of Electricals.

The electrical engineering department has completed a test on electric ranges which was begun last year, and R. G. Kloeffler, assistant professor of electrical engineering, is now preparing a bulletin showing the results of the experiments. The department is now starting an investigation of electrical fireless cookers. Nine makes of cookers are to be tested. Seven of these have already arrived and are being experimented with.

DIVISIONS MEET ON GRIDIRON

Interclass Struggles Will Be Done Away With, Bauer Announces.

Intramural football this year is to be played between the different divisions of the school instead of between the four classes, as in former years.

E. A. Bauer, assistant professor of physical education, and director of intramural athletics, has decided to make the change in order to give the different classes a fair chance. Heretofore it has been that the freshman class has always won because of the greater amount of material and a greater show of interest.

The divisions are general science, engineering, agriculture, and veterinary medicine. Each team will play three games, and the winner will be decided upon the percentage basis of games won and lost. The freshmen who are for freshman football will already have their uniforms, and for those not equipped, there will be plenty of old uniforms around the gymnasium to fit them all out.

All students, except the Varsity men, are eligible, and some good teams can be formed from the material in the different divisions. The games will be played upon the Varsity field on Fridays, or Saturdays when the scheduled games are away from home.

A meeting of the representatives of the different divisions was held in Director Bauer's office Wednesday afternoon, to decide upon the schedule of games to be played, and other matters that presented difficulty. Anyone interested can secure information from Director Bauer, in Room 30, Nichols gymnasium.

The schedule as outlined by Director Bauer follows:

Oct. 26—engineers and ags.

Oct. 27—"Vets" and general science.

Nov. 9—"vets" and engineers; ags and general science.

Nov. 17—"vets" and "ags"; engineers and general science.

Only four freshman varsity players may compete on any team, Mr. Bauer says.

END TO QUILL CONTEST SOON

Manuscripts Were in Monday, But Decision Is Not Known.

Quill contest closed Monday, but it will not be known for several days whose manuscripts have been accepted as Miss Rice, who is chairman of the membership committee, is out of college on account of her mother's illness.

The popularity of the Quill club is evidenced by the large number of manuscripts which have been turned in to the committee. Notices regarding the next meeting will be sent to members on Saturday.

WILL FOLLOW AGGIE METHODS

Miss Gladys Groves Will Equip Eureka School With New Furniture.

Miss Gladys Groves, '16, writes from Eureka that she is getting on well with her domestic science teaching. She expects to equip her cooking laboratory with furniture of the same make and form used by the domestic science department of the college.

TO ADMIT 32 AGGIES

ANOTHER CAMP TO OPEN IN JANUARY FOR MEN WITH MILITARY EXPERIENCE.

DRILL HERE A REQUISITE

Applicants Must Have Completed the Course in Military Science to be Eligible for Recommendation—Commandant Wendt to Handle Claims.

Thirty-two Kansas Aggies will be admitted to the third training camp. In the list of schools from which men with military experience are wanted in the third series of camps, which were originally intended to be open only to men in the regular army, is the name of the Kansas State Agricultural college.

Commandant W. B. Wendt received a notification yesterday from the adjutant general that graduates and undergraduates, who had completed their two years in the cadet corps, would be received. The camp will begin January 5, 1918, and will end April 5, 1918.

Only graduates or undergraduates between the ages of 21 and 31 at the time that the camp opens will be recommended by Commandant Wendt. Although married men will be admitted, unmarried men will be given preference, other things being equal, the announcement states. Students or graduates who did not complete their drill will not be eligible.

Must Apply Here.

All applications from students of this college must pass through the hands of Commandant Wendt. Absolutely no applications, it is announced, will be received by the war department.

Attention is called to the fact that all men who do not receive commissions at this camp, and who have been in attendance at the camp, must enlist in the military service for the period of the war. This is for the purpose of securing desirable non-commissioned officers from those men whom the army officers do not consider fit to hold commissions.

The pay of students at the camp will be the same as that of a private: $30 a month, plus food, clothing and quarters. In the two other camps the pay for the men was $100 a month, but because this series of camps is to be made up mainly of men from the ranks, the pay has been reduced.

Train for Infantry.

The training camps in this series are primarily for men to be commissioned in the line. Other branches of the service have been authorized to organize such schools as they think necessary for the training of men to be officers in their corps.

Commissions will be awarded the student officers just as quickly as vacancies occur, in the order of merit. The sites of the officers' training camps have not been selected. The choice is left to the commander of each of the divisions.

The Kansas State Agricultural college is the only Kansas school to send men to the camps.

TRY OUT FOR MASQUE PLAY

Fifteen Places are Open in "Man on the Box."

"People are coming out for the tryouts just fine," said Miss Ada Dykes, who will coach the "Man on the Box" for the Purple Masque. "I am very well satisfied to see so much enthusiasm this early in the game. There are no restrictions, the tryouts are open to the whole student body."

Tryouts will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights of next week in F-3 at 7 o'clock. Persons wishing to take part may see Miss Dykes in G-53 and get instructions.

The "Man on the Box" is a breezy, three-act comedy with a modern setting. There are places on the cast for four women and 11 men.

TAKE A "DATE" TOMORROW.

Now that the ban has officially been lifted from taking co-eds to exhibitions of the great college game here, there is no defense for letting the "steady" stay away from the Washington game tomorrow. The grandstand should be packed tomorrow, packed clear to the brim, with men and women students who have been waiting and gnashing their teeth because of the anti-date proceedings which were sure to occur if he and she sat together during the game. But the bars are down. Take "her."

A suggestion that may provide as much "meat" for the blanket-welders as before: why not toss each Aggie man who hasn't a date, and who isn't doing his duty in the rooters' section?

(Not—This does not apply to per-

HERE'S A REAL EXHIBIT.

Very, very often, The Collegian is "bawled out" for breaches of newspaper etiquette. To show that this paper is not alone, a clipping from the Daily Kansan, Lawrence, is produced. Perhaps Mr. Average Reader will see but few mistakes, but let a newspaperman get to it! The clipping:

A PROGRAM AT FORUM.

Music, Readings and Talks Part of Entertainment.

The Forum is wide awake 'and promising to accomplish more this year than ever before judging from the keen interest shown at the meeting Tuesday afternoon. There was a large attendance of both old and new members.

Music selections by Mrs. Mollie Moser and by Miss Lola Sloop, readings by Miss Dora Cate and by Miss Marie Johnson, and a talk on "Debate" by Fred Carp, constituted an interesting program.

ABOUT PERFECTIONISM.

Is it possible for men to be morally perfect? Will the human race ever be perfect? What about "Holi-sin?"

What Shall We Believe?

ABOUT THE BIBLE.

Did the Reformation substitute for an infallible Pope an infallible Book? Can the Bible and Science be made to agree? Will there ever

 Are Bible prophecies being fulfilled today?

What Shall We Believe?

ABOUT IMMORTALITY.

Is it to be personal? Will our bodies be resurrected? Is there a Hell or a Heaven? What relation has life here to future life? Will we know each other then?

VARSITY RAN OVER THE FROSH.

Yearlings, Using Washington Formations, Couldn't Hold Aggies.

With a new set of plays, the shifts and passes used by the Washington university of St. Louis, the freshmen were unable to penetrate the Varsity defense for any substantial gains in the scrimmage last night.

Johnny Clarke, "Pete" Placek and Leo Placek were out of the Varsity line-up, but the substitutes were going good, and scored upon the freshmen at will. The Aggie secondary defense is improving every day, especially in blocking and tackling, and showed up well against the freshmen, who were using the plays that Washington will use next Saturday.

The substitutes last night showed Coach Clevenger that he did not have to depend upon just eleven men as he did at Missouri. Bogue at left half played a hard and fast game, and his line plunging was especially good.
 Fairman at fullback made several good gains and did some first-class blocking and tackling. "Pete" Hixson ran the team at quarter, and got away good. "Pete" is fast, heady and carries the ball well. With some training, he should make a good man to follow up Johnny Clarke.

 ciation were placed in the division of "hikes," basket ball, tennis, swimming,

 was elected hike manager, Lucile Harbaugh, basket ball manager, Betty Cotton, tennis manager, Eva Wood, swimming manager, Sadie Maude Douglass, hockey manager, and Velma Carson field and track association will be chosen later.

Attendance at the meetings of the association will be required for the continuation of membership, the absence from three in succession meaning suspension. The athletic managers will meet Thursday at 5 o'clock to arrange the work for each division for this semester.

Why Do We Sell Nettleton Shoes?

Because everywhere in the shoe world we heard such phrases as these:

"Will wear as long as a Nettleton," "As stylish as a Nettleton," "As well made and well finished as a Nettleton."

"Very well," said we, "if Nettleton Shoes are the standard of quality, we want them for our customers." Experience has justified our decision.

JUST A ROMP FOR AGGIES

WASHINGTON WAS SWAMPED IN 61 TO 0 TRACK MEET SATURDAY.

Piker Line Crumbled Under Charges of Aggie Linesmen and Plunges of Aggie Backs—Hinds Again the Star of the Game.

Clevenger's Wildcats proved that they were as good track men as they were football men in the game with Washington Pikers last Saturday. The game was simply a walkaway for the Aggie congregation of stars, who scored nine touchdowns for a 61 to 0 victory.

Captain Randels and Leo Piatek were both out of the game, Randels because of the ruling of the athletic board that he should be kept out of the valley games until the eligibility question raised by Dr. A. Ross Hill of Missouri is settled, and Piatek because of the injury to his nose that he received in the Oklahoma Aggie game.

The Piker's star halfback and kicker, Rowan, was drafted last Tuesday, but even with about ten men of the type that Rowan was hardly could have withstood the Aggie attack of Saturday. The Wildcats were making good their name from the first whistle, and had the Pikers scared after the first time they hit the line.

Aggies All Were Stars. Every man in the Aggie line-up played a star game. "Heinie" Hinds starred as usual, the little Wildcat doing everything in his power to make the score so one-sided that the Pikers could never look him in the face again and he succeeded remarkably well. Sullivan at right half played a fine game and proved himself to be a hard hitting, shifty, and heady back, the equal of any man on the team when he holds to the old pigskin.

Johnny Clarke saw the rest of the backfield going down the field time and again, so Johnny decided that they were getting too much fun out of the game and that he was being cheated. Whereupon, Johnny took the ball unto himself quite regularly after that and proved a consistent ground gainer as well as an unusually steady quarterback. Nate Harwood was the other member of the Aggie quartet that made the Pikers sing a long doleful tune every time the ball was snapped. A good many times during the game Nate hit some Piker secondary defense man, and just carried him along for about four or five extra yards before deciding to stop.

Enlow Developing Fast. When it comes to mentioning individual playing, some mention must be made of Charlie Enlow. Charlie has been trying for three years now to make the team, and has succeeded with a vengeance. He is out there every game, and playing a game that will make him a candidate for the other Missouri Valley end position along with "Cap" Randels. But if each individual star were mentioned, a couple of paragraphs would be devoted each to Piatek, Roda, Ayo, Gates, Whedon, and Key, with the main emphasis on the playing of Roda and Whedon.

The Aggies scored 28 points in the first quarter, it taking just five minutes for them to carry the ball across the goal line after receiving the kick-off. Harwood carried the ball over, Clarke kicked out to Sullivan, and then kicked goal. The next one came in seven minutes, Sullivan carrying the ball this time, and Clarke again kicked goal. The next touchdown came when the Pikers tried to kick out of danger, Key blocking the kick and receiving it across the Piker goal line. Again Clarke kicked goal. Taking the ball on the kick-off, "Heinie" Hinds made a sensational run of 80 yards, to the Washington 15-yard line, where he lost the ball on a fumble. The Pikers were held and had to kick. Then the Aggies took the ball and in a few downs sent Sullivan across the goal line. Clarke kicked out to "Heinie" and then Clarke came out and kicked goal.

The second quarter was just about the same kind of a walkaway, only the Aggies just scored 20 points. Hinds scored the first touchdown. Then Johnny Clarke trifled with the Washington boys long enough to make a counter, but "Heinie" missed

THEY HEARD THE TIGERS WAIL.
Former Aggie Bandmen Congratulate Coach Clevenger.

The vocal efforts of the Missouri Tiger when that worthy's tail was twisted in Columbia October 13, were heard in Philadelphia, Pa., where the First Regiment Band, Marines, formerly the Aggie cadet band, is stationed. This telegram was received last week from the bandmen: "Coach Clevenger: 'The Aggie marine band at Philadelphia send their congratulations to the team upon their recent victory over the Missouri Tigers. We are still backing the team. Will we beat K. U., Yes.'"

CO-ED COUNCIL TO MEET

Sports Managers Asked to be at the Gymnasium Thursday.

There will be a meeting of the council of the girls' Athletic association Thursday at 5 o'clock in the gymnasium office. The managers of the various sports elected at the last meeting are also asked to attend.

NEW SCHEDULE FOR DEBATE

Oklahoma Aggies on This Year's List for the Men Students.

A change has been made in the debating schedule this year. The men of the college will debate the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college, and the girls will debate in the triangular with Ottawa and Washburn.

The debating contract with the Kansas State Normal expired last year, and the debating council substituted the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college. The Oklahomans will send a team here to debate against the Aggies, but will not require us to send a negative team to meet them on their own floor.

Girls of the college will begin work on debate at once. The girls triangular debate between the Agricultural college, Ottawa and Washburn will be held before Christmas.

The question to be debated is, "Should the United States adopt a system of responsible cabinet government?"

The same question will be the subject of the discussion in the men's pentangular debate next spring. The schools in the pentangular are the Kansas State Agricultural college, Washburn, Ottawa, Baker and the College of Emporia.

"This is a good, live, instructive question," thinks J. G. Emerson, head of the department of public speaking, "because it will involve a comparison between the leading forms of representative government."

All girls who made the debate squad try out last spring, will be eligible for the triangular squad, says Don L. Burk, debate coach.

CLASSES IN HOCKEY MEET

Girls Will Battle for Championship After Tryouts.

"Shinney on your own side!" Shinney season is here but for the girls interested in the outdoor sport here it takes the form of field hockey. Tryouts for the four class teams will be held this week under the supervision of Miss Ethel Loring, girls' athletic director.

In field hockey eleven players are needed on each team and representation is needed from each class at once in order to prepare for the fall tournament. Try-outs will be held on the following days. Seniors, Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock; Juniors, Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock; sophomores, Wednesday at 5 o'clock; Freshman, Friday at 5 o'clock.

Findley Now a Sergeant. P. L. Findley, former student in animal husbandry, who is now stationed with the national army at Camp Funston, Texas, has received a promotion as sergeant in the field artillery.

Will Give an Exhibit. The instructors in the home arts department are contemplating an art exhibit some time in the near future.

K. U. COMING 1000 STRONG

JAYHAWKERS WANT BLOCK OF 400 SEATS TO BEGIN WITH—MORE LATER.

Athletic Office has been Beseiged by Football Fans Who Want to Purchase Tickets Early—Seats to Go on Sale Tomorrow.

One week from Saturday, when "Stiff" Randels' good right toe sends an oval-shaped pig-skin whirling off a mound of dirt—K. S. A. C.'s first shot at K. U.—the Aggie gridiron will be packed as 'twas never packed before. With the game ten days off, the orders and inquiries that have poured into Coach Clevenger's office have indicated that this year's Homecoming Day crowd will break all Aggie records.

As a starter, W. O. Hamilton, K. U. athletic director, has asked for a "block of 400 seats 'to begin with,'" as Mr. Hamilton puts it. Besides the 400 that Mr. Hamilton is sure will come, there will be the Kansas band of 40 pieces and both the Varsity and freshman football teams, which probably will swell the initial contingent of Jayhawkers close to the 600 mark.

That there will be many, many more than 600 Kansas students here is the belief of K. U. authorities, but Mr. Hamilton wanted to make sure of his 400 block before ordering other seats. In addition to the students who will buy reservations in the Kansas section, there will be the usual number of Jayhawkers who will have reservations with Manhattan friends and fraternity brothers, in addition to the large number of alumni.

The seat sale probably will begin Wednesday morning, from which time "Germany" Schulz will be kept busy dealing out the reservations. Seats will be marked off and numbered some time next week, and each reserved seat ticket will call for a chair or a seat on the grounds.

Because of the large number of inquiries which have been received, the athletic board probably will meet this morning to make arrangements regarding the seating. Plans probably will also be made as to what functions will accompany the annual Homecoming Day.

A meeting of the "pep" committee has been called for tonight. Plans for the entertainment of the huge throng of alumni and visitors expected probably will be taken up.

MUST ADVERTISE ALL THE TIME

Spasmodic Publicity Will Not Do, Journalist Says.

"Advertising, like medicine, should be taken regularly or not at all," declared Roy F. Bailey, manager of the Salina Evening Journal, who addressed the students of journalism in seminar Monday.

"It is good business to give a preferred rate to the business man who uses the paper every month in the year," continued Mr. Bailey. "Our theory is that the man who uses the paper regularly should not pay as much as the man who uses our columns but once a year. We have to maintain the paper 311 days in order that he may use it the once."

McFADDEN A DISTRICT AGENT

Position in West Central Kansas Pays Aggie Graduate $1,320 Yearly.

Cecil L. McFadden, '17, has received an appointment as assistant district agricultural agent of west central Kansas. Mr. McFadden will receive a salary of $1,320 a year. He will act as assistant to P. E. Crabtree, district agricultural agent of that district. The district comprises Rush, Ness, Scott, Lane, Wichita and Greeley counties. The office and headquarters are at Scott City.

This work is promoted by the United States department of agriculture and extension division of the college. The work is practically the same as is carried on by the county agents, but extends over a larger territory.

ARE REAL RED CROSS NURSES

TWO INSTRUCTORS HAVE REGULAR CLASSES.

Mrs. L. D. Bushnell and Mrs. R. I. Throckmorton Have Teachers' Certificates.

Teachers certificates for Red Cross surgical dressings work have been received by Mrs. L. D. Bushnell and Mrs. R. I. Throckmorton. They are the only persons in Manhattan who are permitted to wear the Red Cross, being fully certified teachers.

They have classes Thursday and Friday afternoons at the Red Cross headquarters down town. In these classes the work may be done as volunteer work for making supplies, or the lessons may be taken regularly for the purpose of securing a certificate. The wives of faculty members or students whose work is conveniently arranged will be welcomed in these classes.

It has become necessary for all those who took the course in the summer months to make a new box of samples before being granted their certificates. Because of a difference in the methods and materials of the French and American surgeons it was necessary to change many of the dressings made heretofore in order that they might be used on the battle fields of France by either French or American surgeons.

Only the compresses are exactly as they were before. The three-yard roll differs only in that it is now wound tightly. In general the size of the dressings has been increased.

It has taken some time for the surgeons to standardize the work so that the supplies made here will be the same as those made in the other allied countries. The dressings made by the girls at K. S. A. C. will be equally as useful in the field hospitals of France whether the surgeon using them is French or American.

"STIFF IS ELIGIBLE"

DEAN JARDINE SUBMITS THE EVIDENCE IN THE RANDELS CASE.

A SOUTHERN KANSAS ONCE

Former Eureka College Meant in Valley Rule Book, Jardine Shows.

Institution Mentioned Was Merged With the Public Schools in 1913.

SOUTHWESTERN COLLEGE NEVER IN

Attempts by Aggie Representatives to Have Moundbuilders Placed on Accredited List Failed—no Missouri Protest to Aggie Board Yet.

Although Captain "Stiff" Randels did not appear in the Aggie lineup against Washington Saturday, the athletic board is just as certain now as before that the Aggie leader is eligible, according to Dean W. M. Jardine, acting chairman of the board.

The decision of the board Saturday noon not to play Randels was purely a safety move, Dean Jardine says. Washington was temporarily given the benefit of the doubt because if the one chance in a hundred that Randels was ineligible were true, it would be an injustice to the Pikers to play "Stiff," and also because it was thought that Randels would not be needed.

The newest light on the subject is brought out in a letter sent to Prof. E. W. Beyer, Ames, Iowa, who is chairman of the eligibility committee by Dean Jardine Saturday, following a short called meeting of the athletic authorities.

Not "Southern Kansas."

The charges of Dr. A. Ross Hill of Missouri were based on the facts that the name "Southern Kansas" in the list of Kansas colleges on the valley accredited list really meant Southwestern college. This statement Dean Jardine refutes by showing that previous to 1913, Southern Kansas college was in existence at Eureka, and at that time it was fused with the public schools system. Southwestern college has borne the same name since 1885, when it was founded.

The eligibility committee, composed of Professor Beyer, Prof. Murry of Kansas university, and Prof. W. E. McCourt, of Washington university, who wired Dean Jardine Saturday protesting the playing of Randels in the Washington game, will act upon the evidence sometime this week, it is hoped.

It develops in Dean Jardine's letter that no protest has yet been made to the Aggie athletic board by the University of Missouri, as is required by the valley rules.

Dean Jardine's letter follows: "Dear Professor Beyer:

"Referring to the matter of the eligibility of Randels to play in Missouri Valley Conference games, the Athletic Board of the Kansas State Agricultural College wishes to file a statement with the Eligibility Committee of the Missouri Valley Conference.

"On Saturday, October 13, at Columbia, Missouri, a half hour before the game began between our team and that of Missouri University, Professor Meanwell, Athletic Director, University of Missouri, showed our Coach Clevenger some correspondence with someone whose name is unknown to us, at Winfield, Kansas, making the statement that Randels had played on the Southwestern team for two years and was therefore ineligible to play in the Conference this year, according to the rule of the Conference.

Professor Meanwell made no protest at that time. Five minutes before the whistle blew, Dr. Hill made a verbal protest through Meanwell to Clevenger. Since our Athletic Board had considered the eligibility of Randels early in the season and decided that he was eligible to play, according to the information and facts at hand, Professor Clevenger held that he was within his right to play Randels in the

The students directory for 1917-18 is expected to be issued by the first of November. The directory is being edited by C. M. Barringer, junior in agronomy, and C. W. Hestwood, senior in industrial journalism.

The directory itself is complete and the work of soliciting advertising is progressing rapidly. The first proof of the directory will be submitted to the registrar for her approval before it is printed.

"A special feature of the directory this year," said Mr. Barringer, "will be a section set aside for telling interesting facts about the college. We are trying to put out a bigger and neater book and hope it will be useful to students and faculty."

INTO LIBERTY BOND DRIVE

STUDENTS AND FACULTY HAVE SEPARATE MEETINGS TOMORROW.

Efforts Will Be Made to Equal the Record Established by the College When the First Liberty Loan Was Floated Last Spring.

Two Mass Meetings Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Faculty meets in old chapel, students meet in auditorium. No classes at eighth hour.

These all-college, all-professor "pep" meetings will be held Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of promoting the sale of Liberty Bonds. "There will be no effort at undue pressure to influence the sale of the bonds," says Prof. J. E. Kammeyer, who has charge of the arrangements, "but an attempt will be made to show that it is the duty of each one to stand for Uncle Sam to the extent of his financial ability and to be honest about it."

"Whether the students or faculty members expect to buy or not, the presence of each one is expected and desired. All eighth hour classes have been excused by President Waters so that both meetings may be fully representative and true mass meetings."

President Waters will speak at both the meeting of the faculty members and that of the students. There will be other speakers from town and college who are especially interested in the sale of Liberty Bonds and who will present the chance to aid the government as the patriotic duty. President Waters is extremely anxious that the college responds as well at this call as it did at the time the First Liberty Bond was floated last spring.

J. E. Kammeyer, professor of economics is one of the members of committee of five appointed to promote the sale of Liberty Bonds in Manhattan.

TWO CHANCES FOR WAR WORK.

"Those who can't fight in the trenches, can fight with their money and their hearts."

That slogan of Uncle Sam's applies this week to every Aggie student, for there are two patriotic enterprises that should enlist every patriot in the colleges.

One of the chances for service is presented by the Liberty Loan. There are only a few Aggie students who can buy a $50 or a $100 bond outright. The rest of us have not the ready cash to make the purchase. But probably a majority of the students, if they once made up their minds to do it, could pay $5 monthly installments on a $50 bond without being financially embarrassed. The $5 could come from the money usually spent in amusements, or it could be added by "dad" to the allowance usually sent from home, and then be invested in the loan.

At the student mass meeting tomorrow, plans for the payment of bonds on the installment plans will be explained.

The other branch of war work involves the women students. Nearly 500 have already enlisted in the Patriotic League, and many of these have signed the pledge to devote an hour or so a week to making surgical dressings for soldiers. Later, the girls will have knitting classes, and the enrollment in this division probably will be as great as in the others.

Almost any student can choose one of the two means of helping win the war, if he will. Will he?

There's nothing like making good use of a man who is in the public eye. "Stiff" Randels' name is used in three Collegian "top head" stories this edition.

WRITTEN BY A FRESHMAN

Identity Unknown.

Extract from a missive to K. U.—
"This is to let you know that one untamed wildcat is waiting for your little jayhawk. You must hatch out a few jayhawk eggs, so you won't run out of the tribe next year, for the present generation certainly will not live any longer than November 3."

This proves that even if the upperclassmen do look down upon, laugh at, paddle, and otherwise misuse the freshmen, they usually are the greatest enthusiasts for the varsity football team.

The reason is, that all good freshmen (which means all of them) go to Sunday school, and there they learn the phrase, "Love your enemies."

However, he loses most of that love when he goes "Down That Long, Long Trail."

But the other night, we almost lost all our confidence in the freshmen,
when a pep-meeting speaker said,
"Don't let me hear anyone braying like a mule calling for its mamma."
We actually heard a freshman Bray out loud.

How cute the freshmen girls would look in freshman caps, but what about the padding?

If any uninformed upperclassman wishes to know why he is here, he should consult numerous freshman rhetoric themes on "Why I came to College."

Missouri-Aggie game. No formal protest has yet been made to our Athletic Board of the University of Missouri.

"At 10:00 A. M. today, October 20, a night letter was delivered at this office from Professor W. E. McCourt, St.
Louis, Missouri, making formal protest against Randels' playing in the game today with Washington University. We are attaching a copy of this night letter.

"Through respect for Professor Mc-Court's protest and his statement that Professor Beyer had declared Randels to be ineligible, we will not play Randels today, and we shall not play him again until the matter has been acted upon by the Eligibility Committee of the Missouri Valley Conference.

"The protest against Randels' playing seems to be upon the basis that, quoting from Professor McCourt's message, "Southern Kansas as listed under Kansas Colleges on page ten of the Missouri Valley Handbook should read Southwestern Kansas."

"When our Athletic Board decided that Randels was eligible to play in the Missouri Valley Conference games, it based its action upon the fact that the name of Southwestern does not appear in the list of classified institutions in the official handbook of the Missouri Valley Conference in the same way that the names of Haskell and St.
Marys do not appear—institutions fully the equal of Southwestern. The Athletic Board was also aware of the fact that Southwestern had no athletic standing within the state during the time that Randels played with that institution. Southwestern has no athletic standing yet in the Missouri Valley Conference.

"Regarding the question as to whether Southern Kansas should read Southwestern Kansas in the handbook, we wish to state these facts.
Southwestern is an institution located at Winfield, Kansas, and has been in existence since 1885. Southern Kansas was an educational institution located at Eureka, Kansas, until 1913 when it was combined with the city school system.

"We are within our technical rights in playing Randels and we believe we are within our moral rights. As we stated before, we are not playing him today through respect for the formal protest filed by Professor McCourt.
We wish to have the approval of the Eligibility Committee before playing him again. We ask therefore that prompt action be taken in the matter.

"In conclusion, we wish to state that it is not the fault of this institution that the name of outwestern does not appear in the official handbook of the Missouri Valley Conference. Our members have raised the question several times, even before the Eligibility Committee of the Missouri Valley Conference, as to what institution was meant by "Southern Kansas," as Mr.
Murray and Mr. Manley will probably remember. In May, 1917, when the Eligibility Committee requested us to file with them a correct statement of the institutions of Kansas, we stated that so far as we knew, there was no Southern Kansas institution and that we believed Southwestern should be included. This information is not in the hands of the Committee. We also mentioned the matter verbally at the Conference meeting at Ames in May.

"The Athletic Board of this institution will appreciate an early decision as to Randels' eligibility by the Eligibility Committee of the Missouri Valley Conference.

"Very truly yours,
"W. M. JARDINE,
"Acting Chairman Athletic Board."

The Aggies chances for a valley championship team never looked better. An all victorious team seems a probability now.

Saturday's results show that Ames defeated Missouri, 15 to 0. This means that Missouri is out of the race for good, and will have no comeback at the Aggies as they probably would have done, had they won all the rest of their games. The fact that Ames beat the Tigers 15 points on the Ames field, indicates that the Aggies will have a tough battle with Ames, but not that the Ames team is one bit superior to the Aggies. In fact, the Aggies should have scored at least 15 points against Missouri at Columbia, and would have done more than that had the game been at Manhattan.

Kansas defeated Washburn 32 to 2, but Washburn has already been beaten by several small teams in the Kansas conference, which indicates that Washburn does not hold anything in the way of a football team, so the K. U. score against them is nothing unusual, and does not indicate any great strength of the Jayhawk crew.

Notre Dame was defeated by Nebraska, 7 to 0. Nebraska undoubtedly has an excellent team, but they play only two valley games, whereas the Aggies play four. A better line can be obtained on the Nebraska power when the Huskers play Missouri and Kansas. Even if Nebraska wins her games with Missouri and Kansas, the Wildcats have more than an even chance to beat K. U. which would tie the score. If the Aggies win four valley games, and the Huskers only two, it stands to reason that the Aggies have a better claim to the valley championship.

The Aggie game yesterday, even with Captain Randels and Leo Ptacek out of the line-up, showed that the Aggies had a versatile attack that crushed the Pikers at every play, and also they possessed two sets of backs that were about on a par. The Pikers were easy, but they are a valley team, and winning from them helped the Aggie morale and prestige. Then let's every one get behind the Aggies, and pull for a valley championship. It can be done, and this year's team is the one to do it.

The Parisian Cleaners have opened their new up-to-date cleaning shop at 1214 Moro St., Aggieville. Prompt service and best quality of work guaranteed. Phone 649.

the kickoff, and the Wildcats only got six points for their efforts. The next touchdown came when "Heinie" Hinds took a Washington pass on the Washington 37 yard line, and went over for a score. This time Clarke kicked goal.

Pikers Braced in Third.
In the third quarter the Aggies played all around the Piker lads, but just couldn't seem to score. They gained 115 yards to the Piker's 25 yards. After 3 downs, the Pikers kicked for 40 yards, and recovered the ball on on Johnny Clarke's fumble. Then they tried a place kick from the 30-yard line, but missed. This took up a lot of time, so much, in fact, that the Aggies didn't have time enough to count.

In the fourth quarter, Hinds took the ball for a sensational 50-yard run, after which Johnny Clarke took the ball over for a touchdown, and then kicked goal. The last score came when Fairman went over for a touchdown. When Clark kicked out, however, Hobe Fairman became nervous and after catching the ball placed it on the ground. The Pikers immediately blocked the kick, and the final score read Aggies, 61; Washington U., 0.

NOTES ON GAME.
Bogue at right half and Fairman at full both showed up exceptionally well, and made gain after gain through the Piker line. They both hit hard and ran low.

The Aggie line opened up hole after hole for the backs. The plays through center over Aye had especially good holes. Aye is playing a good game of ball at center.

Captain Kling and Foelsch for the visitors showed up best, Kling making quite a few flashy tackles.

The Aggies were only forced to kick three times. Once Johnny Clarke kicked 40 yards, the next time 15 yards, and the next attempt was blocked by one of the Aggie men, a Piker falling on the ball.

GERALDINE FARRAR AS JOAN OF ARC HERE SOON

Based on the life of the immortal Joan of Arc, a motion picture production in 11 parts entitled "Joan the Woman," directed by Cecil B. DeMille, with Geraldine Farrar in the role of Joan, will begin a two days' engagement at the Wareham theater Tuesday, October 23.

There is a certain timeliness about the story of Joan of Arc, as it has been reported frequently from France that public interest in the Maid of Orleans never was so keen as at the present moment. Although the story of "Joan the Woman," written for the screen by Jeanie Macpherson, has been carefully guarded, it is said that Mr. DeMille and Miss Farrar have touched upon this feature of modernism in relating one of the most fascinating stories of mediaevalism.

Ford Is Transferred.
A. L. Ford, '15, extension entomologist, has been transferred to research work with the federal bureau of entomology. He will be located at Wellington.

KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1917.

WATERS' PLEA SOLD BONDS

STIRRING WORDS OF PRESIDENT AROUSED STUDENT AUDIENCE WEDNESDAY.

Many Aggies Applied for Bonds at End of Special Mass Meeting to Promote Sale of Liberty Bonds—Fraternalities Buy.

Speaking with an earnestness that drove home the duty of each "stay-at-home" during the war, President Waters aroused student patriotism at a high pitch Wednesday afternoon at a special mass meeting in the auditorium. The result was a large subscription by college students to the Second Liberty Loan of 1917.

Just how many bonds were bought by students and faculty is not known, nor can it be estimated, for Prof. J. E. Kammeyer, in charge of the college campaign, instructed each student to see his local banker, where he could make arrangements to buy the bonds on the installment plan.

Doctor Waters' talk was judged by many the best speech ever made from the auditorium stage. The president began his talk in low tones that could hardly be heard above the usual scraping of feet and other noises, but he had said only a few words before his quiet tones were heard throughout the audience. Students leaned forward in their seats to absorb some of the speaker's earnestness.

Students Now, Fighters Soon.

Much of President Waters' appeal was to the men students, many of whom, he predicted, would see service in the trenches before the war was over. The present duty of these students, he said, was to provide money for the equipping of the Allies now, that the war might speedily be ended, and that America's man power might not be wiped out.

One striking statement made by Doctor Waters, the expression of the belief that the cause of democracy would have been lost had America not entered the war. This was the sentiment of many of the men highest in the Allied conference, he said. With France's man-power and resources exhausted, with England at her best, and ready to decline, and with Italy without coal and other necessities, Germany would win if she could not hold her own.

Holton and Emerson Talked.

Prof. E. L. Holton and Prof. J. G. Emerson, who preceded Doctor Waters, both drew graphic pictures of what might have been had America not declared war on autocracy.

Professor Holton told of German atrocities in Belgium and in France, where horrors were committed on women, children and old men. Professor Emerson has spent the past year in the East, and brought back much of the martial spirit of that section of America, where, it is said, more interest is shown in the war than Westerners have felt.

Doctor Emerson, like Doctor Waters, showed that the battle-line as it now stands is favorable to the United States.

Will Spend $1 Billion.

The present Liberty Loan for $3 billion is only a starter of the fund that America must raise, figures presented by Doctor Emerson showed. America plans to spend $1 billion. Of this, 12 billions will be spent the first year. To keep from running Uncle Sam hopelessly in debt without funds, America must oversubscribe and "give 'til it hurts," Professor Emerson said. The cost of running this war was seven times that of the Civil war, the speaker brought out.

At the close of the meeting, those who wished to buy bonds were asked to remain to receive applicants, and nearly a third of the audience, which nearly filled the lower floor of the auditorium, remained.

TWO FRATERNITIES BUY BONDS

Chi Omegas and Sigma Nus Show Their Patriotism.

Two Greek-letter organizations were among the purchasers of Liberty Bonds yesterday. The Chi Omega sorority, besides buying a $50 bond, had many girls soliciting subscriptions. The Sigma Nu fraternity is the other Greek-letter organization among the purchasers.

The Sigma Nu fraternity at Ohio

State college, by purchasing a Liberty Bond, started a campaign that resulted in nearly every organization in college falling in line, according to a recent issue of the Ohio State Lantern.

DRAMATIC CONTEST IS OVER.

Judges are Picking "Man on the Box" Players.

The last try out for the "Man on the Box" was held Thursday evening but the judges have not decided upon the final cast. A list of those who have been given parts will appear in Tuesday's Collegian.

"The material for women's parts has been of exceptional quality and many good people have been eliminated because there are only four parts," said Dr. J. G. Emerson, who is one of the judges. There are only 15 places to be filled and approximately 50 persons have tried out.

PLAN ANOTHER POP NIGHT

Y. W. C. A. TO PRESENT EVENING OF ORGANIZATION STUNTS.

Cup Won Last Year by the Kappas Will be Prize Given this Year's Winners.

Aggie Pop night will be December 12. That is the night the Y. W. C. A. gives the fraternities, literary societies, and other college organizations an opportunity to exercise their ingenuity.

Seven stunts, each 12 minutes in length will be presented to the college public by the organizations who are chosen at the preliminary try outs. Out of town judges will pass upon the stunts for beauty, originality and presentation and the winner will be presented with the silver loving cup which the Y. W. C. A. board has given for the winner of Aggie Pop night to hold for a year, or until another organization has won the prize. The winner's name must be engraved upon the cup. The Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority won the cup last year when they presented the stunt, "Fantastic Fancies of Fan Follies."

The preliminary try outs which are open to every college organization will be held November 20. A committee from each contesting body will present plans for their stunt to a local committee of faculty members who will choose the stunts which they consider to be the best seven to be entered in the final contest. Miss Machir will be chairman of the decision committee.

This is an annual affair put on by the Y. W. C. A. Besides the seven stunts a faculty committee will plan an eighth and their will be some kind of entertainment between every act. Admission will be 25 cents.

Each girl in the largest class in surgical dressings must have a flatiron with which to work. Only a few have been collected and students are requested to make an effort to bring some to the association office this week.

UP TO VALLEY SCHOOLS NOW

RANDELS EVIDENCE IS IN HANDS OF ATHLETIC REPRESENTATIVES.

Chairman of Valley Eligibility Committee has Mailed Statement to Chairman of Each Schools Athletic Board.

The fate of "Stiff" Randels, against whom protests of ineligibility have been lodged by the University of Missouri and Washington university, is in the hands of the athletic representatives of the valley institutions.

Dean W. M. Jardine received a letter yesterday from Prof. E. W. Beyer, of Ames, who is chairman of the valley eligibility committee. Prof. Beyer said that he had transmitted the evidence in the case to each valley school. A copy of the letter also was mailed to Dean Jardine, although the Aggies will have no vote in the case. The letter will not be made public until after the decision in the case.

No time has been set for the decision. However, it is thought that the question will be settled by the first of next week at the latest, and possibly the latter part of this week.

Dean Jardine, who also is president of the valley conference, has issued a "ruling" that Randels is eligible, as reports in many newspapers have stated. It is not known how the report that the Aggie athletic representative had rule on his own cause, was started. Local representatives of the papers in which the story was printed know nothing of its origin, they say.

Mr. Jardine, as chairman of the Aggie athletic board, wrote Professor Beyer of Ames last week, refuting the statements of the protesters that Southern Kansas college, as listed in the valley handbook, and Southwestern college, which is not on the accredited list, are the same. This was the letter which was reproduced in the last issue of The Collegian. It probably was a misinterpretation of this letter that caused the mistake.

EDNA CHAPIN TENNIS CHAMP

Martha Baird Eliminated in Finals of Co-ed Series.

The final match of the girls' tennis tournament was played off Wednesday afternoon, leaving Miss Edna Chapin undisputed claim to the championship title. Miss Chapin won from Martha Baird with a score of 6-3, 6-1.

The match between Miss Chapin and Miss Baird was looked forward to as both have won from all opponents with easy scores. Miss Baird won from her opponent in the semi-finals, Marie Johnston, 6-1, 6-1 and Miss Chapin in the semi-finals had a score of 6-2, 6-1 against Bess Gordon. Miss Chapin met and defeated Sarella Herrick, Marjorie Brown, and Bess Gordon. Miss Baird won from Lyle Hoag, Elizabeth Wadley, Alice Nieman, Ruth Thomas, and Marie Johnston. Forty college girls competed in the tennis tournament this fall.

STAGE A STOCK SHOW SOON

Miniature of the National is Plan of Saddle and Siroloin.

Within the next month, the Jayhawker Saddle and Siroloin club will stage a miniature national stock show in the stock judging pavilion.

The show will consist of a parade in which about 100 fancy stock animals will be shown. The show history of each animal will be given and the winners at various fairs displayed. This will give the student body and visitors an opportunity to realize what the department has accomplished in improving the quality of the stock.

This is the first attempt to perform anything of this kind. It will be an annual event. A part of the proceeds will be given to the American Red Cross fund.

The same organization will hold its annual round up at the domestic science building Monday evening. Cider, doughnuts, and cigars will be served. Speakers will be W. A. Cochel, J. R. Thompson, A. M. Paterson, Ray Gatewood, L. J. Horlacher, Jay Lush, and Dr. C. W. McCampbell.

BEGIN CLASS FOOTBALL SERIES.

The "Vets" have been organized for more than a week, and are reported to be strong—as boosters, at least. This is the first game of the new system of football for the students, as proposed by E. A. Bauer, director of intramural sports, and is expected to attract much interest among the students.

It is known for certain that the "Ags" and the Engineers will have scouts out to report upon the relative strength of the two teams.

BUT THE COLLEGE HAS COAL

ENOUGH TO LAST A MONTH, SAYS DEAN POTTER.

Manhattan Coal Yards are Without a Pound of Fuel—State Situation is Very Critical.

With all of Kansas facing a coal famine, the college has plenty of fuel. That was the statement made last night by A. A. Potter, dean of the division of engineering.

"We have plenty of coal on hand now to last for a month, and with new shipments coming in every day, we have no reason to fear a famine," Dean Potter said.

Three years ago a fuel famine decreased the coal supply, and for a time college had to be dismissed because heat could not be obtained to warm the class-rooms. The college's supply, however, comes from the state's mines, and there is little probability that classes will be dismissed any time this year.

Owing to the coal situation in Manhattan, the many organizations of the college have had to worry. There is not a single pound of coal in any of the lumber yards or coal houses of the dealers of Manhattan. The fraternity and sorority houses that do not have enough coal stored away to last through the winter, have special need to worry. A coal famine faces the city of Manhattan.

Promises for relief are vague. The fuel administration has promised to look into the matter and will do all that is in their power to see that the people of Manhattan and the college will be supplied before the matter becomes really serious.

The Commercial club of Manhattan has interested itself in the situation and has written Governor Capper for assistance in the solving of the problem.

A letter from Governor Capper in reply to a letter from J. C. Jones, secretary of the commercial club asking that action be taken in relieving the coal shortage in Manhattan, states that Emerson Carey, national fuel administrator for Kansas, has been notified and he will do all that is in his power to relieve the situation.

Governor Capper states that officials have known of the shortage in this city and appreciate the difficulty which the city is under.

Mr. Jones is also in receipt of a letter from Mr. Carey, saying that C. M. Brees has been appointed chairman of the fuel committee for Riley county and that he has been ordered to send in a detailed report of the coal situation of the entire county.

CLASS BOOK STAFF CHOSEN

HAZEL MERILLAT WILL EDIT THIS YEAR'S ROYAL PURPLE. SAYS GIBBONS.

Book Will be Issued by the Middle of April and Will be Bigger Than Ever, Although Price Will Remain the Same as in Former Years.

Regardless of wars, the 1918 Royal Purple will be published this year. "Bigger, snappier and better than ever," according to G. C. Gibbons, newly elected business manager of the senior annual. War called John M. (Jack) Boring, the business manager elected last year, and then took A. B. Sperry, the editor. This year an entire new reorganization has taken place, with the following seniors holding positions on the staff:

Hazel Merrillat, editor; Charles Frankenhoff, assistant business manager; W. H. Hiltz, treasurer; W. R. Essie, athletics; Fred Carp, military; Charles Frankenhoff, organizations; Mary Dakin, Frances Kenseater, Francis Slattery, and O. T. Bonnett student activities; Henry Borsland, Herbert Helmkamp, Muri Gann; Margaret Robinson, snapshots; Ira Rogers and Giles Sullivan, advertising; Elwyn DuBois, views; Gladys Spring, beauty section.

Manager Gibbons plans to have the book out earlier this year than before. All copy must be sent to the printers by February 1, and the book probably will be in the hands of students by the middle of April.

Juniors and sophomores will be expected to have their pictures taken at Wolf's studio within the next three weeks. All organization copy must be in by the first of the year, so that all engraving work can be complete before the time specified.

The book will be original from the dedication page to back cover, according to Mr. Gibbons. The beauty section will be handled in an entirely different manner than last year. The selected beauties will be taken to Kansas City for sittings.

There will be scandal galore, too. All that has accumulated during the past four years will be uncovered and given to the public through the pages of the book, it is promised. The snap shots editor asks that every one having interesting pictures had them to him at once.

Economy has been used in the selection of material and paper, and the book will be sold for $2.50, the same price as in past years.

"MILITARY DEPARTMENT NOTES"

Many applications have been received by the military department for places in the second officers' training camp. No man in college is eligible unless he has had at least two years of drill, according to W. B. Wendt, commandant of the military department. The government has asked that 32 men from this college be recommended for this camp.

The next class of provisional second lieutenants at Fort Leavenworth will begin November 15. Almost 2,700 candidates will begin work at this time. This number is nearly as large as the total number of officers in the United States army at the beginning of the war, at which time there were but 3,000.

The military department will have a bugle corps this year, according to W. B. Wendt, commandant of the military department. Twelve new regulation army trumpets have been ordered by the department. Commandant Wendt is desirous of having as many in this division of the cadet corps as possible. Anyone who can blow a bugle or cornet, should enroll. Rex Maupin, chief bugler, will have charge of the corps.

The military department had inspection Monday afternoon to get a line on the uniforms that had been ordered. Commandant Wendt has written the firm that has charge of the making of the cadet uniforms to find out how soon they will arrive.

A new policy of the military department to allow cadets to make up their absences has been arranged for by the commandant. All absences and demerits may be made up on Saturday afternoons beginning at 1 o'clock. For every hour absent from drill one must make up two hours, unless the absence is excused, and then time equal to the time of absence must be made up.

Rifles will probably be issued Monday to the cadet corps, and the cadets will work on the manual of arms and extended order by companies.

WILLARD WATTLES ON WAY

KANSAS POET IS CHAPEL SPEAKER FOR MONDAY.

Poems of His Own Composition Will be Read at Student Assembly.

Willard Wattles, well known as a poet and writer of other types of literature, will speak at the college next Monday. At the student assembly at 11 o'clock he will read a number of his poems and will discuss poetry in the middle west. At 1 o'clock he will speak to the students in journalism and any others who may be interested, discussing the status of democracy in the east and the west, and the responsibility of newspaper men in this connection.

Mr. Wattles has contributed verse and other material to the Independent, the Outlook, the Springfield Republican, the Smart Set, the American Poetry, and other magazines. He is also the compiler of "Sunflowers," a book of Kansas poems, which has had a wide sale, being now in its third edition.

He is a native of Kansas and a graduate of the university, in which he is now a member of the department of English. Previous to entering the faculty there he taught for several years in the Massachusetts Agricultural college at Amherst. While there, he declares he taught a thousand men how to spell "athletics" and "all right."

Mr. Wattles is in much demand as a reader and a speaker. His excellent voice and his interest in the subjects which he discusses appeal strongly to audiences. He is the only Kansas man who is now contributing verse to any great extent to magazines. His work shows a keen appreciation of the middle west and a desire that this part of the country shall realize its ideals. Last summer the Independent published a page article on Mr. Wattles under the title, "A New Voice from the West."

This magazine says of Mr. Wattles: "Back of him spread the wide, blue spaces of Kansas sky, around him roll the endless acres of the west—not the vaudeville west of swearing, manly cowboys, marauding Indians, and herds of stamping cattle—but the new west, the west that gives votes to its women as a matter of course, supports great democratic co-educational universities, bringing culture to the very door of the people, while back of all stands a pastoral sense of the intimate union of labor and the life of thought and art, a simplicity of life consonant with rippling miles of wheat and whole counties of green-bannered corn."

PREVENT WASTE IN COOKERY.

Great Judgment Must Be Exercised in Producing Combinations for Table.

Much unnecessary waste in the home is due to lack of knowledge on the part of the housewife as to how to utilize odds and ends left over from the table, in the opinion of Miss Flora S. Monroe, mgr. of the cafeteria in Kansas State Agricultural college.

Good judgment must be exercised in producing pleasing combinations which will be tempting and appetizing. The most common left overs are meats, vegetables, cake, bread, and fruits.

Left over meats may be utilized by making croquettes, hashes, stews, or scalloped meats, pointed out Miss Monroe. If only a small quantity of meat is left over, various vegetables, such as potatoes, rice, macaroni, or cheese may be combined with it.

It is essential in planning made over dishes to have as great a variety as possible. Variations may be made by using a sauce, such as tomato, or a creamed sauce with meats.

Different combinations of vegetables may be scalloped, made into croquettes, vegetable hashes, creamed vegetables, or used in soups.

Perhaps the most common left over is bread. Many times scraps of bread are thrown away with no thought of trying to use them. Excellent dressing, puddings, and foundations for brown bread can be made from bread scraps. Both bread and cake crumbs after being sufficiently ground, may be used as a partial substitute for flour in making cakes.

Left over fresh fruit may be served as fruit cocktail and the juices used in making gelatines or flavoring sauces for puddings. Stewed fruits, such as prunes, apricots and peaches, make excellent cobbblers.

Let us show you how much we can save you in an overcoat at Miller's Clo. Store.

First Impressions of A Green Jayhawker In Noo Yawk City

By L. R. Hiatt.

To furnish the flour to make the bread used in New York for one day would require the combined average wheat crops from 1000 acres of Kansas land for eight years. The number of school children in New York equal half the entire population of Kansas. The Equitable Life building would comfortably house all of the people of Manhattan, including 3000 college students, and a couple of thousand of guests. If all the people in Kansas were to ride once on the subway at the present rate of traffic, they would all be through in a day and a half.

The famous places of New York which the Kansas hears about are here as advertised. Fifth Avenue has two ends, the upper where the "idle rich" live, and the lower, which contains the shops where they spend their money. Broadway is the most lighted up street on earth. It is a gigantic "move" of fair women, clever electric signs, negro porters, and "grasshopper" two-story busses. Coney Island consists of 640 acres of the most distracting, nerve-racking, confusing, gaudy, noisy, amusement devices on earth. The Statue of Liberty has a rival, and the homesick traveler is now also greeted on his return with "WELCOME. UNEDIDA BISCUIT. BON VOYAGE." Where George Washington stood when he was inaugurated as first president of the United States, the Wall Street "merchants" now daily "paw the air." The Bowery is as represented with its pale-faced, dirty, ragged children, fat old women, babies, fruit and peanut merchants, drunks, dope fiends, saloons, and abundance of odors of doubtful origin.

War has hit New York. Girls now usher in theaters, and elevators, and are soon to start operating street railway cars. Prices on all foods have risen tremendously, and according to some English sailors with whom I recently talked, food prices are higher in New York than in London, where the Kaiser has England "on her knees." Whereas portions of food have decreased universally, it is gratifying to note that no way has yet been found whereby the size of the egg can be reduced. Many of the women seen on Fifth Avenue have cut off more off of both ends of their dresses than usual, though whether this be a war measure or not is not apparent.

Socialists of an extremely radical type are grown here. They are of the "knock 'em down and drag 'em out" variety. Yet, the thing which impresses me more than anything else about New York is the liberality of the City in opening the door of educational and self-help opportunity to the average person. Forty-five public libraries offer the widest range of reading material; five great museums exhibit almost all forms of animal and plant life, land and sea, present and past, as well as the artistic productions of all time of canvas, metal, cloth, wood, and stone; night schools and lecture courses offer various educational advantages free; competent hospital and medical attention and advice are gratis when necessary; free employment bureaus are maintained; etc., etc. In fact, any man or woman with an ordinary stock of health, and unmarried, who doesn't obtain a practical and cultural education in New York City, either doesn't want it, or else hasn't ordinary intelligence.

Miss Eugenia Smith, freshman in home economics, had as her guest for the week end, Miss Helen Brammell of Kansas City, and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sperry of Hutchinson.

Little Man Listens in While Co-eds in Secrecy Tell of Saving Pennies

I am a little fat man sitting on Miss Maude's dresser. Some people call me a bank, but I insist on being a man. I feel it my duty as a man to tell the poor, struggling students, whose father's allowance lacks elasticity to stretch itself over a month, how to save money.

Last night a group of girls trooped into Miss Maude's and my room just as Miss Maude was stuffing seven bright pennies into the top of my head. I must say I was hungry, for I had been without a bite to eat for three days. Those few pennies helped me regain my self respect, for now I could rattle when picked up unceremoniously. I felt so much better that I began paying attention to the apparently interesting conversation.

The girls were talking about saving money. I thought only boys saved money until Miss Maude brought me home from the racket store and kept me stuffed full for three weeks. I gathered from the talk that most girls have little men on their dressers too. Some of them receive starvation wages though. Most of the Miss Maudes, however, have a minimum wage scale for their little men. From 20 to 30 pennies are stuffed down the man every week whether he is hungry or not.

One soft, Jersey-eyed little girl didn't have an important man. She said the best way she found to save money was to send her kodak home. Another girl confidently told that she saved by not buying text books. She uses the reference books in the college library.

That reminded Miss Kitty of her room mates method of spending less. Remembering that her room mate had gone to the show, Miss Kitty volunteered the story herself.

"I heard her tell her cousin," breathed Kitty, "that each year she picked a room mate her own size. Then she saved money on clothes by wearing those of her accomodating room mate."

Pale Miss Louise thought that was fierce. She held that one should save money only for movies. She cut 20 cents off her meals each week to go twice to the show.

Miss Clara was too clever to be forced to such skimping. She created a sunny atmosphere that proved splendid for the luxuriant growth of "dates." "These dates," most save Daddy a ton of hay," declared the coy one. "Then I get the hay turned into a plush coat."

Just then a thundering knock on the door below jarred me and I knew that one of the girls would be called in a minute. Miss Clara hoped it would be a chance to save some of Daddy's hay. All the girls fled to the hall to see which would be the chosen one. They turned out the light and left me alone in darkness. It was in this helpless condition that I was struck with the thought of giving the college students these tried and true methods of hanging on to pennies.

"OLD VAN" IN WYOMING.

J. C. Van Everen, known to hundreds of the older alumni and former students of the college as "Van," is now living near Cody, Wyo., whence he sent the following description of a visit of several Kansas people.

"Across the country on their way to Yellowstone National Park, Carl Miller (Ikey, back stop for the Kansas State Agricultural college ball team in the good old days when they won the games) and his wife, of Belvue, with his brother-in-law, Henry Breyer, and wife of Wamego, motored. In due time they reached Cody, being so dazed by the beauties of the Shoshone canyon, below the big dam, that they stopped at the C. P. Thurmond ranch—Mrs. Thurmond was Emily Van Everen, a former student—to recuperate, for a few days.

"C. P. Thurmond acting as guide, the men of the party went up Trout creek to see some more canyon and mountains. On coming to a large white, 200-foot perpendicular ledge cropping out among the black formation, Carl wanted to know if this rectangular ledge had a name, for it is conspicuous for miles.

"Oh yes," said the guide, "that is Store Front. Daddy Van's daughter, Lucy gave it that name and it has stayed with it ever since."

"At this point they hit the Blind Trail, so called because for years the guide and his brother were the only parties who knew of its existence, having worked it out themselves. It was hard to build as the creek is so narrow, the canyon wall so nearly perpendicular and the timber, too, both ers. The trail is a series of crossings, recrossings, and fording the creek lengthwise. The boys and their guide took the Gorden creek trail. Oh, yes, all the way along in the deep holes, they dropped in their lines. 'sure they caught up trout plenty.'

'At the Gorden creek trail the guide informed them that if they wanted to visit Van's Kamp, they would have to go over the trail across the 'hog-back,' where all preferred to walk instead of ride.

'They then went up some more, to the government trail that goes into Trout creek basin on into Sunlight, and also passes near Van's Camp. Along this trail, though some of the finest timber they ever saw, they wonderingly wound their way saying that they wouldn't have missed this scenery for anything. The private trail that goes to Van's cabin is down, down, several hundred feet but not quite straight, but straight enough to please the boys who landed right in Van's back yard.

'Van was out for his horses at that minute, but soon showed up and called for help to corral his bunch, as he noticed some one coming down the trail.

'The man said, 'You have a fine place here.'

'Van answered, 'You haven't seen it all yet.'

'The party replied, 'I guess you don't know me.'

'Taking a second squint, Van said, 'Yes I do—key. Well, Carl Miller, how are you? My, but I am glad to see you!'

Co-eds Still Fight Over Season Books For Football Games

What about foot ball game dates? "Bought your football ticket yet?" asks a freshman who is looking over her book.

"No, I'm still living in hopes," smiles the other.

"I lived in hopes, too until the last day before the books went up and then I thought I might get left out altogether so here's mine."

The freshman looked a little bit doubtful for she had been told that absolutely no dates were allowed and that the escorts who dared to venture out were tossed in blankets. Think how embarrassing it would be to have one's escort tossed in a blanket. And then too the girls had impressed upon her the necessity of showing the proper college spirit.

"I bought my own ticket before I knew that there were more men here than girls," fussed a junior—"and I know a lot more who did the same thing. We were bound to show as much 'pep' as we could when we thought it was up to the girls."

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOLUME 24. NUMBER 16.

KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1917.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

AGGIES' WAR PLEDGE, $8,000

K. S. A. C. TO RAISE FIFTH OF AMOUNT PROMISED BY KANSAS COLLEGES

Preliminary Plans Are Being Worked Out by Committee of Seven for Big Campaign Which Is To Begin Soon—"Dad" Elliott Makes Plea COLLEGE PLEDGES.

Kansas University	$11,000
K. S. A. C.	8,000
Emporia Normal	3,500
Washburn	2,000
Baker university	1,650
McPherson college	1,500
Hays Normal	1,500
Fairmount college	1,400
PHITSBURG Normal	1,000
Ottawa university	1,000
Southwestern	1,000
Bethel college	1,000
College of Emporia	1,000
Haskell	1,000
Bethany college	850
Kansas Wesleyan	700
Cooper	500
Midland	300
Total	$88,250

Within a short time—the exact date of the campaign has not been decided upon—K. S. A. C. will throw herself into the task of raising $8,000, this school's share of the $40,000 Kansas schools are to raise as their part of a million-dollar Friendship War fund.

The plans for the project were unfolded at meetings held at Topeka on Saturday before 66 delegates from K. S. A. C., the largest number of representatives from any of the schools. When the Aggie men and women had listened to George Sherwood Eddy, who has just returned from General Pershing's camp in France and who has traveled extensively through all the army camps on the western battle fronts of Europe, they set $8,000 as a minimum of the amount K. S. A. C. will give, and promised that the students here would "give 'till it hurts" to relieve the army entertainment situation in Europe.

Schools Pledge $88,250

After the main meeting addressed by Mr. Eddy, the delegates adjourned to Pelletier's tea room, where the colleges reported their pledges. Kansas university's was the largest, the Jayhawk delegation saying that they would place $11,000 as their minimum. Next in line came K. S. A. C. with a $8,000 pledge, and the Kansas State Normal is to give $3,500. The total, with several colleges yet to be heard from, amounts to $88,250.

A. J. (Dad) Elliott, prominent Chicago Y. M. C. A. worker, was the principal speaker at the evening meeting. "Dad's" message was an earnest appeal to college students to do away with frivolity.

Extravagance a Crime

"There may have been a question once as to the morality of spending $50,000 upon one social event, as happened not long since in a middle western college," Mr. Elliott said. "There may have been a question as to the morality of spending $300 for a party dress or even $35. There can be no question now. Such extravagance is a crime in the eyes of God and man."

The K. S. A. C. delegation met during the day, and decided upon a few preliminary plans. Dean J. T. Willard was chairman of the meeting, and was authorized to appoint a committee of two faculty members, two women students and three men to act as an advisory board within the entire committee of 66.

The Advisory Committee

Dean Willard appointed the following committee: Dr. J. R. MacArthur, chairman; Dean Mary Pierce Van Zile, Miss Pauline Richards, Miss Stella Strain, Homer Cross, O. T. Bonnett and Bruce B. Brewer. This committee is to act in co-operation with W. W. McLean and Miss Mildred Inskip, secretaries of the two Christian associations.

He reports that he is busy working among the boys and young men of his county and must now take up the task of raising his apportionment of the $35,000,000 for the Y. M. C. A. work among the armies of the United States and the Allies. His apportionment is $1,500.

AMES DEFEAT A SURPRISE

BUT AGGIES AREN'T DOWNCAST BECAUSE THE JAYHAWKERS WON.

Figures Show That the Lawrence Eleven Did not Gain as Much Ground as the Iowans—Dope Still Favors Purple.

K. U. beat Ames. This is the outstanding upset of dope in the last week's game in the Valley Conference.

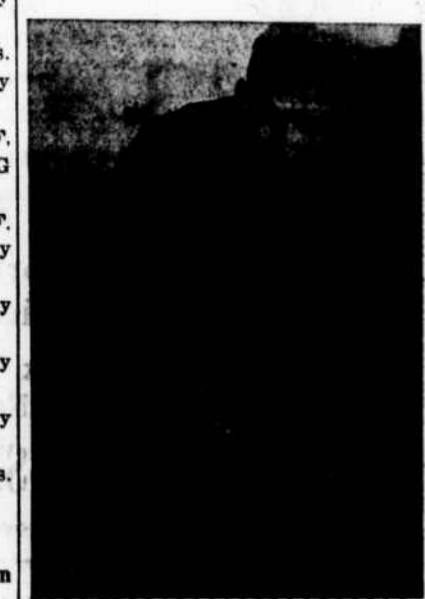

While the Jayhawks beat Ames, the summary sheet of the game shows that the Ames men outplayed the K. U. team. The summary shows that Ames gained 89 yards from scrimmage to 78 for Kansas. Ames made six first downs, while Kansas made only three. In the passing end of the game, K. U. gained 25 yards, completing only one pass out of five.

Tom Pringle, Jayhawker left half back probably will star in the game with the Aggies Saturday. It was Pringle's work that won a Kansas victory over Ames last week.

while Ames gained 70 yards, completing five passes out of fifteen attempts. Ames apparently outplayed the Jayhawkers in every department of the game, and it was only through a lucky forward pass that the Lawrence team counted.

The dope now runs, the Wildcats defeated Missouri on Missouri's home field, 7 to 6; the Ames Aggies defeated Missouri on the Ames field, 15 to 0. It is figured that a team is 25 per cent stronger on its home field than on a foreign field, which puts the Wildcats and Ames on a "Stem" Foster, the Kansas quarterback who will direct the crimson and blue attack Saturday, weighs only 150 pounds, but is speedy.

par. Ames outplayed Kansas, and so the Wildcats have an edge on K. U., when it comes down to hard facts.

In the north, Nebraska was defeated by Michigan, 20 to 0. While Michigan is out of the conference class, it shows that Nebraska can be defeated, and will hearten the valley teams that play against them this year.

Missouri won from Drake, 49 to 0, but a Missouri victory was expected. It is doubtful if Missouri will have any chance to claim the valley title, as it is likely to be settled on the Ahearn field next Saturday, when the Aggies meet the Jayhawks.

MISS CHASE LEADS JOURNALISTS.

Ahead in the Industrialist Contest With 39 Inches to Credit.

Miss Sara Chase, junior in industrial journalism, is in the lead of the industrialist contest with 39 inches to her credit.

C. G. Medlin, sophomore in industrial journalism, stands second with 23 inches, Miss Lillie Lehman, senior in industrial journalism, third with 22.5 inches, Miss Dora Cate, sophomore in industrial journalism, a close fourth with 22 inches, and Henry T. Enns, sophomore, and Miss Ruth B. Henderson, junior in industrial journalism, tie for fifth place with 19 inches.

Twenty-three industrial journalism students are competing in the contest. All indications point toward a close contest as there are only a few inches difference in the standing of the five leading contestants.

Miss Laura Shingledecker has the most acceptable copy to her credit in the industrialist but she is not competing in the contest.

ARE THEY SENIORS, OR NOT?

Upperclassmen Will Know Their Exact Status Soon.

Soon the "Seniors" will all know just how they stand. Notices were posted Friday asking all students who are expecting to receive degrees in June to call at the office of the registrar and fill out cards.

In all there are 230 students enrolled in the college as seniors and so far only 32 have signed up as June graduates. On November 1 the process of checking credits and certifying the right to the title of senior will be begun by Miss Machir.

COLLEGE HAS BLUE-GRAY CALVES

Carload Brought in From Hays to be Used in Experiment.

What is thought to be the only carload of blue-gray calves in existence was brought to the college from the experiment station at Hays last week. They will be used for cattle feeding experiments to be carried on this winter.

The Scotch farmers, the most important producers of beef cattle in the world, show a decided preference for the blue-grays. They are produced from black poled dams and white shorthorn bulls.

TIED IN THE CLASS RACE

"Ags" and "Vets" Each Have Won Their First Contest.

The "Ags" and "Vets" are tied for first place in the inter-division football conference.

The game between the "Ags" and the Engineers on Friday was a good one for the first half, then Burton and Curry of the "Ags" woke up, and commenced to take the ball down the field at will. Burton broke away for some exceptionally good gains.

The Engineers did not get hold of the ball enough to have any offensive star, but Myers and Barnes both played well upon the defensive. The final score was "Ags" 26, Engineers 0.

The "Vet" and General Science game was about the same, the teams playing pretty evenly for the first half, the "Vets" scoring upon a long forward pass. The second half, though, brought about the ruin of the sciences, and the heavy line of the "Vets" opened great holes for the backs. Hinds and Hunt played a star game for the "Vets." Hinds' end runs getting away for long gains. Meeker and Ritter played a good defensive game for the general sciences, and Ritter's tackling saved a good many by stopping the end runs of the "Vets" backs. The final score was "Vets" 25, General Science 0.

SOLDIERS FILLED COM. HALL.

With Relatives and Friends, They Attended Opening of Temporary Quarters.

The soldiers, with their relatives and friends, completely filled the community hall Sunday afternoon. The piano and other musical instruments were kept going by the boys. An immense number of letters were written at the writing desks where stationery is furnished, Father A. J. Luckey, of the training camp activities council says. The hall is proving a great convenience to the soldiers, but is not large enough to accommodate the crowds that will be there, it is said.

AGGIE STAR ELIGIBLE

ELIGIBILITY COMMITTEE FINDS NO BASIS FOR PROTEST AGAINST RANDELS

A BOOST TO AGGIE CHANCES

Prospects of a Missouri Valley Championship Have Risen With Announcement of Committee That Captain's Record Is Clean.

"Eligibility committee has acted in the case of Randels and found him eligible."

That telegram received late last night by Dean W. M. Jardine from Prof. E. W. Beyer of Ames, chairman of the valley eligibility committee, Liked Aggie prospects for a victory over Kansas university materially and put an end to the controversy over the right of the Aggie leader to participate in valley contests.

Apparently the valley board decided, with Dean Jardine, that the "Southern Kansas" mentioned in the accredited list of Kansas colleges, really was not Southwestern college, as Washington university and Missouri officials declared.

Dean Jardine, in a letter last week to Professor Beyer, explained that there once was a Southern Kansas college located at Eureka, but that the institution had been merged with the public schools system. Probably neither Dr. A. Ross Hill of Missouri, nor W. E. McCourt of Washington had heard of the Eureka institution, and both thought they had grounds for a protest, as the Aggie captain played two years at Southwestern before coming to K. S. A. C., where he now is playing his third year.

H. C. L. HITS DAIRY DEPARTMENT.

Will Make No More Ice Cream for the "Dates."

No longer can the students spend their vacant hours eating ice cream at the dairy building. The high cost of living and the war have deprived them of even this pleasure.

Because of the scarcity of sugar and the impossibility of buying it in more than 25-cent lots, it has become necessary to stop making ice cream in the dairy department, for the present at least.

BROWNING'S HAVE PROGRAM

Three Delegates to Topeka College Conference Make Reports.

At the business meeting Miss Lola Sloop, Mrs. Molly Moser, and Miss Ethel Arnold, who represented the society at the War Relief conference at Topeka, reported their trip.

ENGINEERS HAVE STUDY ROOM.

Department Sets Aside Place for Books and Reading.

The engineering division is setting aside a room in the building to be used as a computing room and study for engineering students. George E. Bray, industrial engineer in college extension division, and for several years a teacher in engineering, whose death occurred recently, left many books which will be placed in this room.

RECEIVE PAMPHLET DESCRIPTIVE OF LUTHER CELEBRATIONS.

The Public Library has just received a pamphlet from the Evangelical Information Committee descriptive of the Luther Celebrations commemorating the nailing up of the Ninety-five Theses on the door of the Castle Church at Wittenburg by Martin Luther on October 31, 1517. The quadricentennial of this significant event occurs next Wednesday, which makes a study of the great reformer timely and interesting. The library has books and magazines relating to Martin Luther and his times, and invites use of them. A selection of such books may be found in the lobby.

Mr. F. B. Nichols of Topeka was a guest of R. C. Nichols at the Tri Epsilon house Thursday and Friday.

"SO THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW."

Questions Answered Regarding Staging of Plays by College.

Many people are asking why the college does not put on some of the late plays that are running in the larger cities and are presented by the regular stock companies. The reason is that these plays on the order of "Turn to the Right" for instance, which are being presented now by the larger stock companies are not released for other use until the second or third year out. The only right to stage these plays before they have been released is by getting permission from the author.

ATTEND AMES-KANSAS STRUGGLE.

Four Aggies Motored to Jayhawker town Saturday.

Don C. Borthwick, Ford Haggarty, Don Birkes, and Glen C. Ware motored to Lawrence Saturday to attend the Ames-K. U. football game. From there they went on to Kansas City to join the class of students who are trying out for the stock judging team, which will be sent to the international live stock exposition. The exposition will be held in Chicago sometime the first of December.

PRACTICE NIGHTS AT K. U.

JAYHAWKERS WORK OVERTIME TO PREPARE FOR AGGIE GAME.

Backfield is the Best in Past Three Years, Says Olcott—Line Is Fast.

(By M. P. Wear.)

Lawrence, Oct. 29.—Kansas is in good shape for the Aggie game next Saturday, after winning from Ames in the first conference game of the season. The men are confident that they can win the second contest on the schedule. The Jayhawkers will have a fairly heavy line and a fast and hefty backfield.

Coach Beau Olcott thinks that the backfield is the best that K. U. has had since he started coaching here three years ago. In the line the Kansas mentor has had to develop a fast charging line out of nearly all green material. In spite of this fact, the Jayhawker line is the best charging line in nearly ten years, according to officials who have worked in Kansas contests this fall.

Shinn Called Into Service.

There are only five letter men back in school this fall, one "K" man being lost by being called into the aviation service of the regular army after playing in one game this year. Earl Shinn, who did wonderful work at snagging forward passes at right end last season, was the man to be called into the service of Uncle Sam.

Coach Olcott this season has started the men by sending them against the strong Illinois team first in the season, and then against two more non-conference eleven's which were comparatively weak. The result was two Jayhawker victories and a good practice for the eleven and few injuries.

Team Works After Dark.

The team is fairly heavy this year and the work of the line in the Ames game pleased the coaches, visiting scouts saying that the work of the Kansas forwards was the best they had seen for many years here. The fight the Varsity showed in the Ames game had much to do with the victory.

Practice after dark here is being made possible by the use of huge electric searchlights placed on the field and Coach Olcott expects to drive the players hard this week in preparation for the big Aggie game Saturday.

Change Class Practice Hours.

The schedule for the practice of the class teams in field hockey has been changed and from now on the freshman girls will practice on Tuesday at 5:00 o'clock, sophomores on Wednesday, and juniors and seniors on Thursday.

ARMY MAN IS COMMANDANT

CAPTAIN O'NEILL, U. S. A., IS NEW HEAD OF THE CADET CORPS.

Work Begun This Fall by Acting Commandant Wendt Will Be Continued, Officer Announces—Has Been With Cavalry.

Captain W. F. J. O'Neill, U. S. A., is the new college commandant of cadets. Captain O'Neill arrived Saturday, and has taken over the work begun this year under the direction of W. B. Wendt, assistant professor of applied mechanics, who has been acting commandant.

Captain O'Neill is a graduate of West Point in the class of 1911. He has been an officer in the cavalry branch of the service since his graduation. For the past two years he has been stationed in the Philippines with the 15th Cavalry.

The order detailing Captain O'Neill to have charge of the training of the cadets here was received by him October 22. The detail was something of a surprise, Captain O'Neill says, because of the present scarcity of officers.

Few changes will be made immediately in the make-up of the cadet corps, according to Captain O'Neill.

"Mr. Wendt has a splendid organization here, and so far as I know, the work will remain about as it is at present," the new commandant said yesterday.

Special emphasis will be laid upon the practical side of the work, rather than upon ceremonies. This is in accordance with the plans laid out at the beginning of the year by Acting Commandant Wendt.

"My aim is to whip the corps into shape to regain the title of distinguished institution," stated Captain O'Neill. "We will also try to have a branch of the officers' reserve training corps established here."

DR. BURRIS A. JENKINS.

Fresh from the European trenches, Dr. Burris A. Jenkins, Kansas City minister, is writing and speaking vigorously of conditions in Europe—conditions which Doctor Jenkins says must be remedied immediately if the Allied drives ever succeed. The Jenkins articles were read throughout the nation while the noted writer was in Europe; his speeches are carrying home a deeper meaning now that he is home.

Doctor Jenkins spoke last week to an over-flowing auditorium at the University of Kansas. Upon his return from Europe, thousands were turned away from his church in Kansas City.

A man of the Jenkins stamp would fill the college auditorium jam-full, both of townspeople and of students. A talk from him would be worthwhile.

COMMANDANT WENDT'S WORK.

When W. B. Wendt became acting commandant of the college cadets, he faced the problem of bringing order out of chaos. A new drill period had been decided upon, and plans must be laid out to use the time most advantageously. War had cut into the ranks. Usual organization troubles had to be met, and by a man who had been out of military matters for a number of years.

Mr. Wendt succeeded. The cadet corps, when he handed it over to Captain W. P. J. O'Neill, the new commandant, probably was in the best shape it has ever been in this time of the school year.

Captain O'Neill brings with him the experience of a regular army officer and of a West Pointer. With the start the corps already has under Mr. Wendt, distinguished institution should again be the reward at the end of the college year.

A POST MORTEM.

Missouri Valley athletics received a severe jolt the other day when the eligibility of a Manhattan player was contested shortly after the game with Missouri. We understand the protest came through Missouri and if this is true we must question the sportsmanship of the Missourians.

If any irregularity was noted in the eligibility of the players it should have been corrected before the game. The matter of bringing up the subject after the Tigers fell before the Farmers, seems like holding a post mortem on something that will not alter the score that the Missourians lost by.

The Aggie school has not disputed the fact that the man in question attended the school that the Missourians accuse him of, but they have the conference ruling that that school does not count on the ruling as to the number of years that shall be played in the conference.

The Missourians were a bit hasty in their accusation but it serves as a warning to other Valley schools to be sure of their course before they proceed to raise such a fuss.—Daily Kansan.

INANITY.

We are handed the following advertisement clipped from the Manhattan Daily Nationalist. We hereby absolve ourselves from all blame of originality, at least.

WANTED—Girls for pressing at the Funston wash house.

"How many children did this woman have?"
The instructor asked, asked he;
And the Frosh, with a shrug of intelligent mug,
Made answer—"She had three."

"And when was the daughter born?"
Prof asked,
And his assents spelled refinement;
"Oh, she was born," the freshman said,
"At the end of today's assignment!"

AND HOW DOES THAT TEAM SATISFY YOU?

Q.—I am a frosh who lost my cap and I have had to go through that line forty-seven times. What shall I do to get even?

A.—Since you are still alive, we suggest that you apply for front line duty in Europe. Nothing can kill you.

On the wind in October
Snowflakes start floating
Half inclined to turn to rain,
Somewhat dripping, nipping,
Then the winds swells the timber.

"I've discovered a way to keep a fountain pen from leaking."
"That's so? Let me in, please."

"Forget to put ink in it."

He—"I got a letter from dad today but he didn't send me any 'dough'."

She—"Why do you say 'dough' instead of money?"

He—"Because everybody 'kneads' it!"

THEY SAY OF DOCTOR WATERS

Dr. H. J. Waters, who has for eight years been the efficient president of the Kansas Agricultural college, making that institution the best of its kind in the west, has resigned to accept a position as editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star. His place at the college will not be easily filled but his worth to the state generally will probably be increased by the work he will be able to do through the paper.—Oswego Independent.

Dr. Henry Jackson Waters, for eight years president of the Kansas State Agricultural college, has resigned to become managing editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star. It is understood that his new position will pay a much larger salary than he now receives and will give him opportunity for intensive study of agricultural problems in the middle west. He climbs up another step in honor and usefulness. A weekly paper is always close to the home friends.—Pratt Union.

Off to a Bad Start Speedy Frosh Outran Manhattan Street Car

Freshman are noted for several peculiarities. Some have interesting experiences in regard to dates, others lunge, and some get paddled. Now one more ponderous accomplishment has been added to the category. Last Wednesday a freshman beat a Manhattan street car from downtown.

In the first place, Mr. Freshman tried to catch the car to ride up in the regular fashion, but as the distance between him and the car remained the same, he gradually began to aspire for this certain ambition.

The car started north from Poyntz, the freshman right behind it. Gradually the car began to leave him behind. But having been endowed with freshman pluck, the freshman plugged on. Then the lights in the street car went out, and the stars in the freshman heaven began to bloom.

Mr. Freshman passed the street car on high and turned west toward the Y. M. C. A. However a readjustment must have taken place in the electrical department of said car, and it was gaining fast, in fact it was just about to pass the aforesaid freshman, when an unforeseen incident happened.

If the kind reader will visit the corner on which the Y. M. C. A. is situated, he will find a wire stretched between a couple of trees, which is not extremely plain in twilight. The next is a sad scene. Mr. Freshman is turning two or three somersaults in the air, and is left on the ground, wondering where the clouded skys went to.

However, luck came to his aid, and the car stopped at the next corner to let passengers off, and the freshman's fortunes took a brighter aspect.

Gradually he regained the ground he had lost, and after almost upsetting a woman and a baby buggy and running over a Ford, he passed the street car between the two Aggville book stores.

This is one more accomplishment added to freshman laurels.

Prof. Wore His Boots To Dinner; Members Of Clan Are Shocked

And it came to pass that there was a gathering of the Crumb clan in the fair of one of the Crumbs, And being Crumbs, they gossiped, disseminated much vaporous scandal about their elders and betters, as well as their equals. As for their inferiors, there ain't no such animal as the inferior of a Crumb that gossipeth.

And one of the Crumbiest of the Crumbs was moved to speak in this wise. "I dined (dined is the exact word that I intended to use, Percival, so don't get new with that notebook.) at the College Inn Sunday night, having by the exercise of much care and cunning craft avoided the clutches of my creditors and having preserved the necessary thirty-five cents.

As I entered the front door and essayed to converse a la old friend with cashier, I was almost stunned by a bright light which emanated from the rear of the room. The light was of a peculiar nature, of a rosy tinge, a mellow, golden quality, but bright with exceeding brightness withall.

Half dazzled by the glare, I started back to investigate. When I reached the point where I could get a full and uninterrupted view of the source of the unwanted illumination, I staggered once again. The brilliancy was almost overpowering. It came from the rear of the room, apparently from under one of the tables. Shading my eyes with my hand, and peering close, I was able to observe that the effulgent rays were given off by—Gimme some of that Tuxedo. It sure makes a fellow's throat tired to talk, don't it? What's that? Oh, why one of the newer instructors in the department of satirical significance had just purchased a new pair of high tan boots, army officer pattern, and wore them to dinner outside his trousers.

Fiction, Not Facts, Is Read Most Often By Aggie Students

"Read? When I have four solids and three other recitations a week? I don't read—I study."

"Read? Well when I run out of zoology, organic, economics, psychology and physics, I'll hunt something to do that's different from reading. Tennis and football are to my liking."

These are but two examples of honest responses received by persons attempting to make inquiry of individuals in the body concerning what Kansas State Agricultural college students read. Pay a visit to Fairchild hall, however, and you will be informed by persons in authority there that many students are attempting to keep abreast of the times in their knowledge of subjects not assigned to them.

"Outside of reference work assigned to them, students read more fiction than anything else," commented Miss Grace Derby, assistant librarian. "Next in demand are the essays and then comes, biography. Botany is read least of all."

In choosing books of fiction, students show their appreciation of things American by selecting books of American authors. Most popular among these authors are Owen Johnson, O. Henry, Margaret Deland, Winston Churchill and Rudyard Kipling.

Late books on the war are not receiving so much attention as might be thought, but one of these books, "Mr. Britling Sees It Through," by H. G. Wells, is read by many students.

The big city dailies have nothing on the country newspapers in the periodical room. A glance at the tables on which are scattered papers opened to the columns devoted to the news of "Richland Heights," "Pleasant View," "Hill Top," "Prairie Flower," and other necks of the woods, give no suggestion as to what corner of the state the various readers hail from.

The Independent, Outlook, and the Literary Digest are the magazines most frequently called for by students wishing to keep informed on the big events of the day. The Country Gentleman, popular Mechanics, Scientific American, and Field and Stream, are often resorted to by students for general reading. Girls like "Good Housekeeping. As a story magazine, the American is read by both girls and boys.

Leo W. Rexroad, '13, is employed by Black and Veatch, consulting engineers in sewer construction in the new army cantonment at Fort Sill, Okla.

W. A. Tuttle, "Germany" Schulz, and Coach Clevenger went to Lawrence Saturday for the Ames-K. U. football game. They were accompanied by Captain Randels and John Clarke.

Miss Myrtle Gunselman, sophomore in home economics, has returned from Washington, D. C., where she was called by the illness of her brother. She reports his condition slightly improved.

Here's a Funny Thing---

The fewer suits we sell a man,
the more business we do!

Ever since we have been offering our customers

MICHAELS-STERN Clothes

our business has increased, and yet we sell fewer clothes to each customer

The answer to the riddle is really very simple:

The suit we sell you W-E-A-R-S!

It wears twice as long, looks twice as good, and costs no more than ordinary clothing, and once you have known MICHAELS-STERN satisfaction how long will it be before you tell a couple of your pals the good news; and how long will it take them to come in for a MICHAELS-STERN suit?

Priced from $18.00 to $30.00

ENLOW CALLED TO COLORS

But Star End Can Play Against Ames November 10.

For the first time in a contest with K. U., the "breaks" are with the Aggies. Charley Enlow, who has been playing a high grade of football in the last two games, has received a call to report for aviation service at

"Pete" Patek had been in only three scrimmages before the Missouri game. He played every minute. "Nuff sed" about "Pete."

"Beat K. U."—for the first time in 11 years—is the war cry of the Kansas Aggies.

The Jayhawkers and the Aggies will line up on Ahearn field Saturday for what will probably be the deciding game in the race for the Missouri valley championship. Each team

BULLETIN.

The senior class voted late last night to discontinue the preparation of material for the senior annual, and to donate the money which the Royal Purple would have cost, to the Students' Friendship War Fund. A prodigious amount of senior women at the meeting carried the motion to do away with the book. Approximately $3,000 will be given to the War Fund by this contribution alone.

C. E. Seiber of Great Bend arrived in Manhattan yesterday for a visit with his son and daughter, who are attending the college.

L. C. Williams, assistant state club leader, went to Emporia Wednesday to assist in the Lyon county fair.

Each Year the Belief that "This is the Year," Then a Typical Kansas Viewpoint That the Next Year Will Bring the Change.

OLCOTT PREDICTS A FIGHT

AND KANSAS SHOULD WIN, THE JAYHAWKER HEAD COACH THINKS.

Team Will be Accompanied by a Special Train of Rooters—Lawrence Believes Crimson and Blue is Just Developing.

John A. Montgomery, Lawrence, Nov. 1.—With Kansas boasting of the best gridiron eleven in years and every player in first class fighting trim the Jayhawk rooters are going to back the team to the limit in the clash with the Kansas Aggies next Saturday afternoon.

Right End.

Charley Enlow will appear on college field for the last time tomorrow. He has been called into aviation. Watch him.

ing to stop eating candy, bitter-sweet chocolates, milk-chocolate coated ones, cherry centers, caramels. The co-eds were a little bit jealous of the patriotic publicity being awarded all around and when one suggested that they do something to WIN some praise, it went fine. So all sororities and literary societies and the girls athletic association—all just jumped in took it up and are going to see that it's a really, honest-to-goodness pledge. Tonight, in a little illuminated demonstration in Aggieville they are going to show just how much they mean it.

Sugar can only be bought now in Manhattan in 25-cent lots. Candy, the girls figure, is a luxury, and sugar is a necessity. Therefore, if they do not consume the candy it will go as sugar where it is really needed.

Signing the pledge does not mean that candy cannot be made and sent to the soldiers. This is the exception, and those who know, say that much has been made and sent to the forts this fall from K. S. A. C. And in return the soldier boys, so the girls say, bring chocolates and chocolates.

Well, they must be told not to. One co-ed told her date that she had sworn off on candy. Her next box contained apples, pears and grapes. The food pledge has been signed here by many a co-ed who never gave it a thought after it left her hands. Now they say they feel better.

FOOTBALL SOUVENIR TOMORROW.

Small Booklet Will Contain Pictures of Coaches and Players.

Something new is to be presented to the Aggie rooters tomorrow in the form of a football program. This will include about 24 cuts of coaches and players of both teams. The numbers of the K. U. players will be printed opposite their names, so no one will have trouble in identifying the men.

The booklet will include a score card and many other interesting features, making a lasting souvenir of the game. A charge of 10 cents will be made, to cover the cost of printing.

Addressed Iowa Teachers.

Dr. Fred D. Merith of the department of economics, will address the Iowa state teachers' association at Des Moines the latter part of this week. He will talk on "The Present Trend of Commercial Education."

"Heinie" Hinds is the star extraordinary. When the Aggies just must gain tomorrow, it will be "Heinie's" time to carry the ball.

Columbus, Ohio, but Charley need not leave the team until the day after the contest with Ames, November 11.

Enlow enlisted for aviation while in attendance at the officers' training camp at Fort Riley this summer. He was dubious at first about enrolling in college, and needed a great deal of persuasion before he checked out a football suit.

Enlow's play has shown enough improvement since the beginning of the year that Coaches Clevenger and Schulz have ceased to worry about the right end. Charley tackles fiercely, always gets his man, his speed makes him invaluable in running down under punts, and he has shown an almost uncanny ability to go away up in the air after Johnny Clarke's punts and return to terra firma with the ball safely tucked away in his arms.

The absence of Enlow also will be felt on the basket ball team, as he probably was the most likely candidate for the center position. All three of the likely centers from last year's squad are in service, and Vermette, freshman center, is also with the colors.

is ready and in fine condition, and the battle will be one of the best that was ever staged on the Aggie field.

K. U. is confident because of her victory over Ames last Saturday, and the team will bring wit hit about a thousand rooters. The Kansas are a far different team from the eleven that came from Lawrence the first of the year. They are big, fast, and confident. Their line is one of the stone wall character, and without a visible weak spot, according to the men who scouted the game with Ames last Saturday. This was shown by the fact that the attack of the Ames backs did not turn them back for consistent gains. They did not seem unusually fast against Ames, but that was because both lines were evenly matched, and neither showed to advantage.

A Versatile Attack.

The Jayhawkers are well coached in both the smashing and passing game. Pringle and Nielson are both big men, and have been effective line plungers against all of the teams they have gone up against. Laslett and Lomborg are both fast men on the end of the line, and are good in going down under passes. Foster, the quarter, is a good passer, and the three make a combination that will have to be broken up if the K. U. passes are to be spoiled. The Jayhawkers are heavyweights this year, and will probably outweigh Coach Clevenger's Wildcats from eight to 10 pounds on an average.

The physical condition of the Aggies is good with the exception of Nate Harwood. Harwood has a severe "charley horse" which may keep him out of the game. Leo Patek is back again, though, and is working out satisfactorily in the fullback position, should Harwood be unable to start Saturday. Coach Clevenger has been working the whole squad till after dark every night preparing them for the fight, and to put lots of endurance and wind in every man. The K. U. team may be large, but it is speed that counts, and there is not a faster set of backs in the valley than Hinds, Patek, and Sullivan.

Line Charges Fast.

"Germany" Schulz has been driving the line until the men are charging better than ever before, and have just one idea, to get mad and to get a Jayhawk. The team that gets the Quarterback.

Johnny Clarke's brains and steadiness have won many an Aggie victory. His punts average close to 40 yards, and he carries the ball well.

every game with Kansas.

Then there would be the prediction. "This is the year. After this we'll tell how we beat Kansas in —"

But sad to relate, that blank space has always remained a blank. And after each game, the same old crowd would gather, and some optimistic dreamer would hearten the bunch with,

"Well, we'll do it next year. Next year's the year."

It was away back in 1906 that the Wildcat—of course that was before the Wildcat was an Aggie—but it was then that the Wildcat bounced voraciously upon the Jayhawk birdie. Feathers flew, and there were other evidences of a conflict. At the end of it all, there was a 6 to 0 Aggievictory to tell about.

It happened in this wise. The two teams had battled fiercely from one end of the gridiron to the other, neither team having an appreciable advantage. Then the Jayhawkers started a drive, and soon were on the 20-yard line. Twice the Hawks plunged, and then Conwell, Aggie end, broke through the K. U. defense, leaped high in the air, and blocked an attempted Kansas place-kick. Carl Mallon swooped around the end, and there was an 80-yard race down the field, resulting in Mallon placing the pigskin between the Crimson and Blue goalposts.

In 1903 the game with K. U. was so well advertised that the editor of the Students Herald, then the college paper, forgot to give the game a write-up. The score was 34 to 0 in favor of K. U., which may explain the editor's lack of enthusiasm.

The Aggies Score.

In 1905 a classical article appeared the K. U. runners are not as bright as they were a few weeks ago. Eggerman and Barnes, probably the two best bets on the Aggie squad, are out of the race. Barnes has developed an acute case of appendicitis and Eggerman has injuries which will keep him from running.

The absence of Eggerman and Barnes will mean a heavy falling off of Aggie stock, but even at that the Bauer squad can be counted upon to make a good showing against the Rodkey proteges. Foreman, a Varsity two-miler of two years ago, probably is the Aggies' best man, with Beckett, a recruit from last year's freshman squad, and Nye, running as seconds. The other runners who will start for the Aggies are Seiber, Thackeray and McIntosh.

The race will begin at 1:45 o'clock from the football field and will end on the 55-yard line just before the game begins.

Alpha Deltas Want Magazines.

The Alpha Delta Pi sorority is collecting magazines to send to the war prisoners in the camps in Europe. Anyone having magazines they wish to give away leave them in L-39.

Right Half.

"Sully" Sullivan's favorite dream is an open field in the game with K. U., with a football tucked under his arm. And then, "Count the score."

BUREAUCRACY QUESTION UP.

Schools Will Decide if Cabinet Government is Feasible.

That the government should adopt a responsible system of cabinet government, is the question which will be debated by the women in the triangular debate between Washburn, Ottawa, and K. S. A. C., which will be held on the night of December 15. Eleven women are trying for positions on these teams.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1917.

ARE YOU A "HOME HUNT?"

Whenever the English language becomes lifeless and inadequate, it is peculiarly Theodore Roosevelt's task to rise in the emergency and spring something new, timely and adaptable. His newest is the "Home Hunt," and T. R. embraces in his definition of this term any American not sacrificing something big towards the winning of the war.

Perhaps K. S. A. C. students will be called upon for sacrifices. Will they prove to be "Home Huns?"

There is one consolation in the 3-cent letter rate: Perhaps the young lady who measures her popularity by the number of letters she receives from, and writes to gentlemen friends, will concentrate on a select few who really are in the running.

THE GAME TOMORROW.

Once more the foremost Kansas elevens meet in their annual battle royal, this time with more at stake than ever before. The two Sunflower state elevens are the only teams in the conference to win every valley game they have played. The two teams are tied for the lead. Tomorrow's game must decide which eleven continues on the road to the conference title. And that is goal enough for any eleven to fight for.

Then there is that old enmity—just friendly enmity—that every Aggie feels for K. U. We know the record of the Kansans. It is imposing. But tomorrow we hope to smash that list of undefeated Jayhawker elevens, and break in with a win. And here is a prediction that we will.

BEWARE, K. U.

Beware K. U.
He's after you—
The Wild cat's on your trail,
Of fight he's lots,
And full of knots
He tied the Toger's tail.

Be ware, be ware,
Be here, be there,
Be every where and more,
Be ware of fakes
And grandstand takes,
And other stunts galore.

Be ware of Hinds,
The season's find,
He'll cause you grief and pain—
You'll find him slick
And wondrous quick
To prove your efforts vain.

Be ware of claws
And waiting jaws
And appetites voracious,
There waits for you,
Bird of K. U.,
A stomach large and spacious.

Be ware of punts
Of tricks and stunts
To catch you unaware,
Or you'll be beat
And later eat,
Be ware, K. U. ! Be ware !

BOYER IS DEBATE ASSISTANT.

College Fellowship Goes to Senior Journalism Student.

A. W. Boyer, senior in industrial journalism, has received the $100 college debating fellowship for this year, and will act as student assistant in coaching the men's debates.

The fellowship is generally announced at the debaters' banquet in the spring, but on account of war conditions it was impossible to know what men would be back, and the award of the fellowship was not officially announced until this fall.

Miss Lola Sloop, junior in home economics, was given the girls' debating fellowship last spring, and is helping the girls who are now working on the triangular debate.

HISTORY TELLS A SAD TALE

In the college paper smoothing over the defeat of the Aggies. "For the first time in the school's history, we scored on K. U. While our share of the score was small, being only 14, compared to 41, it nevertheless fills a vacant space that has been lurking in the heat of every K. S. A. C. student." After the victorious year of 1916, when Washburn was the only team that defeated the Aggies, the college "pepped up" in its football enthusiasm. The Students Herald, with Cliff Stratton as editor, printed a front page box, "Everybody at the U. P. station. The team is going to K. U.," and in the next issue, "Everybody at the U. P. station. The team is coming in."

The 1907 outlook was discouraging. "Gloom prevails in the Aggie camp," read a streamer top-head in the college weekly. But it was no "bear" story, for the team came back defeated, 10 to 29. The game was hardly fought and it looked like anyone's game until the last quarter, when the Kansans forged ahead.

K. U. Barely Wins.

In 1908 the Aggies piled up the highest score made against K. U. by any team, but failed to win the game. K. U., unbeaten the entire season, nosed the Ahearn eleven out, 12 to 0.

Kansans could not find room for the Aggies on her schedule in 1910, although the Purple team probably was the best that had ever been produced. So good was the team that a campaign was carried on to land the Aggies in the Missouri valley conference. The year marked the passing of the popular Aggie coach, Mike Ahearn, who resigned to spend more time among his plants and trees in the horticultural department.

Lowman at the Helm.

Bucking the conference and with Coach Guy S. Lowman at the helm, the Aggies did not find things so easy in 1911. The score of 6 to 0, however, did not tell the story of the hardest fought game of the year, the one with the Kansans. Again, it was K. U. luck, pluck and punch that won. With the Aggies making more downs and gains than the Jayhawkers, the speedy "Pete" Heil ran a spectacular 65 yards for the Jayhawker touchdown and victory. Jake Holmes, all-Missouri valley tackle, captained the Farmer eleven.

When the gaining of inches of ground meant a tie for the Aggies in the last quarter of the 1912 game, the Lowman men were unable to push the ball across for the winning score. With Holmes ripping the K. U. line to pieces and making heavy gains, fumbles and "breaks" gave the game to the Jayhawkers, 19 to 6.

K. U. Uses Minnesota Shift.

The Minnesota shift played havoc in 1913 with the Aggie line. K. U. romped down the field for four touchdowns and a 26 to 0 victory. Still unable to cope with the shifty formations of the Jayhawkers, the 1914 Aggies were defeated 27 to 0, practically a repetition of the 1913 game.

In 1915 the Aggies, coached by John Bender, gave their first indications of Missouri valley form. An 80-yard dash to touchdown by "Stiff" Randels gave the Farmers an early lead. The advantage was maintained until the fourth period, when the wornout Aggie lightweights crumbled before a fresh backfield sent in by their new coach, "Beau" Olcott. The final count showed the Jayhawkers victors, 19 to 7.

Last year was the first time neither team has been able to score. Several times the Aggies menaced the Hawker goal, but had not the punch to carry the ball across. "Eddie" Wells and "Stiff" Randels, both of them all-valley men, were the stars of the Aggie eleven.

TWENTY USHERS ARE WANTED.

Admission to Game Will be Free to Those Accepted.

Twenty students ushers are wanted by the athletic department for the game tomorrow. Admission to the game will be free to those who want to do the work, and are accepted. Applications should be mailed through the college postoffice to box No. 278, or may be left at the athletic office.

All persons accepted and notified will be expected to be at the athletic park by 1 o'clock tomorrow.

HOLD DEBATE TRYOUTS SOON.

December 14, 15 and 16 Dates Chosen—Fifty Students are In.

The fall try-outs for the debating teams will be held on the afternoons of December 14, 15, and 16. More than 50 students are preparing to try out. The question will be the same as the one for the inter-collegiate debates.

EVERYWHERE MINIMUM Y. M. C. A. GOAL IS BEING EXCEEDED.

Washburn Far Beyond Pledge and Other Colleges and Universities Make Similar Records.

Topeka, Nov. 1.—Six Kansas colleges have reported contributions totaling $14,000 to date in the state-wide campaign for the Y. M. C. A. war work fund. Every school in the state apparently will exceed the minimum pledged at the state conference in Topeka, last week.

Washburn passed the $2,500 mark yesterday noon. The splendid showing of the Topeka school is the more remarkable in consideration of the other financial burdens the students are bearing.

McPherson, a college of only 150 students, has made probably the most remarkable showing of any institution in the state, pledging $2,383 at the first meeting of its campaign. Fairmount, also supporting a foreign missionary, has made a fine record, raising her minimum pledge of $1,400 by subscribing $2,033 in two days.

The State Normal at Emporia has reached the $2,500 mark on its way toward a $3,500 goal. Ottawa university has gone $529 beyond the original goal of $1,000. No new report has been received from the College of Emporia, where $1,700 was secured in a single meeting Monday.

The goal for all the colleges and universities of the state was set at $40,000. Delegates from the state university and the agricultural college together promised to raise $19,000 of this amount, but the campaign for subscriptions is not yet under way at either place.

MISS MILLER NEXT ARTIST
Noted Mezzo-Contralto is to Sing Here November 20.

Christine Miller, the second number in the Artists' Series, will give a song recital in the auditorium November 18. Christine Miller is the greatest mezzo-contralto on the concert stage and is one of the most popular and talented of American artists.

Miss Miller is having an exceptionally successful and busy tour of America. Besides her regular engagements she is busy singing for the soldiers in camp and in aiding in Red Cross work.

Christine Miller is today the idol of the American concert stage, first of all because of her personal attractiveness, her beauty and intelligence, and secondly because of her voice of rich quality and finish. She knows what appeals to an American audience and sings to please them. With her keen imagination, sympathy, and warmth of heart she sings and looks and expresses her way into the hearts of all who hear her.

She has a voice of remarkable evenness and smoothness. It has all the beauty and finish that characterizes a cultured voice. It is absolute in pitch, being deep and full in the lower notes and clear and sweet in the higher ones. Of special note is the clearness of her diction and the beauty of phrasing. She sings so that one can understand her perfectly. She puts such expression and such feeling and personality into her singing that she captivates her audience.

ARE GETTING READY FOR AMES.

Debate Squads Have Been Chosen—Practice Three Times a Week.

The members of the Aggie debate squad who will debate against Ames November 17, have been chosen. The names of the men and the order in which they will speak are as follows: Affirmative, A. W. Boyer, W. W. Houghton, and C. J. Medlin; negative, H. Clyde Fisher, H. A. Moore, and Turner Barger.

The squads are meeting three times a week and a class under the tutelage of Don J. Burk, debate coach, and W. E. Grimes, professor of farm management and former Aggie debater. The men are also practicing on delivery under J. G. Emerson, head of the department of public speaking.

jump is the team that will win, in the opinion of the coaches, and they have had that one thing in mind during the last week of scrimmage.

The line and the secondary defense have been drilled on the K. U. formations, which were used by the freshmen, and have been stopping them without any gains, very few plays getting beyond the line of scrimmage. The Wildcats, though, have several new plays that they are going to spring upon the Jayhawk birds that they expect will be good for gains. The freshmen could not break them up, in the scrimmage last week, even when they knew what the play was to be. The Wildcats will be given a last final workout tonight, just enough work to keep them from going stale, before meeting the ancient and honorable rival the Jayhawk bird.

The probable lineup of the game will be:

Aggies	Position	Jayhawks
Gates	left guard	Jones
Aye	center	Hull
Roda	right guard	Woody
Whedon	right tackle	Frost
Enlow	right end	Lonberg
Clarke	quarter	Foster
Hinds	left half	Pringle
Sullivan	right half	Mandeville

or Harwood fullback Nielson (c)
The officials for the game will be C. E. McBride, Kansas City Star, referee; Dr. Isadore Anderson, K. C. A. C., umpire, and Dr. J. A. Reilly, K. C. A. C., head linesman.

CAFETERIA IS CONSERVING

Wheatless-Days and Meatless-Days are Being Observed.

Beginning with meatless-day today, the cafeteria is going to help K. S. A. C. students and faculty members who have signed the "conservation" pledge. Each Friday has been set aside as meatless-day and each Tuesday as wheatless-day.

Today cheese and fish are being substituted for the meat dishes. The fish for the 8-cent meat and the cheese preparation for the 5-cent meat. There will be creamed vegetables dishes but the old favorite of 'potatoes and gravy' will be left for another day.

The program for Tuesday, the wheatless-day has not been entirely decided upon. Will it be strictly a day without wheat or taken in a general way to conserve the wheat bread? When cafeteria diners began to check up they were alarmed that the foods to be excluded on this day included, hot cakes, white bread, cake, pie, dressings, and puddings. Miss Monroe, cafeteria manager will confer with other authorities on this subject. In a number of cases lately for the conservation of sugar, frosting on the cakes has been replaced by the jelly fillings. Gingerbread is being substituted for cake.

Pie lovers need have no fear as it is said that the cafeteria management has not considered doing away with the all-American dish. The cafeteria has been able to secure only two lots of candy for the entire semester, and probably will not be successful in ordering any more. All candy shipment go to the forts from the wholesale houses.

Lots to show you in heavy underwear for men at the right price. Miller's Clo. Store.

AGGIE STUDENTS NOT ON FARM, BUT ARE IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE.

Registrar is Making Survey of Present Occupations of 1916-17 Students, at the Request of the Government—Answers are Pouring in Now.

War is directly, more than indirectly, the cause of the decrease in the enrollment here. This statement came from Miss Jessie McD. Machir, registrar, yesterday after she had looked over a number of answers to a questionnaire sent out to men students not in attendance this year.

"We find that most of them have enlisted or have entered the service in some of its branches," Miss Machir said. "It had been thought that a large majority of the students who did not return were kept on the farm, but the results obtained so far in our poll show just the opposite."

Eleven hundred self-addressed post cards were sent out to parents of students who were here last year but did not return this year. Already a couple hundred cards have been returned, and although a tabulation has not been made, it is thought that far more than a majority of the 1100 are with the colors.

The tabulation is being carried on at the request of the department of the interior, who wrote Miss Machir asking for a list of 1916-17 students who had been drafted, had enlisted, or had received commissions. There was no other way to obtain the results than to address requests for information to the parents of each of the former students. It was known that letters addressed to the students themselves often would not reach them, for a number are already in France.

The first request of the department of the interior came more than a month ago, asking for the percentage of decrease in the attendance here, and also for the enrollment this year. These figures already have been forwarded by Miss Machir. It is expected that the tabulation of occupations of students will be completed soon.

A TRI-DELT FIRE DRILL.

"All Hands Out" Yesterday Morning, But There Was No Damage.

Fire, probably caused by a lighted cigar or cigarette thrown into the front yard of the Tri-Delt sorority house at 822 Poyntz avenue this morning about 3 o'clock, caused the fire department to make a run, but did but little damage. The fire, driven by a south wind, burned back through the yard and along the fence separating that property from the church and parsonage of the Free Methodist church, setting fire to one corner of Rev. Phillip's garage. The fence was scorched along the side and also along the alley. The Tri-Delt girls had an exciting time as emergency fire fighters.

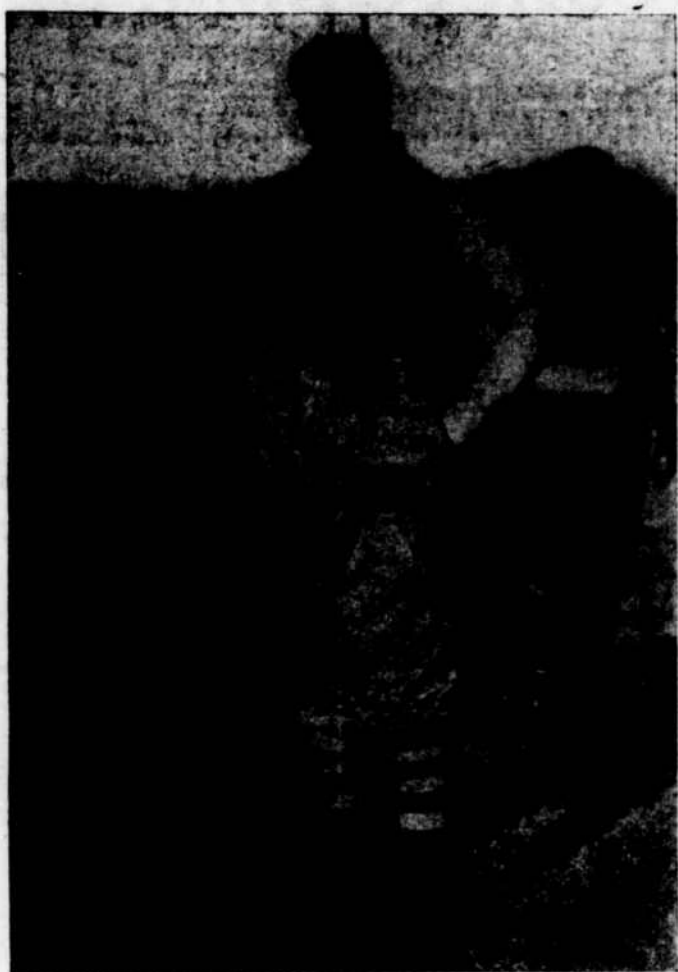

REORGANIZE THE ART CLUB.

Instructors in Home Arts Dept. to Meet for Study.

At a meeting of the instructors in the home arts department held Friday night it was decided to reorganize the art club, established here last year. The club will meet every two weeks to study some of the crafts, china, pottery, costumes, and the applied arts. The club will also study the paintings in the exhibit which will be displayed here this winter.

Miss Marie Story, teaching domestic science and art in the Manhattan high school, spent the week-end at home and saw the Aggie-K. U. game. Miss Story is an accredited teacher of surgical dressing in the Red Cross work and is giving much time in the high school to this important matter. She says there is great interest in this work among the ladies of Manhattan and that she has a large class of the town ladies taking instruction under her direction.

Mrs. W. H. Brooks, formerly Miss Ruth Edgerton of this city, who teaches physical culture at Ames, Ia., spent Saturday and Sunday in Manhattan with her husband, Lieut. W. H. Brooks of Camp Funston.

COACH BEAU OLCOTT.

who directed the attacks of the Jayhawk eleven in the tenth win of the Kansas over the Aggies in eleven years. Coach Olcott's days at Kansas are over, for he left Sunday to take up athletic work at the Great Lakes (Ill.) Naval training station.

'ALMA MATER' JUST SEVENTEEN.

Song Was Selected as Best in an Alumni Contest.

Seventeen years ago the notes of the college song, "Alma Mater," first burst into music on the campus. In 1900 a contest in writing college songs was held among the alumni of the school. "Alma Mater" is the prize song. It was written and composed by H. W. Jones, '88, of Topeka, an uncle of Mrs. M. F. Ahearn. It is the song of every college occasion.

CO-EDS SERVE WAR LUNCHEON.

Institutional Class Chooses Menu in Keeping with Times.

The department of domestic science gave a war luncheon to the Federated Clubs of the fifth district in session in Manhattan last Wednesday.

The luncheon was served by the institutional class and directed by Miss Lenore Richards. The menu, made up entirely of war food, consisted of lentil sandwiches made from rolled oats bread, escalloped potatoes, green tomato pickles, pumpkin pie sweetened with sorghum, and coffee.

MISS BIBY WINS PLAY LEAD

Elmore Glibreth Also Wins in "Man on Box" Contest.

The leads for the "Man on the Box" will be Miss Ernestine Biby and Elmore Glibreth. Miss Biby is a sophomore in home economics. Mr. Glibreth is a freshman in general science. Other members of the cast are, W. R. Giles, McKinley Stay, Floyd Work, Claude Hutto, Lloyd L. Hamilton, R. D. McGregor, Lea Jewet, Oliver Nelson, Miss Wanda Tetric, Miss Dorothy Norris, and Miss Helen Lawson.

Federal Insect Man Here.

W. R. Walton, chief of the division of cereal crop insects in the federal bureau of entomology, visited the departments of zoology and entomology Thursday. The departments of entomology here and in the federal bureau are co-operating in much of their work.

Lieut. Myron Miller came over from Camp Funston with the soldier boys to see the big football game Saturday. Lieutenant Miller is a K. U. man and naturally was happy over the result of the battle.

Ol Little of the Alma Enterprise, accompanied by his wife, was here for the Aggie-K. U. game. Little never misses a football game unless sickness prevents his attendance, and there is no more enthusiastic fan.

Miss Dorothy McCamish of Kansas City, Miss Jane Walters of Bonner Springs and Miss Bess Ainsworth of Lyons were up from Lawrence Saturday to visit Miss Ruth Foster and attend the game.

Miss Luella Morris of Wichita, student here last year, spent the week-end visiting in Manhattan and attended the K. U.-Aggie game.

WANTS INDIVIDUAL GIFTS

FRIENDSHIP WAR FUND COMMITTEE STATES POLICY

Doctor MacArthur Also Tells of Disposition of Funds in Collegian Letter

The policy of the executive committee of the Students' Friendship War Fund towards gifts offered by classes or organizations is revealed in a letter received by The Collegian from Dr. J. R. MacArthur, chairman of the committee. While taking the position that the committee would accept donations when it appears that the right spirit is back of the gift, Doctor MacArthur makes clear in his letter that the purpose of the committee will be to solicit subscriptions from individuals.

The letter follows:

Editor Collegian:

To avoid possible misunderstanding with regard to the Students' Friendship War Fund campaign which is to be held here within the next ten days, I wish to set before you one or two facts regarding the fund itself, and regarding the policy for conducting the campaign decided upon by the executive committee.

(1) The proceeds of the fund of $35,000,000, of which the American colleges and universities are raising $1,000,000, are to be devoted to work among American soldiers in this country, in France, and in prison camps. (2) Not one cent of the money so subscribed goes to the support of the Y. M. C. A. as an organization. The machinery of the Y. M. C. A. is used in the application of the fund, because that organization has such machinery ready, and has offered it in response to the request of American army officials.

(3) At its first meeting on Monday, October 29, the executive committee decided to make its appeal, not to organizations of classes, but to individuals. The committee, however, welcomes subscriptions made to the fund by organizations, provided that these come as the result of the unanimous desire on the part of the organization to be represented in this giving, and provided that the individuals composing the organization do not feel themselves relieved thereby from the necessity of making individual subscriptions.

COLLEGE REPAIR DEPT. IS BUSY.

Offices, Hallways, and an Automobile Laboratory Added.

A meat cutting room has been constructed in the basement of the dairy building and a hallway is being erected in the west end of room 77 in the new agricultural building. The latter is to prevent persons passing through the laboratory, on their way to the milling rooms, from disturbing the students at work in the laboratory.

The general repair department is also building two private offices for the extension department, and extending the gallery of the main gas engines laboratory around to the west of the room. This space will be used as an automobile laboratory.

K. U. VICTORY BY A POINT

Foreman Finished First, but Kansas Overcame Lead.

Taking the lead before the 5-mile cross-country run with Kansas had gone two miles, Foreman of the Aggies maintained his position and finished more than 100 yards ahead of Deewall of Kansas, but the Aggies lost the race, 27 to 28, because the Jayhawk runners came in in a bunch a bit later. Foreman ran a consistent race throughout. At the outset, two Kansans, one of them Fred Rodkey, brother of the famous Ralph Rodkey, lead Foreman. But the pace told, and both the foremost Kansans fell out, leaving Foreman far out in front of his companions and the rest of the runners.

The athletes finished in the following order: Foreman, Aggies; Deewall, Kansas; Becker, Aggies; Brown, Kansas; Hanna, Kansas; McCall, Kansas; Thackeray, Aggies; Nye, Aggies; Secher, Aggies; and Buffington, Kansas. Foreman's time was 29 minutes and 35 seconds.

The place taken by an athlete in a cross-country run counts for points, the five runners of a team making the least points winning the race.

OCTOBER WAS A COLD MONTH.

Chillest Weather Prevailed Since 1863—Rainfall Was Small.

The month of October was the coldest month since the year 1863. The rainfall for the month was below normal. The per cent of cloudiness was greater than usual.

The average maximum temperature for the month was 65.51 degrees as compared with 69.66 degrees the average maximum temperature for the last 59 years. The average minimum temperature was 35.32 degrees, as compared with 41.55 degrees, the average of the last 59 years. The mean temperature for the month was 50.41 degrees, as compared with 55.6 the average October temperature.

The highest temperature for the month was 90 degrees on October 4, and the lowest 14, on October 30, the lowest October temperature since October 23, 1863, when the mercury dropped to 11 degrees.

The amount of rainfall was 1.6 inches as compared with 2.26, the average October rainfall. The first killing frost was on the night of October 8, which is the average date. Fruit on the trees was not injured until October 19, when the temperature fell to 19 degrees.

AGAIN KANSAS WON

AGGIES WENT DOWN TO DEFEAT BEFORE OLCOTT ELEVEN, 0 TO 9.

HAWKERS HAD THE PUNCH

Ability to Gain When Gains Were Most Needed Secret of the K. U. Victory.

Place-Kick and Touchdown at End of Two Drives Beat Clevelenger-Schulz Men.

AGGIES GAINED THE MOST GROUND

Purple Crew Advanced Ball 220 Yards to 178 for Kansas—Aggies Completely Outplayed Visitors in First and Third Quarters, But Weakened.

It was just the same old story Saturday, when Kansas and Aggies met, with the Aggies hammering and smashing for more gains than the visitors, but with the Kansans showing the ability to pierce the Purple line when gains were most needed. The result was a 9 to 0 victory for the Crimson and Blue.

The secret of the Olcott eleven's victory was concentration. At only two times in the game were the Jayhawkers really the aggressors in the sense that the Aggies were the remainder of the time, but both of those times the Jayhawkers had the necessary punch to put across the two scoring efforts that won the game.

Aggies Good at Offense.

The Aggies fought valiantly when on the offensive. Leo Placek's line-plunging, Sullivan's end runs, and Hinds' squirming, wriggling off-tackle smashes gained consistently for the Aggies, through the wide gaps opened in the line by Carl Roda, "Pete" Placek and Bill Whedon. But when it came K. U.'s time to run with the ball, and the Kansasans began their drive as if they really meant to accomplish something, there was a quality lacking somewhere.

Carl Roda was the star of the game, even though playing the usually inconspicuous position left guard, and if it hadn't been for the big Dutchman's ability to tackle Kansas behind their own line, there might have been even a worse tale to tell than the one now being related.

Luck on Kansas' Side.

The Kansasans had the "breaks" with them, if the luck of the game was on either side. With less than a minute to play, the Jayhawkers pushed across the only touchdown of the game in the final period. Had the Lawrence eleven begun that offensive a few seconds later, the chances are that the score would have resulted 3 to 0.

The honor for making the final counter is mainly Ruble's. Sent in as a substitute for Pringle in the last few minutes, Ruble smashed the Aggie line for a pair of Jayhawkers first downs, the last plunge placing the ball whose fast-charging Aggie line was all that kept the Aggies from receiving a worse beating Saturday.

"Germany" Schulz,

a scant half-foot from the goal line. Captain Neilson was called upon to carry the ball across, and he pushed the pigskin the necessary six inches, but not much more, it taking the decision of both officials to determine whether a touchdown had been scored. Nettles failed to boot the goal.

The First Score.

Kansas had not made first downs in the first quarter, but once the offensive began in the second period, the supposedly stalwart Aggie line gave way. The Lawrence eleven made distance twice in rapid succession. A 15-yard penalty halted the drive for a touchdown, but Lomborg drew back and booted a successful 25-yard kick from placement for the first score of the game.

While it remained for the Jayhawkers to make the scores, Aggie offensives were most successful. At five different times in the first quarter the Clevelenger men rushed the ball past the Kansas 20-yard line. Three times penalties on the Aggies were a help to the Jayhawkers defense, and on the other two occasions the Olcott line braced and held. In the third quarter, too, the Aggies found little difficulty in reaching the 20-yard line, but again there was a Jayhawkers defense that became impregnable once the danger zone was reached.

Aggies Gained Most.

The statistics of the yardage gained by quarters tells why the Jayhawkers won. In two of the periods, the Olcott men seemed hopelessly outclassed and were kept on the defensive throughout. Then in the other two quarters the second and the fourth, Kansas assumed the offensive and began two big drives that resulted in the pair of Jayhawkers scores.

In the first quarter, the Clevelenger-Schulz machine kept the ball within the Kansas 40-yard line for nearly the entire period, three times threatening to score. The yardage was: Aggies, 87; Kansas, 2. Then came a reversal with Kansas reeling off 72 yards to the Aggies, 46, and kicking a goal from placement at the end of one of their drives. The Aggies came back strong, gaining 87 yards to 7 for Kan-

INTO SECOND PLACE NOW

KANSAS LEADS THE VALLEY RACE WITH THE AGGIES CLOSE BEHIND.

Game Between Kansas and Cornhuskers November 17 Probably Will Settle Valley Race, However—Nebraska and Tigers This Week.

	W	L	Per.
Kansas	2	0	1.000
Kansas Aggies	2	1	.667
Ames	1	1	.500
Missouri	1	2	.333
Nebraska	0	0	.000
Washington	0	1	.000
Drake	0	1	.000

Even though the Jayhawk birdie successfully eluded the claws of the Aggie Wildcat Saturday, the Clevelenger-Schulz machine occupies the lofty position of second place in the Missouri valley percentage column. On the top side are the Kansasans, recent victors over the Aggies, while the neighbors on the next rung below of the championship ladder are the Iowa Aggies, this week's opponents.

The valley race has now narrowed down between Kansas and Nebraska. The latter has avoided conflicts with both the Iowa and Kansas Aggies, and has games scheduled with both Missouri and Kansas. The Tiger tilt comes this week, then next week in Lawrence the Huskers and the Hawk-ers battle for the championship.

Still A Faint Hope

Sport doers have one way for the Aggies to remain in the running. The important part of the plan is a tiger victory over the Huskers, itself almost an impossibility, judging from the showing the two teams have made this year. But then there's always a chance, and the Schulte men may turn the trick.

If Missouri pulls through with a win, the Huskers must reverse and win from Kansas, and the Clevelenger men must take the measure of the Ames eleven. That would leave the valley race in a more muddled condition than it was last year, and almost any team with a good press agent could claim titular honors.

Three All-Valley Teams.

With only a slight chance remaining to be counted in on the awarding of the championship, the attention of Aggie rooters is directed in the direction of the all-valley mythical teams which will be picked at the end of the season. The most prominent nominations right now are Carl Roda for a guard position, Hinds at halfback and Captain Randels at end. Then there are "Pete" Placek and "Bill" Whedon, two tackles which will show any pair of forwards in the valley a pretty race. Johnny Clarke, quarterback, should land on the second team if not on the first.

Last year the Aggies had two men on the first team, "Eddie" Wells, star fullback, and Captain Randels. "Eddie" Wells, now in France, also was an all-valley guard in basketball.

A LETTER MAY HELP

With the opening of the special semester only a week away, the last drive to bring back former students should be well under way. Probably a large number of students who normally would have returned for the fall term, saw in the special semester a means of obtaining half a year's college work at a time when they would not be needed on the farm. They will be back—the ones who had planned to return.

But what of the large number of former students who undoubtedly are studying over the proposition of returning, but have not decided? Would not a bit of encouragement in the way of letters from students here now often tip the balance in favor of the return? And if you know of a student who might return, if proper pressure were brought to bear, would not you write him such a letter? Surely you would.

THE "Y" AND THE STUDENTS' FRIENDSHIP WAR FUND

America's thanks go to the wonderful work now being begun in Europe under the management of the Y. M. C. A. When American people looked for a way to help protect American soldiers from the immoral conditions so often found in the proximity of army camps, they chose the machinery of the Y. M. C. A. as the best means of carrying out this important work. General Pershing asked for the Y. M. C. A. when he took the American troops abroad.

The relation of the Students Friendship War Fund to the Y. M. C. A. often has been confused. It should be understood that the "Y" merely is carrying on this important work in behalf of mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts of the men who have gone, or are to go, into the service. But the Y. M. C. A. can not carry on the work without funds. It is to individuals who have friends or relatives in the service—and who is it that has not?—that the people behind the Friendship War Fund movement will make their appeal. The answer which will be made to the appeal will be a test of the loyalty of these "stay-at-homes" to their friends and relatives who soon are to "go over the top."

THE GAME SATURDAY

K. U. has come and gone—and with the usual returns of the day. For eleven years—and the writer knows of seven of those eleven—the Jayhawk has triumphed. Seemingly the string of victories begun by the Kansasans in 1907 can not be broken.

Psychologists have said that winning games is as much condition of mind as it is condition of body. Perhaps Aggie players go into each game with the wrong state of mind, remembering that long string of defeats behind them.

Anyway, the game is over, and it was cleanly won. We play Ames, just as strong a team as the Jayhawkers, this Saturday. Perhaps the Aggies will go into this contest in a different frame of mind, and perhaps the result will be different.

FORMER STUDENT TELLS OF CHICKAMAUGEE CAMP

Guy L. Earl Expects To Go Immediately To France With American Troops

The following letter from Guy L. Earl, last year a sophomore in general science, now in training at Chickamauga, Ga., is taken from the Eschridge Tribune-Star:

Chickamauga Park. I was over to the officers' training camp and there I saw a complete set of modern trenches. They are just deep enough to walk in and yet be concealed. These trenches are very intricate and it certainly took some deep thinking men to plan them. A few hundred yards away they are not visible at all and once in them I was soon lost as they cover about a mile square—houses built underground for officers, all connected up with telephone line. It is a great experience to go through these trenches.

We have very good shows here every night. Our regiment all put in 50c each and bought a motion picture outfit and we have a free show every night. The Y. M. C. A. also has a free show and there are two large theatres here near our regiment which have regular vaudeville, so we don't lack for amusement at night.

I haven't heard for sure yet when we will go, but a sergeant and captain of the medical department told us the field medicine chest was all packed and locked and orders were not to open any field equipment, but hold it in readiness to move. There has been lots of talk of the 53rd infantry going to Cuba, but I think from what I can see and hear that we will go directly from here to France. I surely wish we could go before long, as it is aggravating to wait for something to happen and know it can't happen until we get on the water at least.

I wish you could see this country down here in Chickamauga Park. The Appalachian mountains completely surround the park. They are not as high as the Rockies, but they are more beautiful of account of the wonderful trees and picturesque scenery. The cotton is just getting ripe now and a large cotton field is sure a beautiful sight.

It is time for regimental parade so will close.—Guy L. Earl, Headquarters Company, 53rd Infantry, Chickamauga Park, Ga.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT AND NEW

"The Submarine Eye" which is the offering at the Wareham Theatre to night and to-morrow, is a deep sea drama, different, new, a decided novelty, nothing like it ever thrown on the screen before. Situations never before attempted and much less accomplished find their way into this thrilling romance of love and adventure. It is truly an unusual production.

INANITY.

And now a writer of English as the freshman sees it, in describing a grand dame of other days, tells us that she drove a smart victrola down the street.

Is It Chloroform?

I want somepin and I don't know what.
"Taint nothin' I can think of, no I'm sure it's not."
"Taint candy, nor bananas, nor nothin' good to eat."
I feel kind of thick and sickish at the thought of somepin sweet.
"Taint money, nor fame, nor intelligence, nor such."
And what ever it is, I know it aint much.
"Taint nothin' I can think of, no I'm sure it's not—"
But I want somepin and I don't know what.

Four Profs. lock arm, lock step, were going down the street. A disgusted youth inquired of his companion the identity of the foolish ones. The truth had to be admitted. They were not freshmen they were Profs. Which shows that even Profs have an influence on the college.

An old limerick up-to-date.
Susan's socks shock soldiers.

When ever a sorority or other group of girls has among its membership and odd looking girl, they always get around it by introducing her to the visiting stranger, whom they are trying to impress, as "our genius."

Owing to the cold weather outside, there were enough people at chapel Monday to create a disturbance when they all came in late.

The only real school among Kansas A-S-C colleges.

We advise all young ladies to take as their ideal, Mrs. Isaac W. Rice of New York, who is president of the Society for the Suppression of Unnecessary Noise.

We also enter the above named lady for a platform seat at an Aggie pep meeting.

Report: Italians at Pagamento were successful in getting away from the Germans. Some success.

First Frosh—What in thunder are you looking up in the sky like that for?

Second Frosh. Just homesick.

Plainly speaking, trying to get the Germans to root against the kaiser, is very similar to getting a K. U. student to yell for the Aggies.

Here is the way the ladies say it: Are the Aggies strong? Well, yes.

Having had some experience with Missouri mules, we predict the kaiser will change his idea of American participation in the war when he hears that these quadrupeds are carrying machine guns into the trenches, in addition to the artillery with which nature endowed them.

We read that men consider silence a virtue, woman a fault. Just what does this mean?

Herr Bewer, the German poet, says: "To look upon the kaiser is like looking upon a beautiful autumn day." Later we hope the dead leaves will be deadlier still.

We stood at the south end of Anderson hall the other day, and tabulated the following color combinations in young ladies' dresses: green and black; blue and white; grey and black; brown and white.

We then tabulated the men. Results: green, black and yellow; leylow, red and brown; red, white and blue. Phew!

The moral is that we like the women's "taste" best.

Food administration posters say, "Food is ammunition." Is Hoover just married?

Oklahoma City is considering licensing cats. We wonder if they will wear dog collars.

The German professor Haeckel says the allies are "raw children of nature." Nature, you know, is where things grow as God, not the kaiser, intended.

Every Daily Kansan we get from K. U. has the sentence, "Send the Daily Kansan home." We will some of these times.

K. U. girls are taking military exercises, and the Kansan suggests that they wear one-piece Peter Thompson dresses. Just what kind of dresses did Peter wear?

HAYS WAS IN WILD WEST

EARLY DAYS AT EXPERIMENT STATION WERE LIVELY

But Microscope of Professor Now Takes Place of Cowboy's Six-Shooter.

The Fort Hays branch experiment station passed through the cowboy and Indian stages, leaving wild west stories behind. Some of the pioneers were known personally to the senior member of the college faculty who can sit by the hour and tell interesting stories of the early days.

During the days of Wild Bill and Wyoming Pete, Fort Hays was a general outfitting point for Indian campaigns that vexed western Kansas. At different times it was commanded by army officers of more than national fame.

"Wild Bill" Hickok, a well known frontier character, was a familiar figure at Fort Hays. He was elected sheriff of the county in 1883, but he never served out his term. He was chased out of the county by Lieutenant Tom Custer. One night Custer rode his horse into a billiard room, and then killed the horse because he wouldn't jump on the billiard table. Bill arrested and fined him for this, but in a few days some of Custer's men jumped on Bill in revenge. They cut him up some, but he killed two of them and then fled.

Besides the two soldiers who were buried at the fort, Bill added four graves to the town cemetery. Of the 29 graves in the plot all except one are occupied by men who came to their death through violence. The other one is occupied by a colored woman who froze to death.

Judge Joyce of Hays was another noted western character. He held the office of justice of the peace for a number of years. Many of his decisions are famous. He allowed no appeals from his court and he granted no divorces. The character of Joyce is shown by an incident which happened while he was hold the office of judge.

Comstock and White, contractors, were doing business at the fort. In the course of a quarrel Comstock killed White. Comstock was arrested and brought before Judge Joyce at Hays. The prisoner walked into the court room (Judge Joyce's saloon) with two big six shooters belted to his hips.

"Misther Comstock, ye are charged with wilful murder. Are ye guilty or not guilty?" asked the Judge.

"Guilty," was the laconic response. This was beyond Judge Joyce's calculations. He had no precedence for such a case, and no power nor inclination to visit a penalty, and so, with great indignation he shouted.

"Ye are a fool for tellin' it. Did any wan see ye do it?"

"No," was the prisoner's response.

"Thin Oi discharge ye for want of evidence," declared his honor.

But that civilization was swept away by the advent of the Union Pacific railroad, the plow and the short-horn steer. The six shooter of the cowboy has given way to the microscope of the college professor.

Kansas Aggie Co-eds Knit Warm Sweaters For Use of Soldiers

Uncle Sam's soldier boys are to have some real sweaters now for the K. S. A. C. co-eds have started making them.

They can tell you all about these sweaters. Yes the first they have ever tried to make, but this sleeveless sweater is really very simple. No, they aren't real crazy about the yarn, the color you know isn't so very pretty, sort of a slate gray colorless color. Of course they couldn't expect it to be baby blue or peach pink or apple green or anything like that, but—And then the yarn is harsh too, not fluffy or soft, but you see these sweaters are being made for service. And the co-ed knits away, so far, out of sight of her professors. When the bell rings the beginning of sweater is tucked into the big knitting bag.

And those knitting bags are right along with the rest of the fall coloring in brightening up the campus. There are checkered ones, polka dotted ones, flowered ones, striped and plain, and those of Japanese design. The co-eds who aren't carrying them say that they are going to be mighty soon. Those who can't knit are learning, for the first lesson for beginners was given last week and class instruction will be provided right along. Many are working away patiently on practice yarn. "Seems like you are going at that rather awkward like," said one general science girl to another, who was laboring with two immense needles which insisted in both working in the same direction.

"Well, I am just waiting for you to go on to the show and leave the inspection to me so I can really get to work." Another co-ed said that she had started twice, made quite a bit of progress and then discovered that she had dropped a stitch back a ways and that now she was where she commenced—a ball of yarn and two needles.

And about knitting in class—well, it hasn't been tried yet, but one of the knitters was sure that it would be better to knit in class than to sleep. And another announces that a certain professor in Anderson hall said right out at the beginning of the term that he would not have a bit of it. A person might think that a sweater would be a little bungleome to knit on in class but miss co-ed knows how to roll it all up and pin it except the part which she is working on—so there.

We use soft water for all laundry work. Let us keep your clothes clean.—A. V. Laundry, Aggieville.

LOST—An Alpha Zeta pin. Please return to postoffice and receive reward.

YOUNG MEN CAN OWN FARMS

DEAN JARDINE SAYS MODERN METHODS MUST BE USED.

Aggie Expert Tells How Value of Kansas Crops Can be Increased.

Kansas young men should own and operate the 36 per cent of the total number of farms in the state that are now handled by tenants. These young men can accomplish this end if they will practice the most modern farming methods, according to W. M. Jardine, dean of agriculture in the college and director of the Kansas Agricultural Experiment station.

Dean Jardine emphasizes the value of the best farm practices in Kansas particularly in relation to the yield of wheat, the growing of which is one of the chief industries of the state. "Wheat growing," says Dean Jardine, "has been and will probably always continue to be one of the chief industries of Kansas. Eight to nine million acres is a large area to plant to one crop every year, but this is what the farmers of Kansas are doing in the case of wheat. We are extensive rather than intensive wheat farmers: that is to say, we operate large areas with big machinery and without very much detailed attention. We do not spend much time in figuring out suitable rotations to employ, how to build up the humus of the soil, and how to maintain soil fertility, all of which are essential in intensive farming. The extensiveness of our farming methods is emphasized by our low average acre yield.

Land Values, Not Yields, Rise.

"During the past 15 years the farm lands of Kansas have advanced more than 100 per cent in value, while during the same period records show little if any increase in acre yield. Under the system of farming practiced during the past 10 years and still in use on the majority of farms, it is impossible for a young man to buy a farm on borrowed capital at 6 to 8 per cent interest and pay for the land from the proceeds of the crop.

"While in the days gone by our fathers and grandfathers probably made money in extensive farming of the virgin soils which they secured at very little cost, conditions have changed. The same land today brings from $60 to $110 an acre, and if handled in the old fashioned way seldom can be made to produce yields that will return a profit on the investment, to say nothing of providing a reasonable salary for the owner.

"It is not very likely that many of our farmers who are past the prime of life—and it is these men who own the majority of Kansas farms—will change their methods now. A good many of them are retiring to the city and turning the management of their places over to tenants. According to the best information we have some 36 per cent of our farms are being operated by tenants. While this is the trend of agricultural conditions, we continue to produce in Kansas large numbers of young men on whose shoulders rests the hope of Kansas agriculture. The majority of these young men, however, cannot become owners of farms in this state, except through inheritance, unless they put more intelligence into the business of farming than it is now receiving, because it is practically impossible for crops under the present system of farming to furnish money to pay 7 or 8 per cent interest on $150 an acre land and leave anything to liquidate the principal.

Reduce Cost of Production.

"While the average farmer today is operating his farm in much the same fashion followed 20 years ago, except that he is employing bigger machinery and is working less land—which is a very good thing—he does not need to be particularly concerned about increased yields, because he owns his farm and it cost him little. If he secures 3 or 4 per cent interest on his capital he has sufficient to care for himself and family comfortably. It is not for the welfare of this man that I am concerned. It is the young man, the prospective farmer, the farmer of the future, for whom I am concerned and whom I want to reach. Some day, and not in the far distant future, our boys will be the farmers of this state—at least they ought to be and will be if it is made half possible for them to be—and I want to try to show them that there is a way which if followed will enable them to become owners of land even at its present high value."

HALSTEAD'S

LIBRARY HAS KEPT A PACE

Books and Rooms Were Added as the College Expanded

The growth of the library has been one of the important factors in connection with the advancement of the agricultural college, according to Miss Grace Derby, assistant librarian.

"At one time the library was located in the northeast corner of the main floor of Anderson hall," said Miss Derby. "In 1894 with the erection of Fairchild hall, it was moved to the west part of the main floor.

"In 1911, the books for class reserve were located in what is now the reference room. The current periodical and reference departments were in the large northwest reading room.

"In 1912, class reserve was moved to the periodical room. The current periodicals were located in the present reference room.

"In 1913, the class reserve was taken down to the present quarters in the basement. This was at one time a society hall. In 1913, the current periodicals were moved to their present quarters.

"In the stack room, the stacks in the east end beyond the partition were added in 1915. These new stacks are being filled rapidly, and in the near future more room will have to be secured because of crowded conditions.

"With the growth of the library, the grade of reference work has increased greatly which shows the advancement in the standards of class-room work in the college."

What Newspaper Men Say of President Waters:

Kansas may not be overly pleased in having the Kansas City Star take Dr. H. J. Waters, but the Star must be complimented on its good judgment. It picked our prize college president.—Chanute Tribune.

Dr. Henry J. Waters, who has been president of the Kansas State Agricultural college for the past eight years, has resigned to become the managing editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star. President Waters is one of the leading educators of the country and probably the foremost along agricultural lines. He is a man widely known and has taken a very prominent part in state and national affairs, and especially so since the war began.—Centralla Journal.

Pres. H. J. Waters has resigned as head of the State Agricultural college and will become editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star. President Waters is one of the big men of the state and nation and the college has grown and prospered under his administration. His place will be hard to fill for men of his caliber are scarce and hard to find. In the meantime a former Wabaunsee county man is at the head of the big school, Dr. J. T. Willard, who grew up at Wabaunsee.—Alma Enterprise.

Doctor Waters' acceptance of the post of managing editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star and his resignation as president of the Kansas State Agricultural college, is a great loss to Kansas and the college, notwithstanding he expects to keep in touch with Kansas and its people as an editor. Doctor Waters' place is in the cabinet as secretary of agriculture. No man in America has better qualifications for that post and some day it may come to him, as it should have done five years ago.—Capper's Weekly.

Having taken over Colonel Roosevelt as an editorial writer for the Daily Kansas City Star, the weekly edition of that paper has now made a bold stroke in drafting Pres. Henry J. Waters of the Kansas State Agricultural college as its editor. The Star knows big men when it sees them and does not hesitate to reach out and get them. Already great newspapers, the Daily and Weekly Star have gained much in importance and influence by securing the editorial services of such men of world wide note.—Miami County Republican.

Dr. H. J. Waters has resigned the presidency of the State Agricultural college at Manhattan and will assume the duties of editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star. There is no one in the west more capable than he to edit a great weekly paper like the Star. Doctor Waters was born in Missouri, was raised in the west, and knows the field, and will make the Weekly Star a paper that will be even more than before a representative of the west, and a paper that no farmer can afford to be without.—Wellsville Globe.

The Kansas City Star has added two of the biggest men in America to its staff—Theodore Roosevelt and Henry J. Waters. In leaving the presidency of the Kansas State Agricultural college, and taking charge of the Kansas City Weekly Star, Mr. Waters believes he is taking up a bigger job, and enlarging his scope of usefulness. We look for him to be in the President's cabinet some day, or possibly in the chair himself. The Star has set out to be the greatest newspaper in America. It is already one in that class.—Mulvane News.

Henry J. Waters has left the Kansas State Agricultural college at Manhattan and taken up the editorship of the Weekly Kansas City Star. We are just a little mite jealous of the Kansas City Star. Every time some newspaper man in Kansas indicates that he is pretty bright and has an unusual amount of ability the Star comes out and claims him as its own. In reality, Kansas probably won't suffer much because every farmer in Kansas will now subscribe for the Weekly Kansas City Star, and get Mr. Waters' dope first hand. All of which would indicate that the Star management is foolish like a fox.—Oakley Graphic.

It was with a feeling of intense regret that the editor of this paper learned Pres. H. J. Waters would resign as president of the college here. The loss of his magnetic personality cannot but be a tremendous loss to the college and to the community.

President Waters has been the making of the college here, as the college has been the making of him. He has secured Doctor Waters. The question is, is it material. He is a tremendous asset to any institution to which he attaches himself.—Manhattan Mercury.

The announcement that President Waters has resigned from the college to take up work as editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star brings us to a summing up of his work here and the summing up brings the conclusion "It is good."

From time to time in the past we have expressed the same sentiment and so if the work day by day has been good, it is not surprising that the judgment on the whole should be favorable. Coming here under conditions that were not ideal, with a faculty much divided and running wild, by sheer force of personality, Doctor Waters soon had the whole machine synchronized and harmonized and running under full pressure. He won the friends of the institution by his work for it, and they readily caught step with the larger plans that he developed.

In the new field that he has taken you may look for great development also, but it will be lead to other and greater work.

President Waters leaves with the best wishes of us all and the expectation that his name is going to be written still higher in the country in which he is already a national figure.—Manhattan Tribune.

Carousal of Kappas at End When Friends Appear in a Flivver

Four Kappas have made themselves liable for petty thievery.

Upon the arrival of Hallowe'en this quartette of Kappas decided that things were too tame to suit their fancy, and decided to remedy that condition by raising a little excitement. After making this decision, they started down towards Aggieville, bent upon the stealing of a sign that stands in front of Kittell's store.

They were not, however, fated to get away with any such childish tricks. Four noble young men, seeing the depredation that was intended, decided to save "Kittell" the disgrace that such an act would mean. They waited until the girls had taken the sign and were on their way homeward, and then decided it was time to act.

The men were in a Ford. Just as the young lady jokers were passing the corner of Eleventh and Laramie streets, the young men drove the Ford upon the walk, and frightened the girls so badly that they tried to cut across the corner. The corner has a wire fence around it now, and the young ladies were trapped. The Ford kept right on, though, and the girls, with shrieks and groans of dismay, made their various exits over, under, around and through, the fence. The boys rescued the sign, and took it back to its proper place.

Marion Ross, Aggieville policeman, has not decided what action to take against the girls.

In this period, the Olcott machine advanced the ball 97 yards, making a total of 178 yards for Kansas against the Aggies' total of 220 yards. In first downs, too, the Aggies were ahead, with 11 to Kansas's ten.

800 STUDENTS TAKE MUSIC

COLLEGE HAS MORE MUSICAL ATMOSPHERE THAN BEFORE

Students take an interest in work, and do it well, Says Professor Westbrook

The department of music of the college, in its different lines of instruction, comes into direct contact with approximately 800 students.

"Comparatively, this figure is but little larger than that of last year," said A. E. Westbrook, head of the department, "but greater interest is now being taken in musical training as is being shown by the better quality of work which the students are doing. Students in all classes are taking an added interest in their work. Those in piano and voice are working harder than ever before. The band and orchestra are in better condition now than they have been in former years.

"More of a musical atmosphere exists throughout the college than has been the case heretofore. Besides the better quality of music which is being presented by the department in the form of recitals and concerts, the students have a chance to hear artists from other places. Last year during the music festival week talent was brought to the college that is as good as can be heard in larger music centers. This year in the Artist's series is being presented a number of entertainments by artists unequalled in their profession.

"Another thing perhaps which has given an added interest to music is the fact that students must pay for all private instruction. In former years it seemed because instruction was given free the students did not have the interest that they should have shown in their music work. Now pupils seem determined to get the best from their work."

A special course was added to the college curriculum last year and now Kansas State Agricultural college grants a certificate in music. Thirty persons are now enrolled in this special course. Arrangements were also made last year by the dean of the division of general science whereby special music students may enroll in the division of general science, take all the required work in the course of general science, and take all their electives from the course in music and at the end of four years receive a bachelor of science degree. Several special music students in the course of general science are taking advantage of the arrangement.

The largest musical organization of the college is the choral society of 200 voices. It meets every Monday night for practice. Each semester the society gives an entertainment for the public. Both students and townspeople may take part in these entertainments. At present the society is preparing the oratorio, "Elijah," to be given the week preceding the Christmas holidays.

The college military band has 60 members and is under the direction of R. H. Brown, professor of violin. The college orchestra of 30 members is also under the leadership of Professor Brown.

The Apollo club or the men's glee club has 24 members with 25 on the waiting list. The women's glee club has 22 members with more than that number on the waiting list.

The number enrolled in other classes of musical instruction ranges from 30 to 75. The classes in musical appreciation with 75 members has the largest enrollment. Seventy are receiving instruction in voice and 55 are taking piano. Thirty students are enrolled in harmony classes. Eighteen are taking violin under Professor Brown who is also giving private lessons in band instruments to 12 students.

The music department has seven instructors and another instructor in voice should be added this year, according to Professor Westbrook.

TEACHERS ARE TALKING WAR

WORLD CONFLICT THE SUBJECT OF MANY OF DISCUSSIONS AT TOPEKA TODAY.

Ray Stannard Baker, Rabbi Wise, William Wirt Among Prominent Speakers on Program of Annual Meeting—Expect 8,000 Persons.

The world war is having a big place in the programs of the annual meeting of the Kansas State Teachers' association being held in Topeka yesterday and today.

The physical education round table yesterday afternoon devoted its program exclusively to the subject, which was treated by Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, Prof. E. M. Briggs of the University of Kansas, L. E. Losey of Independence and Miss Grace Elmore of Topeka. Miss Elmore discussed Military Tactics of High School Girls.

College People to Talk.

The college was well represented on today's program, E. N. Wentworth, professor of animal breeding, now captain in the field artillery stationed at Camp Funston, spoke yesterday at the biology round table. His subject was, "Biology as a Preparation for Animal Husbandry."

Miss Francis L. Brown, director of home economics in the division of extension, talked on food emergency work at the household arts round table yesterday. Charles L. Quar, assistant in the office of the president, and Albert Dickens, professor of horticulture, also had places on the program. They speak before the agricultural round table today.

Not fewer than 8,000 teachers are expected at the meeting. In addition to the interest produced in the program, the teachers will be attracted to the meeting by the fact that the organization is to vote on a plan to hold four meetings, in different parts of the state, instead of the one annual session now held regularly at Topeka.

Many Prominent Speakers.

The general sessions of the association are held in the mornings and evenings, leaving afternoons free for round table meetings of teachers interested in particular types of schools.

Men and women prominent in education in Kansas and other states will speak. In addition to those already mentioned, some of the well known speakers from outside the state will be Ray Stannard Baker, Rabbi Stephen Wise, Dr. William Wirt, and Dr. Alma Webster Powell.

Many members of the college faculty are attending the meetings, besides the ones who have places on the programs. Dr. J. T. Willard, acting president, sent out a letter last week urging members of the faculty to go to the meetings if possible.

"CAP" SKINNER A CAPTAIN NOW.

Former Aggie Gridiron Star Rises Quickly in Marines.

Emmett W. Skinner, a graduate of the Kansas State Agricultural college in the division of agriculture, last year, and now in the marine corps, has been raised in rank from a first lieutenant to a captain.

Mr. Skinner's home is in Manhattan. He played three years on the Aggie football team as a regular and was elected captain in his second year. He also landed an end position on the second all-valley eleven last year.

Mr. Skinner enlisted in the marine corps last spring before school was out, and has risen in rank to his present rank of captain.

Mr. Skinner is stationed at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

QUILL TO DISCUSS PLAYS.

Original Compositions Will be Read at Monday Meeting.

Quill club will meet Monday, November 12 at the home of F. L. Snow, 1001 Thurston street. Business meeting will begin at 7.30 o'clock.

H. W. Davis, professor of English, will discuss play writing. Other persons who are interested in play writing will read original productions.

The county will furnish all the materials needed for the construction. The work will be done in cooperation with O. E. Noble, county engineer, as a part of his program of improving country roads.

REEVES IS CHAMPION JUDGE

"Pete" Placek Close Second in Contest for Aggie Team.

Keen competition was shown in the final contest for places on the stock judging team which will go to the International stock show to be held at Chicago, Ill., December 8.

The senior class in form and function and the junior class in advanced judging placed eight classes of live stock and gave their reasons for the way they placed four of the classes.

In this contest C. E. Reeves of the form and function class won first place with 475 points out of a possible 600. E. H. Placek of the advanced judging class won second place with 470 points. The other men who placed on the squad are W. D. Denholm, H. H. Birks, Ford Haggerty, F. O. Blocks, and D. E. Curry.

Five men will be selected from this group for the team which will go to Chicago. The basis for the selection of the final five men will be the general average of their grades between now and the time for the final selection of the team.

THE MOVIE AS AN ADVERTISER.

Dean Johnson Will Explain Cimea's Value to Merchant.

E. C. Johnson, dean of the extension division, will attend a meeting of the American Association of Agricultural colleges and experiment stations at Washington, D. C., early in November. He will also, as chairman of the standing committee on young peoples' institutes, give the report of his committee at the American Institute of farmers institute workers which is to be held at Washington.

On his way to Washington, Dean Johnson will be one of 10 extension directors who will attend a conference on farm labor at St. Louis.

A CHANCE FOR D. S. GIRLS

No Eating Accommodations Near Camp Pike, Alumnus Writes

Mrs. Zepherine (Town) Shaffer, 11, and Lise, Co. Shaffer, former commandant at K. S. A. C. are now at Camp Pike, Ark. Colonel Shaffer has recently been advanced to lieutenant colonel and transferred from Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga.

Mrs. Shaffer writes that if any of the domestic science girls want to start an up-to-date tea room there is a good opportunity at Camp Pike. The only place for people to eat other than at a local hotel, are cheap restaurants and cafes. These places are of the type that have placards in the windows on which are printed "This cafe is fair to union labor".

WANTS TO GET "ALL THE NEWS"

Former Aggie Inquires of Collegian—Is Working Hard

H. H. Nelson, former K. S. A. C. student who enlisted in the navy, in writing to a friend here says that his two years of military service here has been of great value to him, but states that several of the common movements are executed differently in the navy than in the army. He wanted to know the subscription price of the Collegian so he could "get all the news."

Is to Give Extemp. Program.

The Ionian Literary society will meet Saturday at 3 o'clock in their hall in Nichols gymnasium. The program will be extemporaneous.

MR. RAFFLES COMING SOON

MYSTERIOUS CHARACTER TO BE MAIN FEATURE OF R. P. BEAUTY CONTEST.

Disguised as an Ordinary Student, Raffles Will be Object of a Search the Winner of Which Will Receive Large Number of Votes.

The mysterious Mr. Raffles will be the feature of the Royal Purple beauty section contest, plans for which are being outlined now by George C. Gibbons, manager of the senior annual.

Mr. Raffles will be the object of a man-hunt, if the original plans of the committee are followed out. To the person who finds Mr. Raffles, will go a big block of votes, enough in fact to place almost any of the would-be Royal Purple beauties high in the race.

The Royal Purple people plan to keep Mr. Raffles in reserve until the last day of the big campaign for votes. Then Mr. Raffles is to step forth, attend classes as usual, and conduct himself in a thoroughly ordinary way.

Every man in college probably will be under suspicion that day. Like the gentleman burglar of short story fame from which he takes his name, Mr. Raffles will mix with the elite and then lower himself to the level of the freshmen, using any means he pleases to keep himself hidden away from his pursuers.

When Mr. Raffles is found, the lucky searcher will usher the mysterious gentleman into the presence of the Royal Purple beauty contest committee, the votes will be awarded as the searcher desires, and Mr. Raffles work for the day will be done.

Plans for making the Royal Purple a better book than ever before have been materialized rapidly. When the campaign for at least $8,000 for the Student's Friendship War Fund was begun, it was thought that it would be necessary to discontinue the college annual. But it was later found out that student opinion favored a class book and that the war fund could be raised far above the $8,000 minimum without the aid of the class book money, and the Royal Purple committee was authorized to go on with the work.

Manager Gibbons plans to have all copy in by February 1 so that the book can go to press at that date. Insuring earlier delivery than formerly has been made.

ISSUES CALL FOR WIRELESS MEN

Government Wants Young Men, Subject to Draft, to Train.

The government is calling for 15,000 men of draft age to start training at once in telegraphy and wireless. Classes in units of 12 will be formed November 12. Regular classes will meet Tuesday and Thursday at the seventh and eighth hours in C-62 and will continue throughout the semester. The work will include practice in sending and receiving messages and lectures on electrical signal devices will be given. No laboratory charges will be made.

Extra advantages will be offered to young men taking this training. Those who complete the work will be given a two semester hour credit. Work will be open only to men who are enrolled and subject to draft. Those who wish to take the course should hand in their names to the physics department by November 12.

DRESSES FOR GIRL VOLUNTEERS

White Sleeve Apron Will be Worn by Members of Classes.

The girls in the surgical dressing classes will soon be wearing the volunteer workers uniform. It is to be a large white sleeve apron, or a white apron with extra white sleevelets, and a blue cuff.

In the classes which have been meeting for the last week the uniforms have not been worn because the girls have not had time to make them.

The cuff is made of a 27 inch square of blue lawn, flaxon, or similar material. It is to have a one inch hem on all sides, the hem being reversed on one side to make the cuff in the front. Where it is turned back from the face it is relieved by a one inch white facing.

COLLEGES FAR ABOVE GOAL

Kansas Institutions Subscribe heavily to Friendship Fund.

Topeka, Nov. 8.—Kansas colleges have gone far beyond their pledges made at a meeting held in Topeka two weeks ago, when plans for raising $40,000 among the state institutions were discussed, and where each college pledged itself to raise an amount equal to $5 for each student enrolled.

St. Mary college, which was not represented at the Topeka meeting but which later asked to be allowed to pledge $1,500, has reported subscriptions of $2,383. Midland college doubled its pledge of $300, and the Kansas State Normal, which originally pledged $1,000 but later raised the amount sought to $3,500 is rapidly nearing the latter goal.

Other Kansas colleges also have far exceeded their pledges.

A HARD BATTLE AT AMES

TWO AGGIE ELEVEN'S HAVE SIMILAR RECORDS AND SIMILAR AMBITIONS.

Clevenger Men, Minus Enlow, Must Fight Their Hardest to Win Over Strong Iowa Eleven—Ames Line is Powerful.

The Aggies can come back, and win the final conference game of the season with the Ames Cyclones. At least, this is the opinion of every player, and of every loyal rooter. A win from the Ames Farmers would be a good finish to a successful season for the Clevenger-Schulz machine. It would mean a season with only one defeat,—that at the hands of K. U., and a string of three conference victories. This is a record as good as any team in the valley will be able to show, for Nebraska has already been beaten by Michigan, and Kansas will most likely be beaten by Nebraska in the annual Jayhawk-Husker game.

A Homecoming Game.

The game with the Aggies Saturday is the homecoming day for the Ames Farmers, and is the big game on the Ames schedule for the year. This will make the Cyclones fight all the harder, but the coaches believe that the trick can be turned.

Ames has a good team this year, there is no doubt about it. In the backfield she has two stars that will be hard to stop. Aldrich, the captain, plays right half, and is the speediest man on the team. Boyd, the quarter, is another good man, and runs well with the ball, besides handling the team in first class shape. The Ames backfield is about the same weight as the Aggies, and both are well matched as to speed.

A Strong Ames Line

The Ames line is powerful, so powerful, in fact, that K. U. was only able to gain 78 yards through it in the whole game with the Cyclones. They will outweigh the Aggie line, but will probably be somewhat slower. In the Kansas-Ames game, neither team had any advantage in starting, while the Aggie line outcharged the Jayhawk line in every down last Saturday. It will be hard work for the Aggie backs to break through, though, and their success will depend upon the way the Wildcat line charges.

The Ames team has two distinct styles of play, and can use a passing game as well as they can the smashing game. In the game with K. U., the Cyclones did not open up on the forward pass until the last quarter, but when they did, they outclassed the Jayhawk crew. Had they opened up sooner, the score would probably have been a little different.

The Ames passes have been studied, though, and a defense worked out for them by Coaches Clevenger and Schultz.

When it comes to the kicking game, the Wildcats have it on the Cyclones, as Clarke's boots for the season have averaged a good deal more than those of Vanderloo, the Ames punter. Boyd does the drop kicking for Ames, but so far this season has had little luck in dropping the pigskin between the cross-bars. The Ames ends are only fair in getting down under punts, partly due to Vanderloo's tendency to kick the ball low and fast.

The Aggie's are in good condition now, with the exception of "Cap" Randels, who has a charley horse. It is working itself out though, and "Stiff" will be in condition before Saturday. Harwood is expected to be over his charley horse by Saturday, and to be able to play if necessary, while both Placek and Whedon have recovered from their injuries.

Enlow Must Go

The one serious blow to the Aggie chances is the absence of Charlie Enlow. It was thought that Enlow could play at first, but later reports show that he had to report on the day of the game, and that he could not secure permission to report later. Clyde Key is taking his place in practice, and is playing a good game, although not quite so sure of forward passes as was Enlow.

Fred S. Merrill, assistant professor in botany, and former Massachusetts Aggie football man, has been out on his hand while working in the carpenter shop Tuesday afternoon.

a great interest in the squad and has worked out several new plays that should be good for gains in the Ames game.

The squad left yesterday afternoon for Ames. They will practise this afternoon at the Drake Stadium, in Des Moines, as a final warm-up for the big game with Ames Saturday.

The probable line-up for the game is:

Aggies	Position	Ames
Randels (c)	le	Neal
Placek, E.	lt.	Bread
Gates	lg	Barker
Aye	c	Wallace
Roda	rg	Shoemaker
Whedon	rt	Schalk
Key	re	Jager
Clarke	qb	Boyd
Hinds	rh	Johnson
Sullivan	lh	Aldrich (c)
Placek, L.	fb	Vanderloo

The officials will be Hedges, Dartmouth, referee; Griffith, Drake, umpire; and Cochran, K. C. Journal, head linesman.

VACCINATIONS TO END SOON

This Week is the Last, Professor Conrad Announces.

The attention of students taking anti-typhoid vaccination is directed by Prof. E. Conrad, chairman of the student health committee, that after this week there will be no further vaccinations at the college.

"It is important, therefore," Professor Conrad said yesterday, "that everyone taking the treatment arrange if possible to receive their third vaccination some time this week. Those desiring certificates may obtain them on application to the clerk when they take their third vaccination."

DAIRY DEPT. IS CONSERVING.

Corn Being Substituted for Other Grains in Feeding Work.

The high price of all feed is causing the dairy department to cut the grain ration for the dairy cows below what has previously been considered the best milk producer. They are feeding all the corn silage the cows will eat and all the alfalfa they will clean up once a day.

In addition to this each cow is being fed one pound of grain mixture for each four pounds of milk produced daily. The mixture is made up of three parts corn chop, two parts wheat bran, and one part linseed oil meal. The mixture formerly was made up of four parts chop to two parts wheat bran and one part linseed oil meal. It is believed the cows are keeping up their flow of milk under the new rations.

SAYS SACRIFICES ARE NECESSARY

War Ideals the Subject of the Reverend Jacobsen's Y. W. Talk

Rev. Lewis Jacobsen, pastor of the Baptist church, addressed the regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon, taking as his subject, "The Present Call to Sacrificial Living."

Rev. Jacobsen stressed the importance of keeping up public and private ideals in the present time of unrest. "That we can't be the same kind of people any more is a mistaken idea," he said. "Ideals in many communities have fallen. The times are not unusual in this respect, for ideals must be kept to standard. The present time is one of sacrifice, but not just for those who are on the firing line. Service is the word of today. 'We are not in the War for ourselves but for our service. The immediate call is to sacrificial living.'"

AGGIE MEN ARE SIDE BY SIDE.

Carl Mallon, Football Hero, One of Quartette Training.

Worth Ross, '11, Charles Haines, '09, Hile Rannels, '10, and Carl Mallon, '07, are in the officers' training camp at Fort Monroe. At Fort Sheridan where they were first taken, the boys found themselves in the same company and assigned to adjoining cots. Mr. Ross came from Montana, Mr. Hains from Texas and Mr. Rannels and Mr. Mallon from Kansas.

Carl Mallon will be remembered as the Aggie who ran 80 yards to a touchdown and an Aggie victory in the 1906 victory over the Kansas Jayhawkers.

Hand Injured in Accident.

O. B. Howells, freshman in engineering, sustained a severe injury to his hand while working in the carpenter shop Tuesday afternoon.

The department has been trying to arrange an extempo contest with K. U. but owing to the war conditions it has not been possible.

The "Beat K. U." signs on all the college sidewalks might still be serviceable if the slogan were changed to the truth, "K. U. Beat."

NO FORMALS, PLEASE.

The student governing body at the University of Nebraska ruled last week that the giving of formal parties during the war would be a breach of patriotic ethics. Several other universities and colleges have fallen in line.

The question is not merely one of whether or not the students can afford to spend the money that a formal would cost. Money is nearly as free now as in previous years. But the attitude has been taken, and rightly, that any surplus of money should not be spent extravagantly, but that it has a better place in a Red Cross, a Y. M. C. A., or a Belgian, relief fund.

With other colleges leading the way, K. S. A. C. should line up in this war on extravagance.

All right hands up, now. Repeat after us,

"We'll go to no formal this year."

Saddle and Sirolo in Annual Affair of the Fall.

The Saddle and Sirolo club gave its annual roundup Monday night at Harrison's hall. Eighty persons were present.

FRENCH KIND TO AMERICANS

BOY GAVE BUNCH OF DAHLIAS TO AGGIE MAN.

Former Student Tells of Experience of His Engineer Regiment in the War Zone.

Mr. D. R. Hooten, a former K. S. A. C. student writes from "somewhere in England" and from "somewhere in France."

October 3, 1917. We arrived yesterday after a very pleasant voyage. The weather was fine and we had no disagreeable encounters, yet the trip was much longer than we expected when we started. It was a great relief to be on land again; we landed in Scotland and came down here last night. This is a beautiful country and looks like it would be a nice place to live. We came down on the train and great looking trains they are too, the coaches hold only about forty persons and are very small. Brewer and I got together while on deck of the ship and talked over old college days and wondered where different ones were by this time.

October 11, 1917. We are having a great time here, the French people are very friendly but we have difficulty trying to talk to them, yet it is lots of sport to try and many funny things happen.

A little boy gave us a nice bunch of dahlias this morning, they are nicer than any I ever saw grown in the States.

We are very well satisfied with the way things are going, they are even better than we had expected. The mail from here is all held up by the censor so that it takes letters longer to go than to come. They are censored by the Company Commander and the Base Censor, while letters coming in are not censored at all. We have only four typewritten pages of instructions as to what we cannot write and when that is all lived up to there is nothing much to write but, "hello."

October 17, 1917. This is Liberty Bond day so we get a holiday, and a beautiful day it is too. This is supposed to be "Sunny France" and it is certainly living up to its name. The Liberty Bonds are selling fast, each man in camp has bought at least one and some of them about five or more. From now on we will not have much use for money as we will be where we cannot spend it.

Everybody walks in the streets here but there are few vehicles to bother so it is not so bad. The country is much more beautiful than the city, in fact the country has a very picturesque appearance. We were paid day before yesterday so we now have a big wad of francs, and a big pocket full of copper pennies.

We notice that wives rarely laugh at their own—aw—jokes.

College Prof's Lawn Unsightly; Improves It; Neighbors Follow.

A well groomed lawn is sure to attract the attention and admiration of one's neighbors is the fact that has been demonstrated by C. F. Baker, professor of architecture.

Professor Baker, when he arrived in Manhattan two months ago was grieved with the appearance of the lawns of the city. He said nothing, but cleaned up his own lawn.

Neighbors saw the beauty of a well kept lawn and followed his example. In a few days the lawns on every side took on a new aspect.

Now as a result of doing what he considered good practice and the duty of a good citizen, Professor Baker has been asked to speak before the citizens of Manhattan on "Beautifying the Town."

SAWMILLS DO BIT IN WAR

LUMBER IN DEMAND FOR CANTONMENTS AND ARMS.

Without Forests, America's War Measures Would Lag, Kellogg Tells Engineers.

The sawmills of the United States are fighting for world democracy, according to R. S. Kellogg, '96, secretary of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, who spoke before the engineering students at seminar Monday.

"Few persons realize the extent to which wood is a necessary material in modern warfare," said Mr. Kellogg. "Without the great forest resources of the United States we could be of little immediate help to our allies."

"Our national army now under training is comfortably housed in wooden barracks in 16 cantonments from the Atlantic to the Pacific, built in record breaking time and requiring a total to date of 800,000,000 feet of lumber. No other available material could afford such speedy, economical, and satisfactory construction. The rapidity with which these buildings have gone up is almost beyond belief."

"The ordinary wooden packing box is usually little consideration, yet humble though it is, the multitudinous supplies for the army and navy could not be handled without such means of protection and transportation. Hundreds of millions of feet of lumber go into such boxes and also into boxes for the packing and transmission of munitions. The army transport wagon is a model of strength and serviceability. Into them enter the best grades of pine, oak, and hickory. Many thousands of these wagons are now under construction."

Miss Rembert Harshbarger, '15, spent Saturday in Manhattan and attended the K. U. game. Miss Harshbarger is teaching domestic science and art in the Wamego high school.

TO CONTINUE FOOD DRIVE.

Committee Will Work the Rest of the Week in Riley County.

It was announced today by E. L. Holton, chairman of the Riley county committee for the food drive, that the food drive would continue through the week, owing to a late start. The Riley county committee has been very successful in its drive in this county. The eastern states have only 200,000 more names than the states in the central division, and it is the wish of Dr. H. J. Waters, state administrator, to have this district pass them.

Following is a letter received by E. L. Hoover from Dr. H. J. Waters: "To the Riley County Committee, Food Administration: "Because of late organization in some districts, food drive will continue throughout this week. Use best efforts to reach districts not yet canvassed. See that everybody has chance to sign. Eastern states only 200,000 ahead of central division. "Let us surpass them. "H. J. WATERS."

HEAT IS FELT FROM COLORS

ICE SEEMS COLD SINCE IT SUGGESTS WINTER SKY

Colors Make Their Impression Because of Their Places in Nature—Why Red Is Warm

Colors affect one's feelings because of their places in nature. Since blue suggests a cold winter sky and ice, it should not be used in decorating a dark and poorly heated room, points out Miss Grace Averill, instructor in home art in the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"One thinks of red as being warm because he sees something of red in fire," said Miss Averill. "He realizes that it is an irritating color—it has been used with effect in bull fights. Even the old turkey gobbler is excited by red."

"Each color has its own individual characteristic. Red gives the idea of warmth and cheer, just as some persons have the faculty of making warm friends. Red, on the other hand, is likely to be irritating unless it is used sparingly. The effect of a touch of red in a room is cheering but a room should not be papered in bright red."

"Blue denotes a different characteristic. It is like the cool, sedate, dignified person. Blue retreats instead of advances. For this reason a small room may be made to look larger if it is papered in blue. Because it is a cool color, its use should be reserved for rooms which are naturally cheery and admit much sunlight. A north room should not be papered in blue."

"The use of a room should help to determine the colors which are to be used. The living room naturally receives much use and should be done in rather dark colors. A bed room should be decorated in lighter colors because it is used comparatively little."

"The floor should be the darkest color and the ceiling should be the lightest. If a ceiling is dark it looks heavy. Too much color should not be used—that is, color should be dulled, restful, greyed. Bright colors are more pleasing when used in small areas."

Fresh Who Likes to "Date" Has a Large Supply in Reserve.

There is just no end to the things freshmen will do, or have done to them. One prominent freshman had a distinctly original experience the other day. (He has had a date every night since college opened.)

The freshman went to the postoffice where he received a suggestive looking box. He stood regarding it with hungry eyes.

"Some girl sent me a box of candy," he observed to a nearby friend.

By this time two "pros", several envious friends, and a stenographer from the executive department had gathered around him, hoping he would pass around the treat.

Since there are no avenue of escape the freshman decided that he might as well divide his gift, and opened the box. It contained a card and a box of dates!!! The card read "These are for you to fall back on when you run out of the other kind."

A BARN WARMING IN THE GYM.

Proceeds of Ag. Frolic November 17 to Red Cross.

The division of agriculture will hold its first annual barn warming in the college gymnasium, November 17. The big stock show will take place from about 7 to 9 o'clock, after which from about 9 to 12 o'clock, the barn warming events will occur.

This is to be the first event of its kind ever given by the division of agriculture in this college. It is to be made an annual affair. Baies of hay will be used for chairs in the room and a barn effect will be carried out.

The meeting is to be made a business meeting as well as a social one. Cider and doughnuts will be served.

Milking contests and probably other competitions will be conducted, a prize being given to the winners. Dancing will, however, be the main feature of the evening. The proceeds will go to the American Red Cross Fund.

Freshman Learns of K: U.—Aggie Game On the River Styx

It was November 2, in the year of 1917, the night before the annual K. U.—Aggie game. The aggie students were thronging the big auditorium. Shorty was leading the yell, and the aggie band, thrilled, played as never before, and the thousands of yelling aggies sounded like a rumble of thunder in the distance. The march through Aggieville, the big bonfire, the sea of rooters, the free show downtown, with myriads of students yelling themselves hoarse, seemed like a huge dream to Mr. Freshman. A poor bedraggled Frosh his feet tramped on, his ears notched, and his little cap on backwards, was fairly benumbed.

It was high on to twelve when the freshie slipped into his little nightie, and tucked the covers up in his little freshie bed, and with "Beat K. U." still ringing in his ears glided off into the strange land of dreams.

The scene was back in the days of his infancy, when he trotted daily to the high school around the corner with a Virgil under his arm. He thought, ate and talked in Latin, and as he went he kept repeating the words—in hadem venit, in hadem venit. Then he stopped and gazed off into the autumn fields, and smiled up at the happy sun. He stood there undecided, and the words came back—in hadem venit, in hadem venit. He crossed the Rubicon and strolled out into the fields and woods, among the birds and bees and fairies.

Finally he came to a cave, and being tired he entered. He glided down and down. His senses were dulled, but finally he fell in a heap on solid earth. It was dark, but he saw an opening into a slightly less darker place, and he entered there. A guide, black and gloomy, stepped out to lead him away.

"Where do you wish to go?" he asked. "Football department," answered the Frosh.

Down across the plain they went and into a small door. It was dark. He could hear noises and see the dim outlines of giants and wild beasts. There were the mighty battles of the past. A huge tiger pelt of '16 was hung on the Aggie hook, and the brownies were preparing another marked '17. Other pelts of various descriptions and sizes hung on the hook. Then came another scene.

They came out of a dark recess into a low plain, and beyond the river Styx lay the bright fields of Elysium. The grime boatman came slowly down the black sheet of water. The guide pointed over to one side. There lay the Aggie-K. U. struggle of '16. The jawhawk had his claws in the wildest of the eye, and the wildest held his paw on the bird's wing. Both were exhausted, and neither crossed the stream. The boatman tied his boat to the shore, and came up.

"Tomorrow, does the boat return?" queried the freshman.

"Yes," was the laconic answer. "And who pray, goes over to-morrow?"

"I can't say," replied the boatman. "Come with me."

They turned and reentered the door leading to the football department, and they went to a place on the wall where there was a row of pegs. There were some vacant holes. The boatman explained that each peg represented a game, and that the four pegs labeled K. U. were the ones which would be played during the freshman's sojourn at K. S. A. C.

"The black ones are defeats, the white ones victory," the boatman explained. "Which will you take for tomorrow's struggle?"

The frosh glanced at the colors. There were three white ones, and one was black. He danced with freshman glee, and rejoiced over the white ones. But the black one, when would it come? Last? Then he thought "He that laugh last laughs best." He stopped and pondered. His eyes took on a stern look, he reached over and pulled out the black peg. He next turned to look for the boatman, but he had gone. A note lay on the ground. He picked it up and read:

"It takes three wins to cross the river Styx."

The next day—the roaring stands were swaying with excitement. The score was 3-0 for old K. U. The Jayhawkers were nearing the Aggie goal, and at last plunged across. But up on the top row of the bleachers a shrill freshie voice called out:

"They won't get over—they won't get over."

"Aw, shut up," mumbled another frosh. "Can't you see they are over?"

"No they haint," he yelled back, "it takes three to get over."

That is how it came about.

TO TEST MINDS OF ROOKIES

AGGIE MAN ON A SQUAD OF PSYCHOLOGICAL EXAMINERS.

Men Fit to Hold Responsible Positions Will be Found by This Method, It is Believed.

Psychology, scientifically applied, will be introduced into the new national army as a sifter of intelligence. Included in the psychological staff which will make these tests at Camp Zachary Taylor is First Lieut. Hebert B. Cummings, assistant professor of education in the college.

The work will be started at Camps Devens, Dix, Lee and Zachary Taylor, where 160,000 men will be examined with a view to determining their qualifications either for promotion or for assignment to special lines of work. The efficacy of the formulas has been demonstrated by comparing successfully the ratings obtained under the psychological process with those arrived at by usual military methods.

The system was planned by a special committee of the American Psychological Association and was privately financed until the recent establishment of a section of psychology in the Surgeon General's office. Tests at each of the four cantonments will be under the direction of a special commission, including four officers and six civilians.

GROWTH OF Y. W. IS RAPID

ASSOCIATION HAD ONLY 20 MEMBERS IN 1885.

"Old Hort" was the Early Meeting Place, and Meetings Were Held Monthly.

The Young Women's Christian association of the Kansas State Agricultural college has grown rapidly. In 1885 the membership was 20—it is now 435.

The association was founded in 1885 with Mrs. Henrietta Willard Calvin as president. The girls met once a week for prayer and Bible study.

In 1891 meetings were held in the "old Hort"—Sunday afternoons. Once a month a joint meeting was held with the Y. M. C. A.

In 1892 both organizations held meetings in churches, and before the end of the year they were almost out of existence.

Bible study classes were organized in 1894. After 1895 religious meetings were held during the noon hour in various class rooms. The girls would eat their lunches while taking part in the meeting. This custom was continued until 1910.

In 1891 a joint social gathering was held by the two organizations. This has been an annual event since that time.

In 1905 a house was rented for headquarters for the association. The plan was given up in 1910, because of the time, money and energy expended.

1901 a cabinet consisting of 13 members was organized. 1907 the charter was received.

No announcement was made for the Y. W. C. A. meeting next Thursday afternoon, November 22, but members and visitors who attend are asked to watch the bulletin board for the plans for the afternoon.

HERE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

Ivy Fuller in "Long Green Trail" at the Marshall Again.

Miss Ivy Fuller is in the cast of "The Long Green Trail," the photoplay to be shown at the Marshall theater on Friday and Saturday of this week in conjunction with the usual vaudeville. It has been some time since the first photoplay in which Miss Fuller appeared, "Skinner's Baby," and in which she played a minor part only, and it is indeed gratifying to her many friends here to know that she is in the cast of "The Long Green Trail," as the motion picture art is about as easy to "break into" now as the U. S. mint.

Kit, that was clever work, your following four fair damsels, and incidentally discovering that they had your sign. BLOCKED PUNT AND DROP KICK WON FOR IOWANS IN 10 TO 7 CONTEST

AGGIES WERE AGGRESSORS

Ames Back Field Men Had Trouble in Knocking Down Purple Forward Passes

Clarke's Superiority in Punting Kept the Ball in Iowa Territory

BOYD'S DROP KICK DECIDED IT

Until Last Minute of Play, Eleven Were Tied 0 to 0—then Ames Quarterback Booted a Free Goal from 15-yard Line That Defeated Aggies

A blocked punt—and then a defeat for the Aggie Wildcat.

The blocked punt that Wallace of Ames recovered was the deciding factor in the winning of the game, as at no other time did the Ames Cyclones come nearer than 15 yards to the Aggie goal, and at that time Boyd kicked a goal from about the 15-yard line.

It was one of the fastest and fiercest contests that has been held in the valley this year, both teams fighting until the last down, and it was anybody's game until the final whistle blew. Both teams were evenly matched, and neither one had an edge, making the outcome one that depended upon the breaks of the game, and the one big break of the game went to Ames.

Punting a Big Factor

It was a kicking game to a great extent, with Johnny Clarke outkicking Vanderloo of Ames about four yards on an average. Vanderloo's kick averaged 38 yards, while Clarke's kicks went for about 42 yards, by far the best kicking that he has done this year. This ability to outkick the Ames punter, caused Clarke to play a kicking game, which gave Ames more opportunity for carrying the ball, but the Aggies every time before the Marper men came into the danger zone.

The Aggie score came from a straight rush of about 60 yards, which was never headed. On the first down, Clarke passed to Randels for the starter, and then a series of line bucks and end runs carried the ball within striking distance of the Ames goal. Sullivan went through the line for the touchdown, and Capt. "Stiff" Randels kicked goal. This score came in the second quarter, shortly after the period had begun.

Then Boyd's Drop Kick

The final score for Ames, and the one that gave them the victory, came late in the fourth quarter. Aldrich intercepted one of Clarke's attempted passes, where Boyd scored the necessary three points for Ames. This rush of Ames that carried the ball to the Aggie 15-yard line was the nearest the Cyclones ever came to the Aggie goal, with the exception of the blocked punt in the first quarter.

One accident that hampered the Aggies chances came in the first ten minutes of play, when Leo Ptacek was put out of the game with a bad ankle. An Ames man succeeded in what is known as "hamstringing" him. Harwood went in for Ptacek, but a severe "charley horse" kept him from performing in his usual style. Fairman then went in at the fullback position, and showed up well.

Aggies Gained Most Ground

Every one of the Wildcats played a strong game. The summary showed that Ames carried the ball 211 yards from scrimmage to 193 yards for the Aggies. The Aggies made up for this by gaining 70 yards with the passing game, to 25 yards for the Ames Farmers. Another potent factor in the Aggie attack was the punting of Johnny Clarke, which more than made up for any advantage Ames may have had in advancing the ball from scrimmage.

STATE DAIRYMEN MET HERE.

Local Department Will Have Charge of Institution Herds.

The dairy herdsmen of the state institutions met at the college last week. A six-days course was offered by the dairy department here and was attended by the herdsmen of the 12 Kansas state institutions.

At this meeting it was voted to place the herds under the direction of the dairy department of the Kansas State Agricultural college. Hereafter the herds will be inspected four times a year by the department.

The object of the short course was to give the herdsmen work along dairy lines for the improvement of the herds at the state institutions. Holsteins were chosen for the herds in ten institutions and Ayrshires for the remaining two.

Kansas is a pioneer state in regard to having the dairy department oversee the work of the other institutions. Favorable results are looked for in the cooperation.

GET YOUR MAN.

If a brother of yours, khaki-clad, cold and mud-stained, would knock at your door tonight, would you receive him?

Of course you would.

In a few minutes, you would have food, warmth and dry clothing for him. You would settle yourself to giving him a welcome that would make him forget that dull booming of big guns, that sea of plash in the trenches, those lifeless-forms out there in "No Man's Land"—you would keep him from thinking of the grim truth of General Sherman's epigrammatic, three-worded, description of war.

Yes, you would willingly do this for him, if you were in France.

But you are not. France—shell-torn, wasted and exhausted—to him a dread reality, is to you only a dream.

He must find entertainment. Must it be in a drunken, vicious debauch that will make him forget God and you, and on the morrow, make him incapable of "getting his man?" Or will he find a "Y" hut and clean amusement, and perhaps remember to write you a letter?

Ten dollars would provide for the latter kind of a home for your brother, or somebody else's. Ten dollars may save that soldier's life.

But it's up to you. Will you "go over the top" and "get your man?"

HEADS AGRONOMY SOCIETY

Doctor Jardine is President of National Organization.

The college is well represented in the thirty-second annual meeting of the American colleges and experiment stations which meets in Washington, D. C., November 14, 15, and 16, and in the American Society of Agronomy which met yesterday in Washington.

Dr. W. M. Jardine, dean of the division of agriculture, is president of the American Society of Agronomy, and delivered an address on "The Agronomist of the Future" before a joint session of the American society of Agronomy and the Society for the Promotion of Agriculture which met in Washington at the same time. Dean Jardine is also secretary of the board of experiment work in the thirty-second annual meeting of American colleges and experiment stations.

A. M. Potter, dean of the division of engineering, is secretary of the engineering division of the college section in the thirty-second annual meeting of American colleges and experiment stations.

L. E. Call, professor of agronomy, will deliver an address on the "Relation of Wheat Growth to Nitric Nitrogen Accumulation" in this same meeting.

Miss Lucy Baughman, class of '17, K. S. A. C., and now teaching domestic science and art in the Arkansas City high school, visited Manhattan friends Saturday.

Miss Faye Walker of Clay Center visited friends here yesterday.

NEW SEMESTER DRAWS 58

STUDENTS ENROLLED SPEEDILY YESTERDAY MORNING, THEN RUSH CEASED

Majority of Entrants Have Taken Out Assignments in the Division of Agriculture—Many Classes Have Only Three or Four Students

Enrolling for the special semester began with a rush at 8 o'clock yesterday morning but continued for only the first few hours of the day. Total registrations up until 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon numbered fifty-eight.

"The enrolment did not come up to expectations," said Miss Jessie McD. Machir, registrar. "Plans had been made for at least 100 new students, and we hoped for more. But there are many conditions which must be taken into consideration at this time. The enrolment will be increased by today's registration."

The majority of students who entered college yesterday registered from the farm. Among the 58, there were only four women. Two of these were special in general science, one a sophomore in agriculture, and one a graduate student.

As expected, the enrolment was heaviest in agriculture. In the freshman class there were fourteen men, in the sophomore, thirteen men and one woman, in the junior class seven, in the senior class, two, and one special in agriculture.

In the division of mechanic arts, three freshmen, two sophomores, one junior, and no seniors were registered. The school of agriculture showed an enrolment of eleven, four for college entrance, three for the first year, and four for the second year. In the division of general science, no men were enrolled, but two women entered as specials and one as a graduate student.

The largest classes are in the division of agriculture. A number of classes show a low percentage of students and until the registration is completed it is not known whether these will be continued or not. Twenty-seven have been listed for military drill. Freshman chemistry as usual has a proportionately high percentage, 16 enrolling for the special term. In general botany there are thirteen students. In composition and literature and rhetoric there are classes of 17 and 16.

So far the classes in American government, history of education, economics, and business law have shown but small registrations. Class work for the special term began at 8 o'clock this morning.

CADET COMPANIES GIVE SMOKERS

Captain O'Neill, New Commandant, Speaks at Both Affairs.

Company C and Company D of the college cadet corps gave company smokers Friday and Monday evenings, respectively. The Company C smoker was held in the Commercial club rooms downtown, while the Company D affair was given in Harrison's hall. Games, short talks, and an interesting address by Capt. W. P. J. O'Neill, the new commandant, featured both smokers. Light luncheons of cider, apples, doughnuts and cigars were served at both affairs.

J. E. Williamson is the Company C commander, while Howard M. Gillespie is captain of Company D.

LEVY $2 R. P. ASSESSMENT.

Sophs Also Vote to Conserve on Entertainment.

The sophomore class voted Saturday to take space in the Royal Purple, and levied an assessment of $2 on each member. The class declared itself in favor of cutting down on the number of entertainments, and turning the money thus saved into the Students' Friendship war fund.

All members who want their pictures in the class book must pay dues to the class treasurer etao ahredtao week, and all pictures must be taken at Wolf's Studio before November 25.

MIXER AFTER AMES DEBATE

Societies to Meet in D. S. Hall—Debate is Free.

An inter-society mixer will be held in the domestic science hall Saturday night after the Ames Debate. Everybody is invited to attend.

Each literary society is planning to give a number of some kind either at the debate or at the mixer. All inter-collegiate debates will be held on Saturday nights this year, and the literary societies have voted to attend in a body. A committee is at work assigning sections to the respective societies.

No admission will be charged at the Ames debate Saturday night. The debating council has opened the debate up free, because they feel the question is one of great agricultural importance, and is to be debated by two of the largest agricultural colleges of the middle west.

TEAMS RAN TRUE TO FORM

Vets and Ags Easy Victors in Second Round of Tourney.

The Vets and the Ags are still tied for first place in the inter-division football tournament. The games last Friday resulted in victories for the Vets over the Engineers, 13 to 0, and for the Ags over the general sciences, 46 to 0.

The Vet-Engineer game was a good one, the Engineer team showing up much stronger than in the first game with the Ags.

The Ag-General Science game was a runaway for the Ags, but the General Sciences had several of their regular players out of the ranks, and it is rumored that they are storing up their vengeance for the battle with the Engineers.

The next games will be the ones that will decide the final outcome. The Vets mix with the Ags, and the victors will be winners of the championship. The other game, between the Engineers and the General Sciences will be just as interesting, as both teams will be fighting to keep out of the cellar division. Neither team has yet won a game.

GIRLS TO HAVE A "KID PARTY."

Freshman Women Invited to Athletic Association Affair.

The freshman boys will have reasons for feeling that they have been abused and neglected when they hear of the "party" which has been concocted by the Girls' Athletic association for the freshman girls.

A general invitation to all of first year student girls to be entertained at a "Kid Party" in the gymnasium Monday night, November 19, beginning at 8 o'clock. This, as other Kid parties, calls for school-kid attire. For the further amusement of the Freshies, certain of the members of the association have been assigned to appear as boys, real country-school boys, others as old maids, and still others as school teachers. Lots of good eats have been planned.

Another feature of the party will be the "Doll Dances" put on by members of the association. Later in the evening there will be social dancing, providing the freshman girls are able to teach their country-boy partners the art of college dancing. Miss Ethel Loring and Miss Edith Bond will act as chaperons.

Lieut. Hershel Scott, fellow in soils here last year, and Lieut. C. R. Aubel, who was fellow in animal husbandry last year, have been ordered to report at Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

"STUDENTS WILL NOT LAG."

DR. H. J. WATERS, President

I heartily endorse the Students' Friendship War Fund. It is one of the vital things that we must support during this war, and I consider it my duty to help it. If our army is to reach and maintain the maximum efficiency, it must be guarded against the influences which have wrecked great armies in the past. This can be accomplished only by constructive effort—only by putting in the place of the destructive influences those things which make for happiness and well-being. It is this which the Student's Friendship War Fund is intended to do, and the personnel behind it insures its complete success in its great purpose. The Kansas State Agricultural College expects to raise at least $8,000. I trust the faculty and the students will see to it that this amount is exceeded. College men and women have been leaders in all patriotic activities in every country. In this important constructive work they will not lag behind.

DR. J. T. WILLARD, Acting President

The work which the Young Men's Christian Association is doing in connection with the Great War should make the strongest possible appeal to College men and women. At a time when the nations are straining their resources to the utmost in a business which subjects men to inconceivable hardship, pain, mutilation, and terror, as well as to death in its most repulsive forms, this organization comes as the only one with an international recognition that makes it possible to engage in comprehensive alleviating service.

This service is almost unlimited in scope. It seeks to defend the spirit from despondency, degradation, and debauchery; it offers the body rest, cleanliness, healing and recuperative activity; it gives the mind wholesome occupation and saves thousands from insanity and death in the prison camps of all belligerents.

The Y. M. C. A. is one of the heaviest anchors that humanity has forged for her own salvation, and every dollar contributed to the Friendship War Fund is a strand in the mighty cable that is needed to prevent the shipwreck of civilization.

NEED 'Y' IN THE TRENCHES

PROMINENT AMERICANS ENDORSE FRIENDSHIP FUND.

"Makes for Contentment," Says General Pershing in Cable to Americans

Endorsements of the movement to obtain 35 million dollars to provide recreation centers for the Allied troops have come from nearly every prominent American. A few of the words of praise of men who know of the results the "Y" huts have obtained follow:

Puck up story

President Wilson (to John R. Mott): May I not, in view of the approaching meeting of the war work council, express to you the very high value I have attached to the work which has been accomplished by the Y. M. C. A. in behalf of our own army and navy, as well as in behalf of the prisoners-at-war and the men in the training camps of Europe, and may I not express also my sincere personal interest in the large plans of the war work council for the work which is still ahead of the association?

General Pershing (recent cable): The work now being done by the Y. M. C. A. for the comfort and entertainment of our soldiers in France is very important. As an organization, its moral influence is highly beneficial. It performs a real service that makes for contentment. The Y. M. C. A. has won its place by unselfish personal devotion to the soldiers' welfare and deserve staunch support by our people at home.

Ex-President Roosevelt: What the Y. M. C. A. has been doing in Europe has been truly remarkable; and now our citizens should aid them to do work of the same type for our own troops.

Ex-President Taft: We should feel proud of the Y. M. C. A. work so ably directed. Are we going to be backward in giving our men the nearest thing they can get to a Christian home on the firing line?

Secretary of State Lansing: It (the war) has been an opportunity for the Y. M. C. A. which was seized and turned to the best account.

Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott: I am deeply interested in the great effort being made to raise a large sum for the prosecution of the work of the Y. M. C. A. It appeals to me as an American, as a soldier and as a Christian.

Maj. Gen. J. Franklin Bell: I regard the Y. M. C. A. as being as necessary as the Red Cross.

Elect Purple Masque Officers.

Purple Masque has elected the following officers for the year. Miss Wanda Tetrick, president; Earl Taylor, vice president; Miss Grace Lightfoot, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Taylor will also act as business manager for the "Man on the Box."

FACED MACHINE GUN FIRE

HARRY WHITE LANDED WITH BRITISH TROOPS IN DAR.

After Boat Had Been Blown Up by Turkish Big Guns, Men Waded to Shore

His boat sunk by German guns, a barricade of barbed-wire entanglements lined up along the shore, back of the wire machine guns that mowed down the men as they waded up out of the water—under these conditions Harry White, who will speak at special student assembly Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, established a "Y" dug-out in Egypt.

The experience would have been thrilling enough for most American college men, but White, who is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, stuck to the work in the Dardanelles, where the shelling took place, and afterwards entered into the war work in the trenches of Europe.

With that memorable embarkation from Egypt of English troops to go down to the Dardanelles, went the Y. M. C. A. and with it Harry White. Without warning their boats were blown from under them, and as the men jumped into the shallow water and tried to get to the shore, they found themselves caught and held in barbed-wire entanglements which were concealed beneath the surface of the water, and as they struggled for their very lives, they were mowed down by the machine guns which had been stationed and concealed just up the slope. The association as well as the troops, not being daunted by any hardships, were established along the Dardanelles and with continuous shell fire and ceaseless bombardment, the work was carried on in a little dug-out on the side of the hill.

After this experience, White worked in Associations at Gallipoli and Salonika, and later along the western front in France with the British troops. He has also visited the prison camps of Europe and is thoroughly acquainted with all of the phases of Association work for which the campaign in the colleges of America is being conducted.

Since he has been in this country, he has been engaged by the international Committee of the Y. M. C. A. and has spoken to large meetings of prominent business men in Kansas City, Wichita, Hutchinson and other western cities. He has a tremendously vivid and powerful message born of intimate observation and experience with the men in the field.

Hiked to Hackberry.

The Y. M. C. A. House Men's club hiked to Hackberry Glen Friday evening. More than 35 couples went on the hike. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McLean acted as chaperones. A short program consisting of readings and music by a quartet was rendered.

BEGIN BIG 'Y' DRIVE

COLLEGE'S SHARE IS $8,000

But Members of Campaign Advisory Board Will Not Be Satisfied with That Amount Prediction Is Made That Fund Raised Here Will Go Far Beyond the Goal Set.

WHITE HAS SEEN WAR'S HORRORS

Man Who Will Give Campaign a Send-Off Has Just Returned from France—Canvass Entire Student Body Thursday and Friday

The first gun in the campaign to oversubscribe the $8,000 pledge of this college to the Students' Friendship War Fund will be sounded on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock when Harry White, who has recently returned from France, will tell students of the social conditions in the war zone that make necessary the erection and operation of "Y" huts.

All third hour classes will be excused to hear Mr. White.

The campaign is to last only two days, according to the present plans. After Mr. White has presented the conditions in France, student teams will canvass every student in the college. A faculty committee will visit each member of the faculty. Thursday and Friday will be the two campaign days.

Certain Fund Will Succeed
The advisory committee of seven members, chosen by the large committee of 66 delegates who attended the George Sherwood Eddy meeting in Topeka October 26th, believe that the two day's work will send the sum far above the $8,000 mark.

"I confidently feel that K. S. A. C. will show other colleges that it appreciates the worth of the cause, and is willing to make every sacrifice for it," Dr. J. R. MacArthur, chairman of the committee said yesterday.

"I am greatly encouraged by the way in which the committees have been doing their work. With such co-operation and with the enthusiasm they display, there can be no question of the success of the campaign."

Committee Handles Plans

The members of the advisory committee, in whose hands are the details of the campaign, are Dr. MacArthur, chairman; Dean Mary P. Van Zile, Miss Pauline Richards, Miss Stella Strain, Homer Cross, Bruce B. Brewer and O. T. Bonnett.

A faculty committee, composed of Dr. J. C. Emerson, chairman; Miss Helen Halm, W. A. Lippincott, C. M. Reid and Harry Umberger, is acting in co-operation with the advisory committee.

Each student member of the main committee has been placed in charge of some phase of the work. Miss Pauline Richards and O. T. Bonnett are arranging the canvas, Homer Cross has charge of the meetings and Bruce B. Brewer and Miss Stella Strain head publicity committees. The poster work is in charge of Ivor Mail, who has T. L. Shuart, William Gile, Miss Ruth Huff, Miss Katrina Kimport, Robert Kerr and Miss Ruth Taylor.

Will Show Honor Roll

A feature of Thursday's meeting will be the exhibition of an honor roll of Aggie men who are with the service. The names have been compiled by Miss Jessie McD. Machir, registrar, and by Ivor Mail, chairman of the poster committee.

All organizations are asked to attend the meeting in bodies. No seats will be reserved.

Call ON Y. W. Services.
The usual Y. W. C. A. vesper service will not be held Thursday afternoon on account of Student Friendship war relief fund campaign which is being held this week. At the next service a Thanksgiving program will be given.

IT WAS A REAL CHAPEL

Rah!
We all went to chapel yesterday. For the first time this year, at a regular student assembly, there was a real audience, that really appreciated the musical program, and it really remained to the end, without the usual number of stragglers. Perhaps the thanks go to Professor Westbrook, who arranged a tasty program for the two glee clubs. Probably Mr. Brown's orchestra was a big drawing card. Anyway, it was a real, old-time chapel. More!

SOME WAYS TO SAVE

"But I haven't the money"—that is the answer most students will give when they are asked Thursday to subscribe to the Students' Friendship War Fund. Subscriptions to the fund will not come easy to any of us, however, and only by saving on luxuries and so-called necessities will students send the pledge soaring above the $5,000 mark. Miss Elizabeth Maclean, assistant professor of English, quizzed students in her classes last week on ways in which they intended to save. Here are 20 of the 75 answers she received:

1. Walk when I generally ride.
2. Smoke no cigars.
3. 4 shows a week$1.60
4. Cold drinks at $1.....4.00
5. Candy, 50 cents a week.....2.00
6. Save money's saving ..$7.60
7. Cut out second-choice dates.
8. Shave myself.
9. Shine my own shoes.
10. Borrow the money, work next summer, and pay it back.
11. I can save $12 or $15 by not going home Thanksgiving.
12. Get old shoes half-soled.
13. Save the nickels I get.
14. Give no Christmas presents.
15. Cut out midnight lunches.
16. Cut out kodaking.
17. Buy less rag-time music.
18. Choose cheaper cafeteria lunch.
19. Ask parents to give money for Christmas present.

A CHANCE FOR AGRONOMIST

OPPORTUNITY FOR SERVICE NEVER WAS GREATER

World War Brings Heavy Responsibility upon Agriculture, Dean Jardine Says

Never before has the opportunity for service been greater for the agronomist," declared Dr. W. M. Jardine, dean of the division of agriculture in the Kansas State Agricultural college, and president of the American Society of Agronomy, in an address before the tenth annual meeting of that society in a joint session with the Society for the Promotion of Agricultural Science today in Washington, D. C. President Wilson was among those present at the meeting.

"The little group of men who met in Chicago 10 years ago to organize the Society of Agronomy doubtless had a vision of the increased service which agronomists might render by such a union of forces. I doubt, however, whether their imagination visualized, even as a possibility, the nation plunged into a world war, or the services we are now called upon to give.

"Men must be fed and clothed before they can fight. Since that fatal fourth of August, 1914, all agencies, making of two blades of grass grow where but one grew before' must be accomplished if a hungry world is to be fed at a cost small enough to allow a safe margin of happiness. This is the agronomist's problem and opportunity."

A Certain Acid in Chem. Lab. Gets a Freshman In Bad

A freshman lad in the chemistry annex was getting the composition of air by volume, and in the course of his deep and weighty experiments, began to consider some bits of freshman philosophy.

"I can find out, diagnose, separate and describe volumes of gas," he thought, "yet I can't put out hot air enough to get a date, after being here two months. I am going to learn a little of real life before I get another experiment." A glint of determination glowed in his eye, and he thoroughly convinced himself that at last the inevitable was about to happen.

There was a little blue eyed maid in his English class who also had more book learning than otherwise. She had looked at him once. This was enough to convince "our hero" concerning the measure of her love. He had the telephone number, so that evening with trembling knees, he descended the stairs. He was compelled to repeat the number three times before the "central powers" could understand. Next he experienced what physics teachers call a vacuum.

"Hello," came a sweet feminine voice, and Mr. Fresh man got back to

When he arrived in his room, he spent five perfectly good minutes in locating the light button, and incidentally added several new words to the English language. Doodle's "Book of Toasts" landed behind the radiator, and the necktie descended to the tie rack with the rest of the common herd. Gradually he looked himself over in the mirror in search of some defect. Then he saw, and the story cleared up.

The ends of his fingers were smeared with a brown, cigarette looking color of pyrogallie acid. Kind reader, you may play cards, cuss, and otherwise partake of the evil fruit, but if success in love is your hope, steer clear of pyrogallie acid.

Written by a Freshman
Walter Nelbarger

Since we cannot think of anything to write, we will continue as usual.

It looks as though the latest style in tiger's tails will be mostly knots this season.

When girls get angry, they have a "spat."

Our idea of an editorial "stand in" is exemplified by the fact that, although there were some 1,000 K. U. students here the other day, the Daily Kansan contains this: Mary Wood attended the K. U.-Aggie game.

Emily Hegenstoefel hasn't been able to get a beau yet this fall. Any young man interested may write the column.

We always tell the truth. The reason is, she is so darned ugly that no one will have her.

That ought to hold Emily for a while.

Visitor's remark—How stately those those freshmen walk!

Headline: Soldiers meet mothers, wives, sisters, etc at Y. M. C. A. house at Funston. Just what does "etc." stand for, do you suppose?

We are neutral—concerning who is mayor of Junktown, Arkansas.

Johnny views with alarm, the fact that the state teachers are discussing war.

The column recommends a woman for the job of secretary-of-war. By that we mean a name Baker.

We see that A. M. Doener, the landscape man, has gone down to improve things at the State Normal. Mr. Doener is a (beauty) specialist, so we feel confident that things will soon look better at K. S. N.

Wow: The Ionian Literary society held their meeting Saturday in the gymnasium. Some place for a literary society. We suppose they discussed "Paradise Lost."

We are sorry, but we must uphold the truth. Why not say O. B. Howells, who "sustained a severe injury on his hand while working in the carpenter shop," hit his finger with a hammer.

We agree with these weather prophets who say we are having extremely warm weather this fall. Last week a freshman went through Aggieville in fine shape, and when he read the thermometer, it (the thermometer) read above 100.

Bystander—"There goes Hart." Partner—"Where to?"
Bystander—"Oh, the usual destination."

For the benefit of the Seniors—the above word Hart may be taken as heart. Does that clear things up?

TUDENTS IN WAR TIME

By Walter Nelbarger.

America is at war. The youths of the nations are going forth to meet an enemy which has challenged the ideals of government, handed down to us from our fore fathers. They are going to meet the menace to the world's liberty, the foe of the world's people, you and I and others. Once more the glories of America are to be renewed.

Great men have said it was the duty of the men under twenty-one to attend college. They said this because we are at a turning point in the world's history. We are on the brink of a new age. We must train as zealously for the return of peace as they now train for war. If we fail to preserve the freedom men are dying for, what an ignoble end will be ours!

"Slacker!" calls America to those who fail to come at the call to arms. They fear the bullets of the nemy. Consider the slacker who, protected by the lives of their fellows, fail in the common duties of peace.

Let us students renew our faith in Almighty God, baptize ourselves anew with love for the flag that shelters us, and diligently prepare to be ready for the call when it comes, summoning us as "soldiers of peace," into whose hands will be intrusted the building of the America yet to be.

federal, state and private, have been called upon to face a great problem. A continuous stream of foodstuffs must be kept moving from this country and Canada to our allies and the allied armies at a time, when not only is the world's available food supply low, but the stores of wheat in Russia, India, and Argentina are inaccessible. Especially heavy, therefore, is the responsibility resting on agriculture.

"In the preoccupation of the present great emergency agronomists must not forget the future. During the present crisis and after it has passed, there are two fundamental ideals which agronomists must keep before them. They must render such service as will warrant the increasing confidence of the farmer and must secure so thorough a training as to be able to understand and appreciate the relationship between the fundamental sciences and agronomy, and to make original contributions to the science of agriculture.

"The agronomist is more or less of a middleman between the man of pure science and the man on the farm. He must be scientific enough on the one hand to understand the principles evolved by the pathologist, the biologist, and the chemist, and practical enough on the other hand, to apply these principles to the business of farming.

"In the past, and even in the present, leading men in agriculture have not always been well trained. Because of native ability, practical experience, and the fact that the field was in a pioneer stage of development with many pressing problems of elementary character, they have achieved notable results. The problems of the future will be more difficult. The meager training of the past will not serve.

"This opportunity to do consecutive work in one of the most critical periods in the history of human progress is one to be considered gravely and with renewed courage and determination. The world's difficulties will not pass with the ending of the war. The telephone by degrees. But he came back strong and straight to the point, and soon the deed was done.

That night the new red necktie came out of the bottom bureau drawer, a new blade was put into the recently purchased safety, and John Henry Doodle's "Book of Toasts" was also rejuvenated. "I shall succeed," vowed the Frosh.

But Fate had no such thing in store. Things went lovely, until that time approached when a stray hair is the most wonderful thing in the world, when something punched a tire. She arose and bade him a hasty goodnight. Mr. Frosh was aroused by this unexpected turn in the affairs of mankind and weakly expostulated. But she informed him that her decision was final, and that he was a moral bankrupt.

What could the matter be? What did he do? Womankind suffered a severe fall in his freshman mind as he trudged home. He slammed the door so hard, the landlady climbed out of bed to remind him about it.

MISS MILLER SELF TRAINED

GREAT MEZZO-CONTRALTO HAD NO FAMOUS MASTER.

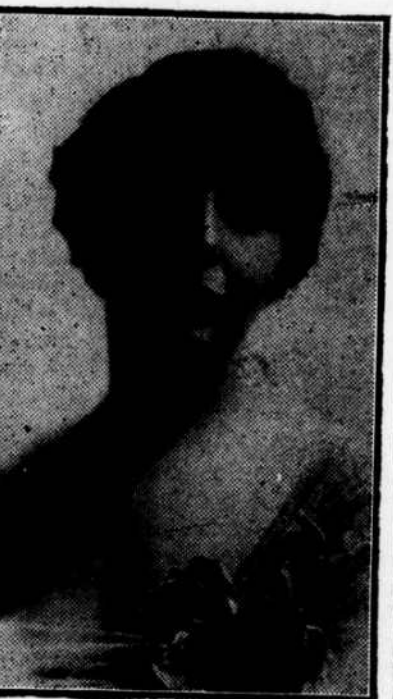

Childish Ambition to Become the World's Most Famous Singer Was Her Stimulant.

Christine Miller, accorded by the musical world to be the greatest mezzo-contralto on the concert stage, will sing in the college auditorium, November 20, under the auspices of the Artist's series, which takes the place of the college lyceum course. This entertainment is the second number of the series.

Lovers of good music can look forward to a master production. Christine Miller is beautiful, graceful, and has a wonderful personality, which coupled with her remarkable voice and mastery of her art, makes her the ideal American mezzo-contralto.

Trained Herself at Home.

Through her own efforts Miss Miller has attained her unusual success. No master teacher developed her talent. It was by self development that she mastered her art. Blessed with the keen intelligence, warmth of heart, and the sympathy of nature peculiar to her Scottish race, she has attained the foremost position in the musical world. Her engagements number more than 100 each season. Arthur E. Westbrook, head of the department of music, has this to say of Miss Miller:

"It has been my privilege to hear Christine Miller in both concert and oratorio. Without exception I consider her to be the greatest mezzo-contralto I have ever heard. She is gracious and charming in appearance, her singing is most artistic, and her programs are wonderful."

Although of Scottish birth, Miss Miller has lived in this country since her early childhood and is typically American. She received her early training in her home and it is to this early training that Miss Miller attributes her later success.

Ambitious as a Child. As a child she had ambition to be the greatest singer in the world and so strongly was this spirit imbued within her, and so earnest her purpose, that nothing could stop this artist in reaching her present rank.

No task has been too great for her and there has been no aria she could not master. She is truly in love with her work, and is never so happy as when learning some new composition.

The other two numbers of the Artist's series are the Zoelner String Quartet, one of the two greatest quartets of its kind in the world, which will be here February 25, and Miss Gay Zanola Maclaren, an imitative dramatic reader of exceptional ability, who will be here January 12.

Study of Student's Face Is a Pointer To Grade Received

Have you ever noticed the facial expression of students when quiz papers are being returned? If you have, you know guessing grades is as easy as falling off a log.

Take for example the case of Bill Jones, whose joyous smile shows that his paper has been marked "E," although he had expected nothing better than a "P." Then there is Sam Smith who has an "F" when he expects an "M."

The student who received the "E" grade usually asks the others what grade they have. If the grade is poor "mum" is the word. Some persons tear up their papers when the grade is poor, and others fold it in a tiny wad. The "E" student folds his paper so that the grade is on the outside.

BAKER ENDORSES THE 'Y'

ORGANIZATION'S WAR WORK HAS BEEN TESTED.

Knights of Columbus Only Other Group Which Can Erect Buildings Within Cantonment.

Because the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus served the soldiers along the Mexican borders and have already been identified with recreational work in the army, Secretary of War Baker has ruled that only these two organizations will be permitted to erect buildings within the military reservations.

Since the outbreak of the war lodges, societies, fraternities and other social and benevolent organizations have petitioned to be allowed to administer to the social needs of their men within the camps. But as none of these plans were as broad as those of the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus, the others had to be turned down, Secretary Baker stated.

Social Needs Fully Met.
"The Young Men's Christian association represents the Protestant denominations, which will constitute roughly 60 per cent of our new army; the work of this organization in all military camps both in Canada and abroad is too well known to require comment," the statement reads. "The Knights of Columbus represent the Catholic denomination, which will constitute perhaps 35 per cent of the new army. While this society is a fraternal organization, it will sustain exactly the same relation to the camps as is sustained by the Young Men's Christian association and will hold no meetings to which all the troops in the camp are not invited, regardless of religious or other preferences."

Ample Opportunity for Societies.
"It seems to me, moreover, that the communities nearby the camps, where the soldiers will undoubtedly spend much of such leisure time as is allowed them, present a genuine opportunity to these various societies and organizations, which have sought admission to the camps. Experience has shown that the instinctive desire of a soldier to 'go to town,' if the town is only a crossroads. For this reason, therefore, the commission on training camp activities, with my approval and under my direction, has given a great deal of time and thought to the task of organizing these towns and cities along recreational and social lines."

"Indeed, there is so large a task before us in surrounding our troops with a healthy environment, and the emergency is so great that I trust that all groups can co-operate in a cordial spirit of loyalty and fellowship, regardless of any differences of race, creed or affiliation."

AMES BY THREE POINTS

gies were Clarke, Roda, Key, and Randels. Clarke played by far his best game of the season, running the team fast and steady, carrying the ball himself for good gains, and returning punts surprisingly well. Roda was as usual, the big guard tearing things up in the line, and tackling fiercely. Key played especially well on the defensive, very few plays getting around his end, and he was usually meeting the Ames men behind their own line. Captain "Stiff" did not play his usual defensive game, but starred brilliantly on the offensive, being on the receiving end of the Aggie passes, which were the most spectacular happenings of the game.

The Game Was Clean

The stars of the Cyclones were Captain Aldrich at half, and Boyd at quarter, together with Wallace at center. Boyd showed a fighting spirit by coming back in the game after being knocked unconscious, and finishing the game. Heater, who went in at right half for Johnson, also played a good game.

An especially good feature about the game was the clean way in which both teams played. While both teams were fighting to the last ounce of their energy, there were less than 50 yards called in penalties.

The line-up was:

Aggies	Pos.	Ames
Randels (Capt.)	lg	Neal
E. Ptacek	lt	Greendon
Gates	lg	Barker
Aye	e	Wallace
Roda	rg	Shoemaker
Whedon	rt	Schalk
Key	re	Jager
Clarke	qb	Boyd

MEET AMES IN A DEBATE

IMPORTANT AGRICULTURAL QUESTION WILL BE ARGUED SATURDAY EVENING.

Debate Council Has Decided to Open This Talk up to Students, Who May Attend Without Charge—A Mixer Will Be Held Later.

The annual Ames-Aggie debate Saturday night promises to be unusually interesting, believes Don L. Burk, assistant professor of English and coach of debate.

In preparation the teams have had the expert advice of W. E. Grimes, professor of farm management, and of D. J. G. Emerson, professor of public speaking. The question for debate presents many problems, each of which is considered of paramount interest to every student who comes from the farm. These questions are the depletion of the soil, the constant moving of the tenant, the forms of leasing most advisable for the corn belt, improvement of credit facilities, and methods of acquiring ownership.

"In all my experience as a debate coach," said Professor Burk, "I never have heard a debate team that has had more pep than the two teams that are going after Ames Saturday."

The affirmative team, which will debate the Ames negative team at home, is captained by Arthur Boyer, senior in industrial journalism, and winner of the last oratorical contest.

The second speaker on the affirmative is Walter Houghton, senior in agronomy, and the third speaker is Calvin J. Medlin, president of the sophomore class.

The negative team, which will debate at Ames, consists of H. Clyde Fisher, junior in industrial journalism; H. A. Moore, sophomore in industrial journalism, and Turner Barger, junior in agronomy.

A new feature of the debate Saturday is the fact that no admission will be charged. A program will be given before the debate, and an entertainment will be held in the domestic science building after the debate. Each literary society will contribute a number to the program of the evening. Stunts, readings and music will be given at the mixer.

GEO. CAMPBELL, TULSA'S HERO.

Aggie Graduate Sacrificed Profits to Save Customers' Lives.

George R. Campbell, '16, proprietor of the Hudson dairy at Tulsa, Okla., made himself prominent in the eyes of all Tulsans, recently, by tracing a scarlet fever epidemic to its source.

Mr. Campbell having noticed a number of cases of scarlet fever at homes supplied by his dairy, looked into the matter more thoroughly, and found that there existed one case of the fever among the four persons from whom he procured his supply of milk. The Hudson dairy at once closed its doors voluntarily and Mr. Campbell though young and just starting into business for himself, made a most worthy sacrifice.

Dr. S. DeZell Harvey, superintendent of health, said that young Campbell deserves much credit for his actions.

ANOTHER AGGIE COMMISSIONED

Dr. Hogan a First Lieutenant in Sanitary Corps

Dr. A. G. Hogan, assistant professor of chemistry, engaged in animal nutrition work in the college since July, has received a commission in the army as first lieutenant in the sanitary corps of the medical department, where he will be engaged in nutrition work.

He will leave here Friday for Washington, D. C., to take up his new duties.

Add New Laboratory Equipment.

The department of applied mechanics has added four new Olsen extensometers. These instruments are to be used in the materials testing laboratory in connection with experiments for determining the relation between stress and strain or the elastic limit and modulus of elasticity of materials.

EIGHTY WANT WIRELESS WORK

Original Class Had to Be Split Into Two Divisions

Work in wireless given by the college in co-operation with the government began Tuesday with more than three times the number of men originally provided for. Arrangements had been made for only 24 men. Nearly 80 are enrolled.

The company is to be divided, one section working Tuesday and Thursday, the seventh and eighth hours and the other at the same time Wednesday and Friday. Additional help in instruction will be obtained from some of the downtown operators.

Men taking the course are in no way obligated to enlist but are expected, if they qualify for service, to select that branch of the army when they are drafted.

The monotony of the course which is largely of an operative nature will be broken by field practice, establishing signal lines, and field sets.

KANSAS ELEVEN ARE NEXT

Emporia Normals and Washburn Remaining Games on Schedule.

With every Missouri valley conference game played, the Kansas Aggies now have two of the strongest Kansas conference elevens to meet. The Kansas State Normals are the opponents next week at Manhattan, and the Washburn Ichabods will be played at Topeka on Thanksgiving day.

Following their close defeat at the hands of Coach Mayser's Iowa Aggies Saturday, when a drop kick in the last minute of play enabled the Ames eleven to win 19 to 7, the Cleveland men got down to work in earnest this week, with the hope of wiping out the memories of the Kansas and Ames defeats with victories over the Normals and the Ichabods.

The eleven Coach "Bill" Hargis will bring to Manhattan from Emporia November 22 ranks high among the Kansas elevens, and at present is slated for the championship of the conference. The line, with giant "Tubby" Vaughn as the star, has successfully withstood the attacks of Kansas back field men this year.

The Aggies emerged from the Ames contest without a serious injury. The absence of Charles Enlow, who was called into the aviation service last week, crippled the team's forward passing attack, but Clyde Key, 140 pound end, filled Enlow's place acceptably when the team was on the defensive. Roda, Clarke, and Sullivan starred at Ames.

The probable Aggie lineup is Captain Randels, left end; E. (Pete) Ptacek, left tackle; Gates, left guard; Aye, center; Roda, right guard; Whedon, right tackle; Key, right end; Clarke, quarterback; Hinds, left half; Sullivan, right half; L. Ptacek, fullback.

TWO OTHERS ENLIST AT K. C.

Hurditt and Franklin Want to Become Wireless Operators

A. N. Hurditt, junior in animal husbandry, and Ralph Franklin, senior in electrical engineering returned from Kansas City yesterday where they went to enlist in the radio electrical reserve of the navy.

They were sworn into service yesterday, and were given until next Monday to straighten up their affairs and report back to Kansas City. J. J. Searight, sophomore in electrical engineering, and A. Cobus, special in the School of Agriculture, who enlisted in the same branch of the service several days ago will report at the same time.

The boys will be sent for three weeks training to the Great Lakes training station, Camp Farragut, Ill. They will then go into a four months training school in wireless telegraphy at one of the state universities. After the close of the training school they will be given positions as wireless operators.

GIVE A BIG BARN WARMING

AN IMITATION STOCK SHOW WILL BE FOLLOWED BY REAL HUSKING BEE.

Saddle and Sirolo Will Provide Entertainment in Pavilion and Gymnasium Tomorrow Evening—Half of Proceeds to War Fund.

The Saddle and Sirolo club, an organization whose membership consists of the upper classmen taking the animal husbandry course, will put on an international live stock show Saturday evening.

The purpose of this show is to give the general student body and the people in the vicinity of Manhattan an opportunity to see the very best live stock which the college maintains and shows at the big expositions.

It is also hoped that the show will be a means of stimulating a spirit of good fellowship between the students of the animal husbandry department and the other departments of the college.

Show International Methods.

The program as arranged consists of stock parades, judging contests, a husking bee and a dance. A very interesting feature will be a judging demonstration by members of the stock judging team who will judge classes of prize winning show steers and explain to the audience their reasons for the placings just as they are required to do in the International judging contest.

The week following this show the college show herds will be sent to the International and as the older animals will be sold for slaughter it will be the last opportunity the students will have of seeing some of the best show animals the college has ever produced.

Doubtless one of the most entertaining features of the evening will be a milking contest by the girls taking the course in special investigations in foods.

A Real Husking Bee.

The demonstrations, parades, etc., will last from 7 to 9 o'clock and will be given in the judging pavilion which will be arranged and decorated especially for the occasion. After 9 o'clock adjournment will be made to the gymnasium where and old-fashioned husking bee and a dance will be held.

At many of the leading institutions of the country, especially at the University of Missouri, the University of Ohio, and Iowa state agricultural college a celebration of this kind is featured as one of the most important days of the whole college year and immense crowds are always in attendance. This is the first time the students of this institution have attempted such a celebration.

Half of the proceeds of the barn warming will be given to the Friendship war fund. It is expected that the fund will be a substantial increase to the $10,170 already raised.

JUNIOR PICTURES THIS WEEK

Class Must Have Photos Taken for Royal Purple

That the juniors will support the Royal Purple was evidenced at class meeting Tuesday evening. As all junior pictures will have to be in by November 20, it is hoped by the committee in charge that all juniors who wish to have their pictures in the class book will stop at the window east of the post office and make arrangements, for having their pictures taken this week.

Officers were elected to fill vacancies in three class offices. George Blair was elected treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Cotton, class historian, and Russell Knapp, marshal.

The class will hold a war time party in the home economics rest room some time in December.

HAROLD LAUBERT WINS PRIZE.

Junior Awarded $500 for Preparing Best Poster.

The prize of $500 offered by C. F. Baker, professor of architecture, has been given to Harold Laubert, junior in architecture. The judges unanimously decided that Mr. Laubert's poster fulfilled all the requirements for the poster. This poster will be on display in the architectural bulletin board in Anderson Hall the next few weeks.

A RECITAL SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

Two Members of the Music Department on Program.

Two new members of the department of music will give their first formal recital Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The artists will be Miss Doris Bugbey, instructor in violin and theory, and Miss Fiske Smith, pianist. The recital is free to all. It has been planned for Sunday afternoon in order that men from Camp Funston may have an opportunity to hear the program.

JOURNALISTS ARE GOOD TALKERS

Four on Debate Squad Belong to Fourth Estate.

The department of industrial journalism is best represented in debate and oratory. Four of the six men on the Ames debate squad are taking the regular four year course in journalism, and one of the other two has taken work in the department. Arthur Boyer is a senior in the course, H. Clyde Fisher is a junior, and H. A. Moore and Calvin J. Medlin are sophomores.

In oratory the journalists hold the record for the most first places, having won five out of the last seven contests, a record that is unsurpassed by any other department.

FORM AN OFFICERS' RESERVE

PLACES WILL BE FOUND FOR NEW MEN IN CADET CORPS.

Students With Previous Drill Experience May Receive Lieutenant's Commissions.

Because a large number of the cadet officers are contemplating entering the officer's reserve training camp, which opens January 5, Capt. W. P. J. O'Neill, commandant of cadets, has decided to grant reserve commissions to Aggie men who have completed their required drill, and who are approved by him. These officers will fill the places of the others when the latter leave. It is planned.

Commissions as second lieutenants will be given these reserve officers at first. They will be given a chance to drill companies in the absence of other cadet officers, and may be raised in rank.

The special semester students, and freshmen taking football, will compose "rookie" squads for which officers must be found. It is possible that the reserve officers may be assigned to drill these men.

SOPHS AND SENIORS TIED.

First Interclass Contest Held Tuesday—Games Next Week

The first interclass game of hockey was played Tuesday between the seniors and sophomores. The score was a tie. Freshmen and seniors will play Tuesday, November 20; sophomores and juniors Thursday, November 22; juniors and seniors Monday November 26; and freshmen and sophomores Wednesday, November 28.

WILL JAUNT AROUND FARM

Cross Country Runners From 4 M. V. Colleges Enter Race.

Cross country runners from four Missouri valley institutions will line up on the college field Saturday afternoon for a 5 mile jaunt around the college farm. The race begins at 3:15 o'clock, just before the Ags and Vets meet to decide the divisional football championship of the college.

Four schools have entered so far—Ames, Missouri, Kansas, and the Aggies, with the possibility of Grinnell and Cornell colleges of Iowa also entering. Nebraska did not enter a team this year.

Two meets between rival schools have been held already, Ames defeating Missouri, and Kansas defeating the Aggies. In the Ames-Missouri meet, all five of the Ames men finished before a Missouri man passed under the wire. Kansas defeated the Aggies by one point, with the Aggies best man out of running and one of the others sick.

Ames stands to win, according to present odds, as all five of the Iowans have covered the five miles in a little more than 28 minutes. The Aggies have a good chance to place second, however, if both Nye and Eggerman are in condition to run by that time.

FUND ABOVE $10,000 MARK

Aggie Students Gave Till It Hurt to Provide Men In Service With Y. M. C. A. Huts.

ORIGINAL GOAL WAS $8,000

But Fund Went $2,000 Above First Minimum at End of Special Student Assembly.

Personal Canvass of Students Who Did Not Subscribe May Raise Sum to $11,000 or More.

COULDN'T RESIST WHITE'S APPEAL

Nine Subscriptions of $100 Each Came in a Start, and Then Smaller Promises Flooded In—Result Shows Students Who Pledged Averaged $10 Each.

Kansas Aggie students sent the Students' Friendship war fund "over the top" yesterday. The latest reports last night showed a total of $10,430 for the fund, and only a few of the student canvassing committees had made their reports to O. T. Bonnett and Miss Pauline Richards, who had charge of the follow-up campaign.

The $8,000 goal which had been set by the workers before the campaign began, was left far behind when the results of the appeal for funds at the special student assembly yesterday morning were tabulated. A total of $10,024 was pledged at the meeting.

The special assembly was presided over by Dean J. T. Willard, acting president of the college, who made a few introductory remarks. Dr. J. G. Emerson, professor of public speaking, spoke on the relation of the Friendship fund to the college men and women and Bruce Brewer applied the fund to the students of K. S. A. C.

$75 on Honor Roll.

An honor roll, listing every Aggie student known to be in the service, was a feature of the meeting. Three hundred seventy-five names were on the list, which was compiled by Miss Jessie McD. Machir, registrar, and Ivor Mall, in charge of the poster work of the campaign.

Then Harry White spoke. For an hour the man who had seen war at first hand held the audience of more than 2,000 persons entranced with story after story of what the war is meaning to the soldiers in Europe, in Egypt and in Mesopotamia. Mr. White told of the Dardanelles disaster, and of the part that the Y. M. had in holding up the morale of the Allied troops there.

At the end of his talk, Mr. White asked for subscriptions. Nine persons responded to his appeal for subscriptions of $100 and then the avalanche began. Ushers passed among the students, distributing the pledge cards, which were collected and tabulated with the aid of an adding machine on the stage.

As the fund gradually mounted towards the $8,000 mark that had been set, and then passed that goal and continued on above $10,000, the group of workers who had been planning the campaign for the last two weeks, and who had waited to hear the final results of the meeting, broke into cheers.

Dr. Macarthur Pleased. "It shows where the K. S. A. C. student body stands," Dr. J. R. Macarthur, chairman of the advisory committee of seven, said.

Doctor Macarthur issued a statement later, thanking the committee for their work.

"In all my experience with student undertakings, I have never known a group of workers to carry out every detail in the way that the executive committee members, and students on sub-committees did," the chairman stated.

CAME OUT INTO THE OPEN

HARRY WHITE DID NOT HIDE STARTLING WAR FACTS.

Speaker Presented the "Y" Hut as an Antidote for Horrible Temptations Soldier Must Meet.

Picturing war in all its many horrors and speaking straight from the shoulder on the oft-avoided subject of the effect of social diseases on the men in the trenches, Harry White, international Y. M. C. A. worker, drove home a message at the special student assembly yesterday that was mainly responsible for the oversubscription of the Student's Friendship war fund.

Mr. White presented statistics showing the mortality rate in the war when death was caused by bullets or shrapnel from the Huns. Then he brought out in sharp contrast the larger number of men being made non-combatant because of social diseases. "Think of it, of 160,000 Australians, 40,000 were moral lepers," was one of the speaker's most forceful illustrations of the conditions the Y. M. is trying to combat.

Then Mr. White pictured the "home" that the Y. M. was giving to the men at the front.

"When the men came out of the trenches covered with blood and spattered with the brains of their wounded or dead comrades, they go into the only place of comfort, the Y. M. hut," said the speaker.

"The Y. M. secretary is the one man in camp who can serve them, who can repair their shattered nerves, who furnishes them a home away from home. Is it any wonder they almost worship his footprints in the sand? He has backed up every word with a deed of kindness that means so much to those men."

Even the Turk respects the sign of the Y. M. C. A. The organizations established in Constantinople five years ago have proved their worth and insured the safety of the Y. M. C. A. huts on either fighting line.

Mr. White told of the work of the Y. M. C. A. from the sands of the Sahara desert to the prison camps of Siberia in showing how far flung is the work of this organization.

"What about the morale and character of our armies?" asked Mr. White. "The war will not be won by ammunition and money. It will not be won by weak demoralized armies, but by armies made up of strong Christian men. When armies have gone forth in the love of God and Christian purity they have been gloriously victorious."

Mr. White answered in part the question "Why should we contribute to the Students' Friendship War Relief Fund?" at a meeting of the canvassers in the afternoon.

"We should stand back of the fellows on the honor roll. It will guarantee that they will return to us as good men as when they went away. It will help to save civilization for the world. It will give them the inspiration of knowing we are behind them."

HAYMAKER INTO ROTARY DEPT.

Former Football Star Has Position as Instructor.

H. H. Haymaker, '15, former football star and all around athlete, has been appointed instructor in botany. Mr. Haymaker specialized in plant pathology for two years at the University of Wisconsin and spent last year working on his thesis. Since May, Mr. Haymaker has been employed by the United States department of agriculture as a specialist in potato diseases at Greeley, Colo.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1917.

COME ON, K. U.

The University of Kansas, although having an enrolment of nearly 400 students more than K. S. A. C., made a Friendship fund pledge of $11,000 at Topeka. At the time, the amount seemed large to the Kansas Aggie delegation, looming up as it did alongside the Aggie pledge of $8,000.

Now the show-down has come, K. U. Hit the $11,000 mark, and then go above it as far as we exceeded our minimum pledge, and you'll prove your interest in the work of the "Y," just as we proved ours.

EVERY ONE WAS IN.

It was gratifying that the fund went so far above the $8,000 minimum set. But that was not the most significant fact of the pledging yesterday.

Nearly 1,100 students gave an average of $10 each to boost the sum far above the $10,000 mark, and close to $11,000.

Four hundred forty-eight pledged $5 each. Two hundred eighteen subscribed $10 each. Less than 160 of the students who gave, sacrificed less than $5. But nearly every one gave something.

That was the most encouraging result, for it showed that every Aggie is in this war to win.

FALL ENROLMENT NOW 1,687.

Special Semester, Opening this Week, Has Added 61 Students.

Sixteen hundred eighty-seven students have enrolled thus far this year. The enrolment in the regular semester to date is 1,626. Monday and Tuesday 61 students, mostly men in the course in agriculture, registered for the special semester that opened this week.

Heavy enlistments, and work on farms and in industrial enterprises, account for the reduced attendance this year. The number of men here, usually nearly two-thirds of the total, has dropped to a point where it only slightly exceeds the enrolment of women.

SHE MET THE PERSHING MEN

MARGUERITE DODD AT DOCK WHEN U. S. TRANSPORTS ARRIVED

Aggie Graduate Writes Back of France—Extends Welcome to Aggie Men.

Miss Marguerite Dodd, '13, who went to France as a Red Cross worker in the spring of 1916 is still in France. Recent letters to her mother, Mrs. D. A. Dodd, 1709 Laramie street, tell of her experiences in France last summer.

Miss Dodd was among the throng that welcomed General Pershing and his men when they landed in France. Three months of last summer Miss Dodd spent in a village at the foot of Mount Blanc, and from there she made several trips into the Alps, having many interesting experiences in crossing some of the glaciers of the region.

"The first night at our resort we could not see Mount Blanc for the clouds," writes Miss Dodd, "but we did the next night, and we could not but express our ecstasy, the sight was so wonderful. There were a number of varieties of berries growing around where we were and we made jam at the hotel for our use this winter."

Miss Dodd and her aunt expect to spend the winter in a villa at Menton this winter. There is such a scarcity of fuel in most of the French towns that it is impossible to keep the houses sufficiently heated. The town of Menton, situated on the Italian border is the warmest point in France. Early this fall Miss Dodd's party made the trip of 300 miles from their summer resort, Aix-les-Bains to Menton, in nine days. Hotel accommodations were unobtainable and one night the party slept in a building most of which was occupied by pumpkins which had been stored for the winter.

"Many women here are attempting to relieve the monotony of the soldiers' lives," writes Miss Dodd. "One American family has extended the hospitality of their home to 24 French soldiers. My aunt and I have a comfortable villa at Menton for the winter and we would be glad to learn the addresses of any of our acquaintances who are coming to France in order that they may be made welcome to spend their 'permissions' at our villa, as this would be such a heavenly contrast to the cold, wet trenches."

ALUMNI ORGANIZED IN 1879

College Association Has Grown in 38 Years of Existence

The record of the alumni of the college shows the influence of college training. It has been the object of the association to promote the interests of the college, and to give the members an opportunity to become better acquainted.

The first concerted action of the alumni was in 1874, when the graduates gave a program, and presented former President Joseph Denison with a gift. The class of 1879 organized an alumni association with a constitution. In 1881 a banquet and reunion were held. In 1884 it was decided to have banquets and reunions triennially. Other meetings were left to the executive committee.

In 1899 seven persons were appointed in each county to promote the interests of the college. Later the number was increased to nine, but the committee never met in entirety.

In 1910 a constitution was adopted. Students upon graduation become members of the alumni. Marriage with an alumnus gives associate membership. Friends or former students may be taken in as honorary members.

The board of directors elect the officers and have charge of the arrangements and expenses of reunions and special meetings. The annual meeting of the Alumni association is held at Commencement time.

Make Pattern for Army Gridle.

The department of shop practice has just completed the pattern and cast for cake griddles, for Battery C, 340th Field Artillery. The griddles made from this pattern will be used for making of pancakes for the soldiers at Camp Funston.

1,040 students and faculty members contributed an average of nearly $10 each. Twenty persons subscribed $50 each. Fifty-one pledged $25 each, twenty pledged $20, and fifty-nine pledged $15. The $5 pledge was most popular, 448 persons subscribing that amount, with 218 persons subscribing $10 each. The subscriptions below the $5 mark were comparatively small in number.

The women were shown to be in the majority in the amount pledged. Nearly half of the total, or $5,060, was subscribed by co-eds. The men's total was $3,200 from 365 persons, and the remainder of the amount was promised by the faculty.

Tri-Delta Pledged Most.

Only a few of the organization pledges had been classified late last night. The Delta Delta Deltas lead the women fraternities in total pledged, with 18 members giving an average of more than $14 each for a total of $252. The Pi Phi had the best average, 13 pledging an average of better than $16 each. Sixteen Delta Zetas gave an average of $13 each, 12 Kappas pledged more than $10 each, and 13 Chi Omegas averaged better than $6 each. The Alpha Delta Pis lead in number of subscriptions, 19 members pledging $6 each.

The Eurodelphians lead the literary societies in total amount pledged, and ties with the Ioniens in number of pledges. Thirty-nine Euros averaged $13 each; 39 Ios averaged $7 each, 31 Brownings pledged more than $8 each and 32 Franklins gave on an average of $10 each.

Second Semesterly Quiz Makes Co-eds Sit Up All Night

Today and tomorrow and then 'quiz week' is over.

A few more note books to get in and one or two more of 'em' to take and then believe me every body is going to celebrate with sighs of relief and begin to rest up. 'Quiz Week' just comes. No one says anything about it until it does arrive but then it emphatically makes itself known on the first day. The atmosphere shows a change of weather all about.

In the library ordinarily quiet and peaceful, around a table gather a crowd of rollicksome freshman boys intent upon gathering together in this last hour before the Chemistry exam enough material to convince the professor that they are 'gettin' good at it'.

In the double seats are studies in twos, cramming to beat the world. In the D. S. rest room the co-eds are collected in bunches telling of the awfulness of one just taken or of one that is to come. Along the halls survivors who fall lifelessly out of class rooms are beset by energetic to-be-victims of the next hour and implored to impart all sorts of information, "what did he ask?" "Was it very stiff?" "Did he have to answer all the questions?" "Did he ask anything we studied?"

And studying for a quiz is one of the things much talked about and seldom practiced. Here is the way one of the co-eds got ready for two death dealers for the next morning: First she made up her mind that she would sit up all night. Then as she turned over the leaves of her text that night she discovered that she was 'all in' and unable to keep in her mind the facts which must be ready for service in that first hour quiz. By this time it was 9 P. M. Well she would go to bed and get up early the next morning and cram for both of the quizzes when her mind was bright and fresh. She confided her plan to another co-ed in the house and a pact was formed between them. She would arise at 3 o'clock and would awaken her sister co-ed, who had but one to prepare for, at 4 o'clock.

The alarm was accordingly set and peace reigned. At 2 o'clock someone fell downstairs and of course she was awakened. Well if she should go back to sleep she probably wouldn't wake up for 8. Then 3 came and she thought that she could surely prepare for those quizzes in less time. But she must stay awake to arose that other girl at 4. At 4 o'clock this accomplished, she decided to take a little nap until 5. When she finally aroused it was 7. She had just enough time to go to the cafeteria for breakfast and look over her first hour quiz. The Third hour quiz had at least to be considered so she cut Second and crammed for Third.

This was her preparation for those awful quizzes which were to keep her up all night.

Inspector of Rooms Finds College Men Lack Artistic Taste

One of the courses a freshman boy never takes in college is that of home art and decoration. Like the primitive cave man he learns from experience. While he is learning he shocks the finer sensibilities of his better informed friends and any of the home folks who happen to visit him.

When a fellow comes to college and starts out in a "home of his own" he invariably gets the habit of accumulating property. He keeps everything. As the years go on his supply increases and yet the memories attached to the old articles grow dearer. The result is that a college man seldom cleans house.

It may be imagined that methods of decoration vary with the tastes of the man, but, this does not always hold. Certain features predominate in all rooms regardless of race, color, or state of mind of the occupant.

Pennants, pictures, and pieplates are to be found somewhere about the room of every Aggie boy. The size, shape, and color of the pennants could be shown well by a composite picture, but, the arrangement of them needs description. Some fellows like their pennants on the ceiling. Others prefer them on the walls, and many boys never take the time necessary to give the pennant a permanent resting place, but, just have it handy about the premises.

Pictures take up the greater part of the vacant space in boys rooms. The photographs of father, mother, brother, sister, the favorite cousin and the girl back home are placed conspicuously in the room. Snapshots taken at college, on hikes, or at home appear collectively or individually according to their respective worth. A famous movie actress, Jess Willard in tights, and last years world series champions can usually be distinguished without trouble.

Pieplates are not ordinarily used to decorate rooms but they can be found almost invariably. They are popular because of the various needs they fulfill. Hikes require them. Midnight lunches and feasts are not successors, without them. In fact one is never at ease unless he knows that his stock of pieplates is up to requirements.

But, there is one redeeming feature in every college fellow's room. His study table or desk, which ever it may happen to be, gives a business-like effect to the surroundings which is immediately felt upon entering the room. On this table, which is usually three feet by five, one generally finds all the books for the semesters work, the necessary pencils, pens, paper, ink, a typewriter, from one to four empty milk bottles, a wire scrap basket, the trusty alarm clock, gloves, hat, cap, and extra trousers hanger, all of the Collegians published during year, a check book, and all other articles to promote happiness and prosperity.

Whether or not boys like to work out schemes of decoration or simply do it because it is necessary has never been ascertained. It is known, however, that the decorations are on the walls and that they did not get there by any superhuman means.

PRESENTS REAL HAWAIIAN.

Show Tonight at Marshall's Has Dancers From the Island.

In "A Night in Honolulu" the author, Howard McKent Barnes, has tried to clearly set forth the true character of the natives of Hawaii. There have been many works by the early missionaries which only served to be instances of gross libels against the characteristics of the most gentle, hospitable people in the world. The Hawaiians love nature, freedom of the woods, the caress of the sweet scented flowers that nestle close to their breast, then too they revel in the rolling surf of the sea, while the mountain stream croons a low melody to the worshipper at its shrine. This devotion to nature can almost be said to be their religion. In the sunlight they see the smile of the Great Spirit, and what greater tribute could one pay to the Creator; than with a gentle heart and pure thought to show appreciation for the symbols of his benevolences. Their great love for their offspring disproves malicious falsehoods circulated about their wilful destruction of babes. Their salutation "Aloha mei"—the former meaning "Great gratitude," the latter, "Everything I have is yours"—only proves the beautiful character of the race. Had Captain Cook not violated the hospitality of the natives he would never have suffered the penalty of death. The Hawaiians appearing in the play at the Marshall Theatre tonight have but recently arrived in this country from Honolulu and the dancers are not to be rivaled in this country.

and Siroin Entertainment Added $25—Other Organizations Add to Total

Consistent hammering by squads of men and women under the direction of O. T. Bonnett and Miss Pauline Richards netted enough more money to send the college's pledge to the Students' Friendship war fund up to $11,274. A faculty committee under Dr. J. G. Emerson also boosted the fund.

Following the meeting addressed
Thursday by Harry White, International Y. M. C. A. worker, 75 student committees were organized to solicit pledges from members of the student body. More than $1,000 has been secured by these workers.

A tabulation of the figures shows that the women students were far in the lead in the pledging, there being more pledges and more pledged.
The women's total is $4,427.75.

A total of 576 girls pledged that amount for an average of $7.69.

Five hundred twenty-six men students gave $3,515., an average of $6.65 each. One hundred seventy-three faculty members gave $2,775.
Eighteen employees gave $155, and thirty-seven persons not in college pledged $301.25.

The money already has begun to flow in to the hands of Victor lies,
who is local treasurer of the fund.
Already there has been more than $3,500 paid, which is practically a third of the total amount.

Twenty-five dollars was added to the fund Saturday night, when half of the profits of the Saddle and Siroin barn warming were turned over to the committee.

The campaign has not ended, members of the committee say. A number of pledges were secured yesterday.

AMES RUNNERS ARE CHAMPS

Iowa Athletes Had Little Trouble in Copping Cross-country Race

Ames tracksters had little trouble in running away with the Missouri valley cross-country meet held at the college field Saturday. From the time that the runners left the athletic field until Hawthorne of the Iowa team lead the athletes back to the track, a trio of Ames men held the lead, and efforts of the other runners to break up the combination were futile.

The final counting of places, with the winner being given one point, and the others points according to the order in which they crossed the tape, showed Ames winner with only 24 points. Kansas was second with 49 points, Missouri third with 69 and the Aggies last with 79.

Hawthorne finished more than two minutes ahead of the time the runners were expected to make. Although more than 150 yards ahead of Cromer, a teammate who was second, Hawthorne finished the race with a tremendous spurt in an effort to clip
a few seconds off the valley record.
By going the five miles in 26 minutes and 56 seconds he clipped more than two minutes off the former record for the Aggie course.

Foreman was first of the Aggie runners to finish. Deewall of Kansas beat the Aggie man out by less than a yard at the tape. Eggeman, Barnes and Nye, three Aggie stars, were unable to run because of illnesses.

The men finished in the following order: Hawthorne, Ames; Cromer, Ames; Husted, Ames; Deewall, Kansas; Foreman, Aggies; Banks, Missouri; Flint, Missouri; Reed, Ames; Rockey, Kansas; Stone, Ames; Brown
Kansas; Hanna, Kansas; McCall, Kansas; Seebur, Aggies; Riddle, Missouri; Thackery, Aggies; McGregory Ames and Corbett, Aggies.

CHARGE A 5-CENT WAR TAX

EVERY ONE MUST PAY GOVERN-MENT REVENUE AT AGGIE-NORMAL GAME.

Ten Per Cent Is Added to the Price of Admission—Applies to Season Tickets Too—Empor-ians Will Put Up Good Game Says Coach

Get your jitneys ready.
The athletic department is going to charge a 5 cent war tax at the Aggie-Normal game next Saturday. The money is to pay the national amusement tax provided by the last congress.

The department has not been notified that the tax must be paid, but expects word from W. H. L. Pepper-til the beginning of the second half, er today or tomorrow. W. O. Hamilton, manager of athletics at Kansas university, was forced to add a 10 per cent tax to the price charged at the Kansas-Nebraska game.

The war tax did not affect the Aggie - Kansas game here.
The Aggie-Kansas game here.
Had the bill been in effect at the time the government would have been paid approximately $400 as its share.

The game with the Normals promises to be a close one. Last year the Hargiss men held the Aggies off until the beginning of the second half.
But with the score 0 to 0, "Stiff"
Randels caught a kick-off and dashed 70 yards to a touchdown. "Stiff" also made the only other score of the game when he carried a forward pass across the Normal goal.

Two years ago the Aggies were defeated by the Normals in a close game at Emporia.

Clevenger will use practically the same lineup that has started all the late games when the teams line up Thursday.

"Hargis has as heavy a team as ours." Clevenger said yesterday.
"and it won't be an easy matter to win from the Emporians."

MERRILL AGNEW NOW IN FRANCE

Former Aggie Star Writes of Conditions on War Front.

Smith Center, Nov. 19.—Of the many letters reaching the home folks from Smith county men on the battle line in France, none are more interesting than those of Lieut. Merrill Agnew, former baseball and football star, and captain of the Aggie eleven in 1914. He volunteered shortly after war was declared, and was among the first of Smith county boys to reach the fighting line. His letters contain graphic descriptions of conditions as he finds them, and apply to most of the front held by the Americans as observed by the writer in his moving about in the practice of his profession as a veterinarian. Recently he had the pleasure of being shown through a grand old castle that has stood for centuries, and contains furniture made in Napoleon's time.

STICKING TO CANDY PLEDGE

Co-eds Rapidly Falling Into Line in Anti-Sweets Crusade.

The candy pledge which was started around among the co-eds here in unwritten form last week is enrolling new recruits every day.

The Girls' Athletic association as an organization was the first to adopt the pledge. From the number of sororities, literary societies and clubs represented in the association, influence has been exerted upon all girls of the student body.

True, there were a number of final 'big candy spreads' and feasts but they were pledged as the last during the war or during the present alarming scarcity of sugar. There have also been chocolate barely nibbled and then the sudden realization of the sin committed. Of course the chocolate was finished because it would be wicked to waste it, but then that one served as a warning for further lapses of memory.

The girls of K. S. A. C. aim to show that they meant something when they signed the Food pledge and are determined that candy shall be the loser.

Clifford Joss, Russel Knapp, and Harold Goble, students in college, motored to Topeka Sunday.

SET UP A WINNING EXHIBIT.

Display That Took Prize at Peoria Show Is Here Now.

The members of the Tri-K fraternity, are busy this week placing on the third floor of the agriculture building, the agricultural exhibit recently displayed at Peoria, Ill., where it was awarded second prize. The same design is being used in setting up this exhibit as was used in Peoria.
The third floor of the agricultural hall will be permanent quarter for the exhibit, and will be one of the features of interest to visitors, during Farm and Home week.

This exhibit is one of the best of its kind and contains samples of practically all of the cereals and grasses native to this region, only being surpassed by one other exhibit, that of Nebraska university, because of a larger variety displayed by that institution.

NEW DAIRY HEAD COMING.

W. R. Davis Succeeds N. E. Olson as Chief in Department.

W. R. Davis will arrive this week to take charge of the creamery in the dairy department. Mr. Davis is a graduate of Ames and has had a year of commercial work at Little Rock, Ark.

N. E. Olson, who formerly had charge of the creamery, resigned because of the death of his mother and the illness of his father. He is now employed as principal of the high school at Citronell, Ala., where he went for his father's health.

MISS MILLER HERE TONIGHT

NOTED MEZZO-CONTRALTO TO SING IN AUDITORIUM

Treat Is in Store for Lovers of Music, as Miss Miller Is Known throughout Nation.

Christine Miller, the popular American contralto, will give a recital this evening in the auditorium. Miss Miller is making a tour of the west and is singing at the larger cities and institutions. Yesterday evening she gave an interesting program at K. U.
and pleased a large audience.

Christine Miller is regarded by the musical world to be the greatest mezzo-contralto on the concert stage.
Although but a young lady she has already met with unusual success and her engagements now number over one hundred in a season. In addition to this she sings for the Edison and Victrola companies. It is remarkable how Miss Miller maintains such bouyancy as she has when she is kept so very busy.

Miss Miller has all of the attributes that one can desire of a musical artist. She is beautiful and graceful, and has an unusually pleasing personality. She has a rich voice of wonderful range and control; and with it comes her clear diction, which enables one to understand her singing.

Her programs are well balanced and include the sweet lullaby as well as songs of more dramatic nature.

overs of good music may expect something exceptional in the recital which Miss Miller will give here tonight.

RED CROSS CLASSES ARE BUSY.

Girls Have Made Dressings For 1107 Wounds.

Surgical dressings for 1107 wounds have been made by college girls during the three weeks since the classes were opened. Every afternoon and morning many girls dressed in white aprons and blue cuffs work one or more hours in the Red Cross room in the domestic science building.

Only four by four compresses have been made thus far as those are the ones most in demand by the base hospitals. Those in charge of the work at the college are greatly gratified by the interest shown by the girls.

WANTS TO GO TO FRANCE SOON.

Order Can Not Come Too Soon, F. L.
Rimbach Says.

Corp. F. L. Rimbach, last year a sophomore in agriculture, is with the Eighty-third Field artillery stationed at Fort Russell, Wyo. In a letter to Dean J. T. Willard he says his division is expecting to go to France soon and the order cannot come any too soon for him.

POP NIGHT STUNTS CHOSEN

THREE SORORITIES AND FOUR LI-TERARY SOCIETIES TO PRE-SENT PLAYS

Kappas, Winners of Last Year's Contest, Will Present, "The Evolution of the Butterfly"—Big Festival Is to Be Held Night of Dec. 8

The Aggie Pop night committee last night decided upon the seven best stunts selecting them as most appropriate to be given at the big festival December 8.

Among the sororities the Kappas, Phi Phis, and the Tri-Deltas were picked as representing the best plans for stunts and among the literary societies, the Franklins, Alpha Betas, Eurodelphians, and Brownings. There is also to be a faculty stunt but this was not brought before the judging committee last night. This committee is composed of Dr. J. R. Mac-Arthur, Miss Jessie McD. Machir, Miss Mildred Inskeep, Miss Smith, Miss
Palmer, and Dr. J. G. Emerson.

The all-college festival night, which was instituted last year as Aggie-Pop night proved so popular that it was decided to model it on the same scheme for this year. Various college organizations were asked early in the semester to prepare stunts and present them for a try-out before the Pop committee.

Some of the titles of the stunts which were accepted last night are temporary. The Kappas will feature "The Evolution of the Butterfly", the Phi Phis, "The Budding of the Rose";
Tri-Deltas, "The Seasons"; Franklins,
"Democracy"; Alpha Betas, "American Ideals"; Brownings, "Apollo's Conquest"; Eurodelphians, "Canning King Can."

AGGIES WON AMES DEBATE

Iowans Were Out-talked by Boyer-Houghton-Medlin Trio.

Before one of the largest audiences that has attended a debate in the college auditorium for several years, the Aggie affirmative team won unanimously from the Ames negative team on the question of whether or not more satisfactory methods of renting are not more beneficial to the corn belt farmers than methods of acquiring ownership.

The Aggie affirmative team was composed of Arthur Boyer, senior in journalism; Walter Houghton, senior in agronomy; and Calvin Medlin, sophomore in journalism. The Ames negative team was composed of H. W.
Biederman, M. W. Emmel, and H.
Peterson.

A short program, consisting of two vocal solos by O. T. Bonnett, senior in agronomy, a reading by Miss Ada Robertson, sophomore in home economics, and two vocal solos by Claude Hutto, junior in general science, was given before the debate.
Two numbers—a vocal solo by Miss Bess Curry, special in general science, and a reading by Miss Alice Ba-can, junior in home economics—were given while the judges were preparing their decisions.

The judges of the debate were E.
R. Barrett, professor of English at the Kansas State Normal, T. W.
Hughes, dean of the Washburn law school, and E. H. McEachron, dean of Washburn college.

The negative team, which debated at Ames, lost the decision of each of the judges.

ARE MAKING HAND GRENADES

Funston Soldiers Will Practice With Dummy Explosives Made Here.

The department of shop practice is now making 1000 hand grenades for use of the soldiers at Camp Funston.
These grenades will be used only for the soldiers to practice throwing.

Craig Whittsett Stationed Here.

The Presbyterian national service commission, with offices in New York City and Philadelphia, has stationed Craig Whittsett here to co-operate with the churches and other religious and social agencies at Manhattan, Junction City and all points around Camp Funston and Fort Riley.

It may be when the war is over Americans will be able to sing the national hymn but they cannot do it now.

WHO IS "YETTA SEIKERT CO"?

Anderson Hall Pencil Selling Scheme
Has Students Guessing.

The Yetta Seikert Company which holds forth in main hall, is doing a big business in the pencil trade.

Close to the south entrance of main hall and fastened to the wall with thumb tacks is a large advertising poster and a small box of pencils which are on sale to the general public according to the sign.
The poster reads, "Put in a Penny.
Take out a Pencil. We work on the idea that all men are created honest.
We are in business for your benefit,
but extra donations will be admired."

Whether it is really a scheme for making pin money off of the public's curiosity and mania for putting pennies in a slot, or whether it is a psychological test in human nature someone is making, or whether it is a plain joke, is what the students are trying to decide.

Anyhow a pencil shop is a cafeteria is doing business in main hall, and how can any one dare to be dishonest when the proprietor may be at his very elbow?

Y. W. GIRLS AID AT FUNSTON

Two Aggie Co-eds Assist Each Sunday at Hostess House.

Sundays at the hostess house at Camp Funston are at a premium among college girls who are members of the Y. W. C. A.

The association has agreed to send two girls each Sunday to assist at the hostess house. With the return of the first two, and the enthusiastic reports of the work there, many applications have come into the Y. W.
C. A. office for the Sunday service.
The girls act as general assistants at the busy house and do everything from being hostess to carrying out trays, attending to the information desk, or at the checking desk. A member of the advisory board of the Y. W. C. A. accompanies the girls each Sunday.

The first two girls to go as representatives from the association were Miss Blanche Crandall and Miss Sarella Herrick. Last Sunday Miss Katherine McFarland and Miss Margaret King were sent and it is said that places have been arranged for others with a waiting list in addition.

COMMENTS AGGIE GRAD'S WORK.

Iowa Newspaper Pleased With O. W.
Beeler, '16.

The Tipton (Iowa) Advertiser has the following to say of O. W. Beeler,
'16, who has been principal of the Tipton high school for the last year:
Principal Resigns.

O. W. Beeler, who has been a member of our high school faculty for the last year and a half and high school principal since last January, has been called by the state college at Ames to take up the work of food conservation under government direction and leaves us in a few days.

Mr. Beeler is particularly well qualified for this position as it is the line of work in which he specialized in the state college of Kansas. Deeply as we regret to lose him from our schools we realized that Uncle Sam needs him most and are glad to see him enter this field of usefulness.

As a teacher and a man he has commanded the respect, admiration and affection of all who know him.
He has handled the agriculture and the athletics, and last summer was leader of the Garden club in our town and in whatever he has undertaken the verdict of those who know his work is "well done."

The Advertiser congratulates him upon his promotion and wishes him continued success in all things.

DON HUGHES IS IN FRANCE

Former Aggie Now an Airman in Service on Western Front.

Word has been received from Lieut.
Donald D. Hughes, a former Aggie student, that he arrived safely in France. He is serving in the aviation section, American expeditionary force, on the western front. Lieutenant Hughes spent two years here and was senior captain and regimental adjutant of the cadet corps.
Leaving Manhattan, he went to California at the declaration of war and enlisted in aviation.

Lieutenant Hughes was a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity.

W. P. Tuttle, freshman football coach, went to Emporia Saturday to attend the Kansas State Normal and Baker university game.

CAPT. O'NEILL'S ARRIVAL HELPED

Without an Army Officer as Commandant of Cadets, College Probably Could Not Have Had Branch

Extra Drill Required

A branch of the officers' reserve training corps is to be established in the college.

Authorization for the organization of the corps was received yesterday afternoon by Capt. W. P. J. O'Neill, U. S. A., from the war department at Washington.

Two divisions, a senior and a junior, will be established. The junior division will not differ materially from the present organization of the cadet corps. In it will be included men who have not completed their two years of drill. Members of the senior division will be the commissioned officers.

Students who elect to join the senior division will spend five hours extra each week at the military work.
The instruction will be divided between the theoretical and the practical, or field work.

Government Allows Pay
Extra pay, amounting probably to 30 cents a day, or nearly $9 a month, is allotted by the government for each member of the reserve training corps. Uniform and full equipment is furnished.

Students between the ages of 14 and 31 may be enrolled in the corps, according to Captain O'Neill. The senior division probably will consist mainly of juniors and seniors in the college.

President Waters wrote the war department in April of this year, asking that an officers' reserve training corps be established here. He received a reply that no corps was organized during a college year.

Army Officer Was Needed

It is considered probable that the war department had made the declaration to place a branch of the corps in this college this fall. But none of the corps can be organized unless a regular army officer be detailed as commandant of cadets at the college.

Coming of Captain O'Neill removed this last obstacle, and the corps came.
Captain O'Neill wants to see upperclassmen who have completed their drill. He considers it probable that the senior division will not be established until the beginning of the next semester, but wants to line the men up now.

Officers of the reserve corps may be called into service at the option of the war department. The college training is supplemented by a period of training in the field during the summer.

A GOOD INVESTMENT!

Now come the after-thoughts.

Did I do right in pledging that $5 or that $25 or that $50 to the "Y" fund, each student is asking himself.
Yes, he did do right, if he is a good investor, for he made a good investment. He has provided insurance against some poor soldier's lonesome-ness this winter, and perhaps he has saved that soldier's life, or his good name.

Now for the results. The investment is not a good one if one does not see where the money has gone.
To the man who has a close friend in the army, there need be no proof, for that friend probably has already written of the "Y" and its work.

But there are a few who need to be shown where their money goes, if they are to receive any benefit from the investment. And these are just the fellows who should be shown letters from the men "over there".
Every Aggie man and woman wants to be satisfied with the investment.

The Collegian will be glad to help follow this money up. Letters from men with the colors will be printed if there is anything of news or of comment on the good work of the "Y".

THE CORPS ESTABLISHED

Whoopie.

An officers' reserve training corps.
Now K. S. A. C. is up on a level with other land grant colleges. Two years ago she was above that level.
Then last year, after other institutions had been granted branches of the corps, the college fell from first of all distinguished institutions clear out of that class.

But the change has come, and it is hoped that Aggie students will show their appreciation of this movement by the war department. The senior corps should have enrolled in it nearly every senior and junior man for nearly all are to be in this war eventually if Germany does not totter soon. And the college man, England and other countries have found out, is of more value as an officer than as a private.

Under Captain O'Neill, a regular army officer, the corps should thrive if students take hold they way they should. And they will.

She's Called "Friday"
Because—But Figger
It Out for Yourself

"There goes Friday."
The sophomore's eyes followed those of the junior who spoke, and rested on a girl leaving the college cafeteria.

She was tall and slender, in fiction terms, "willowy". In fact she was so willowy that with no apparent effort she halved a gust of wind, never hesitating.

"Why Friday, Bill?" the sophomore questioned, with noticeable sincerity.
"Mindless."

And then—but that's the climax, and the joke.

'FIGHT WITH ALL WE HAVE'

SOLDIERS NOT ONLY ONE'S IN WAR, SAYS SEARSON.

Hun Principles Must be Met by a United America, With Every Man and Woman Helping.

Hearty endorsement of the Student's Friendship war fund, both in the form of a large check and of a few words of encouragement, has been received from J. W. Searson, professor of the English language, who is on leave of absence. He is working for a degree at Columbia university, New York City.

A portion of Professor Searson's letter follows:

"Could the people of Manhattan fully realize the situation this country is in, they would be willing to give liberally of time and money to aid in the war. Those of us who are not fighting with guns ought to fight with everything else we have. Enough foodstuffs were recently burned by internal foes at Baltimore to feed 100,000 men for a year. The entire port of New York is under strict military control.

"The Germans report the capture of the first American soldiers in France.
Viciousness, brutality and barbarity are the rule of the devilish Hun. As long as we are Americans, we must fight to make the world safe for decency and humanity. The ideal of the Hun must not prevail. Every dollar subscribed for Liberty Bonds, for the Red Cross and for the Y. M.
C. A. is a voice raised for decency and righteousness.

"This is no hour for pacifism. Those who obstruct or who refuse to aid in every possible way are traitors as base as German spies. I wish I were there to do my part to help in the good cause. I know the students of the Kansas State Agricultural college are all patriots at heart that they will not shrink when it comes to doing their part to make a whole world decent enough for women, children and self-respecting men."

Professor Searson closes by hoping the campaign committee the best of success in their work of raising the amount.

Freshman Slips One Over On Group of Smart Sophomores

As usual the plotters were trying to put one over on the freshman. He had just gone downtown, leaving an open field for pow-wows and such, and so Mr. Soph began to scratch his head and think, as was his usual avocation.

"Let's put a bucket of water over his door," suggested one malefactor of freshman happiness.

"Now, that air trick is so old it's got whiskers on it," said another example of college refinement and culture.

What would it be? That was the question. That Mr. Frosh was to suffer for some means or other was a settled fact. They suggested tying a string between chairs, putting a grape juice bottle labeled beer in his overcoat, or putting a mashed cigar in his pocket just before he went to see his date. Finally one bloodthirsty soph began to roll his eyes and a hienous grin began to cover his broad map.

"I'll tell you, fellows," he said.
"Let's get some marshmallows and roll them in quinine for him."

"Good," the rest assented. The plan was formed. A collection was raised and one soph started out on his "preparedness platform."

The next scene is downtown. The innocent object of sophomore maliciousness was going down Poyntz, muttering revenge for the last invasion of freshman rights. He decided to get revenge. How? That was easy.

Just get some chewing gum, and flavor it with a concoction similar to that the sophs were preparing for him.
Thus the two opposing armies cleared for action. All that is now needed is the battlefield.

And here it is. Mr. Frosh peered into his room. What a setting! The sophs were seated comfortably about the room discussing the freshman football team. A tall sack was placed in a strategic position on the table.
Each soph was carefully munching a large white marshmallow. The frosh of course was chewing gum.

"Have some candy," suggested one component of innocence.

"Yeah," answered the freshman, and he put the lone piece left in his pocket. 'As soon as I get through chewing my gum. Have some gum on me."

The sophs of course were finishing their marshmallows, and the finishing touch of some juicy chewing gum, was just what they were looking for. Besides they might not get it after the frosh tried his candy. They took the gum, eyeing each other slyly all the while watching the frosh. They unwrapped the gum slowly, and curiously enough all started in about the same time. Imagine a freshman's feelings at a time like this. Wow!
The sophs jump to their feet, hawing and spitting like the steam pipe on a through freight. One soph runs to the bath for water. The others follow. All the frosh could see as they left was a row of drawn up faces, which would not look extremely well if permanently recorded to say the least. After listening to the sulashing of water for several minutes, Mr. Freshman took the marshmallow from the sack, put a string through it, and hung it in the center of the room, with the following label:

"Sophs can fight to see who gets this one." He left for supper.
Freshmen, you are usually the goats, but not on this occasion. We are sure the ladies will smile on the freshmen more sweetly from this time on.

"THE HONOR SYSTEM."
"The Honor System" the William Fox prison picture marvel which is shown at the Wareham Theatre Wednesday and Thursday of this week is a big preachment made entertaining by splendid handling with exceptional characterizations, much human stuff and swinging, stirring action, and the proper balance of pathos and comedy.
All critics class this as one of the very, very few truly big productions.

Written by a Freshman

Walter Neubarger

College lab is life.

A freshman admits he knows nothing, but you must prove it to a senior.

It is reported that the Germans are boring under the English channel.
Just another proof of German underhandedness.

The Daily Kansan says: "The University of Kansas is a real melting pot." Especially in January, say we.

Headline: Former Lawrence man found dead near Wichita. What a misfortune.

The Italians did the newspapers a distinct favor when they retreated from the Tagliamento to the Piave.
The reports will now get into half the space.

The Topeka Capital says: The Sammies suffer from shell wounds. What?
Are the Sammies playing turtle?

Aggie students regard the Nebraska-K. U. game much the same as the Irishman regarded the war. "I'm strictly neutral," said Pat, "I don't care who licks the kaiser."

We hear that a Kansas lad by the name of B. Goodwin has been promoted to the aviation corps. It pays to B. Good, and go up.

Even China is changing premiers.

A news headline says: Assassinations, wrecks and fires the program hatched at Sasakawa, Okla. That must be a bad egg. Of course the old hen, the I. W. W. must be proud of this latest product.

We learn that a K. U. graduate is learning to fly. Congratulations! We didn't know a K. U. graduate could turn out like that.

A prominent Kansas editor has the following opinion about the column:
Some of your stuff in the Collegian is real good, and some is—. You notice he calls it "stuff."

A charming young lady approached the column the other day, and said they had had an argument at her club as to whether Emily Hegenspoofel was real or fictitious, and she wanted to know.

We thought she would come around.

That's more stuff.

Aggie Co-eds Learn To Endure Zoo Lab. When Term Is Over

Why does the Aggie co-ed take such a dislike to zoology specimens, and turn up her nose at the idea of taking a course in zoology laboratory?

At first it is repulsive for the co-ed to touch her specimen. She cuts boldly into it and then courage seems to fail her, and she drops it. After she has a little more nerve she again proceeds with her work, and finally works as though she really enjoyed it. Before the course is completed, she can cut up cats, and other animals with a vim.

The field trips and usually considered a hardship. When a stone is turned over, and the worms are seen loud screams are heard. The greatest fear seems to be incited by worms.

Upon overcoming all fear and prejudice, the co-ed appreciates her nature study and feels—that after all bugs and worms are quite harmless.

Journalists Have Library.

How many students know about the valuable library of current periodicals in K-55?

Students in industrial journalism all know about it, but not many others. There are cases of bound volumes of such magazines as "The Inland Printer," and "The Printing Art." There are also bound volumes of the "Boston Transcript" and of the "Industrialist" of many years ago when it was the shape of the old fashioned magazine, but had only four pages.

Many newspapers are on file in this room. New York and Boston papers have a place on the rack as well as those from various parts of Kansas, and Kansas City papers.

Then on the shelves, one may find magazines of interest to the editor, the printer, the cartoonist, the advertiser, the farmer, and the business man.

K-55 is a good place for a student to spend a vacant hour, says the journalism students, for there are several tables and many chairs, so that one can read in peace and comfort, for it is usually quiet there when a class is not in session.

COLLEGE MILL BUSY PLACE

HIGH-GRADE FLOURS ARE BEING GROUND OUT.

College Cafeteria One of the Largest Purchasers of Products—Which are not on General Market.

White, graham, and whole wheat flour, breakfast foods, bran, shorts, and screenings are some of the products of the milling department of the college. Most of the products are made in classes in milling industry taught in the department.

Two grades of white flour are manufactured in the mill, a first grade patent, known as 'Aggies' Best,' and a second straight grade called the "College K" brand. The graham and whole wheat flours have no special brand and are sold simply under the name of graham and whole wheat flour.

Two Breakfast Cereals.

The department makes two kinds of breakfast foods—both from wheat. One is made by putting the wheat through the first set of rolls, which only crushes the kernel. None of the natural properties and flavor are taken from the grain, and it is sold under the name of "Cracked Wheat." It is prepared in the same manner as oatmeal, although it must be cooked somewhat longer. The other breakfast food is made from purified wheat middlings and is called "breakfast grits."

"No attempt is made to commercialize the products of the mill," said L. A. Fitz, professor of milling industry, in charge of the mill, "but the demand for our breakfast foods is increasing constantly. The products are sold from the mill, and people find that the foods made here have more nutritive value and a better flavor than those sold over the counter by the retailer. This is true because we do not take out the germ of the grain which must be done if the product is to be stored for any length of time."

Sent Flour to Belgium.

The bulk of the sales of the flour made by the mill goes to local consumers and the college cafeteria.

Sales are often made to other institutions, however, and when a surplus of any product is accumulated it is put on the market wherever the best price can be obtained.

When the United States was promoting its first campaign for food for the Belgians the college students and faculty subscribed the money for a car load of flour which was made by the mill as their "bit" and sent it to the Belgians. The greater part of the by-products, such as bran, shorts, and screenings, are sold to the animal dairy and poultry husbandry departments, of the college, for the feeding of college animals.

Eleven Milling Students.

Eleven students are taking the four-year course in milling engineering. Some are specializing in milling industry and others, mostly from the course in agriculture, are taking certain phases of the work, such as the marketing of grain. Ordinarily there are three instructors in the milling department besides the student help which is employed in laboratory work.

WE ARE CHANGED COLLEGE COURSE

Literary Was Only Subject Taught Here in Early Days

In the beginning, Kansas State Agricultural college had only one course, the classical. At the present time almost any kind of work can be arranged for.

In 1864 an agricultural course of three years was added. Military subjects were added in 1866.

By 1872 complete courses were given in agriculture, horticulture, veterinary science and mechanics. Household economy had its beginning in 1874.

The short course had its beginning in 1894, and was abandoned in 1896 because of the small attendance. It was reestablished in 1899.

In 1898 the four-year course in household economics was installed. The names of the courses were changed in 1899 to agriculture, mechanical engineering, science and domestic science. Physical training for women was made a requirement.

The course in electrical engineering was installed in 1900. A four-year course in architecture was added in 1905 and the following year veterinary was made a four-year course.

In 1910, quite a number of revisions were made. Engineering courses were fixed with no electives. Home economics had limited electives, and the last two years in general science were almost wholly elective. Industrial journalism was established in 1911.

In 1912 the entrance requirement for college was made a four-year high school course or its equivalent.

Imri Zumwalt Speaks Here.

WON'T FORGET FUNSTON MEN

AGGIE GIRLS PLAN CHRISTMAS FOR HOMELESS SOLDIERS

Miss Mildred Inskeep in Charge of Work to Insure against Neglected Sammls.

Christmas for the soldiers in France is being given a great deal of consideration but K. S. A. C. co-eds intend to begin nearer home and see that gifts are distributed to some of the lonesome ones at Camp Funston on that day.

At Camp Funston there are men from every county in New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Arizona, Nebraska, and South Dakota, many of whom have no homes. In the statistical office a file of the identification cards is kept. On this card is a space for the name of a relative or friend who is to be notified in case of the injury or death of the soldier. Time and again in this space is written the word "none." That means in all probability that he has no one who will remember him on Christmas day.

So this is the list of soldiers for whom the girls are planning some sort of gifts for the Christmas season. They mean to see that there are a few who do not look for the remembrance which fails to come.

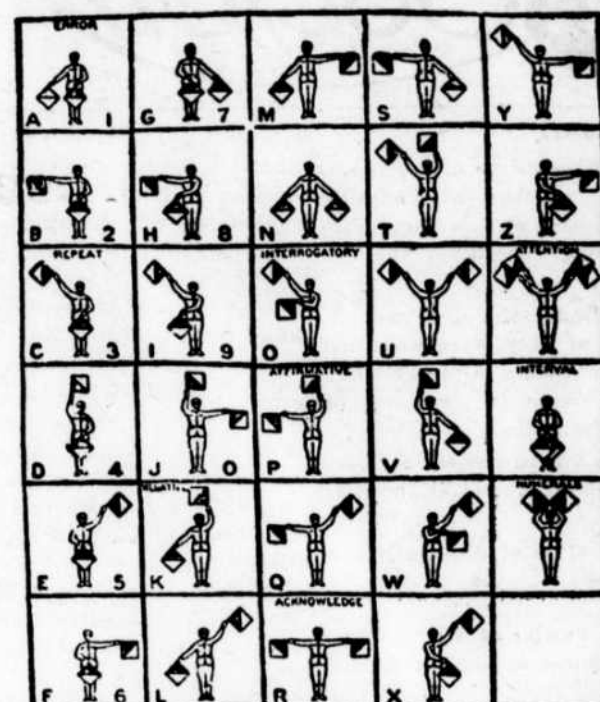

Arrangements for the collection of the gifts and suggestion for them will be announced later. Miss Mildred Inskeep will talk to any girl who is interested in the Soldiers' Christmas.

Frank Bell, sophomore veterinary, J. L. Woodhouse, junior general science, Floyd Cole, freshman agriculture, Paul Tupper, freshman agriculture, and Ben Price, freshman in animal husbandry, attended the K. U.-Nebraska, football game Saturday at Lawrence.

Turk Glvin, of Emporia, a former student in college, has returned to Manhattan to take charge of Elmer Kittell's clothing store.

GO ON A TRIP TO TOPEKA

JOURNALISTS PLAN TO VISIT PLANTS OF LARGE PUBLISHING CONCERNS.

Students Who Go, and are Up in Class-work, Will be Excused for the Day, Dean Willard Promises—Many Have Signed Up to Make the Excursion.

The students in industrial journalism will inspect Topeka newspaper and paper plants Monday, December 10. The plants to be visited are Hall Lithographing company, the Capper publications, the Topeka State Journal, the Kansas Farmer, and the state printer.

Guides will be furnished in each building to explain the work of the machinery. Students in elementary journalism after having studied newspaper organization will have an opportunity of seeing the different steps necessary in putting out a newspaper. They will follow the copy from the time it leaves the reporter until the story is on the printed page.

Year before last twenty-five students went to Topeka and were allowed to get out the noon edition of the Topeka State Journal. Eight of the students were reporters, and the instructor in the department acted as city editor. Charles Dillon, managing editor of the Capper farm publications and formerly head of the department of industrial journalism, gave a dinner to the Aggie visitors.

Because of the educational value of the trip, students in industrial journalism who are in good standing will be excused from their classes. Students, who are taking typography under E. T. Keith, instructor in printing, are especially urged to go on the trip.

Among those who have signed up to go to Topeka are Ruth Henderson, Martha Borthwick, Ruth White, Gertrude Norman, W. M. Giles, Velma Carson, Estel Wollman, Walter Neibarger, Callie Jennison, Caroline Sloop, Geta Lund, Nellie Thornburgh, Sara Chase, B. Q. Shields, Mabel Bentley, and W. E. Bernette.

At the second meeting of the girls' athletic association on Thursday, December 6, applications for membership in the association are to be considered. Twenty-five points are required for entrance.

All girls who have made the first teams in the inter-class hockey games are entitled to 25 points, which will admit them to the association. Miss Ethel Loring, head of the department of physical training, asks that all of these applications be presented before the next meeting.

JUNIORS TO HAVE "HOBBO" PARTY.

Tacky Attire to be the Rule Night of December 7.

A "Hobo party" is being planned by the entertainment committee of the junior class to be given in the gymnasium the night of December 7.

Each junior is expected to arrive at the gym door at 8 o'clock in tacky attire. A number of original stunts have been thought up and other forms of amusement arranged. Everyone is expected to come date or no date, but the committee asks that all dates be turned in to box 157 immediately.

TWO FLAGS FOR THE GYM.

Military Department Purchases Large and Small Banners.

Two new flags have been purchased by the military department. One is a storm flag 5 by 9 1-2 feet, and will be raised only on days when the weather is bad. The other is a post flag 10 by 18 feet, and will be hoisted on the gymnasium flag staff on ordinary days.

FELPS MAY GO TO FRANCE.

Aggie Graduate Is to Join Highway Engineers.

C. I. Felps, '11, who is now bridge engineer for Kansas state highway commission, has been granted permission to enlist in the 23rd engineers. This battalion is being organized for highway work in France.

TO HELP ENTERTAIN FARMERS.

Tri-K Fraternity Is Arranging Fair For Big Week.

The Tri-K fraternity are busy preparing for their fair which they are to give during Farm and Home week. One of the attractions will be the Kansas state exhibit, which, under the management of B. S. Wilson, assistant in cooperative experiments, won first place in cereals at the Peoria International Soil Production exposition held at Peoria, Ill.

PROMINENT WOMEN COMING

D. S. Dept. to Conduct Another Lecture Course.

The domestic science department will conduct a lecture course this winter similar to the one presented by that department last year.

Miss Linna Bresette, Kansas state factory inspector, will come to the college early in December. Mrs. Christine Frederick, author and lecturer will talk to the college students sometime in March. Mrs. Frederick is well known because of her work in the introduction of efficiency to the home.

Mrs. Florence Kelly, secretary of the conservers league, and Mrs. Martha Buers, well known lecturer and author, are expected some time this winter.

A motion picture film illustrating efficiency in the home will be shown in the auditorium December 3. All the girls in the home economics department are urged to be present.

The lecture course presented last year included Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Miss Ida M. Tarbell, and Miss Alice Ravenhill.

KILLED JUST BEFORE WEDDING.

Olaf Cox was to Have Married Miss Kate Hutchings.

To leave college to prepare for her wedding, and then have her fiancé shot and killed only three days before the wedding, is the fate that has befallen Miss Kate Hutchings, a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and until recently a sophomore in home economics.

Olaf Cox had just left the Hutchings home in Kansas City when the shooting occurred Tuesday night. The police believe the most plausible theory is that Cox was held up, and resisted. He is said to have had no enemies.

BEAUTY CONTEST ON SOON

Race Will Begin at End of the Christmas Vacation.

The Royal Purple beauty contest will open immediately after the Christmas holidays. For every dollar paid to the treasurer of the class book 100 votes will be given.

If receipts for money paid in previous to this time are presented to the treasurer of the Royal Purple at the window opposite the post office the proper number of votes will be given to the holder of the receipt. All receipts should be held so that proper credit may be given in beauty contest votes. Organizations will be entitled to vote the same as individuals.

All sophomores and juniors wishing to have their pictures appear in the class book, must have their class assessment paid by Saturday and pictures taken at Wolf's studio previous to November 28, the management announces.

FRESH HOLD MIXER TOMORROW.

Yearlings Will Have First Entertainment in D. S.

The freshman class will give a general mixer and dance tomorrow night in the domestic science hall. This is the first social gathering for the freshmen, the hike planned by them several weeks ago having been called off on account of the rain. There are 437 freshmen enrolled in college.

A. Q. Miller of Belleville stopped in Manhattan today between trains to visit with his sons, Lloyd and Carl, who are attending the college. He will leave this evening for Topeka, where he will take his thirty-second degree of Masoury.

WAR FUND PLEDGES

BULLETIN.

The total of the University of Kansas's pledge to the Friendship war fund near the end of the second day of the campaign was $7,074.75, nearly $4,000 less than that the pledge made at the meeting of the college delegated in Topeka last month.

The fund had reached $11,347 here at a late hour last night. This is more than $3,000 above the pledge. Many reports are out, it is said, and the revised figures may boost this amount.

Dr. W. M. Jardine, dean of the division of agriculture, has received a notice that the Missouri valley conference of faculty representatives will be held in Kansas City December 7 and 8. Dean Jardine is the faculty representative for the college.

LEWIS IN WATERS' PLACE?

PRESIDENT OF HAYS NORMAL SLATED FOR PRESIDENCY.

Rumors Favor Him for K. S. A. C. Position—Appointment Will Be Made the First of the Year.

Dr. W. A. Lewis, president of the Hays State normal, is being urged as a successor to Dr. Henry J. Waters, who recently resigned as president of the State Agricultural college at Manhattan. Numerous letters urging the appointment of Dr. Lewis have been received by Governor Capper.

Maurice MacAuliffe, head of the Kansas State grange, and other well known Kansans are behind the movement to secure, if possible, the appointment of Dr. Lewis. Many strong letters have been received from western Kansans men and it is believed the appointment of the Hays normal head is receiving serious consideration. Several men have been mentioned as successors to Dr. Waters, but if possible a Kansan will be appointed, it is believed. Charles F. Scott of Iola and other men have been urged for the place. Scott, however, has stated he is not a candidate for the appointment.

Much of the credit for putting the Hays State normal on the map is due to Dr. Lewis. During the time he has been at the head of the western normal school, it has grown beyond the dreams of the men who originally boosted for its creation. The school is now at the top rank with state educational institutions and Dr. Lewis' personal efforts are regarded as largely responsible for the development.

GO ON A BIG TRIP FIRST

Stock Judging Team to Visit Colleges and Herds.

At Chicago the men will compete for honors with teams from the leading colleges of the central states, and possibly from Canada. The contest is open to the world, but the colleges have not made their entries as yet, and it is not known how many will be represented.

The men on the team, all seniors in animal husbandry, are C. L. Reeves, H. M. Birks, F. O. Blecha, Ford Haggerty, and D. J. Borthwick, and A. C. Hancock, alternate.

AGGIES PILE UP HUGE SCORE

NORMALS ARE OUT-CHARGED AND OUT-PLAYED IN 51 TO 0 ENCOUNTER.

Purple Offensive Lacked the Punch in Opening Periods, But Once Under Way in the Third Quarter, the Aggie Backs Swept the Field.

The much vaunted Emporia Normal team fell before the superior playing of Coach Clevenger's proteges yesterday with an awful jolt.

The Emporia team was only a shadow of the team that held the Aggies to a score of 13 to 3 last year. The visitor's line was weak, and could at no time stop the rushes of the powerful Aggie backs. Even the much touted "Tubby" Vaughn was helpless before the onslaught of the Aggies, and concerned himself with mostly getting out of the way when some Aggie line-man would break through the line and endeavor to cut him down by a fierce dive.

Teachers' Play was Slow.

The slowness of the Aggies was really caused by the fact that they were playing against a slow team and were never in enough danger to be forced to speed up. Sullivan shared honors with Roda as the star at the game. He took the ball time after time, never failing to gain his distance, and usually making a gain of 10 to 15 yards before some three or four Normalites finally succeeded in downing him.

Giles Sullivan, speedy half back, who circled the ends and hit the line for heavy yardages.

Roda played his usual hard fast game in the line, and stopped a good many of the Teachers' plays before the back field men got to the line of scrimmage. Whedon, E. Ptacek, and Gates also played well in the line, outcharging the Normalites on every Carl Roda, giant right guard, who was at the bottom of nearly every play yesterday.

down. Key played a strong game at end. Bogue played a heady game at left end until he was hurt, when Dickerson took his place. Bogue was severely injured, having several ligaments torn in his knee, and was finally forced to go out of the game.

The Aggie second string men who went in played well, especially Fairman, who plowed through the Emporia line for gains of eight and 10 yards, and ran back two kickoffs from the 10-yard to the 50-yard line.

The Massacre Begins.

In the third quarter the Aggies chance came, and they simply had things their own way. The Normalites kicked off, and on the next play Sullivan circled the end for a 60-yard run for a touchdown. Clarke kicked goal. The Aggies kicked off. The Aggies held, and the Normals were forced to punt. Clarke dropped the punt, and gave the Normals the ball. The Normals were held again, and on the fourth down attempted to punt. Key blocked the punt and recovering the ball, went over for a touchdown. Clarke missed goal. After the next kickoff, the Aggies soon took the ball, and worked their way down the field to the Normal 15-yard line. Here a 15-yard pass Clarke to Sullivan, put the ball over for the third touchdown of the period. Clarke kicked goal. The Normals kicked off again, and the Aggies worked down the field again, Clarke finally sending Sullivan over for the fourth touchdown of the period. Clarke kicked goal. Score, Aggies 37, Normals 0.

In the fourth quarter, the Aggies first score came from a forward pass, Clarke to Dickerson. Clarke kicked goal. Fairman was sent over for the final touchdown of the game, the final score of the game being 51 to 0.

TO KEEP STUDENT WARM, $6

That is the Ratio Figured Out by Superintendent of Heat Dept.

The cost of coal to furnish heat and light for the students from October 1 to May 1 in the last college year, was $6.45 a student, according to Jacob Lund, superintendent of heat and power at the college, and Miss Jessie McDowell Machir, registrar.

This figure will vary according to the severity of the weather and the cost of coal, pointed out Mr. Lund. It is expected that the cost this year will be greater per student than that of last year because of the smaller enrollment of students and the increase in cost of coal.

Last year the coal burned in the furnace for heating and lighting purposes from October 1 to May 1 was valued at $17,000. The total amount burned during the 12 months for all purposes totaled $25,000. More than 1,200 tons of coal are burned in the coldest months of the winter, but the average for the seven months when steam is kept going is 900 tons.

From seven to 10 boilers are used during the coldest weather. All the heating furnaces are in the engineering building and the steam is piped to the various buildings of the college from there. In summer, when steam is utilized for power only, one large water tube boiler is used. The boilers range from 100 to 250 horsepower in size. This year another large boiler of 450 horsepower is being added to the equipment of the heating plant.

MUST PAY K. U. GAME TAX

NOTICE COMES FROM REVENUE COLLECTOR THAT FEE OF $100 IS DUE.

Athletic Association Had Not Been Told That Tax Was to be Charged for Collections Would Have Been Made at the Gate, Officials Say.

The athletic association will have to pay the government approximately $400 war tax on the game played here November 3 between the Aggies and the Kansas Jayhawkers.

Notice was received this week by Rev. R. A. Seaton, treasurer of the association, from W. H. L. Pepperill, revenue collector for Kansas, that the tax must be paid. It had been thought by college athletic officials that the tax on yesterday's game would be the first, as no notice had been received that the government revenue was due on the K. U. game.

This decision of the revenue collector was made December 6. A 10 per cent tax is charged on all admissions, paid or unpaid, to athletic contests, concerts and other entertainments held on or after November 1.

There is no way now for the athletic association to get out of abiding the entire burden. Had the notice come before the contest, a 10 per cent tax would have been charged at the gate, officials say, thus shifting the tax on to the persons who are supposed to pay it. The government regulations provide that taxes on entertainments be collected at the doors.

The first intimation Athletic Director Clevenger had of the effect of the law was the statement sent by Mr. Pepperill to W. O. Hamilton, manager of athletics at K. U., that 10 per cent tax would be added to the admission price at the Kansas-Nebraska game. Coming back from Lawrence, the Aggie mentor decided to have war tax tickets printed for use yesterday afternoon. Then came the notice that the tax would be collected for both games.

GIVE A PIANO RECITAL.

Postpone Girls' Party.

The party which was to have been given Friday night by the girls' athletic association for the freshmen girls has been postponed until the Friday following the Thanksgiving vacation, December 7.

WELCOME IN NEW Y. W. GIRLS.

Recognition Services to be Held at Presbyterian Church Sunday Afternoon. Recognition services for the new members of the Young Women's Christian association will be held at the Presbyterian church at Eighth and Leavenworth streets Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

While the recognition services are primarily for the new members, every girl who belongs to the association has a part in them. They are held every year and the candle lighting custom is usually observed.

WORK FOR NIGHT PUBLICITY.

Posters Will be Distributed Over College and Town and Funston. Fifty flaming posters are being made to advertise Aggie Pop night. Within a week the campus will be with pictures of dancing girls and marching soldiers designed to give people ideas of what this all college stunt night will be like.

These posters are being designed by five girls who are doing two posters each. These will be copied by other girls and distributed down town, at Camp Funston, and at Fort Riley.

Myron Collins, a former student in the college, is now a chaplain in the army and located at Fort Sill, Okla.

K. U. AND K. S. A. C.

The Collegian does not want to expound too freely on the advantages of K. S. A. C. over K. U. Perhaps that would arouse the Kansans' ire. But at the first of the month the Daily Kansan spread out its Jayhawker feathers a la peacock, because the men who wore the Crimson and Blue had won a little battle of football from warriors representing the Purple and White.

But a certain amount of "rubbing it in" must be done. The reference this time is not to football, but to the Students' Friendship war fund.

Compare a few of the facts. Kansas, with 2,400 students, pledged $11,000 towards the fund. The Kansas Aggies, with less than 1,700 students, promised $3,000.

Those were promises. Now for the results. Kansas actually subscribed only $3,000 to the fund. But right here in the so-called "cow college" that same fund went bounding and bounding as far above the Aggie pledge mark as Kansas had fallen below hers. The final figures showed that in excess of $11,000 had been subscribed.

Of course K. U. might argue that the Aggie victory related only to saving the lives of a couple hundred thousand soldiers. A small matter, perhaps, when compared with the momentous significance that attaches to being runner-up for the valley championship.

This isn't sour grapes. K. S. A. C. would have crowed just as hard as has K. U. if the football victory had fallen to the lot of the Purple. But as to the choice of victories—well, K. S. A. C. is satisfied.

TO REMEMBER OUR HEROES.

We have the Roll of Honor.

What are we going to do about it? Without a doubt, the list must be perpetuated. Future Aggies must know how their alumni and former students sacrificed themselves.

Probably the best way is that suggested by the example of Penn State. Penn State has a service flag. On the flag is a star for every member of the college faculty and the alumni who have entered Uncle Sam's service. Beside the star is the man's name. The flag is to hang in the assembly hall.

An adoption of that plan could be adapted here. At Penn State, girls and wives of faculty members are busy making the flag, which is of mammoth proportions. The same plan could be worked here. It would be up to the girls.

Then there is the plan of another Eastern institution. The name of every man with the colors is cast on a bronze plate, and the plates are placed in conspicuous places. Perhaps this suggests a senior memorial. At least the seniors could begin the work, and it could be carried on by the following senior classes.

Something of the kind must be proposed. The Collegian would welcome letters from students suggesting means of perpetuating the Roll of Honor.

KAMMEYER: SAYE PRESIDENT HAS DIPLOMAS MORE VALUABLE

Alumni and Students Must "Keep the Home Fires Burning" for Retiring Executive.

A talk made by J. E. Kammeier, professor of economics, at a recent banquet of alumni of the college in Topeka, has been complimented by many who were there. Professor Kammeier began with a plea to "keep the home fires burning." His application of the phrase to the college, who must soon lose its president, Dr. H. J. Waters, was well received by the banqueters.

A portion of Professor Kammeier's talk follows:

"Father and mother will keep the home fires burning. Never doubt that. Whether it be in a lonely cabin on our wind-swept prairies where the light shining through the kitchen window joins company with the twinkling stars hanging low on the horizon; whether it be in the more pretentious farm homes of our mid-state valleys and uplands; or whether it be in homes that line the streets and boulevards of Kansas City, Wichita, or Topeka, be assured that in these Kansas homes fathers and mothers will keep the home fires burning till their boys come back.

"Shall we do less? Shall not we, custodians and caretakers of their Alma Mater, keep the lamp of useful learning burning brightly and keep in progress all the activities in which they once participated, and on which they will dwell in fond memory while far away on foreign soil?

"We too must keep the home fires ganizer, and his ringing appeals to the people of this state to organize for better production and wiser consumption of every economic good are of incalculable value. It's the thing of fundamental importance any time but never more so than right now.

"His work in the Kansas State Agricultural college during the past nine years is known and appreciated by all. He has left his impression upon your Alma Mater for all time. He has given her such a standing that your diplomas are worth more today than they were when you received them. Like gilt edged commercial paper they have risen above par.

"And now he is going to leave us. We acknowledge that his going is a great loss to the college and to the state; but somehow we of the faculty and the students can not think of our loss solely in institutional terms; it becomes a personal matter. When people associate with a man for nine long years, they cannot remain neutral. They are either attracted or repelled. They like or dislike because they know him. The state, the nation the Kansas City Star know Doctor Waters, the president of the Kansas State Agricultural college; but we know Prexy, our Prexy, the man as they cannot. The state's loss is institutional, our loss is deeply personal. He has bound us to him for all time by every quality of mind and heart which men respect and admire. We let him go reluctantly, and not without a feeling of jealousy of those whose privilege it will be to associate with him as we have; but our best wishes and highest hopes follow him like a benediction. They can take him out of the state, and out of official relation with us, but they can't take him out of our hearts.

"For him, too, we must keep the home fires burning."

Doctor Waters made a most appropriate response to the addresses, expressing his regret at severing the ties which bound him to the institution, but pointing out the demands of the greater work which he looks forward to doing in the future.

THE MATHEMATICIAN

By Nelson Antrim Crawford

Stranger alike to traffic's clamor crude
And to joy's throbbing, intricate design,
He stands serene. A formula, a line,
With changeless beauty is by him endued.
Striver for truth's perfection, no light mood
May move him. Differential, axiom, sign,
Bring to him glimpses of the far divine,
Marking the boundaries of finitude.

By Euclid's theorems cramped, he seeks new spheres,
And walks in high, far ways forever free,
Toils with awed vision through the ordered years,
Till, from the all-but-handled harmony,
In some grave vision Diety appears,
And in a graph he finds Eternity.

A LITTLE POEM

By One Who Got One

There's a little, old man about college,
And he wears a funny old cape,
Has a wooly head and his eyes are red,
And he clearly resembles an ape.

Oh, you must know this ugly old man,
Don't shiver and turn up your nose.
He's not very popular, I will admit,
And he's very unwelcome wherever he goes.

I could shingle his hair, 'till his head was bare,
I could break his crooked old neck,
I could pin his bow legs with a million pegs,

To the back of his ears, by heck,
And then you cry, who is the old guy,
Please name the dippy, old dip,
With sad and sorrowful tone I reply.

It is old man Flunka-slip.
Old Flunka-slip! Old Flunka-slip!
You onery old scrawny old dip,
If an escort you'll stand to a hotter land,

Call on me and I'll take the trip.

This American "Legion of Death" excited our doubt when the leader said: "We are the generals behind the lines, but we may get into actual fighting. We, the women, want to fight." That sounds fishy, but it actually sweeps our feet from under us when she continues, "We want to carry guns and wear trousers."

The surprising thing is, however, that this story started in St. Louis. They have one of two things in that town, either some mighty foolish women, or some imaginative news writers.

We, however, don't want to give you a wrong impression. We admit women can fight alright. The guns and trousseurs are what we object to.

SERENADED FUNSTON SOLDIERS.

Sigma Nu Quartet Visited Barracks of Quarantined Men.

The heart of many a quarantined soldier at Camp Funston was gladdened Monday night when the Sigma Nu quartet, composed of Zane Fairchild, "Beck" Mann, "Happ" O'Brien, Walter Carey and Rex Maupin, serenaded in front of twenty of the quarantined barracks.

The soldiers, surprised by the serenade, nearly "took off the roof" according to members of the Camp Funston Y. M. C. A. who invited the fraternity boys to make the trip to Funston. Repeated encores were called for, and cheering continued for several minutes after the quartet had left each of the barracks.

A program of rag-time airs was featured by the quartet.

MISS MILLER PLEASED ALL

RECITAL TUESDAY A TREAT TO MUSIC LOVERS.

Richness of Singer's Tone, and Her Perfect Articulation Delighted Her Hearers.

A rare treat was afforded the audience of 2,000 or more persons who crowded the college auditorium Tuesday night to listen to a recital by Miss Christine Miller, the famous American mezzo-contralto.

The program was well balanced and varied. It gave Miss Miller every opportunity to display the wonderful richness and mellowness of her voice. First came a group of four English songs written in the olden style and dedicated to Miss Miller herself. They consisted of an air, a Christmas carol, a cradle hymn, and a ballad,—all quaint, the last delicately humorous, and all perfectly rendered.

The three Persian love songs which formed the next numbers taxed the vocal resources of the singer to the highest degree but found her far more than adequate to their demands. The climax of the program was found, however, in the group of three French songs by Felix Fourdrain written in impressionistic style. All that one can say of them is that they are wonderful music and that they were wonderfully sung and wonderfully accompanied. In prefacing the numbers with an explanation and interpretation, Miss Miller set an example that all musicians would do well to follow, especially before western audiences. She thereby enabled everyone in her audience to understand the words and music which otherwise might have been obscure to many.

The three Scotch songs made an instant appeal to the audience. In the last group, Oley Speaks' "The Bells of Youth" was replaced by a musical setting, also by Speaks, of John Hay's "When the Boys come Home." These four numbers differed widely in style, but all enabled the singer to display her marvelous voice and her consummate art.

Miss Miller was most happy in her choice of encores. Browning's "The Year's at Spring" set to music by Mrs. Beach, and sung in dramatic style; Burley's camp meeting melody, "Deep River," given with wonderful richness and sympathy; the Marsellaise, which brought the audience instantly to its feet; "The Battle Song of the Republic," rendered in a way that probably none present had ever heard it sung; the popular melody, "Keep the Home Fires Burning" which brought tears to the eyes of many present; and finally, "The Star Spangled Banner" in which the audience was asked to join,—all these indicate that Miss Miller is not merely a great artist but that she knows people and that she possesses a personality that does much to make her the favorite that she is.

The superb accompanying of Mrs. Lucius Ades must be mentioned. Her work was an integral part of the artistic triumph of the evening.

It has meant much to the college and to Manhattan to have had in the past year three such great artists as Fanny Bloomfield-Zelsler, Cecil Farrington, and Christine Miller.—J. R. McA.

WAS THE SENIOR INSANE?

She Didn't Know She Had Made a Date for a Hike.

The violent ringing of the telephone caused the senior girl to bounce out of bed and dazedly stumble downstairs to answer it.

"Hello, is this you Nell?" spoke a familiar masculine voice.

"Yes," sleepily answered Nell as her head dropped down.

"Would you like to go on a hike this afternoon?" invited her friend.

"Well, I guess so. I can't think of anything else I can do," she mumbled as she stifled a yawn with one hand.

"I'll be down about five o'clock then. Goodbye," and she heard the receiver click.

Nell hung up and got as far as

The Senior began to doubt her own sanity, and wondered if her mind was wandering. Finally, after much explaining and questioning, she was finally convinced that she had made a date for that afternoon.

On her way upstairs to dress, she inwardly vowed never to stay up un-

Freshman Enters First Line Trench Of Conversation

This social conversation is a big art. Before one gets here he hears all about it, and well informed predecessors say the college training results in a great benefit socially. So it was with keen anticipation, that Mr. Freshman embarked upon this great journey of education. Broadly speaking, he had had some Mexican-border training in society through high school. But now he was to embark upon a real across-the-seas training in this wonderful art of conversation.

"First," thought he, "I must undergo some intensive training before I enter the real theatre of activities." About a week of clipping jokes from the Literary Digest, and observation of the old hands at the game followed. Wise sophomores pointed out the finer points of the game, and Mr. Freshman started out like a speaker who thoroughly knew his subject. Of course he was to get a date, which is a story in itself, but does not belong to this one. What we are concerned with is, he got the date.

All sophomores and other wise men are agreed that this is the proper procedure for the initiation into the world of conversation. All other gatherings are merely gangs. Boys can slam each other, even fight, and still be friends, but with the ladies it is altogether a different matter. Here is a military maneuvering game where a real general is essential. One small mistake may lose the day (usually night).

So in the course of human events, the aforesaid freshman gradually moved up into a first line trench position. He rang the bell, entered the parlor, and no sooner had he looked over his position where the fierce bombardment begun. Shrapnel, cannon and machine gun fire began to come from the opposite position all at once. The freshman was dazed with the awful onslaught. It is a wonder that he held his position, but he pulled his overcoat over his ears and waited brighter times.

"I—" started the freshman several times, but this merely brought on a new hail of fireworks. European observers say the atmosphere usually becomes more dense after battle, and our freshman saw the opposing force disappear in the fog. His head was in a whirl. His heart was beating fast.

"Help! Help!" he called as he sank to the floor. What a cruel world! He had hitched his wagon to a star, and found it to be a veritable child of Mars. How sad, for in each life some shells must fall, some dreams must be punctured. But to get back to the subject—our freshman gradually recovered. The next Sunday as he sat with bandaged head, writing home, these words came from his pen:

"Dear Folks—This is my second week, and I am feeling better. But here is one fact. This conversation is mostly defensive."

Just as a wounded soldier's mind wanders back to the scenes of carnage, so this freshman's mind went back over the dire proceedings. A smile played upon his lips, and he thought.

"What will she be in four years more?"

GOODBYE, YETTA SEIKERT CO. Custodian Now Has Entire Equipment of Pencil Selling Firm.

The Yetta Seikert company is no more. As mysteriously it appeared, it disappeared. If it was a test in student honesty, its stock holders should have implicit faith in men, for two days an unguarded shining, new quarter tempted every student who passed hungrily by the box. If it was a scheme to make money for Christmas, the company is in bad, for according to the latest bulletin, the cash drawer is with the custodian.

Where once the pencil shop a la cafeteria made money for its owners while they waited, a poster reads, "At the order of the college officials, the above named company's cash and merchandise have been taken on account of the company neither owning the building in which the store was situated, nor paying rent. When the aforesaid is adjusted, the company may have the cash which is held as a lien in the custodian's office."

The crowd around the former location of the store and the present place of the bulletin was so large at the end of first hour yesterday morning that students could hardly get through to classes.

Will Edwards left this morning for Tulsa, Okla., where he has accepted a position.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOLUME NO. 24. NUMBER 22.

KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1917.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

JARDINE OR KERR?

SELECTION OF AN AGGIE PRESIDENT LIES BETWEEN THE TWO DAKE RUMOR SAYS.

AN OFFER MADE TO KERR?

Portland Oregonian Says Head of Oregon Aggies Is Considering Bid of Kansas Board.

Kansans Were in Washington Last Week Hunting for an Executive—Kerr Was There.

JARDINE UNDER HEAVY HANDICAP

Promotion of Any Member of the Present Faculty Improbable, Because Precedents Would Be Broken—Candidacy of President Lew. Is of Hays Is Not Considered Seriously.

Dean W. M. Jardine or William J. Kerr, president of the Oregon Agricultural college—which is to be president of the Kansas State Agricultural college?

Apparently the choice is between the two. The state board of administration, when attending a session of agricultural college heads at Washington last week, probably solved the matter. But what was their decision?

Dean Jardine, of course, is the choice of faculty and students of the college. He has shown marked executive ability, and his work in advancing dry farming methods is known throughout the nation. He is president, chairman or secretary of numerous agricultural bodies.

Students Like Jardine.

Dean Jardine always has been a student favorite. His whole-hearted support of Aggie athletics, his broadness in solving student problems and the dynamic energy which the head of the division of agriculture has shown, all have gotten him into the good graces of the people on the hill.

But it is said that the state board of administration favors an out-of-the-state man, not because they believe that they can find a better executive than Dean Jardine, but because it rarely is the rule to advance a member of the faculty, already known in this institution to the presidency. It has been argued that an outsider could come in without any of the minor prejudices and jealousies that are bound to be felt within an institution.

Offered Place to Kerr?

That the board is making efforts to have Dr. Kerr accept the presidency is the information contained in the Portland Oregonian, recently received on the campus. The Oregonian's Washington correspondent asserts that members of the board in Washington have been conferring with President Kerr, and have been insistent that he accept the place.

No information is available on the campus as to the correctness of the newspaper report.

May Like the Salary.

"The Kansans," says the Washington correspondent, "have gone so far as to assure President Kerr that if the present salary is inadequate they will guarantee a satisfactory financial arrangement."

"President Kerr, before leaving Washington for Oregon, told the Kansans he would take their offer under advisement, but would give them no definite promise. He said he was greatly interested in the work in which he is now engaged in Oregon, and at the same time is appreciative of their offer, as the Kansas college is rated first among the agricultural colleges of the country, Oregon being rated third."

Lewis Is Opposed!

Dr. W. A. Lewis, president of the Hays Normal, has been mentioned as a possibility. However, it is not thought probable that the Lewis candidacy has been considered seriously. Doctor Lewis is said to have done wonderful work at Hays, but the fact his reputation is only state-wide would not make him a favorite here, it is said. Already the Topeka alumni have voiced a protest against him.

Topeka, Nov. 26.—No direct offer of the presidency of the Kansas State Agricultural college has been offered to any one, though a number of men are being considered, members of the state board of administration said today, following a visit to Washington. Dr. J. H. Kerr of Oregon State Agricultural college has not been offered the presidency of the institution to succeed Dr. H. J. Waters, members of the board declare.

SCULPTURE WORK FROM EUROPE.

Department of Architecture Receives Famous Old Pieces.

The department of architecture has received more than 30 plaster casts modeled from the great monuments of architecture and sculpture of Europe. Among the pieces received are a capital from a column of the temple Erectheim in Athens, a pilaster from the Villa Medici in Rome, "Nike Untying her Sandal," and the frieze from the western side of the temple Parthenon in Rome.

These specimens are to be put up in the various rooms of the department for illustrative work in the course of architectural history and for subjects for the free hand drawing classes.

POP NIGHT STUNTS UNIQUE

Clever Playlets Being Planned by Organizations Represented.

The stunts being prepared for Aggie Pop night, December 8, promise to be more original than anything presented before.

"The Evolution of the Butterfly" is to be presented by the Kappas. Jack Frost chases fluffy, wooly caterpillars into big brown cocoons. There they remain until Spring awakens them; and they come forth to join in a dance of the Butterflies.

In "Apollo's Conquest" to be given by the Browning society, happy dancing Snowflakes flee before the chariot of Apollo. Apollo ascends again into the skies.

The Eudorophians will present "Canning King Can." When the Hoover girls appear, Butter, Sugar, and Wheat yield their places to Oleo, Syrup, and Corn. The huge Garbage Can and at last even the tiny Garbage Can make their departure.

A tableau representing American Ideals by the Alpha Betas will present Liberty and '76, Reconciliation and '12, Freedom and '61, Justice and '98, Democracy and '17.

The Tri Deities will give "The Four Seasons"—the swallow song and dance of the violets, the poppy dance, the frolic of the elves, and Russian dance.

"The Budding of the Rose" will be presented by the Pi Phi. Here will appear the Clouds, the Raindrops, and the Sunbeams, and finally the Rose herself in a solo dance.

In "Democracy" to be given by the Franks the Soldier dismisses Autocracy, Columbia ushers in Democracy and liberates the dove of peace.

The faculty will also have a stunt but has not yet been announced. Aggie Pop night last year was one of the popular events of the season because it was an all college affair. In repeating it this year it is hoped it will receive the same loyal support of the student body. Posters are being made by some of the best artists in college. The tickets will be in the form of tags with the printed program.

GIRL HOCKEY TEAMS TO BATTLE.

Championship of School Is at Stake in Today's Tilt.

The championship game of the inter-class hockey tournament will be played this afternoon at 5 o'clock. In the match between the sophomores and juniors on Friday the Sophs won, scoring 1 to 0. The sophomores played the seniors yesterday afternoon.

WHAT WILL ICHABODS DO?

WASHBURN ELEVEN HAS PLAYED BY FITS AND STARTS THIS SEASON.

Kennedy May Have His Men Primed for the Battle With the Aggies, Ancient Rivals of the Topekan—Clevenger Eleven Doped to Win Out.

Can the Ichabods spring a surprise on the Aggies after a season of fitful playing?

The annual Aggie-Washburn game will be played in Topeka Turkey Day. The Ichabods have had a season of spurts and slumps. After losing to several of the small colleges, they came back and tied the Emporia Normals. The Ichabods also have the reputation of fighting harder against the Aggies than against any other team, due to the old spirit of rivalry between the two schools. In Bert Kennedy, the Washburn team has a coach that is noted for pulling off trick plays, and he may have some of them up his sleeve to spring on the Aggies Turkey Day.

The Washburn outfit has shown flashes of real football during the season, and if Coach Kennedy can get them primed for the Aggie game, the Wildcats are liable to have some trouble in stopping the Ichabods. "Major" Harvey, giant negro half back, is the man that the Clevenger men will need to be at their best to stop. Harvey was injured early in the season, but newspaper reports indicate that he is now back in the lineup, and is playing a high-grade of football.

The success of the Aggies piling up 51 points against the Emporia Normals might forecast another runaway for the Clevenger team, were it not that several of the Hargis stars were out of the running Saturday. Captain Sharpe, fullback, and Quarterback Welch were two of the Teachers who watched the game from the sidelines. "Sully" Sullivan found himself in the game with the Normals. Fans who have seen "Sully" in action in past years are wondering why the speedy half back did not try out for that position before. His open field running was a puzzle to the Teachers.

Carl Roda, Whedon, E. Placek, and the other members of the Aggie line probably will figure largely in the Aggie victory that is in view for Turkey Day. "Germany" Schulz has a line which although light when compared with the forwards of other valley teams, as the record of having out-charged every team met this year. Roda is especially strong on the defensive.

PRIZES TO FIVE AGGIE MEN

Five members of the mutton production class taught by A. M. Patterson, assistant professor of animal husbandry, won prizes in a contest conducted by the American Sheep Breeder for the best reason for keeping sheep on the farm.

CONFERENCE FOR FOOD MEN.

Third of a Series of Meetings Held at College Next Week.

Beginning Friday, December 3, there will be a conference at the college for practical farmers who are qualified to do the work of the emergency demonstration agents. These men are now being appointed by the division of extension for the federal government. This emergency demonstration work was made possible by a special appropriation of congress last August. This is the third conference of the kind that has been held at the college since the passage of the bill. The conference will last three days.

F. B. Williams, assistant state club leader, returned Friday from a two weeks' trip in southeastern part of the state. Mr. Williams delivered talks in the interest of fall preparation of gardening. He spoke to more than 6,000 boys and girls in the city schools.

KNITTING LEARNING TO KNIT.

College Girls—150 of 'em—Work for Red Cross.

Knitting has been taught to 150 college girls in the two weeks since knitting classes were organized. Before Thanksgiving vacation 57 finished sweaters will be turned in to the Red Cross headquarters.

The classes, which meet on Wednesday from 9 to 12 o'clock, are under the supervision of Mrs. Bessie Webb Birdsell, professor of domestic art. The response from the girls has greatly exceeded all expectations.

Because of the scarcity of yarn, common knitting cotton has been used for practice. With needles at 35 cents and cotton at 5 cents for each person, the department has furnished $43 worth of supplies. In addition many of the girls had their own needles and cotton.

It has been impossible to supply the woolen yarn as fast as it was wanted. At least 50 girls are on the waiting list for material.

The Red Cross chapter of Manhattan has done all in its power to supply the needed yarn.

Russell Knapp, student in college, will leave Wednesday for his home in Norton.

LOVE LOWERS HIS STATION

Spendthrift Becomes Footman After Cupid Hits Mark.

Three times each week "Snoble" Gilbreath becomes in turn a rich young spendthrift, a footman and then butler. And three times a week Miss Ernestine Biby passes "Snoble" up as a rich man, but falls in love with him as her footman. But then this is not real life, it is only the play life in "The Man on the Box," the comedy to be presented December 14 by the Purple Masque.

Miss Biby is playing the part of a rich society girl in the play. She fits into her part unusually well and shows unusual dramatic ability, according to Miss Ada Dykes, who is coaching the college actors who compose the cast.

"The players will rank with professionals before the date of production," Miss Dykes said yesterday. "All have their lines well in mind now, and all remains is putting on the finishing touches to their acting."

Elmor Gilbreath, the man on the box, has had considerable dramatic experience with stock companies. Miss Wanda Tetrick, who pleased the audience of the "Man from Home" last year, plays the role of the leading lady's chum and the leading man's sister. Miss Dorothy Norris, as a flirting widow, has a part which she handles with the ease of an expert. And William Giles, as a French chef, and Miss Helen Lawson as a French maid are out of the amateur class. Miss Dykes thinks.

Other members of the cast are R. D. McGregor and Albert Hancock, Irish policemen; G. C. Ware, clerk of the court; Floyd Work, the judge who convicts the man on the box that Betty, the society girl, may bail him out of jail; Oliver Nelson, a dignified colonel and McKinley Stay, the ever-present villain.

ELECT DEAN POTTER AGAIN

Head of Department of Engineering Holds Two Big Offices.

A. A. Potter, dean of the division of engineering, has been re-elected secretary of Land Grant College Engineering association and the engineering division of the American Association of Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations.

FRAT TOURNEY IS PLANNED.

Greek Basketball Fives Will Begin Series Soon.

Plans are being made for the annual inter-fraternity basketball tournament, which is held in the college gymnasium every year. It will be arranged so that every team will meet every other team. No games will be played before Thanksgiving, but it is the plan of the committee to have all games over with before the Christmas vacation.

Kenyon Is Advanced.

Keith Kenyon, '17, who received a commission as second lieutenant last spring, now holds a commission as first lieutenant in the marine corps. Lieutenant Kenyon is at present on the battleship Utah and writes that he is very well satisfied with his surroundings.

COLLEGE PROFS TO DRILL

FACULTY MEMBERS FORMED A MILITARY ORGANIZATION AT MEETING YESTERDAY.

Three Days Each Week, Pedagogues Will Drill Under the Direction of College Military Men—Dr. J. G. Emerson President of the Organization.

Members of the college faculty will begin drilling next week. At a meeting held yesterday afternoon, thirty of the college pedagogues voted to organize a company.

Three drills will be held each week on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The hour of 5 o'clock was decided upon as the most advantageous. Capt. W. P. J. O'Neill, commandant of cadets, and Major W. B. Wendt, who had charge of the college military department before Captain O'Neill arrived, will have charge of the first few drills. It is intended that members of the company will step into the provisional commissioned and non-commissioned offices as quickly as they are trained for their positions.

At yesterday's meeting, Dr. J. G. Emerson was elected president of the organization and Dr. Cecil Elder, secretary. An invitation has been extended other members of the faculty to join in the drill, and it is expected that a company of 60 or 70 persons will be enrolled before long.

The meeting was called in a notice sent to each member of the faculty signed by R. W. Conover, J. H. Herak and R. A. Muttikowski. The letter follows:

"Since many members of the faculty, including men within the draft age, are without military experience, it has been proposed to form a faculty military company to provide preliminary military training. All those interested are invited to meet for organization on Monday, Nov. 26, 5 p. m. in the band room of the gymnasium. It is planned to drill once or oftener each week, at a period suitable to most of the members. The military department has kindly promised to direct the work."

"Other colleges and universities have faculty military organizations. The University of Missouri Alumnus reports such a company, with one dean, twelve heads of departments and 30 other members of the teaching staff."

Lieut. Ralph Van Zile leaves today for Salt Lake City where he will join the regular army. Mr. Van Zile, who is a member of the cavalry, has been stationed at Camp Funston.

Miss Halle Drake returned last night from a visit at Kansas City.

"DUBY" HEADS THE COUNCIL

And Pauline Richards Is Secretary of Student Body.

The student council met Saturday and elected officers. The members elected are J. E. DuBois, senior in agronomy, president, and Miss Pauline Richards, senior in home economics, secretary.

Annual meetings of live stock and other Kansas organizations will be held in the course of the week. An event of interest to stockmen will be a Percheron sale, Friday January the 26th.

Speakers will include Dr. Henry Jackson Waters, Major General Leonard Wood, Governor Arthur Capper, and L. J. Tabor, master of the Ohio grange and a member of the price fixing committee of the food administration.

An exhibition of corn and other grains will interest the farmers. The boys and girls who are winners in the home club contest will bring their exhibits and compete for state prizes. Exhibits by the mother-daughter canning clubs will be featured.

FROM RILEY COUNTY $17,000.

That is the Sum Given Here to Y. M. War Work Funds.

The Y. M. C. A. War Work fund quota for Riley county has been reached according to S. J. Pratt, county chairman, and the quota for Manhattan city is near the mark and will be over, in the opinion of A. R. Springer, by the middle of the week. The county quota is $5,000 and the city quota is $3,000.

When one stops to think that nearly $12,000 was raised for this work among the students in the college, and $5,000 throughout the remainder of the county, it leaves a total of $17,000 raised in the county, or much more than was raised in any other county in the state with the perhaps twice as large a population.

Prominent Y. M. Director to Talk Next Week.

The Rev. E. B. Pratt, director of religious work at Camp Funston, will speak at the Y. M. C. A. building on Thursday night, December 6. Mr. Pratt was one of the speakers who spoke before the delegates, of the soldiers war relief fund, at Topeka.

NO MORE MEETINGS

PERMITS FOR COLLEGE GATHERINGS WILL BE WITHDRAWN BY DEAN WILLARD.

SPINAL MENINGITIS CAUSE

Acting President Takes Precautionary Measures to Prevent Outbreak of Disease Here.

No Cases Yet in the Student Body, But a Suspected "Carrier" Is Being Watched.

MAKE A TEST ON EACH STUDENT

Professor Bushnell and Corps of Assistants Will Swab Out Throats of Anyone Connected With the College, Beginning at 10 O'Clock This Morning.

No more dances. No more parties. No more mass meetings. No more student assemblies. No more concerts, plays or other college convocations.

These are the notices that Dean J. T. Willard, acting president, will send out today to persons who have received permits for different forms of meetings.

The order is a precaution against spinal meningitis, Dean Willard says. There are no cases of the disease among students, although one girl who is thought to be a "carrier" of the germs has been detained in her room.

The permits for meetings are cancelled until the order is lifted. If conditions permit, the ban may be raised within ten days or two weeks, Dean Willard says, but he will not set a definite date.

Swab Each Student's Throat.

As a further precaution against an outbreak of the dreaded disease in the college, Prof. L. D. Bushnell and a corps of assistants will begin the examination of each student and of each member of the faculty this morning. Professor Bushnell worked yesterday completing arrangements for taking the swabbings.

Prof. L. E. Conrad will send out notices today to students who are to report for the swabbings. It is expected that the first students, who will be those who have been near the one person suspected of being a "carrier," will report by 10 o'clock. Miss Lulu Kennedy, O. W. Hunter and other experienced members of the faculty, will assist in looking for the cultures.

"No Great Danger."

When asked last night as to the advisability of students returning to their homes during the Thanksgiving vacation, Dean Willard said that the safety of their communities would be favored if they would stay in Manhattan.

"There is no great danger to anyone," Dean Willard explained. "However, we believe it is best to play safe. Students should be cautioned against attending picture shows, as they are the places where these germs can most easily be distributed."

AGGIE MEN ARE UP HIGH.

Five Engineers Hold Places of Great Responsibility in Service.

Many engineering graduates of the agricultural college hold prominent positions in the United States forces. C. L. Ipsen, '13, has received a commission as lieutenant in the navy and will probably be stationed at Annapolis. W. A. Buck, '13, is also lieutenant in the navy. Claude B. Thummel, '05, is a major of ordnance. Glenn Edgerton, '04, is lieutenant colonel of engineers. Walter Van Buck, '11, is captain of engineers.

A. A. Potter, dean of the division of engineering, while in Washington, D. C., recently met many former students who were holding positions in the various branches of the army.

A lieutenantancy in the navy is equivalent to a captaincy in the land forces.

Herbert Helmeck, senior in agriculture, will spend Thanksgiving in Beatrice, Nebr.

Lieut. H. Gray of Fort Riley spent the week-end here with Mrs. Gray.

THE PRESIDENCY RACE.

Kansas Aggie students think that Dean W. M. Jardine would make just about as capable a K. S. A. C. executive as the state board of administration could find. But Dean Jardine probably will not be named.

Why?

Because precedent dictates that a new president be a man from another institution—that he enter the school free from any of the jealousies and cliques that may exist.

The probability that Dean Jardine may not be chosen will not lessen him in the eyes of the students. Facing these precedents—and they are universal precedents—the head of the department of agriculture has done well to have been considered as much as Dame Rumor has said that he has been.

The new man probably is Dr. W. H. Kerr, of Oregon Aggie. Doctor Kerr as president of the western college, has raised that institution to a high place among the agricultural colleges of the country, only K. S. A. C. and Iowa State being ranked higher.

THE FACULTY COMPANY.

And why shouldn't the faculty drill, anyway?

When the question is asked, we wonder why it has not been raised before.

There are many young "prots" who may be drafted. There are many older ones who want to get into the war sometime, somehow, as most of us are bound to.

It's a good idea. And the best of it is that the inspiration came from the faculty members themselves.

THE CAMPUS JAY.

Until recently, an unsightly wire fence extended north from the library past the Harris memorial to the sidewalk. The idea in having the fence there was to keep students from cutting across that particular portion of the campus.

Apparently the caretakers decided that the students were educated—that they would not cut across. So the fence has gone. In its place are two paths, worn there by students.

By what students?

The writer was looking out of an upstairs Kedsie hall window yesterday afternoon. He noted the students who cut.

During the particular period he was on guard, eleven jay walkers helped tramp down the all but dead grass. And eleven of those eleven—whooop, there's a twelfth now—twelve of those twelve were girls.

Are women more sympathetic than men? Not when it comes to grass. Bring on the wire.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS FLEDGE

$600 TO Y. M. C. A. FUND

Manhattan high school boys are loyal.

The campaign for the high school boys' share of the Y. M. C. A. war fund came to a very successful close in the Manhattan high school last week.

The boys of the high school pledged $600 for the "Y" fund. Each boy is supposed to earn the money for his pledge before April 1. The high school will conduct an employment bureau for boys who want work after school and on Saturday. Anyone desiring help may phone to the principal of the high school and the matter will receive prompt attention.

Henry Overton, freshman in agriculture, left Friday for his home in Tulsa, Okla.

CAN'T GET TRACTOR ENGINES

MANUFACTURERS WILL NOT SUPPLY FARM MOTORS DEPT.

Motor Accessories of All Kinds Have Been Received, However, and Tractors May Come Later.

Owing to the fact that the manufacturers are far behind on their orders, the farm motors department has been unable to get any new traction engines for its laboratory classes. The department, however, expects to obtain enough by the time the short course classes start to supply adequately these classes.

The department has received several motor accessories, among which are two sectional models of force feed lubricators, and a Dixie high tension magneto. One of the lubricators was donated by the Detroit Lubricating company and the other by the Madison-Kipp company.

The high tension magneto is the latest development of its type. It is capable of igniting four cylinders and is equipped with an impulse starter that does away with the necessity of using batteries for starting. This magneto will start the largest motor easily and with absolute certainty. The department has been promised several other parts of accessory equipment which will enable the students to make intensive studies of any individual piece of apparatus without necessitating the dismantling of a complete tractor.

The department will install three unmounted tractors in the laboratory. The motor, transmission system, fuel tanks, and radiators will be mounted on a concrete base, and will furnish an easy means of study and operation.

Like Lamb Being Led To Slaughter, Co-ed Answers Dean's Call

Scripturally speaking, the thing that I feared was upon me. I had just taken a little note from the dean out of my mailbox. I was sure everybody knew what it was, so I stuck it into a book and hurried down the hall.

The note requested me to call at 11 o'clock. That gave me two hours in which to bolster up my courage. I went over to the library, sat down in a corner, and tried to think. How I envied the giggling, whispering mob about me! And I had been like them such a short time ago!

As 11 o'clock drew near, I succeeded only in becoming more frightened. Finally I took a last look around the old familiar library and departed for the dean's office like a lamb to the slaughter. As I neared the building my steps became even slower. I went up those stairs for at least ten minutes, turned down the hall and studied his fortification steadily. I was beginning to feel the courage of desperation. I dropped my hand on the door knob and twisted. The door opened and there was no escape—I was in the enemy's camp.

The dean's chief clerk is only a shade less terrible than the dean himself. They go together just like a de-ranged stomach and the headache. She was seated at her desk and presently paralyzed me with a glare and asked me what I wanted. I said I didn't want anything and was willing to go without even taking leave, but the question was, what did she want.

She took from my cold hand the scrap of cheap paper that the dean uses for his private correspondence. glanced at it, and said the dean was busy just now but I should sit down and wait.

This was encouraging—perhaps the dean's business would pick up sufficiently that he wouldn't have time to see me this morning.

But no such luck. It soon developed that the dean was engaged in his favorite indoor sport of overworking his stenographer for presently the door to his private office opened and she came out, set down at her typewriter, and began to arrange her hair. I was glad to see that someone around the place was human.

Just as I was beginning to forget my woes in studying this interesting operation, I felt another hair turn grey as I heard the dean's voice say, "Send her in!"

Miss Winona Van Vleck, special in general science, and Miss Leota Johnson, freshman in home economics, will spend Thanksgiving at Miss Van Vleck's home in Rossville.

Miss Minnie Dubbs, junior in home economics, will spend the week end at her home in Utica.

Cleve Briggs, senior in journalism, is spending the week in Parsons.

Written by a Freshman

Walter Neibarger

Ray Standard Baker, the noted writer in speaking to a K. U. audience the other day said: "Cultivate the common, simple things around you."

One student says that since taking chemistry, he is a sadder but wiser man, and mostly sadder.

Only married women can vote in England. That must mean that married women have more sense, and if married women have more sense, from whom did they get it? Ahem!

Mr. Angelo M. Read cannot conceive of music being neglected in our public schools. From that first name we would surmise that Angelo is a musician.

Teacher—"What are you doing there, freshman?"

Freshman—"Trying to find out if this dot is upside down, or not."

Russia may be compared to the cur in the real, hot sure-enough dog fight, which runs off to one side and begins chasing its tail around.

It might also be added that Kerenky now appears to be the tail.

The column is behind the move started by a chemistry student to raise $1,000 reward for the fellow who invented the atomic theory in chemistry.

You may guess the kaiser's heredity by his characteristics.

Holy smoke! An Ohio man wants to whip the Germans by dropping potatoes on their potatoes and thus destroy their food supply. There, however, seems to already be a bug surplus in Germany.

In other words they are buggy.

The New York Globe says Governor Capper is a millionaire. The strange part is, that he is also a newspaper man.

Some people pay admission to a concert and then sleep through it, and others get married.

The plan to restore Palestine to the Jews runs off with our imagination. Imagine, if you can, a whole country of Jews trying to take money from each other.

Taking everything into consideration, the man who joins the army and gets married at the same time ought to have a iron cross.

"Ma" Hegenspoofel is now trying to get some publicity out of the column. She tells us that Emily is to be married April 1. We will admit we were wrong about her being able to get dates, but we still contend she is not exceedingly brilliant on picking out her marriage day.

"Ma" Sunday tells the boys not to judge the girls by the way they look while courting, but by the way they look the morning after. "Ma" must have pulled something like that on Billy in former years.

One K. S. A. C. Girl Will Send No More Tiny Notes Thru P. O.

"Oh, it's another one of those hike notices. I guess if I don't go, they're bound it won't be because I wasn't invited," announced the popular freshman girl to her companion, as the two stopped at the post office on the way to their next class.

"They're about forty-seven more in there. I guess every girl at the house got one," she remarked as she caught sight of a dozen similar scraps of paper lying on the bottom of her box.

Bang! went the door of the box, and a gust of air caused by the slam sent a host of tiny scraps of paper fluttering to the floor on the inside of the post office.

"I'll pick them up, someone might be disappointed," explained the temporary post office assistant, as she restored the folded bits of paper to their place in the box. "But after this, when I have occasion to send a note through the post office, I'll think of you people behind the scenes and send one on paper big enough to hold."

Franklins Take in Three.

Three new members were added to the roll of the Franklin Literary society Saturday, when the following students were initiated: Miss Franklin Silknitter, special student; Miss Edna Butler, senior in home economics, and Miss Marjorie Brown, freshman in home economics.

Miss Callie Jennison, sophomore in industrial journalism will spend Thanksgiving with Miss Ruth Huff, senior in home economics, at her home in Chapman.

A TRAGEDY.

Oh, Sally was a winsome maid,
And Sally had a passion
She wore green hose, and blew her nose,
In just the latest fashion.

Her skirt was green, her cuffs were red,
She wore fine bonnets on her head.
And on her shoes were—Oh—high heels,
And in her head were—Oh—big wheels.

How sad!

CHINESE STUDENT STIRRED

FOLEY KIANG WRITES THEME ON AMERICAN PATRIOTISM

War Profiteer, Claiming to Be a Patriot, Is As Treacherous as a Spy

Foley Kiang, freshman in agriculture, has expressed his views toward the civilian's part in helping finance the war in a paper submitted for classwork. The composition is entitled, "Patriotism and the Pocketbook." Mr. Kiang is a Chinese student who came here this year from Colgate university. Parts of the paper are here quoted.

"Be a patriot! Be a hero!" were the big posters seen at the front of every recruiting station and on the walls in busy streets during the army and navy recruiting period.

"Help win the war! Buy a liberty bond!" are the voices sounding loudly everywhere nowadays.

"We know that the European war has affected all peoples, and now America is forced to fight against Germany. Those who are eligible but failed to answer the first call are 'slackers' or cowards. Those who are able but fail to answer the second call are 'antipatriots' or misers. But those who claim themselves patriots and take advantage of the war to grub for profits are treacherous as spies.

"Patriotism itself means sacrifice. Pocketbook itself means profits. These terms are strongly opposed to each other. It is absolutely impossible at the same time to be a patriot and a dollar grubber. This does not mean that patriots should not have pocketbooks and profiteers should not be patriots. But patriots must sacrifice their pocketbooks as far as they can, and profiteers must cease to harm their own country as least and 'divide the melon' with democracy.

"Hall patriots the world is rising upon you. Carry the burden of honor and sacrifice for the sake of humanity.

"Beware Profiteers! Do your 'bit' for your country and the world. Seek no advantages from the war; otherwise, you are doing your bit either directly or indirectly for the Kaiser. Whosoever does his bit for the Kaiser is a traitor and an enemy of democracy.

"Now human blood has flooded the western hemisphere and reddened the oceans, and corpses have filled the shell craters and trenches. Allies are gradually going down upon their knees and the Prussian dream is fast becoming true.

"To the rescue, America with your patriotic sons and your liberal pocketbooks, help the allies to fight on until the world has been made safe for democracy.

"Fiat justicia, quae coelum." (Let there be liberty for all, though the heavens fall.)

Miss Margaret Russell, instructor in English, has been called to her home on account of the illness of her mother. She does not expect to return to school until after Thanksgiving vacation. William Hazlett of the English department has taken over most of her classes in her absence.

SHIFT OFFICES OF JANITORS

NEW HEADQUARTERS ARE IN OLD AG. BUILDING

Basement is Being Repaired to be Used as Store-room—Robbins Likes Arrangement

The general repair department is busy repairing the basement of the old agricultural hall, and when the work is completed, the rooms will be used as headquarters for the janitor department. The janitors will move to their new quarters by the first of the year, if the work is completed by that time. Cement floors are being placed in three rooms of the basement. Two of these rooms have never been floored, and in the other the cement had cracked and has needed repairing. Room 33 on the first floor of the building will be divided into two rooms, one to be used as an office, and the other to serve as headquarters for the students who are members of the fire department. It is planned to connect the radiators with the plant which furnishes heat to the green house, so that there will be heat in the office at all times.

"I like the new arrangements fine," said T. B. Robbins, head janitor, "because it will give us more room and concentrate our work.

"In the basement the rooms are so arranged that one can be used as a work room, one as a store room, one as a paper room, one as a room in which to manufacture sweeping compound, and the other as a distributing room."

APPROVES OF GIRL KNITTERS

ARE NOT WASTING TIME, MISS GREEN SAYS.

Factories are busy turning out munitions, and Every Knitter is Helping to Win the War.

Is knitting for soldiers a farce? Every woman who has been asking this question may rest assured that the time she spends in knitting for soldiers is well spent, at least that is the opinion of Miss Helen Green, instructor in domestic science. The woman who knits articles for home use, she characterizes as unpatriotic.

"The argument that the manufacturers can turn out better articles and in shorter time than the home knitters is not a sound one," said Miss Green. "The manufacturers must now use their machinery and labor for making munitions, explosives, and other things that warfare makes imperative. The leisure time of countless women throughout the country may well be utilized in knitting."

"This industry can, in a measure, be taken to the home and every woman given an opportunity to utilize her spare time profitably and do a service to her country by contributing to the comfort of the soldiers. Every woman and girl who does not know how to do so should learn to knit and then knit, knit, knit, so long as there is a need for knitted garments."

"Any woman who is close to a Red Cross auxiliary may go there for yarn and directions for knitting socks, helmets, sweaters, and wristlets. As soon as articles are finished they should be taken to the local Red Cross headquarters. They will be sent where most needed. If one wishes to designate the receiver of the knitted articles the Red Cross will not furnish the material because as an international organization it sends its help where help is most needed."

"The woman who is not in touch with a Red Cross organization may make articles at home and send them to the nearest chapter. Dark colors should be chosen, or, if only bright colors are available, the garments may be dyed. On account of the scarcity of wool, the woman who knits for home use is unpatriotic."

ANNOUNCES YEAR'S GRADES

OMICRON NUS HEAD LIST OF GRADES, MISS MACHIE'S REPORT SHOWS.

Gamma Sigma Delta Won Out Over Alpha Zeta in Fight Between Ag-Fraternities—Kappas Barely Beat the Pi Phis.

Three weeks ago Miss Jessie McEl Machir, registrar, gave out for publication the grades of the different college organizations for the spring term. A compilation of the average grades for the entire year has been made by the registrar.

The Omicron Nus, the report shows, were the leading graders for the year. The honorary home economics students compiled an average of 87.50 per cent, nearly a point better than the 86.67 of Gamma Sigma Delta, which was second.

Gamma Sigma Delta bested its rival agricultural organization nearly two points. The Alpha Zeta average was 84.93.

The Ionian Literary society led in its field with an average of 83.36, although the Eurodolphians were a close second with 83.10.

Kappa Kappa Gamma barely won first place from the Pi Phis in the sorority averages. The Kappas had a record of 82.88, while the Pi Phis' mark was 82.73, a difference of only .15.

Sigma Kappa Tau landed at the top of the fraternity averages, with Aztex and Beta Theta Pi following.

25 STARS ON SIGMA NU FLAG

Fraternity Leads Out With a Service Banner Listing Men in Service.

The Sigma Nu fraternity is flying a service flag, probably the first one to make its appearance among the Greek letter organizations of the school. The Sigma Nu flag has 25 stars for 25 of its members who are in the service of Uncle Sam.

The service flag idea has been taken up by nearly every other school. At K. U. every fraternity boasts a flag, few of which have more stars than the Sigma Nu banner, although the other organizations have a larger number of alumni due to their earlier organization.

Lieut. "Eddie" Wells, all-Missouri valley fullback and All-valley guard in basketball, and Dewey Fullington, second all-valley center in basketball, are two of the Sigma Nus who are in France.

Miss Mildred Kelley spent Thanksgiving at her home in Olathe.

6 MEN SUCCESSFUL AT SHERIDAN.

Commissions Have Been Handed Out to Men at Second Training Camp.

At least six Aggie men received commissions at the end of the training camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill. The men were Cedric H. Shaw, first lieutenant, infantry; G. R. Blain, captain, infantry; H. C. (Jerry) Ewers, second lieutenant, infantry; Robert Cushman, first lieutenant, infantry; J. K. Kershner, first lieutenant, infantry.

The Sheridan camp correspondent to the training camp held at Fort Riley last summer. Men chosen from the central division were sent to Sheridan. The Sheridan camp, the war department announces, is the last of the civilian training camps. Only men from the service, and students recommended from colleges with military courses, are to be admitted to the remainder of the camps.

BUILDS 'Y' HUTS IN FRANCE

AGGIE MAN TELLS OF CONSTRUCTION OF BUILDINGS.

Every Piece is Labeled and Fits Into a Certain Part of the Shelter House.

Some of the money contributed by Aggie students for the building of Y. M. C. A. huts is indirectly being used by an Aggie man who is in France. Corporal Arthur H. Brewer, of the Second U. S. Engineers, writes back that one of his details has been the erecting of the "Y" buildings. Portions of the last letter from him, dated November 9 but received only last week follow:

"I am on detached service at a different point from where my company is located. I have been placed in charge of the building of a Y. M. C. A. and have charge of 15 men—two squads, with myself.

Every Piece is Labeled.

"Am having some sport in reading the plans. An American architect hasn't much in common with a French architect. Dimensions are expressed in meters. The building is 37 m. by about 18 m., a fairly large "Y." Each piece of lumber that goes into the building is numbered, is cut to fit, and has a certain place where it must go.

"The foundation is of 4 by 4 piles—criss-cross joists—and since the piles are only about a meter long and the lay of the land is on about a five foot fall, we are doing a great amount of excavating.

"We have only been on the job a day now, and have been told that we have done more than an infantry detail had tried to do in three weeks. We are attached to an infantry layout for quarters and rations."

Company Put Out Fire.

A former letter had told of the company of which Corporal Brewer is a member being routed out in the middle of the night by a hullabaloo of French noises. After having armed themselves and formed, the command discovered from one of the Frenchmen that there was a fire in the town. The company immediately formed a bucket line and had the fire out in a little while.

Brewer's last letter told of the publicity that their bucket line had brought them.

"I believe I told you about the 'bucket line' we formed at midnight some time ago. Well, we have been made famous over here by a letter from a French general on saving the whole community. The letter is to be sent on to the war department at Washington. So someday you may accidentally read an article about the stunt. Well, I was in the bucket line."

May Have Been in Byng's Drive.

Press dispatches telling of the drive General Byng of the British forces have been making on Cambrai, have featured the work of the American engineers. At one time, according to the story, German gunners got the range of a British railroad. In a short time they had torn out three miles of the road with their big guns. But the American engineers, working through the shell fire, relaid the rails and kept the line of communication intact. It is entirely probable that Corporal Brewer, together with Corporal Arthur Hopp and Private Martin Soule, two other former Aggies who are in the same regiment, was in fighting that led to the five mile advance. Only two of the Americans were injured.

MENINGITIS SCARE IS OVER

SWABBING OF STUDENTS THROATS HAS NOT DISCOVERED ANY CARRIERS.

Professor Bushnell and His Corps of Bacteriologists Have Tested 1,900 and All are Safe—Aggie Pop Night Called Off.

Fear that the outbreak of spinal meningitis at Camp Funston might bring about a similar epidemic within the student body has been allayed by the announcement of the college authorities in charge of the swabbing of students' throats, that not one of the 1,900 students who had been examined has proven to be a carrier of the disease.

When the Funston trouble became serious, Senior Surgeon Banks, health officer in charge of the district around Camp Funston, asked Dean J. T. Willard, acting president, to have the throats of each of the students swabbed, and also that permits for student meetings and assemblies be withdrawn.

The result of the swabbing tests, which have been made under the direction of Prof. L. E. Bushnell, college bacteriologist, has proven satisfactory. More than half of the tests have been made, and Professor Bushnell expects to have the work done by Wednesday.

Not only is the college not in danger, according to the health officer, but there are no new cases in Manhattan. Three of the four persons who have the disease are Camp Funston laborers, and are quarantined. The other is the infant daughter of E. C. Johnson, dean of the division of extension. There have been no new cases of the disease found in Manhattan in the last week.

The situation at Camp Funston is also under control.

"There is no progressive increase in the number of cases," Surgeon Banks said yesterday.

Aggie Pop Night, the Y. W. C. A. stunt night has been given up for this week, Miss Mildred Inskip said last night. It may be given January 12. The mass meeting of college women, planned for last Thursday, when Lieut. A. A. Werner of Camp Funston was to explain how Christmas boxes could be made for the soldiers, has been postponed indefinitely. The "hobo party" planned by the junior class for Friday also has been postponed, and may have to be called off indefinitely, according to Miss Sarella Herrick, chairman of the junior social committee.

A. H. Service Flag.

The animal husbandry department of the college has ordered a service flag which will have 29 stars, representing 29 men of that department who are in the service. Two of the number are instructors, while the others are graduates, seniors and juniors from the department.

Don Elbert returned yesterday from a visit at Ness City.

AGGIES SECOND AT CHICAGO

K. S. A. C. Students Stood High in Stock Judging Contest.

Kansas won second in the students' judging contest at the International Live Stock show at Chicago Saturday. Twelve of the leading agricultural colleges of the country competed in this contest. In the order of their ranking the six highest were Nebraska, Kansas, Texas, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri.

Donald J. Borthwick, senior in animal husbandry, was high man for Kansas.

The other members of the team were C. L. Reeve, H. N. Dirks, Ford Haggerty, and A. C. Hancock, all seniors in animal husbandry. O. F. Blecka made the trip but was unable to enter the contest because of illness.

Dr. C. W. McCampbell, associate professor of animal husbandry, coached the team.

EXPECT TO STAGE THE PLAY

BAN ON AMUSEMENTS MAY NOT CAUSE DELAY OF "MAN ON THE BOX."

Management Believes That Permits Will Be Re-issued in Time for College Dramatic Event, Given by Purple Masque to be Held.

Despite the meningitis trouble, the players in "The Man on the Box" continue to work on their parts, and the play is now in shape to be given Friday evening, December 14.

The ban on entertainments has not yet been lifted, but it is expected by the management of the play that it will be before the date set.

The players have taken hold of their parts in an excellent manner, and have been well chosen for their roles, Miss Ada Dykes, who is directing the training of the college actors and actresses, thinks Miss Ernestine Bibby and Elmer Glibbreath are playing the leading parts and will furnish a great deal of merriment in their scenes of love and jesting. Both are particularly well fitted for their parts, Miss Dykes believes.

"The Man on the Box" is a typical American play depicting the social and political life of Washington, D. C. It has an interesting plot and has many good laughs in it.

Tickets will be on sale Wednesday and Thursday in main hall, according to Earl Taylor, business manager. Arrangements also have been made so that mail orders may be handled.

CLOSE STUDENT QUESTIONNAIRE.

Reports From Students Who Didn't Return Due Saturday.

The tabulation of the men who have not returned to college this year to complete their course will be completed in the office of the registrar Saturday.

Early in the term cards were sent out to the homes of the men enrolled here last year to ascertain whether they were engaged in farm work or in military service. The replies at first came in rapidly and from those received it was found that the majority of the men were in military service. Out of the 1,100, however, to which the information cards were mailed there are still between six and seven hundred answers lacking. It will be necessary now to close the survey and complete the tabulation from the answers turned in.

TELLS OF AVIATION TRAINING

W. K. CHARLES LIKES WORK IN AUSTIN CAMP.

Aggie Men in at Ground School Learning Fundamentals of Flying Game.

W. K. Charles, enrolled here last year as a junior in industrial journalism is now attending Aviation school at Austin, Texas. Mr. Charles writes to the editor of his home paper at Republic City telling something of the workings of an Aviation school:
School of Military Aeronautics, Austin, Texas.

My Dear Mr. Clark:—
I have been wondering since I arrived here at the Aviation school if you and incidentally some of the Republic folks would like to have some idea of what this school is intended for.

I might say in the first place that we do no flying here, as this is one of many "ground" schools in the United States. This school is the largest and is rated the best by the War department, in the United States. There are at present about 600 men here, with prospects for more.

We study machine guns, military law, wireless, aerial guns, theory of flight and aeroplanes themselves. We have a military drill and calisthenics daily. We also have to do night guard duty once a week. This is a soldier's hardest as well as his most important job. We go on guard for two hours and off four.

We rise here at 5:30 o'clock, have breakfast at 6:10, classes from 7 until 11, and classes in the afternoon from 2 until 4. Then we have an hour of drill. We have more drill and less classwork the first three weeks, when we are called the Junior Wing. The last five weeks we are in the Senior Wing.

I am not particularly in love with Texas, though we have fine weather but very dry. The weather here changes like Kansas weather, but it is not so cold. We have our rooms open most of the time.

We are not issued any clothes to keep here. The supposition being that we will soon be officers and then furnish our own clothing. Clothes for soldiers are unnecessarily high here.

Our meals here are quite good, but sometimes rather poorly cooked and seasoned. At any rate, it can't compare with mother's cooking. We are vaccinated against almost everything here except bullets.

There are a good many things here that I should like to tell, but we are forbidden, though our letters are not censored. The postoffice here is the most popular place on the reservation. The bright spots in a soldier's life are letters from home and packages, especially candy, cookies or cake. I must close and study. The work here is made as hard as possible to weed out all the poor men. A little over 50 percent of the men entering, ever finish, so it's not such an awful disgrace to fall. With kindest regards,
S. M. A. W. K. CHARLES,
Austin, Texas.

G. A. A. TO HOLD MEETING.

New Members Will be Considered by Co-ed Athletes.

A meeting of the Girls' Athletic association will be held Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the gymnasium. Applications for membership in the association will be received at this meeting.

RAN AWAY FROM WASHBURN

AGGIE ATTACK IN FIRST QUARTER ENOUGH TO WIN ANNUAL TURKEY DAY GAME.

Three Touchdowns Were Made Before the Ichabods Had the Ball—Then Washburn Braced and the Teams Fought on a Nearly Even Footing.

Playing erratically, showing at times a form that would have landed them the Missouri valley championship, and at other moments a spirit that nearly brought them down on a par with the Washburn Ichabods, the Aggie eleven won a 38 to 0 victory over their ancient Topeka rivals in the annual Turkey day combat at Topeka.

The Aggies started off like a whirlwind. Before the Ichabods had awakened—before, in fact, they had even touched the ball—the score was 21 to 0 in favor of the Clevenger-Schuls machine. But with the game securely tucked away, either the Aggies grew overconfident and slowed down, or the Ichabods braced—probably the former—and the two teams staged a fairly close exhibition of football the rest of the way.

Clarke Staged Big Run.

Johnny Clarke, who often has been criticized because he could not carry the ball, showed up his critics Thursday. After the Aggies had smashed their way straight down the field to their first touchdown, the Ichabods kicked off to Clarke on his 65-yard line. Johnny shot through the Ichabod eleven all the way to the goal line for the second touchdown, and then kicked goal.

The first score was made by Hinds, who dove across the last line, after four first downs, made chiefly by the terrific line smashing of Fairman, had placed the ball on the 5-yard line. Clarke scored another touchdown on the next play from kick-off. E. Ptacek added a third in the same period on a 10-yard tackle swing, after the ball was advanced to striking distance on a forward pass for 25 yards from Clarke to Key. The entire Aggie wall displayed wonderful defensive strength and charged with cyclonic fierceness all during the game, but was most aggressive during the early moments of the battle.

Brace Came Too Late.

The large score amassed by the Aggies in the opening frame indicated that Washburn was to be swamped under a huge score, but the Ichabods braced in the second and third quarters and held the Aggies to three points. In the third quarter, Whedon put his toe into the oval and sent it whirling through the goal post from the 30-yard line. The Aggies again strengthened their onward rush in the final fifteen minutes of play, and two more touchdowns were made. Sullivan dashed off end for the first following a 30-yard pass from Clarke to Hinds, and Fairman registered the final count by plunging through the line, following a 40-yard run by Harwood. Clarke kicked all five goals following touchdowns.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1917.

No sooner had The Collegian made an editorial cry for a wire fence north of the library to keep the co-eds from wearing paths on the campus, than the fence was put in. The Collegian is an influence in the college.

KEEP COOL.

A few students, it is said, have not returned to college because of the meningitis "scare."

Where's the "scare?"

Here are the facts: There are four cases of the disease in Manhattan, three of them being among Funston laborers. The college has not been invaded. It is foolishness to let a matter of this kind upset a college as this epidemic at Funston has upset this college.

The measures to do away with assemblies and meetings of all kinds probably helped scare the students. It is hoped that the order can be rescinded soon, as it is recognized that as long as classes are held, only approximately one-tenth of the gatherings a student would attend are abolished by the decree. And the absence of this one-tenth excites the student that his efficiency is greatly reduced in the other nine-tenths of his meetings—his classes.

Of course everyone must have his throat swabbed. That is only fair to the other fellow.

But as far as the scare is concerned—it's foolishness to become excited as some students are. It's best to settle down to work and forget the whole affair.

'Are Women Thinkers?' Co-eds Dodge Question Asked by a Reporter

This question was answered in various and sundry ways by students and members of the faculty when the reporter made the rounds of his beat.

Some of the answers:

"Women get queer notions into their heads and it is hard to get them out. They're finicky," is the opinion of one professor who responded to the query, "Do women think?"

"Women have brains alright," continued the professor, "but not all of them use what they have to any great extent. I had charge of 10 girls down in Texas on a book selling campaign and I had a terrible time to keep them out of mischief. They sure made me nervous at times."

"Why Heck yes. They think about cussedness at least half of the time," blurted out one who is considered to be one of the wisest sophomore boys.

"You make me tired," screeched one of the senior girls when she was asked if she had ever had an original thought. The reporter took it for granted that she did not care to admit anything.

"I'll never speak to you again," declared a junior girl who has held several positions of trust and honor, when she was asked for information and opinion. She furrowed her brow and in many other ways tried to maintain an attitude as if she were in deep thought and meditation. She clawed her hair and cast a long and serious glance out the window that soon melted away into a smile when she saw her favorite friend pass under the window. Had she really been thinking or revelling in the memories of the past is a question that is still unanswered in the mind of the reporter.

A sophomore girl reasons it out in this way—"Women don't think because they have no brains or rather they do not have the right kind or brand. In other words, not quite enough. O Land! The things that women say are just like chaff yet I don't know that women are more foolish than men are sometimes. I think I am pretty smart and I don't even know what logic is so how can I tell you, whether or not women are logical. Hey stop your putting down this junk I am telling you."

"The reason I said it—Hey boy can't I open my mouth without you putting something down on that paper—was because I would have to back what I said with arguments and that takes thinking. I ain't going to tell you another thing for I know what I have said will sound just terrible in print. Get away, I won't tell you another thing."

That concluded the interview.

A Little Freshman Makes Big Mistake Signing Away Hours

It is the custom among co-eds to fit to the post office in Main hall between each class to see if that letter has yet arrived or perchance some stray note been slipped into the box. But one freshman girl has broken the habit.

Standing on tiptoe before her post office box one morning she fished out an interesting looking little note. "Did you forget your Red Cross class yesterday morning? We will expect you at the next meeting."

That was strange, thought the freshman for she had not signed up for that hour. At the end of the next hour she again visited her box. There another note. "We missed you at the Red Cross class fourth hour. Remember to come the next time."

Well, she hadn't signed up for that class either. Someone was having fun. But the notes bore different signatures each time. She would ask her room mate to visit the box to look for her letter.

That night her room mate reported, "No letters, but a note to you from the Red Cross."

It read "Did you forget that you were due at the Red Cross class the seventh hour Friday? Come for the next class meeting."

The second hour next morning there was still another note awaiting her, and the performance was continued throughout the week. Every time a bunch of papers or letters was extracted from the box a note would flutter to the floor. The freshman declared that she was losing her mind. Each time the co-eds who shared the post office box with her met her they either presented her with a note or reported one awaiting her at the post office. Miss freshman no longer ventured near the office, but determined to discover the cause for the black-mail.

She had noticed that each note which she had received demanded her presence at the Red Cross classes when she had other recitations. Upon investigation it was found that at the time of the formation of the patriotic league when cards were given out to be marked with the hours which each girl would spend in the work, that this freshman had marked out each hour in which she had class. This had been interpreted by Red Cross authorities to signify that Miss Freshman would give all these hours to the work, a seventeen hour assignment. Of course they expected her to live up to her promises and consequently the little reminders.

Everything has been straightened out now but Miss Freshman cannot yet bring herself to visit her box as often as formerly.

Written by a Freshman Walter Neibarger

The faculty's first drill day ought to bring out quite an audience, especially in regard to the about face.

The ladies aren't scared of this "men-git-us" epidemic."

Every newspaper is entered as second-class matter, and the peculiar thing is, they always tell you of that fact.

Word comes that a Portland, Oregon, policeman was surrounded by hundreds of striking telephone girls and kissed. Poor cop! A statement from him ought to be of tremendous value to tooth paste concerns.

The Germans know where the hole in the Italian boot is.

Madame Breshkovsky, the "little grandmother of the Russian Revolution," now has some fifty or sixty great-grand children.

An Outlook want ad runs like this: "Young woman of refinement desires position as companion. Experienced in home duties and in care of aged." That ought to make some old bachelor put on his specs.

Lenine's name is enough to convince anyone that he is pro-German. Every good Russian's name should end in sky.

The "soldiers" down at K. U. are to have wooden guns. That adds to our previous decision that they won't hurt anybody.

We find no German fried potatoes in any of the army camp menu lists.

We can guess what Dr. Poland of Topeka considers a humiliation. He was fined $10 for killing a cat.

The U. S. Congressmen put a short limit on debate when the Germans started their machine guns on them. They crawled into some dugouts without delay.

The other day we heard a very conscientious man who wore 6 1-2 shoes, say he was never proud of his small feet.

The most thrilling sight is to see an old maid chewing gum at a moving picture show.

Unadulterated enjoyment is what a small boy has at a first class dog fight.

A great many students went out to the Veterinary building to get examined for spinal meningitis.

It is asserted in the new draft rules that no one dependent upon wife for support will be drafted. That ought to include a large number.

There are two ways to learn, by experience and by advice, and usually by experience.

Funston is a training camp for war, and our college is the training camp for peace.

Medical bulletin—there are a few cases of whiskers in the course of development about college.

We will not be outdone. Here is our criticism of the Barnard Lincoln. The statue is splendid as a whole, but why did Barnard put Lincoln's hands where they are?

A K. U. student who read the opening paragraph of the column in last Tuesday's Collegian, says we are not fair in regard to K. U. We don't claim to be.

When a singer sings in French, it is not at all difficult to pick out those who have studied that language.

A freshman informs us that we failed to see the most humorous part of restoring Palestine to the Jews. His idea would be to have a rich American sport enter Jerusalem under those conditions.

The Italians seem to have surpas-ed the Missouri Valley athletes. They went 36 miles without stopping.

A K. U. young man informs us that he now has a shirt with a background of pink roses. We wonder what the young lady editor of the Kansan has to do with this sort of influence.

Every Aggie knows where the Topeka paper got its idea when it referred to the Sammlies as fighting like wildcats.

A purely college characteristic as put by a freshman—"I have a date, but haven't seen her yet."

The column is now one of the Royal Society of Duck Feathers, otherwise as the Quill Club.

We should refrain, but we must say more. This club contains some large ducks, small ducks and some good looking lady ducks.

Among the members of this Royal Society of Duck Feathers are poets, prose writers and unclassified. The column comes under the latter caption.

Who Are Country's Greatest Women, Is Perplexing Question

It was the custom in the eighties for members of the senior class of the agricultural college to give orations in chapel. At one of these weekly "editorials" in the old chapel the senior class came in quietly in squads of six to give their donations to the assembly.

One of the students, Mr. Ex, was a genius in many respects, but was a poor memorizer. He had selected for his subject, "Woman's Rights," a subject at that time as pertinent as prohibition, taxes or war at present. His intention was to win glory for himself by saying many complimentary things about the fairer sex.

Prof. M. L. Ward, who has charge of the exercises, had told the students to begin their orations with a good story or an interesting question. Expecting to profit by this suggestion, Mr. Ex, when his name was called, walked proudly to the front of the stage, drew himself out like a spy glass, and hollered "Who are the great women of this country?" He intended to answer his own question by saying that it wasn't so much the female agitator as the first class housekeeper and mother whom he admired. But his question sounded so queer that his hearers broke out in laughter and began to cheer.

This confused Mr. Ex. He forgot his text. Vigorous rubbing of his forehead brought no result so he began anew, "Who are the great women of this country?" The repetition of the question brought a new applause and again threw him off the track.

His knees wobbled and his fingers began to hunt a hiding place in the pockets of his coat. Turning to Professor Ward, who sat behind him, he made the startling remark, "Professor, I am making an inglorious failure of this."

The professor answered, "I believe so myself." There was renewed cheering in the audience and Mr. Ex, more dead than alive, hobbled from the stage.

For two weeks following every member of the college family, who happened to meet Mr. Ex in the hall or on the campus, asked the impertinent question, "Who are they anyway?"

Praises Dr. Waters

Higher education in Kansas has sustained a great loss in the resignation of President Henry J. Waters of the agricultural college. He becomes managing editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star, and leaves the college as soon as the board of administration can arrange for his successor.

President Waters is a national leader in agriculture and education, and feels that his new work will give him a wider field in which to serve.

The Kansas Agricultural college is now the greatest college of agriculture in our country, and the work and vision and devotion of its president has given it this "place in the sun."

This great school will always be President Waters' monument in the hearts of the people of Kansas.

It is a living force for light and service, to the oldest of arts, the art of agriculture.

When Paul wrote the Epistle to the Hebrews, he said, "But now they desire a better country." This desire has been born in the hearts of all students who have been educated in this school. The scientific training in agriculture which enables them to make their dream of a "better country" come true has been given them at the Kansas Agricultural college.

Doctor Waters will make a great agricultural paper of the Weekly Star. The middle west is a field wide open for such a paper, because most of the men who make the rural papers are desk farmers and not men scientifically trained in the profession of agriculture.

The great middle west needs the sort of farm paper which a man with a profound knowledge of agriculture can make. So Kansas may feel that Doctor Waters has not gone far away, but is in a place where he may teach the best use of the land, and how to make happy, prosperous homes in this garden of the west.—Kinsley Graphic

Reserve Room Busy Place On the Hill; Studies Study There

The route to the reserve room in the library is changing from a side path to a main-traveled-road. Since the opening of college this semester students have spent more time in the room doing "outside" reading and reference work than ever before.

Business begins at 7:45 o'clock in the morning with the return of volumes of learning which have been checked out at 9:30 o'clock the evening before for overnight perusal. During the first hour quite a number of industrious ones are found "reading a little bit for that second hour class." The noon hour is also busier than it has been before.

During various vacant hours through the day every chair in the room is taken and if anyone else wants to read up on civics or American history, he has to stand up to do it. At 4 o'clock the real rush hour begins and a real cafeteria line is formed at the checking desk, each one hunting for the name of his reference book.

Around 6 o'clock dinner puts in a bigger claim than any double starred reference and the crowd thins out for about an hour. From 8 until 9 o'clock the room is again filled to capacity even on Friday night now with Saturday morning solids in sight. Many of the departments are requiring reference work this semester. There are American History I and II, Ancient history, civics, sanitation and public health, home nursing, dietetics and various educational subjects.

Clothes and Camouflage

You've probably seen pictures of the armies in Europe making a formidable fortress on a bare hill top, with dummy cannon and pasteboard men.

It's called camouflage.

But it isn't confined to the army.

You'll find it in business, too, especially the clothing business.

You'll often find clothes that look well; clever in style; low in price. But they're not as good as they look, and are worth less than they cost.

They're camouflaged clothes.

Wise buyers learn to avoid them, and go where they're absolutely certain of quality and value for their money.

At this store you'll get genuine all-wool clothes made by Hart Schaffner & Marx; the latest styles, too.

You'll pay a reasonable price for them, but you'll get your money's worth of service out of them; it's economy.

We guarantee absolute satisfaction.

Students Should Read Every Book In Library Old Lawmaker Thought

Away back in the seventies money as well as college education was a rather scarce article in the Sunflower state. The friends of the college often had a tough time to get appropriations for certain purposes from the state legislature.

The lawmakers from the central and western part of the state were usually men of the self made type—men who had come west with their young wives and an assortment of babies in a covered wagon. They had settled on the fertile prairies with the determination to grow up with the country, and had been successful, to a greater extent than they had originally hoped to be. But they possessed little book education. Many had never seen the inside of a high school building or a college.

It was hard to convince these hard-fisted and extremely economic pioneers that a college library of say 2,000 volumes was insufficient to furnish the mental pabulum required by several hundred book-hungry students of both sexes, not to speak of the faculty, who were generally too poor to buy all the books needed. So it was that a request for a library appropriation always provoked a heated debate in the legislative body. In these arguments many amusing things were said by the county politicians present.

The senior member of the faculty tells of an argument in one of these debates given by a legislator from the short grass country. The fellow arose to his full height in the house of representatives, coughed, and then addressed the chair.

"Mr. Speaker, I was up at Manhattan the other day and visited the library room," he said. "I found that they had lots of books there—I believe there were several thousand. The librarian told me that there was not a single student or for that matter a professor, who had read them all. Now I can't see why we should buy more books when none of them has read all the books they already have. I don't think that is good economy, and I shall vote 'no' on the proposition."

CANNOT ENLIST REGISTERED MEN AFTER DECEMBER 9

The district recruiting officer, First Lieutenant Groves, was in Manhattan today and left orders with the local recruiting station not to accept registered men for enlistment after the forenoon of Sunday, December 9. This does not imply that the recruiting station will be closed on that date, as some have understood. It will be open for the enlistment of non-registered men the same as before.

MORE YARN FOR THE KNITTERS.

Many Sweets for Sammies Being Turned In.

The local chapter of the Red Cross has just received a 25-pound shipment of knitting yarn, officials at the office of the chapter say, which will probably be the last they will receive for some time on account of the scarcity of yarn.

Women of Manhattan and the college are to be commended on the splendid work they have done in knitting sweaters, say state officials in charge of local work. Sweaters have been coming in rapidly for the last few weeks, as many as 60 being turned in some days.

The chapter continues to call for women to do surgical dressing work. This is one of the most important phases of Red Cross work as surgical dressings are in unlimited demand in aiding the wounded.

ACT AS NATION'S PHYSICIANS

SECRETARY BAKER SEES NEED FOR COLLEGE MEN.

Secretary of War Believes Training in Schools Should Build up Men to Build Up Communities.

Hon. Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War.

(From National Committee of Patriotic Societies, Washington, D. C.)

When the call to national service arose, spirited young men everywhere of course wanted to be employed in a patriotic way, and I suppose there is scarcely a young man in any college in the country who has not very anxiously addressed to himself the question: "What can I do?"

I think that there is no general answer to this question. Even in those cases where it would be obviously better for a young man to stay at college and prepare himself for later and fuller usefulness, yet if the young man in so doing acquires a low view of his own courage, and feels that he was electing the less worthy course, the effect on the young man of that state of mind toward his own actions probably would be so prejudicial that it ought not to be encouraged.

To the extent that the men in college are physically disqualified, or to the extent that they are too young to meet the requirements of the department, it seems quite clear that in the present state of the emergency their upsurge usefulness lies in remaining in the college, going forward with their academic work. The knowledge that the students will acquire at college will equip them for subsequent usefulness if the emergency lasts until their call comes.

But we do not want to chill enthusiasm. We want to preserve enthusiasm and cultivate it and use it; but we do want to be discriminating in our enthusiasm, and prevent people getting the notion that they are not helping the country unless they do something different, which very often is not the case at all. The largest usefulness may come from doing the same thing. Now, it is not unnatural that there should be these ebullitions of feeling, this desire to change occupation as a badge of changed service and devotion to ideals. Our colleges can exercise a steady influence in this regard.

We are going to have losses on the sea; we are going to have losses in battle; our communities are going to be subjected to the rigid discipline of multiplied personal griefs scattered all through the community, and we are going to search the cause of those back to their foundation, and our feelings are going to be torn and our nerves made raw. There is a place for physicians of public opinion to exercise a curative impulse. The young men who are in college, who go to their homes from our colleges and make up a very large part of the direction of public opinion, can exercise a curative influence by preaching the doctrine of tolerance, by emphasizing the fact that it is not necessary for a nation like the United States, which is fighting for the vindication of a great ideal, to discolor its purpose by hatreds or by the entertainment of any unworthy emotion.

ALPHA BETAS WERE PIONEERS

Society Was Organized for Men Only in 1868.

Alpha Beta Literary society was organized in 1868 by men of the college as an outgrowth of the Bluemont Literary society. In 1870 the society received a state charter.

In 1874 women were admitted to full membership. Alpha Beta was the first society of the college to do this. The society has met in various buildings. Its first meeting place was an old building on college hill. Then it met in the armory building, and next in Anderson hall. In 1896 the society moved to the basement in Fairchild hall. The present quarters are in Nichols gymnasium.

In December, 1868, the "Literary Ensign" was first published. In 1875 the "Gleaner" originated. It was issued semi-monthly until 1882 when it was changed to a weekly.

In 1877 a dramatic entertainment was given for the purpose of securing a library fund and for eight years the society had a good library. With the growth of the college library it was unnecessary to have this library, so the books were sold, and the proceeds used to buy furniture and carpets.

In 1914 the ruling was made prohibiting the admittance to membership of students not of college rank.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGLIAN

VOLUME 24. NUMBER 25.

KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1917.

BE BIG SISTERS FOR A DAY

COLLEGE GIRLS WILL SEE THAT NO SOLDIER GOES HUNGRY CHRISTMAS DAY.

Army Officer Will Speak at a Special Mass Meeting of Co-eds This Afternoon—Y. W. C. A. is Back of the Plan—Committee is Appointed.

How many college girls would like to fix up a small Christmas box for some soldier at Funston who has no sister, cousin, or friend to remember him at that time?

Today at 5 o'clock in the old chapel, Lieutenant A. A. Werner from Camp Funston will address a mass meeting of all college girls and women connected with the college and will tell them of plan for Christmas at Camp Funston. It is planned to have no man at Camp Funston on Christmas day who has not been given a little Christmas cheer through some small gift. Lieutenant Werner will explain the nature of the box, what articles are acceptable, and are practical and what sort of "eats" may be included, will be explained to the girls.

Since the introduction of the idea of assisting in the provision of the gift boxes hehe, many girls and college employees who wish to have part in it have called at the office of Miss Mildred Inskeep, Y. W. C. A. secretary.

The work among the college girls will be carried on through the various organizations. An executive committee from the representative organizations has been appointed by Miss Mildred Inskeep consisting of: Ethel Arnold, Browning; Edith Parkhurst Eurodelphian; Margaret King, Ionian; Olive Lagerstrom, Alpha Beta; Callie Jennison, Franklin; Katherine McFarland, Tri Delta; Irma Boerner, Phi Phi; Mary VanDerwee, Kappa; Mary Hazel Phinney, Delta Zeta; Fayne Bondurant, Chi Omega; Grace Dickman, Alpha Delta; and Elizabeth Wadley, Collegian.

Dean Van Zile will have charge of the meeting today. In speaking of the arrangement Dean Van Zile expressed himself as in favor of the plan of providing Christmas packages for the soldiers at Funston who have no relatives.

"I know," she said, "that these boys, separated as they are from home, will appreciate the gifts but not so much as the thought that the girls of K. S. A. C. wish to make the Christmas of the soldiers at Funston a happy one. If our college girls will enter into this plan in the right spirit and make it an all-college-girl gift to one of the many soldiers who might otherwise have little Christmas cheer, the idea is a good one and has my cordial support."

All girls who wish to prepare a box will be given cards entitling them to membership in the Christmas box club. Those who do not have time to make up a box and wish to make a contribution so that another member may prepare the gift box may make arrangements with the organization representatives. There are more than 700 girls enrolled in college here and Funston officials are expecting quite a remembrance.

NO BASEBALL THIS SPRING

Last Season a Failure, Coach Clevenger Says.

"There will be no baseball for the Kansas Aggies this year," said Coach Clevenger, when asked about the possibility of having that sport in the spring.

"This action was taken because of the lack of interest last spring on the part of the students. The team lost a great deal of money, and the season was flat failure from a financial point of view. There is also the probability of a great many men being called before spring."

PLAYERS ARE HARD AT WORK.

"Man on Box" Actors and Actresses Practice Diligently.

The Purple Masque play is now practically assured of its date and the management has completed the plans for staging the "Man on the Box" Friday, December 14.

The players have already mastered their parts but expect to put on the finishing touches with dress rehearsals next week.

"Miss Bihy is carrying her part in an excellent manner," said Miss Ada Dykes, coach, yesterday. "Elmer Gilbreath as the 'Man on the Box' will give the audience many laughs. Another character who will entertain is Colonel Annesly, a proud old gentleman, interpreted by Claude Hutto. "Then there is Henderson, a chum of the man on the box, whom he helps to—but that would be telling the story. Another interesting character is the dignified old judge who never loses one iota of his dignity until the charming young—there comes the story again, and December 14 is the date set for telling it all."

LIFT BAN NEXT WEEK?

There is every indication that the ban on entertainments, social gatherings and other meetings will be lifted next week.

Although Dean J. T. Willard, acting president, would not officially confirm this report, The Collegian has word from what it considers a reliable source, that barring any further outbreak of spinal meningitis in Manhattan or at Camp Funston, permits will be issued next week for strictly students affairs.

The Collegian believes this is as it should be. The precaution has been taken to swab out the throats of all students, and no carriers have been found. Also the epidemic seems to have spent itself, as no new cases are reported either in Manhattan or at Funston.

Normal class work can be done only if normal school conditions prevail. With a meningitis scare, intensified by the placing of a ban on their forms of amusements, depressing them, students can not be blamed for feeling restless.

AWARDS LETTERS TO 17 MEN

Athletic Board Honors Athletes who Represented College on Gridiron.

Football "K's" were awarded to 17 men of the 1917 football squad at a meeting of the board of athletic directors last Monday night.

The men who were awarded letters are Randels, (captain), E. Ptacek, Gates, Aye, Roda, Whedon, Key, Clarke, Hinds, Sullivan, L. Ptacek, Frankenhoff, Enlow, Fairman, Harwood, Dickerson, and Bogue.

Of these men, Randels, E. Ptacek, Aye, Key, Sullivan, Frankenhoff, and Enlow will be lost this year, and with their going the Kansas Wildcat will bid goodbye to some of the best men that ever donned the uniform of the Kansas Aggies.

The letter men will be called together soon for the election of a captain.

WANT MORE WIRELESS WORK.

War Department Encourages Men to Take College Course.

The physics department has received letters from the war department urging the organization of more classes in wireless work. Kansas is to furnish 600 trained operators in the next draft. This college has in training now more men than are being trained in all the other schools of the state.

R. Z. Hook, operator for the Union Pacific, is assisting in the work here. Buzzer sets in sufficient quantity to provide each man with the apparatus necessary for home work have been ordered.

The Science club, a long established organization in the college, consists of members of the faculty and others interested in scientific research. The meetings are open to the public.

A CALL FOR BINOCULARS.

Navy Wants Enough to Supply Each Ship Officer.

The navy department is asking the people of the United States to turn over any binoculars, field glasses, or telescopes that may be owned privately in order to supply the vessels which the government is equipping.

This request is urgent since it is impossible to obtain lenses in this country and it is absolutely necessary that all ship officers be provided with observing glasses in order to watch for submarines. As the government cannot accept property without compensation, one dollar will be paid for each glass accepted.

Any one in possession of telescopes or spy glasses who wishes to offer them to the service of the government may receive additional information by addressing the physics department of the agricultural college.

'Y' FUND AT $11,576 MARK

Late Pledges Send Sum Far Above Original $8,000 Goal.

The total of the student friendship war fund as just announced is $11,576.25. The number of students enrolled is 1,701. Of this number 778 are women and 925 are men.

The women pledged better than the men, as 607 women, or 87 per cent of the women in college pledged $4,697.75 thus averaging $7.72 each. Of the 925 men in school, 542 or 58 per cent pledged $3,755, which makes their average $6.52.

Two hundred and twenty faculty members and employees on the college payroll of 400 persons, pledged $2,073.50, or an average of $13.97.

The 62 delegates who went to the Pddy meeting at Topeka pledged $1,216.50. One freshman girl who has asked to be allowed to attend the meeting pledged $190. Three men students pledged $100 each. A great many students voluntarily raised their pledges after the first pledging was over.

BETTER WAIT FOR THE DRAFT

Technical Training Will be Used in the National Army.

Technical students in colleges will have as good an opportunity to perform in the army the work for which they are especially prepared if they wait to be drafted as they would if they enlisted now. This is the message sent to Dr. H. J. Waters, by the secretary of war through Hillis Godfrey.

The message goes on to say: "You may inform all your technical students that if they wait until drafted they can upon summons to the draft camp take with them detours from you stating their special qualifications. Such letters to be filed with the occupational census questionnaire of the war department. The secretary of war also authorizes me to say that every effort will be made to use each student's special training in connection with specialized occupations in the army."

SOME STUDENTS NEED PRODDING

Royal Purple Manager Says Many are Lax With Payments.

Only a few more days are left in which seniors will have a chance to pay their Royal Purple assessment. While a fair number have paid, as yet many have not responded.

Several organizations have not made arrangements for sittings at Wolf's studio. The Royal Purple management urges that those organizations make dates for having pictures taken in December. Several open dates are still available.

By Mike Ahearn.

Realizing that any All-K. S. A. C. team of football heroes that any man may pick will not be satisfactory to the great majority and that most men believe that given the opportunity they would be able to pick a better one nevertheless, I am going to attempt the impossible, keeping in mind the old adage "Let him who is without skin show the first 'Bone.'"

Butting into the big league of dope writers is horning into a herd that doesn't carry the same brand on their hips that most football enthusiasts possess and reverse. With this preamble and ramble and with the permission of the editor, I will perambulate to the subject that has been left so far behind that it almost has been lost to view.

Digs Into Ancient History.

In order that the subject assigned to me by "Busy Bee Brewer" may be properly handled, it will be necessary to go back several years, how many only Professors Remick and Kammejer, are able to tell.

This article has to do with those men who represented the college on the gridiron since the year 1904 to the present day. Previous to that day there were men like Barnett, Conrad Cavanaugh, "Tab" Holsinger, Prof George Dean and others who no doubt would have given a good account of themselves on any team that the college has ever turned out. They were the pioneers, "long life to them."

In making the selections for at All-K. S. A. C. team, the length of time a man has played on the team and the character of his work during that period have been carefully considered. In the case of one man, making the All-Missouri valley team on year but failing to show anything the next year, caused him to get a position on the second team.

Bates Best Quarterback.

On any team, one of the most difficult positions to fill is quarterback. For the mythical eleven, I have chosen Harry (Horse Power) Bates, who directed the team in 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910. Bates had everything that a quarter back should have except the ability to carry the ball. He was above the average as a punter and well out in front as a drop and place kicker.

From the time the game started until the finish, Bates was always in the lime-light either in booting the ball, forward passing or in returning punts. It was a common occurrence for Harry to send the ball spinning high in the air over the goal line on the kick-off. During the four years he played, Bates had the distinction of never having a kick blocked, although the kick formation used during that period provided him with no protection except that given by the forwards. As a field general he had no equal in the Missouri valley.

Old Timers at Half Back.

For half backs I have picked Croyle and Mallon. Croyle was a fast heavy back weighing 190 pounds and was a hard man for any team to stop. In 1910 he played in 11 games and carried the ball for 2,186 yards in 237 attempts and made 9 touchdowns. He was a strong student, which fact stood him in good stead on the football field for he was always given credit for being a brainy player.

Mallon makes an ideal running mate for Croyle, as he is also a big fast man and a fighter from the ground up. He it was who in 1906 ran sixty yards for the touchdown that beat K. U. the only time in the history of the two schools. In backing up the line and taking forward passes he was without a peer. Mallon weighed 185 pounds but that did not seem to interfere with his speed.

Three are Prominent Tackles.

The tackle position brings out a bunch of fine candidates. No doubt there would be many followers of the game who would immediately yell "Jake Holmes" if asked who was the greatest tackle. Today he is a captain.

BASKETBALL MEN ARE OUT

BUT COACH CLEVINGER NEEDS LARGER SQUAD FOR SUCCESSFUL SEASON, HE SAYS.

Captain Van Trine is Only Regular Left from Last Year's Champions, Although Clarke and Wooster Were Letter Men.

Owing to the scarcity of old men back for the basketball season, the basketball stock of the Kansas Aggies is slightly on the wane.

Out of last year's team, five men are in the army: Wells, Cushman, Mac Millan, Fullington, and Knostman. One other, Kecker, is on his father's farm, and there is no hope of his coming to school.

Van Trine is Only Veteran.

This leaves the Aggies with just one man around which to build a championship team, and that is Captain Van Trine. Although "Van" is one of the best forwards who ever played for the Aggies, and a Missouri valley choice for forward, one man is not enough for a team, Coach Clevenger says. He urges that everyone who has ever played basketball, or ever thought he would like to play, to come out for practice.

The task of building up an entirely new basketball machine is the problem that confronts Coach Clevenger and Captain Van Trine. More volunteers is what they are after.

Coach Clevenger also issued a call for all freshmen interested in basketball to show up Monday, as scrimmage will start then, and a large freshman squad is needed.

Coach Clevenger has a small nucleus in Van Trine, Folz, Clarke, and Wooster of last year's squad. The material has been summed up with these men as the most promising material. Van Trine, Folz, Hinds, Brewer, forwards; Whedon, Clarke, Wooster, Miller, and Myers, guards; and Fairman and McKay as centers.

Other Teams Well Fixed.

When compared with the teams of the other valley fives, the Aggies chances look anything but rosy. K. U. has at least two regulars back, Uhrlaub and Laslett, while the Missouri squad has returned at least three of their last year's regulars. Washington, Ames, Drake, and Nebraska are all known to have returned several regulars.

Dean Jardine, Coach Clevenger, and Coach Schulz will be in Kansas City Friday and Saturday at a meeting of the Missouri valley athletic board, where they will arrange the basketball schedule for the coming season, football schedule for the season of 1918, and the spring baseball schedule.

THE TRAINING TELLS.

In "The Peace of the Solomon Valley," a Margaret Hill McCarter novel of the Kansas of long ago, there is allusion to a college where a farmer goes to school, and having obtained his education, returns to the farm, becoming once more a farmer. That college is the Kansas State Agricultural college.

Although the quotation in Mrs. McCarter's book is placed in the mouth of one of Kansas's early settlers, the conditions still prevail. Figures which have been compiled show that 48 per cent of the graduates of the institution answer the back-to-the-farm call.

But that is only half the student body, some one rises to remark. Yet doesn't it speak wonders for the democracy of the school when one considers that statistics have shown that nearly that same per cent leave the farm, whether they are college men and women or not? And when one realizes that not near half of the Aggie students take courses in the division of agriculture?

In the last analysis, it is the atmosphere of the school that counts. Students at K. S. A. C. do not need swagger sticks and bulldogs to establish themselves as college men. The measure of a man here is his manhood. There is an "I know you and you know me" attitude that is truly American.

It is a pretty good test of K. S. A. C. if she can take the boy from the farm, educate him, teach him co-operation, give him initiative, perhaps show him how to dance, and yet send him, a college man, back to the farm. The training tells.

THE DEATH OF KING B. B.

Baseball at K. S. A. C. has died. The grand old game of the diamond—the American game, in fact—has not paid, and probably never will pay as a college sport.

It is too bad. The grand old thud of the sphere as it sinks itself deep into the catcher's mitt, the crash of good hickory or ash as it meets the speeding effort of the pitcher, the "B-yah" and "Att-a-boy" that come from the coaching boxes, are sounds that most red-blooded Americans enjoy.

But is a plain case of survival of the fittest.

Goodbye, King Baseball, take good-bye o' yourself.

Collier's Weekly Tells of Work Here for the Soldiers.

A page article in the current Collier's Weekly is devoted to the efforts being made here to entertain the soldiers and to the community house at Junction City. There are four pictures, one being a view of the interior of the community building at Junction City. The article tells how the money was raised and how the soldiers and their visiting relatives are entertained. The author is Lucien Carey.

NEWS REACHES THE READER

Reading Material Better than Editorials, says Waters.

Public opinion is more easily molded through the news columns than by preaching in editorials, in the opinion of Dr. H. J. Waters, president of the agricultural college, who spoke before the students in industrial journalism.

"If you were going to start a Red Cross campaign," said Doctor Waters, "and started out preaching about it, you could not raise much money, but if you started a campaign through news stories you probably would get somewhere."

Farmers Demand Proof.

This is particularly the case with people who think as the farmer thinks and as the rank and file of the people think. If you were going to start out and preach early plowing for wheat the farmer would be antagonistic, but if you ran a newspaper story which gave the experiences of other farmers you would interest and convince him.

"The newspaper man must be largely a statesman and must think in terms of the needs of the country and the part of the country that he is going to serve. He should be sure that he is not following any short-sighted policy—any policy that will be destructive."

Must Serve the Public.

"Newspaper men rise or fall in exact ratio to the attention they pay to the people they seek to serve. I do not advise trimming sail or shifting about but rather paying just and timely heed to the general needs and wants of the public in the direction of society as a whole."

Doctor Waters discussed the necessity of a thorough knowledge of some particular subject, together with a knowledge of history, English, and economics, to be a successful journalist.

MUST USE FARM LABOR NOW

Supply of Men Will be Short in Spring Grimes Says.

Farm labor should be used to its maximum efficiency this winter, according to W. E. Grimes, assistant professor of farm management.

Next spring there will probably be less labor available than ever before. The situation will become most serious at harvest time if the present crop outlook continues. Greater co-operation of farmers with each other and with townspeople will be necessary and those who do not work ordinarily will have to be called upon to help. Most of the assistance will likely be obtained locally.

"The farm work should be planned so that as few things as possible will conflict with harvest," said Professor Grimes. The labor now available should be used to its maximum efficiency. This can be done by repairing machinery and buildings, building fences or mending them and doing any other maintenance work which can be done during the winter and which may interfere with harvest or other crop work if not done now.

PICKS "ALL" TEAMS

tain in the coast artillery and will probably be able to puncture the Von Hindenburg line.

The three greatest tackles the college has ever turned out are Jack Gingery, Harvey Roots and Jake Holmes. Gingery was, without a doubt, the best tackle that has represented K. S. A. C. on the gridiron. He possessed all the qualities that help to make a football player dear to the heart of a coach. Jack was a strong, heavy fellow, aggressive either on the offense or defense, could carry the ball either from position or pulled back of the line, was in every play and had ever-be-counted-on to make a play down when the team was in a tight place.

Root's Better Than Holmes. Between Roots and Holmes, I have given the former the preference because of his ability to lug the ball. In 111 Root's and Holmes played right and left tackle respectively. Root carried the ball 1,217 yards in 209 attempts and made 16 touchdowns in 11 games, which is going some for a tackle.

Holmes, in 11 games, carried the ball 955 yards in 181 attempts and scored 8 touchdowns. Holmes was a little stronger on the defense than Root's and it is a question of deciding which would be the more valuable man to his team. On account of his speed, Harvey Roots when called upon, could also play a very strong game in the back field.

Roda Peer of All Guards.

For the guard position, two men stand out strongly in the writer's estimation. Roda and Holmes. It will be noticed that Holmes has been moved to guard because the writer feels that playing this position with the other men who have been selected, Jake would develop into the best guard in the country. Besides, it would not be right to have an All-K. S. A. C. team unless Jake Holmes was listed among the first string men.

Carl Roda must assuredly hold down the other side of the line. His work is so well known to the present day students that it requires very little comment. There have been few guards with his ability to open holes on the offense and none of them who could equal him in breaking up plays on the defense. I believe that he would get the place by a unanimous vote of the football students and faculty.

Picks Toward From Big Field.

The wing men have caused a great deal of brain storming to pick the right man. There is a wealth of material to select from: Stahl, Blake, Walker, Elliot, Handels, Skinner, Fowler, Enlow and Haggerman are all outstanding figures in playing this important position. Considering the men from every angle, I have finally hammered it down to Towler and Skinner.

There never has been nor never will be another end that will equal the playing ability of Towler. In playing a blocking end, smashing interference, carrying the ball, making forward passes and running interference down the field, he was the king of them all. Towler has since passed to his eternal reward but he will live forever in the hearts of those who have followed closely the fortunes of football at K. S. A. C. during the years of 1907, '08, '09 and '10.

Skinner Gets the Other End.

For the other end of the line I have picked Skinner who played a brilliant game at end. Plenty of weight and abundance of nerve, ability to grapple and hold forward flips while on the head run, give him the edge over the rest of the field. As a smashing end, well, he smashed like a Swede giving a welcome to a long lost brother.

Easy Job to Pick Center.

The center position goes to Phelps a big man tipping the scales close to 200 pounds, a cool brainy player, a tower of strength either on the offense or defense. In playing open center the scribe has yet to find one who can compare with Phelps.

No Fullback Like Wells.

Full back is given without a fear or a doubt to "Eddie" Wells, last year's All-Missouri valley full back. Eddie had everything that a good full back should have in his kit—brains, strength, courage and ability to size up the other fellows plays before they were well started. Modest, unassuming, stalwart in character, we take off our hats to Eddie Wells the athlete, the student, and the man, without doubt the best fullback that ever put on a football harness for the old college.

It is a certainty that this bunch of stars would give a good account of themselves with any team in the country.

Second Team Backs Hired.

The second team was picked from men who were closely crowding those who were selected for the All-First team: John Clarke, quarter back; Ike Lehm, left half; Saut Speer, right half; Cap Hunter, fullback; Stiff Randall, left end; Pete Ptacek, left guard; Seng, left guard; Zoller, center, Burkholder, right guard; Loomis, right tackle; and Stahl, right end.

If there is anyone who is dissatisfied with the selection of these men he is cordially invited to call on the editor of The Collegian and have it out with him, as he is the instigator of this All-K. S. A. C. All-Time football team.

Dear Bruce—I have endeavored to pick the men for this All-Time football team of my ability. Character, as well as playing strength, has been considered. However, regardless of character, I firmly believe that the men chosen would be welded into a great machine for you first the article, if you do not print it, leave The Collegian staff and flowers, with a little card of sympathy.

Yours specifically,

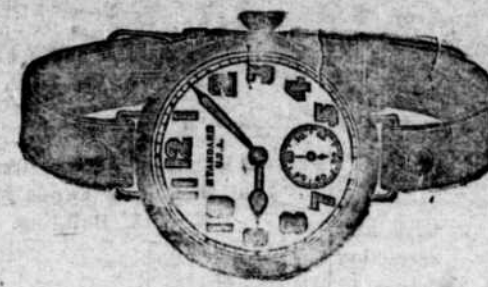

MIKE.

Clothes and Camouflage

You've probably seen pictures of the armies in Europe making a formidable fortress on a bare hill top, with dummy cannon and pasteboard men.

It's called camouflage.

But it isn't confined to the army.

You'll find it in business, too, especially the clothing business.

You'll often find clothes that look well; clever in style; low in price. But they're not as good as they look, and are worth less than they cost.

They're camouflaged clothes.

Wise buyers learn to avoid them, and go where they're absolutely certain of quality and value for their money.

At this store you'll get genuine all-wool clothes made by Hart Schaffner & Marx; the latest styles, too.

You'll pay a reasonable price for them, but you'll get your money's worth of service out of them; it's economy.

We guarantee absolute satisfaction.

WOMEN TO ARGUE DEC. 14.

Washburn, Ottawa and Aggie Co-ed Debaters to Meet.

The first woman's debate of the year will be held in the college auditorium December 14, when the Aggie debaters argue with Washburn college and Ottawa university.

The question to be debated is whether or not the United States should adopt a responsible cabinet form of government. The teams have not yet been chosen. The Aggie negative team will debate the Ottawa affirmative team at Ottawa, and the Aggie affirmative team will debate the Washburn negative team in the college auditorium.

Because of the large attendance at the Ames debate, due to the "free to all" feature, the debate council has decided to charge no admission for the debate December 14.

GREENHOUSE IS AT ITS BEST.

Many Plants Bearing Luscious Fruit Now.

The showhouse of the greenhouse has taken on quite a tropical appearance lately. The banana plant has a large bunch of bananas ripening on it. The Wonder lemon plants are now bearing fruit, and the guava jelly plant whose fruit resembles the apple in appearance and which has a very sweet taste, is bearing fruit.

In addition to these plants, many other interesting tropical plants such as the fig trees, date palms and the acacia plants are there.

ORGANIZED THE 'Y' IN 1885

PRESENT EDIFICE WAS ERECTED TEN YEARS AGO.

Former President Nichols was Prominent in Raising Funds for Y. M. C. A. Building.

The Y. M. C. A. of the Kansas State Agricultural college was organized November 8, 1885. For several years the Sunday meetings were held in the old horticultural hall. Later rooms were rented on Leavenworth street. In 1908 the association moved to its present home.

The movement for the present building was started in 1904. The students alone pledged $11,000, and the alumni gave liberally. The business men of Manhattan gave $2,500. An unknown philanthropist in the east gave $1,000 on condition that the association raise $5,000 more in three months. Subscriptions amounted to $28,000 when the building was started. The total cost was nearly $35,000. W. W. McLean, secretary, gave much of his time to the work, and former President E. R. Nichols was the financial agent.

The rooms of the building are open to all college men, for student and committee meetings. In the reading room are always found the leading magazines and newspapers. The game room is well equipped with chess, checkers, and other games. The gymnasium serves as an auditorium, a social room and a basketball court. There are 18 dormitory rooms for the boys interested in the work.

One of the purposes of the association is to train young men for leadership in their home communities. New students are met at the trains, and assisted in obtaining their rooms. Each year a hand book is published for the benefit of the students. Meetings are held every Thursday evening. The present membership is 360.

The organization is in the hands of a board of directors and a cabinet. The board consists of six students, four faculty members, an alumnus, one business man, and one minister. The cabinet consists of the president, vice president, secretary and chairmen of the eight committees. The general secretary is the only salaried officer.

HIS LETTERS MUST BE TIDY.

Appearance of Farmer's Stationary Counts as Much as Dress.

A farmer can no more afford to neglect the appearance of his letters than he can afford to neglect his personal appearance, in the opinion of H. W. Davis, assistant professor of the English language.

"A business man is judged considerably by his appearance," said Professor Davis, "and the farmer's business associates are likely to judge him entirely by the letters he writes since they often have no other means of knowing him. They may decide from his letter whether he is a progressive, up-to-date business man, or whether he will prove unsatisfactory to deal with. He will make a much better impression if he has some neat form of letterhead."

"The farmer's business now is calling more and more for letter writing of all types—buying and selling letters. If the farmer specializes in any particular field, he is called upon to know something of advertising, particularly in sales-letter writing. In some cases he is called upon to prepare even catalogs and advertising folders."

ANDY LEWIS HAS POSSUM AGAIN.

Twenty-Pound Gift Brought to His Door Sunday.

Andy Lewis is telling a story today which runs about like this: "Last evening twixt 6 and 7 somebody drove up in front of my house in a great big auto, and rapped on the door. My wife went to the door, and the man asked her, 'Is this where Andy Lewis lives?' She said it was, and he said, 'Tell him to come here.' So I went to the door and it was Mr. Williams from Ashland Bottoms, and he said, 'I've got a present here for you, Andy,' and he reached down in the car and pulled out a great big possum that weighed about 20 pounds."

Shipment of Plants Received.

The greenhouse has just received a shipment of plants such as the snap dragons, cinerarias, pansies, asparagus, and begonias from the Globe greenhouses of Denver. These plants are sent here for the purpose of increasing the variety. Some of them will be used this spring in the campus flower beds.

Lee Carlton of Camp Doniphan is in town visiting relatives.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

GIRLS PROMISE MORE GIFTS

CO-EDS WILL NOT FORGET UNCLE SAM'S SOLDIERS AT CAMP FUNSTON.

More Than 200 Girls Listen to Talk Made by Lieutenant Foster, Funston Officer, Who Tells of the Need for Remembrances for the Men.

A big percent of the co-eds of K. S. A. C. have added one, and in some cases three and four gifts to their Christmas list since the mass meeting of the women of the college on Friday afternoon.

Lieut. Dick B. Foster, in charge of camp activities at Camp Funston, talked to the girls in regard to providing a number of small gift packages for part of the men at Funston who would not otherwise be remembered. Lieutenant Foster spoke of importance of the woman's work in general as a help to the soldier and expressed his appreciation of the readiness of the girls of the college in assisting with the plans for Christmas at Funston.

A Gift to Uncle Sam. In speaking of the gifts Lieutenant Foster said, "Make these presents a gift to the army. Lose track of the individual part and say that you are doing this for the great army of democracy. It should make no difference whether the soldier to whom your gift should go should be across the water or in the barracks at Funston."

"In making up these gift packages choose things that are simple, not extravagant. Our soldiers are well paid and they have money. Yet through the simple little convenience it will be possible to see that each man has a gift on Christmas day. Articles which every soldier needs are handkerchiefs, buttons, thread, sewing outfits, scissors, books, writing pads, and such things as they do not have when separated from their homes. Do not get bulky things, and do not send any 'eats'."

Makes Men Happier. "It is the hardest thing in the world to prepare men for the army. Your cooperation in making men in training a little happier will ultimately make happier homes than if you had failed to enter into this great work. With all of our assistance there will still be some men here on Christmas day who cannot be provided for. We hope that the gift from the young lady who is best able to give will on that day go to the least fortunate soldier. And remember, when you are preparing these presents that the true gift is the one which is given freely without the expectation of return."

Dean Van Zile commended the girls on their interest in such a worthwhile movement and gave her support to the work. She also stressed the importance of the all college spirit and the part which the college girls will play in part in saying whether this is a sad or a bright Christmas at Funston.

Many Took the Cards. Christmas box club cards were given out to about 200 girls who attended the meeting Friday, pledging the signers to donate one or more gifts which are to be prepared. It was suggested by Miss Mildred Inskeep, who has charge of the work, that each present be wrapped in an O. D. (olive drab) handkerchief and fastened with Christmas ribbon and seals. On Tuesday December 18, the regular Y. W. C. A. vesper services will be held at 5 o'clock in the form of Christmas services and the gifts made by the girls will be collected. A gift store has been set up in room 59 of the domestic science building furnished with supplies which may be purchased by the girls who are making the Christmas boxes for soldiers at Funston. Supplies will be sold at cost.

Hall in Shawnee County. Otis F. Hall of Manhattan, state leader of the boys' and girls' club work, was in Shawnee county last week for a week's speaking tour in the schools on the subject of organization clubs. His schedule included the Oakland high school, Indian Creek, Rossville, Elmont, Seabrook, Oak Grange and Sunnyside.—Topeka Capital.

TO DISCUSS FARM MACHINERY.

Rural Engineering Problems on Program During Farm and Home Week.

The rural engineering program for Farm and Home week at the college January 21 to 26, which has been prepared under the direction of A. A. Potter, dean of the engineering division, is expected to interest a large number of Kansas farmers and others. "Care and selection of farm machinery" will be discussed by F. A. Wirt of Kansas City, Mo.; "Housing of Farm Machinery" by K. J. T. Ekblaw, professor of farm engineering in the college; and "The Practical Operation of Tractors" by W. H. Sanders, instructor in farm motors.

One session will be devoted to the uses of concrete on the farm. This subject will be handled by R. A. Seaton, professor of applied mechanics and machine design. Demonstrations and lectures on the care and home repair of automobiles will be given by E. V. Collins, instructor in steam and gas engineering. Other subjects to be discussed are manufacture and use of iron and steel, hardening and tempering of tool steel, molding and casting of iron, use of rope on the farm and binder and mower troubles.

GRAND OPERA COMING HERE

San Carlo Company the Attraction in Auditorium Wednesday.

The San Carlo Grand Opera Company, said to be the third best in the United States, will appear at the college auditorium Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

It was only by accident that the college was fortunate in securing these engagements with the opera company on account of a contract that was cancelled at the last moment they had these two dates open and arrangements were immediately made for the company to sing at the college auditorium.

It is still unsettled as to whether students will be allowed to attend the opera or not, but the indications are that they may. A large audience is expected from the townspeople. It is seldom that Manhattan hears a Grand Opera production and all will probably take advantage of the opportunity. The prices will be greatly reduced on account of it being an emergency engagement, and one will get to hear a first-class Grand opera at a low price.

The San Carlo Grand Opera Company is one of the best in the country. It has a group of exceptionally fine singers and will put on a master production. They will render the celebrated opera "Faust" on Thursday evening, and the two operas "Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana" on Wednesday evening.

This company has met with great success in New York City where it repeatedly turned out full capacity houses. It has sung in Omaha, Kansas City, and several of the western cities just recently and has had unusual success. It is appearing in Topeka on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

The engagements here are to be handled by the music department. Reserved seat tickets are on sale at the downtown Palace Drug store. The management suggests buying tickets early as there will be a large crowd at the box office each evening.

WANT MORE GIRL BASKETEERS.

Tryouts for Co-ed Class Teams Begun Today.

Tryouts for the girls' interclass basketball games will begin this week. This marks the opening of the winter basketball season. All girls interested in the game are asked to sign up for practice. So far the freshmen girls have the longest list of names, and both the juniors and seniors need reinforcements.

The freshmen won the hockey tournament and the tennis tournament was won by a freshman girl, and in general they have shown more interest in interclass sports than any other class. The sophomores will try out today at 5 o'clock, the juniors and seniors Thursday at 5 o'clock and the freshmen Friday at 5 o'clock.

Symphony Club.

Miss Smith and Miss Bugby of the college music department will give a recital at the meeting of the Symphony club this evening at the home of Mrs. Gearhart. The latter part of the evening will be devoted to a discussion of American singers whom club members have heard.

POSTPONE "MAN ON BOX"

PURPLE MASQUE WILL BE STAGED TUESDAY NIGHT OF NEXT WEEK.

Dates This Week are Taken by San Carlo Opera Company—College Actors are Perfecting Their Work With Practices Each Evening.

"The Man on the Box," the clever dramatization of Harold McGrath's famous novel which the Purple Masque had planned to stage Friday night, has been postponed until Tuesday night. The college actors have given way to the San Carlo opera company for this week, preferring to take a date next week rather than to follow the New York actors.

The players are rehearsing every night, and have the play down to perfection. Special scenery and costumes have been ordered.

Each evening Elmer Gilbreath, "The Man on the Box," swallows his pride and humiliates himself by playing both groom and butler to the charming young lady with whom he is in love, and she tries—but that is telling too much of the story. It must be seen to be fully appreciated.

ELMER GILBREATH
"The Man on the Box"

Elmer Gilbreath, as leading man, handles his part in an excellent manner. It is a role that requires clever acting and he is doing it. Mr. Gilbreath has had considerable experience with stock companies and has developed the versatility necessary for his part.

MISS ERNESTINE BIBY

As leading lady Miss Biby is doing unusually well. She is particularly well fitted to her part. Although this is Miss Biby's first play she is showing the talent and ability of an experienced player. Miss Biby is a sophomore in college and a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Wanda Tetric, who was leading lady in "The Man From Home" last year is carrying the part of the leading lady's chum. Miss Tetric has had a good deal of dramatic experience and is a very talented actress. Oliver Nelson plays the part of the leading man's chum. Mr. Nelson carried a leading part in the Manhattan high school play last year, and is showing up well in his part this year.

The part of the portly and dignified judge is taken by Floyd Work. There are many laughs in store for the audience when the judge falls for the pretty young widow, which is carried by Miss Dorothy Norris. Lloyd Hamilton acts as the proud old colonel and with him is the shrewd Russian spy, a part carried by McKinley Stay.

Some of the other characters which will entertain the audience are the two Irish policemen, played by Arthur Hancock and Donald MacGregor, Helen Lawson as the maid, Glen Ware as clerk of the court, and later as the stable boy, both of which he handles well. Then there is to be excitable French cook, taken by William Giles, and the jolly old colonel which is acted by Claude Hutto.

The play has been postponed from Friday of this week until next Tuesday on account of the college engagements with the San Carlo Grand Opera Co.

Seats may be reserved at the Co-operative Book store next Monday and Tuesday, December 17 and 18.

NUMERALS TO HOCKEY PLAYERS.

Girls Who Were on Class Teams to be Rewarded.

All girls who made the teams in the inter-class hockey tournament this fall are to be awarded numerals of their graduating year. In case the girl who has place on the team has previously won a numeral, none will be given.

DECIDE ON FATE THIS WEEK

Applicants for Training Camp Will Know Results Soon.

This week is an anxious one for 40 Aggie graduates and upper classmen. Examinations were held last week for entrance into the third officers' training camp, to which the college is to send 32 students, and the original list of 60 applicants was cut to 40 because of the stringent physical qualifications that were necessary to pass the examination.

The names of the successful 32 will be announced by Capt. W. F. J. O'Neill, U. S. A., commandant of cadets, the latter part of this week.

Many K. S. A. C. graduates took the physical examination for the third officers' training camp which was held at the college last week.

Among those who took the physical examination were, Price Wheeler, '16, who is operating an irrigation farm near Garden City; A. E. Pearson, '14, assistant county agent of Marshall county; T. E. Moore, '16, principal of the Cold Water high school; F. S. Hackel, '14; F. Q. Perry, '15; and Frank Buzzard, '12, who is managing a retail dairy at St. Joseph, Mo.

PLAY 14 GAMES IN VALLEY

Aggies Meet Five Conference Basketball Teams This Year.

The Kansas Aggie basketball schedule for the coming season will include 14 conference games.

The schedule with the valley teams was completed Friday at a meeting of the representatives of the different valley schools in Kansas City. The games with the teams of the Kansas conference will be announced later.

Following is the Aggie schedule: Jan. 19.—Ames at Manhattan. Jan. 30-31.—Kansas at Lawrence. Feb. 8-9.—Washington at Manhattan.

Feb. 21-22.—Drake at Des Moines. Feb. 23.—Ames at Ames.

Feb. 27-28.—Missouri at Manhattan. March 4-5.—Kansas at Manhattan. March 8-9.—Nebraska at Lincoln.

The schedule gives the Aggies two games with every other team in the conference with the exception of Kansas, whom the Aggies will play four times, twice at Lawrence and twice at Manhattan.

The games are equally divided at home and on foreign courts—seven on the Aggie court and seven away from home. The games with the smaller colleges will be announced later.

The football schedule for next fall has not been completed yet, but it is expected to be finished in a short time.

WIDEN LOVERS' LANE ROAD.

And Old Maples are Being Sawed Down.

Preparations are being made to widen the road along Lover's Lane. The new road will be made of gravel and will greatly facilitate travel as there formerly was not enough room for the passage of teams.

The large maple trees along the south side of the old road are being cut down. These trees will be sawed into convenient lengths and sold for firewood.

3 STUDENTS GERMCARRIERS

SULLIVAN, RODEWALD AND BAILEY ARE QUARANTINED IN THEIR ROOMS.

Discovery of Spinal Meningitis Germs in Cultures Taken Last Week Means Ban on Amusements and Meetings Probably Will Stick.

The discovery of three spinal meningitis carriers among the students of the school last week revived the scare which the disease had worked up in Aggie land. Giles Sullivan, C. J. Rodewald and Frank Bailey are the three Aggie students who are confined to their quarters until it is proven that they are not dangerous to the other students.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon and R. T. C. houses, where the "carriers" live, are quarantined, and a number of the members of the two organizations are confined to the houses with the men on whom the germs were found.

All students of the college must have their throats swabbed out by Wednesday, is the edict from Dean J. T. Willard, acting president. Last week more than 1,200 students responded to the voluntary call, but when carriers were found, a notice was posted declaring that students must have their throats swabbed or face expulsion. There are only a few students who have neglected the precaution. Prof. L. E. Conrad, chairman of the student health committee said last night. Only 200 remained Sunday, and most of these paid a visit to the veterinary building yesterday.

For the present at least, the ban on entertainments is not raised, although small group meetings have met with no protests.

The disease has spent itself at Camp Funston, latest reports indicate. No deaths have occurred there this month. The cold weather is said to have a beneficial influence in that it kills off the germs.

Because of the discovery of a case of spinal meningitis in the Junction City schools, a careful examination has been made under the direction of Colonel Banks, U. S. health officer, of the school children in that area, comprising three or four buildings.

But two carriers were found and two suspects, Colonel Banks reported today.

KANSAS HEADS ALL STATES.

Total Number of Signatures Reported to Dr. H. J. Waters Is 464,277.

With 94 per cent of the families in the state enrolled, Kansas stands at the head of all the states of the Union in signed pledges for conservation of food in accordance with the plans of the United States food administration.

The total number of signatures in Kansas reported to Dr. H. J. Waters, food administrator for the state, is 464,277. This is one and a half times the goal set in the campaign, which was only 300,000.

The percentage of families enrolled in the state is just double the percentage the United States over, which is 47. Next to Kansas stands Iowa, with 91 per cent. These are the only two states running 90 or over. Returns from states surrounding Kansas range from 56 to 70 per cent.

The high attainment in the Kansas campaign is attributed to the thorough organization maintained and the whole-hearted zeal and co-operation of workers in all parts of the state, as well as the general patriotic sentiment of the public.

LETTERS TO MEN IN SERVICE.

Y. M. C. A. Wants Latest Addresses of Aggie Soldiers.

A letter containing news of the campus and a Christmas and New Year's greeting from the student body is being sent out to former students of the college who are now in military service. The Y. M. C. A. is back of the letter, but is sending it as representing the Aggie student body.

More addresses are needed, Homer Cross, president of the Y. M. C. A. said last night. If correct addresses are mailed to him, or phoned to the Y. M. C. A., a letter of greeting will be insured to many former students.

VESPER SERVICES THURSDAY.

Y. W. Worker from Camp Funston Will Talk to Girls.

Y. W. C. A. vesper services will be held Thursday at 4 o'clock in the home economics rest room. Miss Winifred Wygal, executive of the Y. W. C. A. work at Fort Riley, Camp Funston and Junction City will address the girls on a war subject. The octette will furnish music.

Quill to Meet Tuesday.

Quill club will not meet Monday but a special meeting has been called for Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock to decide about space in the Royal Purple and other business matters. The meeting will be held in K-56.

"SLIM" IS OVERSEAS SOMEWHERE.

Former Basketball Center has not Written for Four Weeks.

No word has been received from Dewey Pullington, sophomore in engineering last year, and center on the varsity basketball team, for more than four weeks. The last letter received from him was sent from New Jersey. Indications are that he is either on his way or is now in France. "Slim" is in the aviation corps.

THE FRAT TEAMS ARE OFF

Two Games Were Played on Nichols Floor Last Night.

The fraternity basketball teams began their annual tournament when the Sigma Nus clashed in a contest with the Pi Kappa Alphas and the Acacias and Aztecs competed on Nichols floor last night.

The Sigma Nus won a close game from the Pi Kappa Alphas. At the end of the first half the score stood 4 to 4. But Bobby Meeker, Sigma Nu guard, got busy, and the game ended 8 to 6 in favor of the Sigma Nus. Meeker starred in the contest.

The Aztec five ran away from the Acacias in the second battle of the evening. Splendid teamwork by Jennings, Hinds, Whedon, Beatty and Blair sent the Aztec score to 41, while the efforts of Brewer and Jolly, the Acacia stars, resulted in 13 points for the Masons.

Both games were fast. Frequent roughing featured the second contest, although the first game was cleanly played. Both Aztec and Acacias fouled so often that "Bill" Tuttle, who refereed, was able to see only a few of the misplays.

DAVE WOOSTER INELIGIBLE

Aggie Guard Ruled Out of Valley Competition.

The days of Dave Wooster as an Aggie basketball star are ended. The star Aggie guard was ruled out of Missouri valley competition at the meeting of Missouri valley conference faculty representatives held at Kansas City last week.

Dave brought the case up himself and asked Dean Jardine, the Aggie representative, to query the eligibility board of the conference as to his standing.

Wooster came to Manhattan from the Kansas State Normal. He played on Bill Hargiss's quintet at Emporia two years while he still was in the preparatory school, and then a year while in the college. Whether or not the two years of preparatory competition would count as a full year in the valley was the question to be settled. The ruling was that the three years would count as two years, thus making Wooster ineligible to compete another year, as he played a substitute guard role on the Aggie squad last year.

Another important result of the Kansas City meeting was the decision of the faculty representatives to allow freshmen on the teams of Drake and Washington. This measure was taken with a view of strengthening these two colleges athletically, although Washington now has more students than does K. S. A. C.

Still another result was the vote of the conference to go on record as favoring games between freshmen teams of the different institutions. Recommendation was made to the faculties that the yearlings be allowed to play 25 per cent as many valley games as were allowed by the conference for the varsity teams.

Bethany Circle.

A social meeting of the Bethany circle will be held on Thursday night for the new members of the Circle at 250 N. 16 street. Miss Rose Gordon and Miss Flossie Brown will be the hostesses.

RODA ON THE FIRST TEAM

AGGIE STAR GUARD LEADS THE VALLEY AT HIS POSITION, CRITICS SAY.

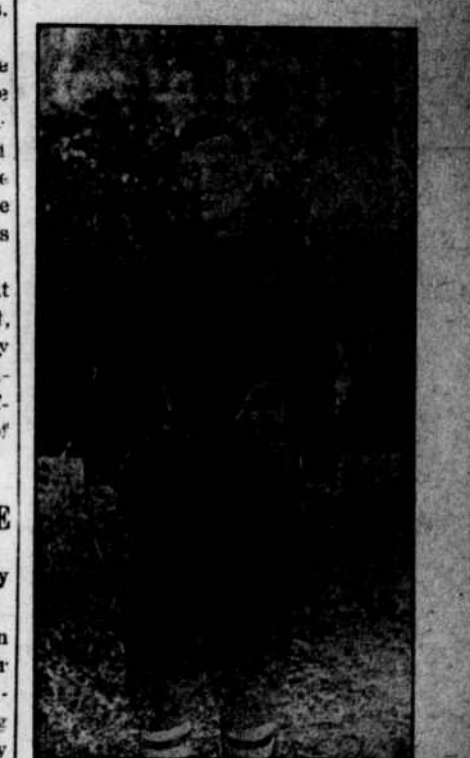

Clyde Key and Bill Whedon Lead Berths on the Second Team, While Johnny Clarke and Pete Placek are Third Eleven Players.

The Missouri valley football selections for the season of 1917 have been made and Carl Roda, giant right guard of the Aggies, represents K. S. A. C. on the first eleven. Carl not only won a place but was accorded first place among all valley guards by the Kansas City Star, under whose direction the selections were compiled from the reports of Missouri valley coaches and officials.

There were two big surprises in the choices. One was Clyde Key's placing on the second squad. There is no one who denies Key's right to the position, but he played a substitute role to Captain Randels and played in only two valley games, and it was not thought that he had received special notice. At Ames, however, Key shone.

Johnny Clarke's failure to land a better position than a third team berth shows either an abundance of quarterback material in the valley or a failure to appreciate Johnny's true worth, most Aggie fans think. Captain Randels did not place on any of the teams.

Nebraska won five places on the first eleven; Kansas, three; Ames,

IN RE MIKE'S SELECTIONS.

Probably the well meant efforts of Professor Michael Francis Ahearn, who at the request of The Collegian endeavored to select an All-Time All-Aggie football eleven, have met with some opposition in certain quarters of the globe.

There are doubtless players who stand out strongly in the minds of some of the "old timers," who wonder why the names of these athletes didn't appear. Also, some players whom certain critics thought to be "dubs" were placed. Mike couldn't please everybody.

The Collegian, however, believes the matter of selecting an All-Aggie team to be of enough interest that it will print the selections made by anyone well acquainted with Aggie football history. If enough of the graduates respond, The Collegian favors the appointment of a committee to decide on the merits of the All-Aggie aspirants.

CHRISTMAS AT FUNSTON.

Too much can not be said in commendation of the idea of treating the Camp Funston Sammies Christmas.
The average soldier, even the average national army man, does not receive a carload of remembrances at the Yuletide. His day after day of drill, drill, drill can be lightened if he knows that someone somewhere has thought of him.

Probably college students do not realize the loneliness of some of the soldiers. The persons they know at the camp are above the average in their number of friends. But what of the poor Sammy who hasn't a home, or, if he has one, will receive little or nothing from there to remind him of the meaning of the day?

It is only a small thing that the Aggie women are asked to do. And they have a way of doing small things well.

Written by a Freshman

Walter Neibarger

You can lead a man to Kansas, but you can't make him drink.

A love affair is not what a girl has when she gets a date for a football game.

The writer who referred to the freshmen as the "elementary species," has the column's severe condemnation.

Cold weather, don't chano.

First example—"How's your folks?"
Second example—"Good. How's your folks?"

This column is neutral as to whether there should be a biteless night for bedbugs.

An ultra-refined person is one who calls Bill, William.

Dorothy Dix, who writes the "gittin' married" column in the Topeka Journal, committed what to our mind is an inexcusable act. She said "piffle."

Our boyhood dreams return once more when we read the story of the Valencia boys who decorated the station platform with a skunk just before the train came in.

A school ad in a big magazine runs like this: "Miss Hall's School for Girls in the Berkshire Hills." They must raise—but we won't say it.

If a speaker wishes to get away well with an audience, let him slam the kaiser.

As a rule we agree with the old poet who said, "Her brow is like a snowdrift."

Deacon Angelo Loofmad says the most comforting passage to him in the Bible, is "blessed are the pure in heart."

The article on the roots of the Russian revolution in Century, probably makes Kerensky quote, "I was the vine, you are the branches."

The fact that France's new premier formerly taught school in Connecticut, further establishes our conviction that the United States must win the war.

A report says that former king
Alexander's royal stable at Athens has been sold. Might as well, for the king is now hitched in Switzerland.

Perhaps the Scotch sportsman of Walter Scott's time can now chase down stray kings.

The next thing to a foreign language paper is the fashion page.

Fashion notes are really interesting. We note that Mrs. De Gama is wearing kolinsky fur capes this season.

The fashion note says, "Frocks and hats of paprika shade are frequently seen in smart afternoon audiences."
These (smart) audiences probably did not remove their hats.

We might also add, that madame Fashion Writer was also in style when she noticed her neighbor's hats instead of the show.

Clothes and Camouflage

You've probably seen pictures of the armies in Europe making a formidable fortress on a bare hill top, with dummy cannon and pasteboard men.

It's called camouflage.

But it isn't confined to the army.

You'll find it in business, too, especially the clothing business.

You'll often find clothes that look well; clever in style; low in price. But they're not as good as they look, and are worth less than they cost.

They're camouflaged clothes.

Wise buyers learn to avoid them, and go where they're absolutely certain of quality and value for their money.

At this store you'll get genuine all-wool clothes made by Hart Schaffner & Marx; the latest styles, too.

You'll pay a reasonable price for them, but you'll get your money's worth of service out of them; it's economy.

We guarantee absolute satisfaction.

BROWNINGS LATEST ARRIVALS.

Society Was Not Organized Until October, 1910.

The Browning Literary society has the distinction of being the youngest society on the hill. A meeting was called to draft a constitution October 10, 1910, and the first meeting was held October 15, 1910.

It is the only girls' society in this college which has a person for its ideal. Elizabeth Barrett Browning, wife of Robert Browning, poet, was chosen as the ideal because of her character and literary achievements.

The society owes much of its success to J. E. Kammeyer, professor of economics, under whose direction the organization was perfected. He has since been chosen "godfather."

The Bluebird is the emblem of the society and the society paper is called "The Bluebird." The Browning colors are brown and blue because of the colors of the plumage of the bird.

An important feature of the society is the use of the critic score card. A critic is appointed who grades all the numbers on the program. These cards are kept on file.

The society puts special stress on debate and last year it furnished more than 50 per cent of the girl debaters. The society limits its membership to 60.

Many gifts have been given to the society and some of the best were received from the senior classes. The Brownings are the only society to have water piped into their hall. This contribution was given by the Browning members of the senior class of 1914.

Freshman Returns To Old Home Town For Thanksgiving

Walter Niebarger.

Few students can realize how greatly freshmen appreciate the Thanksgiving time, unless they recall former days when they, too, were freshmen. At any time after November 1, any representative of the elementary species can tell you the exact number of days, hours and minutes until the glorious day arrives. Along about November 20, there is a marked decline in freshman's scholarship, and by the Wednesday prior to the great day, he determines that there will be no more knowledge until the cold December winds sweep across the campus.

Wednesday noon! Tugged out in his best suit and loudest necktie, our hero marches proudly down to the station, gets some K. S. A. C. tags on the way for his suitcase, buys some gum drops, and arrives an hour ahead of train time. He anxiously asks bystanders if each roaring train is the one, and when the bellowing monster does come in, Mr. Freshman gets in time to find all the seats gone, but what does he care?

He sees a woman with a baby in her arms, and one in a seat beside her, and promises to hold the baby for sitting in the seat. This arrangement might have proved satisfactory, had not our hero's best girl got on at a wayside town. When she saw him, one freshman changed his position to the rear platform. There he sat until he steamed into the old town.

As the train pulled in Mr. Freshman was first off and jumped into the crowd.

Rastus Bell, the hotel boy, who licked the whey out of him several years previously, could do nothing but gasp when K. S. A. C's ambassador to Tun-ville stepped on his broad understandings.

Sally Buster, whose days of social diplomacy were yet to be, twisted her red pigtail, giggled, and said, "Howdy, Jerry."

Even old Sam Taylor, the drayman, came out from his fortress of baggage and shook hands with Jerry, telling how fat he "Was gittin'."

And there was Pa and Ma standin' over by the new Ford, smiling with pride, as our hero left a string of admiring, bedazzled and gasping friends behind him. Pa got in with Jerry beside him, and they sailed up Main street.

Old "Hank" Sprouts was whittling in his usual position in front of the cash grocery, and Sam Bedwell was discussing the war in the Corner Drug Store. When Mr. Freshman walked up Main street, old "Hank" actually dropped his knife and holered, while although Sam had Germany very near licked, he remarked how "Jerry was a-comin' out o' the kinks."

That night the returned knight sallied forth and carried off the fairest lady in the town, who for year's had spurned his vain offerings of country socials, movies and football games. Less fortunate home talent merely eyed the fortunate one with supreme malice, and tried to make their dimples show a little plainer when Jerry spoke.

Pa didn't make him shovel in coal to the furnace, and Ma didn't even mention his neck and ears. Pa labored through lengthy discussions of politics and higher education. After a while Jerry played the new piece on the Edison entitled, "I'm one of an army that never won a battle, I'm a poor married man," while Ma smiled a forced smile, and Pa bellered right out.

Ah, it was a glorious day when Caesar overthrew Rome, and became mas-

THE BAN IS RAISED

STUDENT SOCIAL GATHERINGS WILL BE PERMITTED, DEAN WILLARD SAYS.

MORE CARRIERS ARE FOUND

Four Fraternity House are Quarantined the Result of Tests During the Week.

But Carriers Will Be Isolated and "Contacts" Released Today Is the Promise.

A WARNING FROM DEAN WILLARD

Students Who go to Their Homes During the Christmas Vacation Should Guard Against a Possible Spread of the Disease, Acting President Says.

The ban on college gatherings lifted and eleven carriers of germs found in the student body are the two latest meningitis developments announced by Dean J. T. Willard, acting president.

Dean Willard announced yesterday that student social gatherings would be permitted. He added this warning, however, to students who contemplate a visit home this Christmas:

"It is of the utmost importance that we do everything possible to prevent the introduction and spread of contagious diseases. The danger of exposure at your home during the Christmas vacation is very great and you are urged by the health authorities to avoid as much as possible public assemblies of miscellaneous character and to keep free to the utmost extent from people affected by contagious diseases."

Quarantine 11 Carriers.

Seven carriers were discovered Wednesday from the cultures of students examined the two days previous, and four other carriers were found yesterday. Each person found to have the germs has been quarantined, and with him are the inmates of his rooming house. The names of ten of the carriers follow:

W. A. Nye, Axtel house.
Rudolph Ritter, Beta house.
D. E. Davis, Beta house.
H. X. Burton, Sigma Nu house.
Raymond Spangler, Beta house.
L. W. Roberts, 912 Fremont.
B. L. Taylor, 519 N. Manhattan.
S. B. Shields, 803 Moro.
Miss Jennie Grace Andrews, 1010 Laramie.

R. E. Beck, 1015 Moro.

May Release "Contacts" Today.

Although the carriers will not be released until they have shown a number of negative tests, inmates of the rooming houses probably will be allowed to attend classes today. Tests were taken of all "contacts" yesterday.

The eleven carriers probably will be moved today to the old custodians' house, just north of the veterinary medicine building. Dean Willard said yesterday that attempts had been made to secure other accommodations, but that the custodians' house probably would be the place chosen. Stoves will be set up in the house today. Meals will be furnished from the cafeteria at regular prices.

Prof. L. E. Conrad, chairman of the committee on student health, explained last night the probable reason why carriers were not found earlier in the tests. Fraternity houses entertain large number of soldiers, he said, and it was not until the fraternity men all had their throats swabbed that the most probable carriers were reached.

Outlook Is Hopeful.

Professor Conrad was optimistic last night.

"Even though we are finding carriers, there are no cases," he said, "and that is our great concern."

At Camp Funston, too, conditions are favorable. No deaths have occurred this month, and only a few carriers have been found lately.

Brownings Elect Four.

Four new members have been voted into the Browning Literary society. They are Miss Freda Douthett, Miss Alma Pyle, Miss Wilma Shinn and Miss Mabel Dently.

NINE MORE INTO TRI-K

Four Students and Five Faculty Members are Elected.

The Tri-Ks at their regular meeting held in Prof. L. E. Call's office Tuesday evening added nine new names to their membership list. Those elected as members are W. R. Horlicher, sophomore in agronomy; Theodore Yost, junior in agronomy; Albert Waters, sophomore in agronomy; E. E. Davis, junior in agronomy; B. S. Wilson, assistant in cooperative experiments; C. C. Cunningham, assistant professor in cooperative experiments; J. H. Parker, associate professor of crops; G. E. Thompson, assistant in crops; and H. J. Bower, lecturer on soils in the division of college extension.

The program consisted of an illustrated lecture on Oregon by Alford Swanson, junior in agronomy. Light refreshments were served.

GIVE THE "ELIJAH" SUNDAY

Choral Society to Treat Music Lovers—Luton to Sing Lead.

The annual free Christmas concert of the choral society under the direction of A. E. Westbrook, professor of music, will be given Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the college auditorium. The oratorio, "Elijah," one of the two greatest orations written is the opera to be given.

To sing the part of Elijah, Professor Westbrook has secured Charles Luton, prominent Chicago baritone.

The choral society, the Randolph, Garrison and Clay Center choruses and the orchestra will combine to furnish this treat for Manhattan music lovers. All the choruses are smaller than ever before, but they are much better in quality, Professor Westbrook says.

The orchestra will be under the direction of R. H. Brown, assistant professor of music. Mrs. R. H. Brown will play the harp, and Miss Patricia Abernathy will be at the piano.

Those taking solo parts are C. W. Johnston, tenor; Miss Louise Hughes, soprano; Miss Katherine Kimmell, contralto; and Charles Luton, baritone.

CONVERSE HEADS FRANKLINS.

Society Elects Second Set of Officers for Year.

The Franklin Literary society elected new officers at the regular meeting Saturday evening. They are Merle Converse, president; Miss Edna Rawlins, vice president; Miss Grace Lyness, recording secretary; Robert Lush, corresponding secretary; S. F. Swanson, treasurer; Miss Katrina Kimpert, critic; Joe Thackeray, marshal; Comfort Neale, assistant marshal and Miss Dorothy Lush, third member of board of directors.

This is the second election of the year for the Franklin society. At the beginning of the year they voted to follow the old system of elections three times a year rather than to elect under the new semester system.

INDUSTRIALIST RACE IS CLOSE.

Four Students Bunched at Head of Annual Contest.

The industrialist contest grows more exciting each week. It promises to be closer than any contest conducted recently.

Miss Dora Cate, sophomore in industrial journalism, is in the lead with 83.5 inches to her credit, while Miss Katrina Kimpert, senior in general science, holds second place with 76.5 inches. Ralph Foster, junior in industrial journalism, is third with 72.5 inches, and Miss Sarah Chase, junior in industrial journalism, holds fourth place with a total of 71 inches.

Miss Laura Shingledecker, sophomore in industrial journalism, and winner of the contest last spring term, leads with 140 column inches, but she is not a contestant.

Assigned to Camp Sherman.

Lieut. J. K. Kershner of Concordia, and a student in the college last year, who received his commission as first lieutenant of infantry at Fort Sheridan, Ill., was in Manhattan Monday visiting with friends. He is on his way to Camp Sherman, Ga., where he will be stationed.

G. A. A. Party Is Off.

The party which the Girls' athletic association was planning for the freshman girls has been postponed on account of spinal meningitis. No future date has been fixed.

DISEASE STOPS BASKETBALL

THREE AGGIE MEN ARE TIED UP IN FRATERNITY HOUSE BECAUSE OF MENINGITIS.

Johnny Clarke the Only Basketballer Able to Practice, and Coach Clevenger Is Giving Him a Vacation—Drake May Have Place on Schedule.

Coach Clevenger did not believe Johnny Clarke capable of scrimmaging the freshman quintet last night so there was no basketball tilt between yearlings and Varsity. Johnny is the last of the Mohicans, so to speak, as he is the only member of the provisional regular quintet who is not quarantined.

Clevenger thought that Fate had been just about as unkind as she could be when Dave Wooster was declared ineligible. That left but four of his provisional selection, and took away one of the best guards in the valley. Then Bill Wheden, who had been playing center, and "Heinie" Hinds forward, were caught in the Axtel house when the health officer brought around his spinal meningitis quarantine card, and that left only Captain Van Trine and Johnny Clarke.

Bad Start for Season.

"Van" was next in line, for the Beta house also was visited by the health officer, and now Johnny Clarke holds forth undisputed. Johnny, although an Axtel, does not live at the fraternity house.

The quadruple blow that has been struck at Aggie basketball fortunes may give the Purple quintet a late start in the valley race. Every other team has been out for months, many of the valley basketballers having begun practice soon after the opening of college this fall.

Only One Practice Game.

Because of this string of adversities Coach Clevenger plans only one game preliminary to the game with Ames to be played here January 19. Probably some Kansas conference five will be the opening attraction.

A game with Drake may be added to the home schedule, giving the Aggies 15 valley contests. Coach Clevenger has not heard from Clyde Griffith, Drake athletic boss, in reply to a letter sent recently. Griffith, however, asked for a date, and one probably will be arranged.

If the Aggie men do not break away from quarantine soon, Clevenger will in all probability call a few of his prize performers for early practice during the Christmas vacation.

NEW TRACTORS ARE COMING.

Farm Engineering Department Will Not Be Handicapped.

The farm engineering department has returned all of the Case tractors that have been in the laboratory, and have the promise of their being replaced at an early date by the latest 1918 models. The department is also in receipt of two tractors loaned by the International Harvester company for the winter short course work and an unmounted motor and transmission system, which is the property of the college. These are to be used for more intensive study work than has ever been deemed advisable with the loaned machinery.

The Emerson Brandingham company of Rockford, Ill., has sent in unmounted parts of one of its medium sized tractors to be permanent equipment of the laboratory. The department is expecting two or three more tractors in the next few days, as well as another mounted tractor part from the Avery company.

This group of machines will place the farm engineering traction laboratory in excellent shape for taking care of a larger short course class than ever before.

WANT GIRLS TO LEARN GAME.

Tryouts for Class Basketball Teams Come After Christmas.

All girls interested in basketball are asked to place their names on the bulletin board in the gymnasium. These games are not the tryouts but are for the purpose of giving the girls interested a chance to learn the game. The regular tryouts will not begin until after Christmas.

Enlists in Coast Artillery.

R. C. Ragle, sophomore in general science, has enlisted in the coast artillery. He was sent to Fort Logan.

WILL BEAUTIFY MARYSVILLE.

College Engineer at Work on Improvements.

The mayor and council of Marysville have called upon the drainage and irrigation department of the extension division to make plans for the improvement of their city park. J. B. Marcellus, drainage engineer, visited Marysville last week and went over the proposition with the mayor, council and city engineer.

Plans were made for a storm sewer, a small artificial lake, ornamental entrances, a driveway, playground apparatus and various other details. The most expensive part of the improvement will be taking care of the storm water and the construction of a dam. The officers contemplate spending five or six thousand dollars in the next few years in making their park one of the best for a small town.

WOMEN TO DEBATE WASHBURN

Co-eds Open Their Season in Talkfest With Ichabods.

The first women's debate of the season will be held in the college auditorium Saturday night when the Aggies clash with Washburn.

This talkfest is the annual women's Triangular between Washburn, Ottawa and the Aggies. The Aggie affirmative team will argue with Washburn here, and the negative team will clash with Ottawa. The Ottawa negative team will debate with Washburn at Topeka.

The question that will be debated is whether or not the United States should adopt a system of responsible cabinet government.

The first speaker for the Aggie affirmative team is Miss Ella Stinson, sophomore in home economics. The second speaker is Miss Dora Cate, sophomore in industrial journalism. The last speaker is Miss Elizabeth Circle, sophomore in general science. They are all three members of the Iota Literary society.

Miss Olive Lagerstrom is the first speaker of the negative team which will debate at Ottawa. She is a junior in home economics and a member of the Alpha Beta Literary society. The second speaker is Miss Ethel Arnold, senior in home economics and a member of the Browning Literary society. The last speaker is Miss Helen Mitchell, senior in home economics and a member of the Browning Literary society.

QUILL ACCEPTS FOUR STORIES.

Quartette of Students Are Elected to Membership.

Four manuscripts were accepted in the fall contest for membership in The American College Quill club. The successful persons are Miss Ivy Barker, Miss Josephine Sullivan, Miss Bess Gordon and Walter Nelbarger.

The Quill club conducts a membership contest twice a year, one in the fall and one in the spring. At these times persons desiring to become members of the organization may submit manuscripts. The manuscripts may be written in any one of the various literary styles.

JUNIORS ELECT TWO OFFICERS.

Rochford to the Student Council and Fairman on Athletics.

The junior class filled two vacancies in class officers at its meeting Tuesday. Louis Rochford was elected third member of the student council and Hobart Fairman was elected to the constitution changing the dues from 50 cents a term to $1 a semester was adopted.

The hobo party, scheduled for last Friday, was postponed indefinitely.

ATHLETANS HAVE 81 SOLDIERS.

Societies Will Remember Sammler With Christmas Letters.

Members of the Athenian Literary society who are now in national service will not be forgotten this Christmas, for the Browning and Athenian societies are writing Christmas letters to them. There are 31 Athenians in the army and navy, and two already are in France.

Now a Westinghouse Specialist.

G. W. Gillespie, '13, specialist for the Westinghouse company in power apparatus and electric railway equipment, is in Manhattan for a short visit. Mr. Gillespie has been employed by this company since his graduation, and has been located at Kansas City for the last year and a half.

ENGINEERS LATE IN DRAFT

WAR DEPARTMENT GRANTS STUDENTS PREFERRED CLASSIFICATION.

Newest Edict From Washington Virtually Exempts Engineering Students Until They Graduate—Regarded as Military Assets.

The war department recognizing that engineering students are military and industrial assets of the future, are granting to regular engineering students preferred classification, as is granted to medical students in certain classes, so that they may complete their college courses, according to announcement of A. A. Potter, dean of the college engineering department, in making public the following Washington dispatch:

"Washington.—Six thousand engineering students in 117 schools recognized by the war department have been granted virtual exemption from the draft under prescribed conditions. The action resulted from a conference between Secretary Baker, Provost Marshal General Crowder and officials of engineering societies.

"The students are regarded as military assets of the future and are granted preferred classification, as are medical students in certain classes, so they may complete their courses. They revert automatically to their former classification on graduation and may be called out immediately as enlisted men of the engineering reserves."

GAVE PLANTS THE "ONCE OVER."

Aggie Students Went on Inspection Trip to Topeka Monday.

Students in industrial journalism went on the annual inspection trip to Topeka Monday, where they visited the leading newspaper and printing plants of that city. Fifteen students made the trip.

The first stop in making the rounds was at the Topeka State Journal plant where the students saw the making of a newspaper. The plants of Crane and company, the Kansas Farmer, the Hall Lithographing company, and the Capper Publications were visited in the course of the day and much valuable information was gained by the class.

Those who went on the trip were N. A. Crawford, head of the department F. L. Snow, assistant professor of industrial journalism; E. T. Keith, instructor, Miss Ruth White, Miss Ruth Henderson, Miss Martha Borthwick, Miss Gertrude Norman, Miss Velma Carson, Miss Ione Lofth, Miss Caroline Sloop, Miss Geta Lund, Miss Mabel Bentley, Miss Dora Cate, Miss Callie Jennison, Miss Estel Wollman, B. Q. Shields, W. E. Burnette, and Mr. Walter Nelbarger. Mrs. E. T. Keith, chaperoned the party.

OPEN THE CAFETERIA EARLIER.

Time of Evening Meal Is Hiked Forward 15 Minutes.

The college cafeteria now opens at 5 o'clock in place of 5:15 o'clock in the afternoon. The time of the morning and noon hours will be the same.

Zeno Reche Has Enlisted.

Z. C. Reche, last year a junior in general science, who entered the forestry service last spring, has since enlisted and his address now is Supply Company, Q. M. C., Madison Barracks, N. Y. He expects to enter the next reserve officers' training camp.

Pledges Two Debaters.

Pi Kappa Delta, honorary debating fraternity, announces the pledging of Walter Houghton, senior in animal husbandry, and Turner Barger, junior in agronomy. Both men debated against Ames.

Want Yearling Hockeyists.

The girls on the freshman hockey team are asked to report at the gymnasium at noon today to have their pictures taken.

Curtis Into U. S. Service.

C. E. Curtis, senior in general science, has withdrawn from college and enlisted in the coast artillery.

C. O. Swanson, associate professor in chemistry, has returned from Garden City. Professor Swanson has been working there in institute work.

AN ENGINEER SERVICE FLAG.

Probably 200 Former Students Are in Military Service.

A new service flag for the alumni and former engineering students who are now in military or naval service, is being prepared by A. A. Potter, dean of the division of engineering. The list of names is incomplete, but when all the returns come in the number of students in service will exceed 200.

ANOTHER AGGIE MAN OVERSEAS.

G. W. McVey Is With the Second U. S. Engineers.

G. W. McVey, last year a freshman in general science, is now in France. He enlisted last spring. His address is Company F, Second Regiment of U. S. Engineers, Second Battery, American Expeditionary Forces.

ALL LIKED GRAND OPERA

San Carlo Company Pleased at Performance Wednesday.

Last Wednesday night at the auditorium the people of the college and of Manhattan had the great good fortune to hear the San Carlo Grand Opera company in the double bill of Cavalleria Rusticana and I Pagliacci. These masterpieces were sung in superb style by principals and chorus.

Mascagni's tuneful little drama of love, passion, and death came first. Girolamo Ingar, the tenor, sang the Turiddu music well. He was especially successful in the "Siciliana" sung behind the curtain, and he carried off in good style the scenes in which he rejects the unfortunate Santuzza and in which he bids farewell to his mother.

Marti Melis played the part of Lola pleasingly, Alice Homer was a good Mama Lucia, and Angelo Antolo a fair Alfio. Antolo's voice, although of excellent quality, is hardly equal to the demands of the Alfio music.

Luisa Darclee's singing dominated the whole opera. She also acted well, something not always the case with the grand opera prima donna. Her magnificent rendering of the number, "Vol lo sapete," and of the scenes with Turiddu was one of the features of the evening.

Special mention must be made of the fine work of the chorus and the orchestra. The Easter hymn, "Regina Coeli," sung kneeling outside the church, and the "Brindisi," or drinking song sung with Turiddu, were two of the best of many good numbers sung by the former; whereas the Prelude and the ever popular Intermezzo won loud applause for the latter.

Leoncavallo's "I Pagliacci" or "Strolling Players" formed the second part of the program. The celebrated "Prologue" sung by Antolo was distinctly disappointing, his voice being inadequate. Edvige Vacari was a conventional Nedda and displayed a sweet voice, not especially powerful, but well trained, which showed to good advantage in the "Balatella" or bird song. Rossini and Delmelle gave excellent support in their respective parts.

The sensation of the evening was the singing of the tenor, Manuel Salazar, in the part of Calò, the desperate, jealous husband. His solo upon the discovery of the falseness of Nedda, "Vestita la giubba," was given with a heartbreaking pathos not surpassed by that for which Caruso is famous; and the dramatic force, splendid acting, and tremendous power displayed in the final tragic scene stamp Salazar as a truly great tenor. The chorus and orchestra continued their fine work under the guidance of the excellent conductor, Carlo Peroni.

From every standpoint the visit of the San Carlo Opera Company marked a red letter day in the musical history of the college.

DR. W. J. KERR DECLINES PRESIDENCY OF K. S. A. C.

Eight Cadet Officers, Including Two Captains, Also Were Chosen by Commandant.

CAMP TO BE HELD AT RILEY

Training of Third Batch of Embryo Officers Begins January 5 and Continues for Three Months—Men Must Enlist for Duration of the War.

The men who are to represent the college in the third officers' training camp have been named by Captain W. P. J. O'Neill, commandant. The selection was based upon standing in recent examinations.

The universities, colleges, and schools which have earned recognition by having had military training under army officers the last 10 years will be allowed 2490 graduates and undergraduates in the camps. The quota for the college is 32 men. Fourteen alternates have also been chosen. If any men in the first group fail to appear when called, alternates will be sent in the order in which they are listed to fill their places.

Camp to be at Riley.

Men who are chosen will be ordered to report at Fort Riley January 5. The camp will last until April 5, and a certain per cent of the graduates of the camps will be recommended for commissions. Law, Hill City.

The college men must compete for commissions with regular army men, national guard men and national army soldiers. There has been a large percentage of experienced soldiers in the first and second camps however, and the college men always have held their own.

Eight Cadet Officers Going.

Three of the men to go, Quigley, Davidson and B. Moore, already are in military service at Camp Funston. Many college cadet corps officers are in the list. Capt. R. V. Morrison, A. W. Foster, W. L. DO YOUR LETTER WRITING.

"Only 9 more shopping days until Christmas," the merchants say.

The Yuletide seems to be months off to most of the students, but in reality there is but a week and a half before the college machinery quits to allow the students to return to their homes.

Most of the students can return.
The few who can not probably will visit relatives or friends in or near Manhattan.

But doesn't the "9 more days until Christmas" have more significance than its mere meaning that but a few shopping days remain, or that vacation is nearing? Substitute for the shopping phrase this one, "Only 9 more letter writing days until Christmas," and send a batch of letters out to Aggie men in military training camps, in France, or in the trenches.

If you were in the place of your soldier friend, wouldn't you like to talk with one of the "fellows back home"? A letter is a long-distance means of conversing.

Do your Christmas letter writing early.

HARD LUCK, BOYS.

Just as three fraternities go into quarantine, the ban on amusements is lifted.

"Ain't it a mild application of Hades?" was the ungrammatical but forceful query of one of the penned-in prisoners last night, when told that there would be dances at "Johnny's" this week end.

The Collegian proposes a "S. P. O.
W. W. C.", a Society for the Prevention of the Over Work of the Word Camouflage.

IF THE LINE HOLDS.

College students who allow themselves to think occasionally of the fracas across the Atlantic should be preparing themselves for bad news.
All indications point to the German drives after German drives, because—

Germany needs only a few men along the Russian front; the Austrians have the mountains to their backs in Italy;
few Tuston troops are needed in the Balkans, all of which means that Germany can concentrate on the western front.

And Germany has reasons for concentrating. This year is Germany's last on the offensive, critics agree.
With more than a million men a year
—America's forces now number 1-$90,000—pouring over to France from the United States, the Allies are going to be ahead in man power, just as they are now in artillery and airplanes. Knowing that the Americans are coming, the Kaiser reasons that his hardest blow must be struck now, that his big guns must speak now, or forever hold their peace.

But if Germany spends herself, then there are more hopes for an Allied victory eventually. Next summer and next fall with approximately two million men overseas, the United States will strike back. But until then, America must hope that the British and French can "hold the line" until American artillery runs interference so that Americans can "smash that line."

Then in an open field, the Sammy will drive on, for the American is at his own game in the open.

We wonder how many of our kind feminine readers look under the bed before they retire at night.

The Topeka Journal states that it 600 miles from New York to Halifax.
In other words, when you go to New York, you're on the way and getting close to that place.

If the Sammys play much checkers,
they are probably after kings.

When a couple of home folks get married, the neighbors say: "Well, John is a good provider, and Sally is a good girl." In military language the same would read, "They were successful in retreating to the Plave."

Just as we passed Jay House's office on our recent journalistic trip to Topeka, we heard someone remark,
"10 degrees below zero!"

The column is now spending its spare time speculating how a Liberty Loan would get in the Holy Land if it were restored to the Jews.

A dry goods clerk usually approaches a customer who has been waiting 30 minutes to buy something, in this manner: "Do you want something?"

Rastus—"When Ah done go to wah, I's a goin' to be a admiral."
Sambo—"Not jis' quite that much, Rastus. I dun want ta be a admiral myself, but I spees I's best fitted fo' rear-admiral."

Fuel Administrator Carey diverted Topekans coal supply to other parts of the state, and the Topeka Journal let out a few low growls and sly references to Hutchinson. Carey's home, but so far there have been no casualties.

The column sat in a box seat at the Novelty in Topeka Monday night for the first time since Jimmie Calahan, our fellow newsboy, used to usher and

We ain't sayin' how we got our

Everything went well until the chlo-rus girl threw a kiss at us, which completely overwhelmed us. Next to the four-minute war speech, that was the most serious blow we had on the trip.

One can get an interesting survey of human nature from a box seat.
Among the things we saw were a young farmer lad trying to make conversation, and an old bachelor trying to see the show through a screen of rooster feathers.

Aggie Reporters
Nearly Get Arrested
As German Spies

Reporters are a peculiar race. If you see a man looking into garbage cans in an alley, or walking beside the president, he will probably be a reporter. Newspaper reporters go in where fools fear to tread, so when these two Aggie journalists on the recent trip to Topeka came very near getting arrested as German spies, they were simply living up to the reporter's habits of life.

In the first place, reporters are continually rooting about for stories.
These were similarly employed, and were busy trying to unearth a soldier story from numerous Sammys about the depot. With this in view, several privates were interviewed, and failing to get sufficient facts, they resolved to try an officer near by.

One ambassador of newspaperdom backed up, looked the man over and advanced, but was immediately rebuffed. In vain the reporter sought for the desired information. Finally the officer turned, walked over and spoke to a man wearing citizen's clothes.
Thereafter that gentleman watched the two reporters. They made a feint by pretending to board a passing train, and Mr. Detective was right behind them. They came back into the station, and he came back also.

But government secret service men are wise. Their ability to uncover German notes testify to that. So the put-on-German-spy-looks which the reporters instituted to lead him on, must have excited his suspicion. After several hours he disappeared, so he must have decided they were not as bad as they looked.

Had these two Aggie reporters been store keepers, bankers or congressmen they probably would have been shot at sunrise—but reporters—well, lots of people would like to shoot them, but they never do.

WEBSTERS ORGANIZED IN 1868.

S. W. Williston, Paleontology Authority, Helped With Work.

The Webster Literary society dates from October 12, 1868. It grew out of the Bluemont Literary society and was proposed by Samuel Wendell Williston, now professor of paleontology in the University of Chicago, and greatest authority in the world on that subject. Through his influence the Websters obtained a charter in 1871. Doctor Williston was graduated from the Kansas State Agricultural college in 1872. He spoke here at the assembly two years ago.

In the early days of the society the place of meeting was changed as the convenience of the members required.
In 1885 it moved to Anderson hall, and in 1894 it moved to Fairchild hall. The society now occupies its attractive hall in Nichols gymnasium.
In 1872 a library was started, and in 1885 it included 250 volumes. At this time the society thought it unnecessary to own a library when the college library was available. The books were sold, and the proceeds used for furnishings.

In 1878 the first monthly edition of the Webster Reporter appeared. It soon became a semi-monthly paper, and in 1895 a weekly.

Many unique gifts have been given to the society. A block with gavel to match was made from an oak beam in the original Bluemont college. This gift was presented by Dr. H. J. Waters in behalf of the college to the Eurodelphian and Webster literary societies at the dedication of the present hall, October 21, 1911. Several chairs have been presented to the society with the name of donors on the back.

Sensational Exposure Nearly Occurred In Agricultural College

These are days of sensations. Big things occur each day—it is either a king dethroned or a nation crushed. Yet on the calm surface of things, few students noticed anything sensational at the college last week. As a matter of fact a very grave and dangerous thing was in the process of development, a description of which follows:

In the first place, it is the small things that cause great disturbances like this, and a girl's date book is a small thing. Men never did approve of such things, yet the malicious, awful and inexcusable practice continues. Although these are sometimes insignificant enough, yet a small closing phrase in a love letter may be enough to lose or win a $100,000 breach of promise suit.

At any rate, a mysterious person was about town last week, his purpose being the collection of date books. In mysterious ways he obtained possession of a number of these "Honor Rolls," and then took the newspaper reporter into his confidence. Sh! What stories some of these former years hold! Many a junior and senior have always feared disclosure of their freshman days of madcap. But now it was, and such

ROBBED PROF. OF COAT

BUT HIGHWAYMEN WERE NOT IN EARNEST.

Robbers Were Gaining Material for a Mock Trial to be Held Tomorrow.

Cold weather drove a hold-up man to rob college professors of an overcoat and cap.

Tuesday night at 9 o'clock while returning from debate squad meeting, Don L. Burk, assistant professor of English, J. G. Emerson, head of the public speaking department, and R. T. Hazlett, instructor in English, were stopped by a robber west of the gymnasium. Professor Burk was forced to give up his coat, and Professor Emerson his cap.

Wednesday morning Professor Burk received the coat and cap through the college post office, with a note which reads as follows:

"Mister Professor Burk:

"If you will kindly call at the college p. o. you will find one overcoat which youse LOST recently. We of the brotherhood 'automatic fireman of the highway' haint got the heart to keep youses property.

"But BEWARE If youse are caught spilling the beans about are actions youse will coltenly suffer the results.

B. A. F. O. T. H."

It turned out that the robbery was a farce and is to furnish material for a mock trial for the class in argumentation and debate. Wednesday, H. Clyde Fisher was arrested on a charge of highway robbery, and was forced to give $5,000 bail. The trial will begin next Friday at the fifth hour in A-60.

C. R. Abernathy, sophomore in general science, is to act as judge. C. J. Medlin, sophomore in industrial journalism is to act as prosecuting attorney, and A. W. Boyer, senior in industrial journalism, is to be the attorney for the defense. All people who can furnish evidence please see one of the attorneys.

Howling Sunrise Wife and Papoose Spend Day On Hill

Indian Rain Maker and 300-Pound Spouse Refuse to Budge Until They Want To—They Were Objects of Curiosity to Students.

Laura Shingledecker.

One bright October morning in the infancy of Kansas State Agricultural college when first hour bell was ringing, students laden with books and lunch pails, staid professors, and even President Denison, halted in their mad rush up the hill to the fountain of learning to stare in amazement at what looked like a cross between a circus parade and an invasion. The cause of their astonishment was approaching slowly but determinedly from the south, and proved to be an Indian and his family.

The Indian was Howling Sunrise of the tribe of Wathokarusia. Howling Sunrise was a good, old fashioned Indian. If you looked at him frontwise he was very wide and if you looked at him edgewise he was very thick. He rode a spotted mongrel beast of indeterminate ancestry, and in spite of the fourteen hands from the creature's top to the ground, Howling Sunrise hal to crook his knees to keep from stubbing his toes.

Behind the lord and master came his favorite wife, a 300-pound study in bronze, on a conveyance like unto its predecessor. On her left arm she carried a basket and on her right hip, supported by her right arm, reposed the latest addition to the tribe of Wathokarusia.

Next in the order of their acquisition came the other five wives of this brave man. Mixed around indiscriminately in the procession were dogs of doubtful origin. Then came several ponies each with several kids, the latter not especially variegated as to color but of all shapes and sizes. Bringing up the rear with the balance of the ponies and dogs was the hope of the tribe of Wathokarusia, the first born of Howling Sunrise.

Like Lochinvar, "They stayed not for brake and they stopped not for stones," because when they reached the corn field where the gym now stands, they stopped and gathered a bountiful supply of corn for future reference, and then continued serenely on toward Main hall.

When they reached the present site of the library, Howling Sunrise called a halt and issued commands for a camp to be made.

When the news was taken to President Denison that the main stay of the tribe of Wathokarusia seemed to be locating permanently at his very door step, he went forth, accompanied by an Indian student in the college, to remonstrate with the intruder.

As he came down the Main hall steps, Howling Sunrise, who had just grasped his 300 pound favorite gently but firmly by the hair, released his clutch with a grunt. His conversation with the interpreter consisted mostly of silence for the next fifteen minutes. Howling Sunrise objected to be pumped, but he finally vouchsafed some slight information with the manner of one casting pearls before swine.

It seemed that he was the eighth wonder of the world—the great rain-maker of Wathokarusia. His friends the tribe of Mouwowlkaki situated in the driest part of the most parched portion of the moistureless state of Kansas, needed rain and they needed it bad. So Howling Sunrise had graciously consented to be the cat's paw between the divine reservoir and the godless Mouwowlkians.

No, he was not camping there indefinitely. K. S. A. C. from an educational standpoint did not interest him. He was leaving at sunrise in the morning and with him he would take every last kid, pony and pup. Beyond this he could not be moved. Camp there for the day he would and did, in spite of President Denison's tearful protests.

But true to his word daybreak saw Howling Sunrise and his worldly goods on their way to the tribe of Mouwowlkaki. The flood in Kansas the next spring was probably due to his personal influence with the keeper of the heavenly pumping station.

Follows Campus Path Just Once Too Often And Runs Into Wire

The two little foot-paths in front of the library, one leading to the cafeteria and one to the domestic science building, had become quite noticeable from constant use. Recently a lot had been said about the unsightly appearance of these paths and of the evils of "campus cutting." Everyone had seen these same paths, but comparatively few had observed some single strands of wire which had apparently grown up over night across the short cuts. One of the unobserving ones, six feet in height, rushed out of the cafeteria one cold morning and made for the library.

As he followed the little forbidden path, he thought "what a shame that students should mar the beauty of the campus in an endeavor to save a few steps." Further brain work was impeded as he felt himself suddenly checked in his progress and hung half-and-half on a wire above the path.

Then, as he dangled on the line, he remembered that he was directly in front of the library window and he just knew what an amused audience would be awaiting him when he gained his footing. But he would not be outdone. After further scrambling, he finally stood erect on his feet on the side of the wire on which he started. Then he bent over, crawled under the wire and for the last time followed the unsightly little path to the library steps.

Harold H. Bruce, college representative of the MacMillan Publishing company, visited the college this week in the interests of his company, try-

RECRUIT FOR THE RED CROSS

CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS WILL BE HELD HERE BEGINNING TODAY.

Dean Van Zile Urges Girls to Meeting to Organize Town for the Drive—Membership Fees for a Year Amount to Only $1.

Today will mark the opening of a Red Cross Christmas campaign for membership among the women of the college. The matter will be presented at the mass meeting of the women this afternoon when the gifts for the soldiers are presented.

The Red Cross Christmas campaign is country-wide and will be carried on this week. It is the plan to have the membership survey over here by Thursday. Each college girl will be asked to join, membership fees for the year being $1. There are a number here who are already enrolled as Red Cross workers here but it has been suggested that in this special Christmas campaign that no membership dating back of September be counted.

COLLECT THE FUNSTON GIFTS

Packages for Soldiers to be Taken in at Big Christmas Sing Today.

The first Christmas carol sing for all college women will be held in the old chapel today at 5 o'clock. This mass meeting of the girls has been arranged for the collection of the gifts which have been prepared for the soldiers at Funston.

"But we want all college women to come whether they have gifts or not," says Miss Mildred Inskeep, who has charge of the Christmas-gift movement. The decorations in the old chapel are to be gorgeous, according to reports. Four little Santa Clauses, have been engaged to collect the presents at the meeting. The program as planned includes four carols, "Little Town of Bethlehem," "Hark! The Angels Sing," "Joy To the World," and "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," several Christmas readings by Miss Mame Dykes, special student in dramatic art, solos by Miss Katherine Kimmel, devotionals by Dean Van Zile, and "The Silent Night," by the Y. W. C. A. octette.

The work of making up gift boxes for the soldiers at Funston has progressed rapidly and the gift shop which was set up in Room 53 of the domestic science building has been well patronized. These gifts have ranged in price from 25 cents up. The girls of the college have been active in taking up the plan through organizations and several men's groups have responded to make this more of an all-college giving.

The doors of the old chapel are to be open all day today so that every girl who passes through Main cannot fail to note that some big preparations are being made from glancing in. The gifts are to be taken to the chairman of Christmas arrangements at Funston on Friday.

Announcement has been made that the cafeteria will open at 5:30 instead of 5 tonight.

ACACIAS WON FROM PI KAPS.

Rally of Lutter Came Too Late—Score was 12 to 9.

The Acacias took the Pi Kappa Alpha basketball quintet to a 12 to 9 trimming in the second round of the fraternity series Thursday. Curry at forward started in piling up points for the Masons. A late rally by the Pi Kaps in which Bell featured, scored all their nine points in the last half. The first half ended 10 to 0. "Bill" Tuttle refereed.

The game between the Beta Theta Psi and the Sigma Alpha Epsilons has been postponed, as both fraternities are quarantined. The Acacias and Pi Kaps, whose game was regularly scheduled, are the only Greek letter organizations in the league who have had no meningitis trouble.

COLLEGIAN OUT THURSDAY.

Because a large number of college students may leave Friday before obtaining their papers, The Collegian will be issued Thursday morning this week. Reporters will please take notice and have their copy ready a day ahead of usual schedule.

TRAIN 31 FOR Y. W. WORK

Freshman Girls Picked for Leadership of Association.

The girls for the freshman commission for this year have been selected. The freshman commission was organized last year with the purpose of selecting the strongest girls from the freshman class for early training in college Y. W. C. A. work.

These girls are chosen by representative upper classmen and faculty members. The commission will meet every Thursday at 5 o'clock in L-27. The first meeting was held in the home economics rest room where a war time supper costing only $5.00 was served to them by a committee of senior girls who are taking institutional cookery. Besides the new commission members, Dean Van Zile, Miss Mildred Inskeep, association secretary, and Miss Elizabeth Circle and Miss Mary Frances Davis of last year's commission were present.

The girls who have been chosen for this work are, Miss Henrietta Jones, Miss Mary Smith, Miss Jean Winters, Miss Gladys Carson, Miss Gertrude Jennings, Miss Martha Baird, Miss Frances Westcott, Miss Rose Blackwelder, Miss Minnie Augustine, Miss Bly Ewalt, Miss Irene Graham, Miss Ruby Parkhurst, Miss Mary Ginter, Miss Hazel Watson, Miss Anna Chapin, Miss Helen Gilles, Miss Esther Andrews, Miss Fannie Beggs, Miss Mildred Sterling, Miss Helen Lawson, Miss Gladys Ross, Miss Nellie Robinson, Miss Frances Ford, Miss Luella Snay, Miss Ruth Gilles, Miss Velma Meserve, Miss Opal Wishard, Miss Effie Witham, Miss Jean Baker, Miss Pearl Parkhurst, and Miss Maude Stillman.

ROYAL PURPLE HANGS FIRE

Seniors Will Meet Tonight to Canvas Situation.

The 1918 Royal Purple will be the subject of discussion at a meeting of the senior class Tuesday night, December 18. It is announced by Harold Hiltz, president of the class.

The exact nature of the discussion and the details to be brought out were not disclosed but it is thought that the result of the meeting will decide whether or not there is to be a 1918 volume of the senior annual. The chief difficulty seems to be the lack of interest and proper support on the part of all the seniors, which it is said, is essential to make the book a success.

President Hiltz urges every senior to be present at the meeting Tuesday night as something of interest to every senior is promised. Posters will be placed on the bulletin board announcing the time and place of the meeting and those interested are asked to watch for the announcement. The meeting will be held in C-26 at 7:30 o'clock.

Y. W. IS TO MEET TODAY.

Christmas Program Planned for Vesper Service.

Y. W. C. A. vesper services will be held Tuesday at 5 o'clock in the old chapel. All girls who are giving Christmas packages to the "Christmasless" soldiers at Camp Funston are asked to bring them to the meeting Tuesday where they will be gathered up to send to the camp for distribution.

PRESIDENT WATERS SAYS GOODBYE

About to Leave College to Take Up Journalistic Work, Executive Tells Students They Have Important Part to Play in War.

STAY IN COLLEGE IS ADVICE

World Will Need Educated Men After War and Colleges are Source of Supply.

WATERS HONOURED AT RECEPTION

Faculty and Employees Presented President With Parchment of Resolutions Last Night—$250 Worth of Baby Bonds a Gift From Executive's Friends.

Dr. H. J. Waters, after eight years of hard work at the head of the college, is bidding the institution farewell this week. He said his official "goodbyes" to the student body and faculty members at assembly Monday morning.

The president's farewell address was full of advice to the students he is soon to leave.

"Stay by your work in college as long as you can," was one of the parting statements of Doctor Waters.

One of the largest student assemblies of the year heard the retiring president's talk. Although the college enrollment is only 1,700, at least 1,500 students listened to the speech.

Spends a Busy Week.

Receptions and parties for Doctor Waters and his wife are numerous this week. One of the most elaborate affairs was a reception by the faculty and employees at the domestic science hall last night. Resolutions, written by Dr. J. R. MacArthur, professor of English, and read by Dr. J. V. Cortelyou, professor of languages, were presented to the president.

N. A. Crawford, professor of journalism, gave a luncheon yesterday noon at Harrison's for Dr. Waters. Members of Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary journalism fraternity, Frank L. Snow, assistant professor of journalism, and Fred L. Trigg, who is editing the Kansas City Weekly Star until President Waters takes up his new work on that paper the first of the year, were guests. Resolutions of appreciation for the work the college executive has done to advance journalism here were read.

In his goodbye address yesterday morning, President Waters laid special stress on the war.

Brains Needed After War.

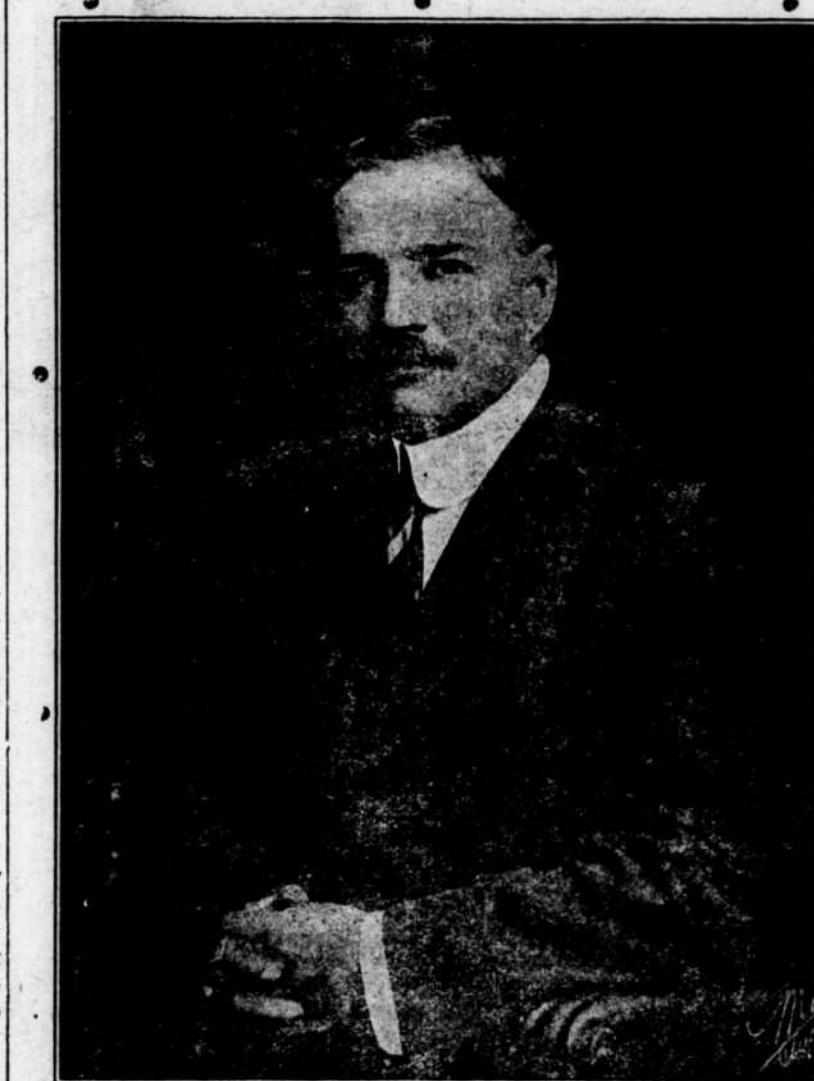

"As I leave you," the president said, "I want to give you some advice: In these trying hours prepare for two services. We have before us one great task—to win the war. Everything else must be subordinated to that. But in your thinking and in your planning look ahead also and prepare to render the best possible service in the boys when the war will be over and the world must be rebuilt.

"To the young men I would say, get ready for the service that you can render and take military training every hour you can get it. Do not be satisfied with the two years that the institution requires but continue for the whole four years you are here. And to you who are of draft age I would say, get ready to render the best service that you can when you are called and avail yourselves of everything this college offers in military training."

College Men Tempted.

At the beginning of the second semester the government is going to establish here a reserve officers training corps, giving additional opportunity for military training, explained the speaker.

"I know that in a time like this it is tremendously difficult to remain in college. The tendency is to get out into something else even if you are not going into military service for a while. There never was a time when opportunities were better than now, and many have stayed away from college for this temporary advantage, but the far sighted, right thinking man will not be kept down by this temporary advantage, but will get ready for the big task that is before him.

DR. HENRY JACKSON WATERS

Women Have a Part.

"To the women I would say, in addition to preparing for the large task of life, get ready to render service in this war as Red Cross nurses, as dieticians, as people who will help in this campaign of food conservation, and to take the place of men who will be called to war. More and more the women of this country must bear the burden and carry the load.

"And again I would tell you that it is honorable to work in any capacity at any time, and that it is doubly honorable to work now."

Agriculture to Rise.

After the war is ended, President Waters prophesied that there would be a tremendous advance in agriculture. This has always been the case, he explained, after every great war. Men who have lived in town, after a time spent in camp, turn instinctively back to the land.

"China is certain to develop her agriculture," continued the speaker, "as will also South America. Africa will be developed and transformed. There never was a more encouraging or inviting outlook for the trained man, so I say to you again that if I should give you one parting word of advice it would be to stay by your work in college as long as you can."

"Although I have been associated with students in several other colleges, I have never been associated with a group of students so serious minded, so right minded, or with so good an attitude toward the serious things of life as the students of K. S. A. C. in the eight and one half years I have known them.

Still Will Be an Aggie.

"I have seen you resist the temptation to degenerate into the cheap attitude of many college students I have seen you resist the temptation to be the average student with his extreme dress and his foolish notions. You have shown your worth on many occasions when the institution has called upon you for service. An example of this was your response to the appeal for funds for the Y. M. C. A. when you gave more generously than any other group of students in the state.

"Even though I am going away, I am comforted by the fact that I am not going far and that I shall have the opportunity to come back often and continue my pleasant association with you, and work with you and for you and for the institution as diligently and loyally as I have in the past. I feel that I shall continue to be a part of this institution and perhaps I will be in a position to render service as important to the institution as if I continued to be at its head."

GAVE FAREWELL RECEPTION

Faculty and Employees Said Goodbye to Doctor and Mrs. Waters.

Faculty members and employees of the college united in a farewell reception to Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Waters at the domestic science hall last night. More than 300 persons were present.

Because of President Waters connection with national conservation measures, the committee in charge of purchasing a memento did not consider a gift which they thought would be contrary to the executive's conservation principles. Instead, $250 worth of Baby Bonds were presented to him.

The following resolutions, printed on a heavy parchment paper, were read and presented:

Whereas: President Henry Jackson Waters has tendered to the Board of Administration his resignation as chief executive of the Kansas State Agricultural College, and

Whereas: This resignation has been accepted by the Board of Administration, and

Whereas: President Waters during the nine years of his tenure of office has shown himself an executive of the highest order, recognizing worth, developing organization, raising standards of scholarship, and bringing the institution and its work into vital relation with the people of the State of Kansas, and

Whereas: President Waters himself as a scholar has attained an enviable reputation in his special field of study and research, and has gathered about him at the Kansas State Agricultural College a group of scholars eminent in their respective departments, and

Whereas: As a citizen of our commonwealth, possessed of scientific training, of unquestioned business ability, of far-reaching vision, and of unusual constructive power, President Waters has received nation-wide recognition, and

Whereas: President Waters as a man, by his straightforwardness,

SOPHS CALL EVENING MEETING.

Class Will Meet in Basement of the Library Tonight.

The sophomore class has been having trouble in getting a quorum out to class meetings on Saturday afternoons. At the last meeting it was decided to meet at night, and the first night session will be held Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in the basement of the library, and a permanent time of meeting will be decided upon. The treasurer reported that the sophomores were to have a good representation in the Royal Purple as 122 members had paid their Royal Purple assessment.

LEADS INDUSTRIAL RACE.

Miss Sara Chase Advances from Fourth to First.

Miss Sara Chase, junior in industrial journalism, has jumped from fourth to first place in the industrialist contest with a total of 107.5 inches. Miss Dora Cate, sophomore in journalism, is a close second with 103 inches.

"MAN ON THE BOX" TONIGHT

PURPLE MASQUE WILL STAGE THE M-G-RATH PLAY.

Miss Ernestine Bily and Elmer Gilbreath Take the Leading Parts in the Comedy.

Tonight, in the college auditorium, the Purple Masque dramatic fraternity, after weeks of conscientious rehearsal, will stage "The Man on the Box," a three act comedy, which is the first play presented by this fraternity this year.

"The Man on the Box" is truly a human interest play. It is full of splendid humor which keeps an audience in an uproar, yet has its serious moments which adds the final touch to a successful comedy.

The part of the leading lady is played by Miss Ernestine Bily. Although this is Miss Bily's first appearance in dramatics, she has the ability and talent of an experienced player.

Elmer Gilbreath is carrying the part of "The Man on the Box" and coaches say he plays the part in a most excellent manner.

Miss Wanda Tetric, who so admirably handled the part of leading lady in "The Man from Home," the play given by the Purple Masque last year, has the part of the leading lady's chum. This is a pleasing and enjoyable part in which Miss Tetric shows her ability to good advantage.

And Horrors! There is a young pretty and flirtatious widow. This part is played by Miss Dorothy Norris. Seats for the play may be reserved at the Cooperative Book store until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

ONLY THREE NEW CARRIERS

Meningitis Trouble is Abating—Detention Hospital is Busy.

The formidable looking meningitis placards are being removed from house fronts as the one or two students for whom they have been posted are removed to the college detention hospital for meningitis carriers.

There are now 13 carriers in the detention hospital, which was formerly the custodian's house. Only three carriers have been located since the former list was given out, Elsie Wolfenbarger, 1015 Humboldt; Dolly McCarthy, 1202 Houston; and E. H. Walker.

"No general plan has been decided upon for further dealing with meningitis," says L. E. Conrad, "but since no cases have been found among college students we do not consider the danger very great. We are taking swabbings right along now. There are a few every day who wish to have a second test made."

The Beta fraternity was released from quarantine yesterday as the three carriers at the house had been given quarters in the college hospital. The Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Nu, and Aztec fraternities have also been released, as has the Alpha Theta Chi fraternity. The college hospital has been fitted up so that carriers may at once be taken there, without necessitating the need of quarantining other students.

FEW ENGINEERS EXEMPTED

NEW REGULATIONS FROM WAR DEPARTMENT CHANGE FIRST IMPRESSION.

Head of Division Must State That He Believes Student to be Exceptional—Men Chosen Must Enlist in Reserve Corps of Engineers.

Only the best students will have the opportunity to receive consideration in the classification of engineers for the draft, according to a communication received from Washington by A. A. Potter, dean of the division of engineering.

The dispatch follows: "The revised selective service regulations about to be issued by Provost Marshal General Crowder will include in section 151 the following paragraph:

"Under such regulations as the chief of engineers may prescribe, a proportion of the students pursuing an engineering course in one of the approved technical engineering schools listed in the war department as named by the school faculty, may enlist in the Enlisted Reserve Corps of the engineering department and thereafter, upon presentation by the registrant to his local board of a certificate of enlistment, such certificate shall be filed with the questionnaire and the registrant shall be passed in Class 5 on the ground that he is in the military service of the United States.

"The full regulations have not been prescribed by the chief of engineers, but the officer has ruled that privilege referred to may be granted by the head of the institution as follows:

"I hereby certify that is a regular student of the class of in good standing, as a candidate for an engineering degree at and that in the judgment of the faculty of this school, based upon his academic record, supplemented by his relations with fellow students, by observation of his instructors, he may fairly be regarded as reserving a place in the first third qualitatively of the young men graduated from this institution during the last ten years.

"The rules formulated by the chief of engineers will be sent to the schools on the official list as soon as they are ready and the committee is preparing a statement as to how these rules may be most effectively carried out. Sixty days from December 15 will be required by the Provost Marshal General Crowder to classify the registrants into five classes. The committee understands that it is not likely that any draft will have to be made before this classification."

THE RENAISSANCE OF MUSIC.

Music was not at all a popular subject at K. S. A. C. three or four years ago. Students who elected the course in voice, orchestra or instrument were few, and not many of these few seemed overly interested in their work.

But the coming of A. E. Westbrook as director of the department, brought a change.

The inauguration of the annual Christmas treat, the organization of community choruses at Randolph, Clay Center and Garrison, the importation of prominent artists, the introduction of the festival of music, and the general vitality that has been put into the department—all are distinct achievements of the Westbrook administration.

Director Westbrook has popularized the subject, and now K. S. A. C. takes in all the musical events she can,
and hungers for more.

UPPERCLASSMEN CHALLENGED.

"If there is any word of advice that I would give the college student, it is, 'Take Military.'"

When President Waters made this statement at assembly yesterday he struck home. With one of the best military departments in any college.

K. S. A. C. has only a small percentage of students drilling who are not compelled to do so.

Seniors and juniors have no more than an ordinary amount of patriotism if they drop their military training when they have completed their allotted period of drill. Practically every college student who was drafted is a non-commissioned officer. He earned his promotion because he had the jump on the other fellow. College students who give a dollar occasionally to the Red Cross, or $5 to the Y. M. C. A., but neglect to train their minds and bodies for military duty, are unmindful of the advantages they are enjoying as civilians.

When the reserve officers' training corps is established next semester, there will come an acid test of whether or not some students have only a passing interest in their country's future.

Bright Little Girl
Dodges Use of "Gee"
By Exclaiming, "G"

The other day a popular senior girl dropped her civics book on the floor, and thoughtlessly said "gee" before her four-year-old niece, Margaret. In imitation Margaret immediately dropped her doll and repeated the naughty word.

"You mustn't say that word again.
It isn't nice," reprimanded her father.
"All right," said Margaret, dropping her head in shame.

That afternoon the little girl's mother was teaching her to spell. When they came to the word "dog," she refused to utter the last letter, getting no further than "Jo—". At last her mother convinced her that it was only the naughty "gee" she must not say.

That evening when Margaret's father came home he found her busy at play. Running to meet him as he entered the room she stumbled over some blocks and fell. After picking herself up she let out the word "gee" with great emphasis.

"See here, little girl, I thought I told you to never say that word again," said her father sternly.

"I—I wasn't sayin' the naughty gee, Daddy. I was sayin' the 'g' in dog."

OF THE WAR."

Mr. Herbert Hoover's come to our house to stay,
To wash the pans and dishes and put
the crumbs away,
And shew the tramps from off the porch, unless they learn to sweep and earn their board and keep.
And all us little chiluns when the supper things is done
We gather round the fire and has the mostus fun,
And make the fire and dust the hearth

Once't Belg'um was a lovely land, so happy and so good,
And when it went to bed one night,
as everybody should,
The Frunchmen heard it holler and the English heard it howl
And when they turned the Kir'rens down it wasn't there at all.
They seeked it up the mountain side,
the river and the sea,
They soaked in the sky and earth,
wherever they could lee,
But all they ever found was just a stick or stone about,
And the Kaiser-man'll git you if you
don't watch out.

This Belgium had a nice young king who loved his people so He didn't think in all the world he had a single foe.

They crept into his house one night and stole his children, my!
And whipped them all so turly, Uncle Sammy heard them cry.
And so he told his soldier-boys to git their guns right quick
And go across the ocean and make the Kaiser sick
So mind the national counsel and watch what you're about
For the Kaiser-man'll git you, if you
don't watch out.
Our Mr. President Wilson says the war wil soon be thru
If we will buy Freedom bonds of Mr.
McAdoo,
And save for Mr. Hoover the sugar, bread and meat
And knit for Red Cross soldiers some things for head and feet,
And buy them books and presents, do everything we can
To cheer our soldiers marching to git
the wicked man
Democracy will then be safe and all the world will show
For there won't be no Kaiser-man to get us when we're out.

"ELIJAH" A MUSICAL TREAT

LARGE AUDIENCE ENJOYED MENDELSSOHN'S ORATORIO.

Large Chorus Were Well Trained--Chicago Artist Sang Lead Pleasingly.

The performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah" by the college choral society, augmented by the Clay Center, Randolph, and Garrison choruses and assisted by the college orchestra and Saint Cecilia club, adds another number to the already extensive list of distinct successes achieved by Prof. A. E. Westbrook, the college director of music. Although numerically the chorus was not so well balanced as in other years, the men being conspicuously in the minority, it accomplished better results in tempo and attack than at any previous time.

The choruses of the Priests of Baal were well given, and there was a dramatic effectiveness in the fire and in the coming of the rain music that was exceedingly satisfactory. The work of the orchestra for which the credit must go largely to Professor Brown contributed in great measure to the general success. It is to be regretted that they did not play more of the overture.

The assisting artists were Miss Louise Hughes, soprano, of the Manhattan public schools; Miss Bess Curry, soprano; Miss Katharine Kimmell, contralto, of the department of music; Mr. C. W. Johnston, tenor, of the department of music; and Mr. C. E. Lutton, baritone, of Chicago. Miss Hughes, in the solo, "Hear Ye, Israel," displayed a sweet, flexible and well trained voice. Miss Curry sang acceptably the small part of Youth. Miss Kimmell gave the ever popular, "O Rest in the Lord" admirably, showing good control of a rich expressive contralto voice. Mr. Johnston, to the keen disappointment of the audience, was unable to sing because of laryngitis.

Mr. Lutton has been before a college audience already. His singing and interpretation of the Elijah music are individual and arrest the attention. He is distinctly an artist. His voice is, of course, above the average, but the dramatic quality of his singing and a personality of his own lend an added charm to his performance. The great solos, "Lord God of Abraham," "Is not His Word like a Fire," and "It is Enough" were given in excellent style. His kindly insistence that Mr. Rex Maupin, the cellist, should share in the applause for the last number, because of his effective playing of the obligato, was not lost on the audience.

There are many other excellencies that might be noted, such as the delightful rendering of the quartette, "Cast thy Burden," with Mrs. Brown's exquisite harp accompaniment; the unusual singing of the Trio, "Lift thine Eyes," by a female chorus and very well they did it, and above all the wonderful piano work of Miss Patricia Abernathy who has read her title clear to place in the foremost rank of accompanists.

COLLEGE EDUCATING STATE

Department of Journalism the Big Cog, Dr. Waters Says.

Emphasizing the part that the department of journalism is playing in realizing his ideal of a college that serves all the people of the state, Dr. H. J. Waters, at a luncheon given in his honor yesterday noon by N. A. Crawford, professor of industrial journalism, told why he had insisted on the establishment of a strong journalism school at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

The effectual publicity carried on by the department, Dr. Waters said, is spreading the results of college tests and investigations throughout Kansas. Because, as he termed it, the department of journalism was "his own child," Doctor Waters declared that he had taken more interest in the journalism work than in that done by any other department.

At the conclusion of the luncheon a letter of appreciation, signed by the resident members of Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity, who were guests, were presented by Professor Crawford. Doctor Waters is a charter member of the fraternity. The letter follows:

To Brother Henry Jackson Waters:
"The members of the Kansas State chapter of Sigma Delta Chi desire to express to you their deepest appreciation of your earnest and wise labors in the development of journalistic training in the college, and as well in the strengthening of the physical, intellectual and spiritual life of the institution as a whole. As you are about to enter the profession of agricultural journalism, they extend to you their gratitude and express their confidence that in your new work the same indefatigable labor, the same sound, self-effacing judgment, will bring you rich reward."

Fred C. Trigg, acting managing editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star, who spoke at the journalism seminar yesterday, also was a guest at the luncheon.

Sigma Delta Chi Pledges Quartet of Journalism Students.

When four students make their appearance today in a distinctly individual type of spectacle, horn-rimmed and brown in color, and wearing black and white colors in their button hole, the student body need not think that another group of the new type of professor has invaded their midst, but may know that Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary journalistic fraternity, has invaded the ranks and taken for its own a few more journalists in the making.

The chapter pledged H. Clyde Fisher, junior; Carl P. Miller, sophomore; William Giles, junior; and C. Warren Hestwood, senior, in journalism Sunday morning. Initiation services will be held for the pledges Wednesday evening at the Sigma Nu house.

CLARKE LEADS THE ELEVEN

POPULAR QUARTERBACK CHOSEN CAPTAIN OF 1918 FOOTBALL TEAM YESTERDAY.

Now Leader Has Won Three Letters in College Sports—Received His Athletic Training on Manhattan H. S. Teams—Carl Roda Was Considered.

John A. Clarke is captain of next year's football team. The letter men decided on the 1918 leader at a meeting called by Coach Z. G. Clevenger yesterday.

Conscientious training and good field generalship won the place for Clarke. The captain-elect is out at every practice and works hard all the time.

Carl Roda, all-valley guard, was the other candidate considered. It was known that Coach Clevenger had expressed a wish that either Clarke or Roda be elected. The big guard from Paradise polled a number of votes.

Clarke received his athletic training at Manhattan high school, where he competed in basketball, football and baseball, being captain of the football and basketball teams. His home is in Manhattan.

In college Clarke has kept up the same three-letter standard that he set in high school. He is almost certain to be regular on the Aggie basketball quintet this year.

STARRED IN COLLEGE PLAY

Student Actors Made "Man on the Box" a Success.

The college audience was given a theatrical treat Tuesday evening when the honorary dramatic fraternity, Purple Masque, produced the "Man on the Box."

Elmer Glibreath, freshman in general science, who played the lead as Bob Warburton, the "Man on the Box," unquestionably starred throughout the performance. Mr. Glibreath was clever, finished and showed professional ability in his portrayal of the character he played, but he is to be especially commended upon his natural and unaffected stage manner.

Miss Ernestine Biby, sophomore in home economics, played the lead as Betty Annesley, an impulsive society girl who kept Bob Warburton "on the box" by hiring him as her groom. Miss Biby has a splendid stage appearance and put character into her lines.

Miss Dorothy Norris and Floyd Work, as the flirting widow and the susceptible judge, deserve especial mention, as do Miss Helen Lawson, William Giles, Albert Hancock, and several others. All of the parts were so well taken that it is difficult to choose the better actors.

"Miss Dykes is to be congratulated upon the splendid training of the cast as evidenced by the acting," said Dr. J. G. Emerson in charge of the public speaking department, in discussing the play. "The leads showed unusual finish in stage business and acting. The character parts were well taken also, among the best was William Giles as Pierre, a close second was Floyd Work as Judge, and Miss Helen Lawson as Cora was a splendid little maid. The entire woman cast was an unusual one."

TAUGHT HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES.

Home Economics Senior Directs Candy Making.

Rosalie Godfrey, senior in home economics, has had charge of the domestic science classes in the Manhattan high school this week. The students have made candy and packed boxes for the soldiers at Camp Funston.

In making candies the classes have used to a large extent war recipes. They have substituted honey for sugar and used liberal amounts of nuts and dates.

NEWSPAPER COMMUNITY BUILDER

Editor Must Help Solve Problems, Trigg Says.

The real function of the newspaper is to be the watch tower of the community, believes Fred C. Trigg, managing editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star, who addressed the students in industrial journalism in seminar Monday.

The real business of the newspaper is not necessarily to print the news but rather to act in a larger capacity in building up the community and protecting the people, Mr. Trigg believes. Any gossip can disseminate the local news and scandal but it takes a real live newspaper to act as the watchman in the tower.

"Any paper that lives to build up the community will be the most independent," declared Mr. Trigg. "Policy of the paper is too often a hindering factor in that it makes the ideals and thoughts narrow. There never can be any great success unless there is a breadth of vision."

WE DON'T WANT LEWIS

The Collegian does not claim to be right on every question. Neither does it think that its every guess is correct. But it does believe that it speaks the student opinion when it says that President Lewis of the Hays Normal is not a student favorite for the K. S. A. C. presidential position.

Where the trouble lies, The Collegian doesn't know. Probably one of the causes is that students are looking for as big a man as Dr. H. J. Waters to fill the place, and that they will be disappointed to an extent in any choice.

But with the undercurrent of opposition such as is felt here toward Mr. Lewis, it would be unfortunate if that executive were named. The new president, whoever he may be should start with the students' good will, or he will have a hard time adjusting himself.

Governor Capper headed the board of regents at the time that Doctor Waters was named. Certainly that choice, although of a different political party than that of Mr. Capper or of W. R. Stubbs, who then was governor, has not been a failure. Students are looking to Governor Capper's broadness to guard against any policies when K. S. A. C.'s future is at stake.

Mr. Lewis is a Western Kansas man, and he has a following in his section of the state. But it is hoped that, with the practical elimination of Dr. J. H. Kerr, the race now is between Dean W. M. Jardine and some equally big man.

If it were K. S. A. C.'s vote, Dean Jardine would be the choice.

DRILL THREE HOURS A WEEK.

Faculty Company, 30 Strong, Is Down To Work.

Faculty men are having a hard time to find a place to drill, but they have not allowed this difficulty to stop them. Between 20 and 30 men have been out every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoon from 5 to 6 o'clock.

The company has been under the instruction of Captain W. P. J. O'Neill, commandant, and Major W. B. Wendt. On account of cold weather the men have been drilling in the women's gymnasium when that room was not in use. Arrangements are being made to obtain the main gymnasium floor for use in the evenings, and after Christmas it is hoped that the company will be able to meet after supper instead of at 5 o'clock, as at present.

The faculty company will resume military drill Monday, January 7 at 7 o'clock on the main gymnasium floor. All faculty members are urged to come to this meeting as a regular time of meeting will be decided upon.

More men with military experience are wanted to act as non-commissioned officers. A class will be organized for those men who have never had any military training.

F. H. Freeto, 15, has resigned his position as county engineer of Doniphan county and has enlisted in the army.

READY FOR RESERVE CORPS

UPPERCLASSMEN WILL SIGN UP FOR SENIOR SECTION AFTER THE HOLIDAYS.

Organization of the Corps Will Be Effected at the Beginning of the Second Semester, Captain O'Neill Announces—Cadet Uniforms Are In.

Organization of the reserve officers' training corps will begin immediately after the Christmas holidays, and the men who join will report for instruction at the beginning of next semester. This is the latest announcement from Capt. W. P. J. O'Neill, commandant.

There are to be two divisions of the corps. All men students who attend college are required to take the basic course, which consists of a two years' course of three hours a week. Juniors and seniors will be admitted to the advanced course, and will receive five hours a week instruction in military tactics.

Must Sign a Contract.

All juniors and seniors who are desirous of taking the course report to the military office after Christmas, and sign a contract with the government. The contract requires that they shall agree to devote five hours a week to military instruction for the rest of their college course, and to pursue a course of camp training during such period as is prescribed by the secretary of war.

Uniforms will be furnished by the government to men in both corps, and the men in the advanced corps will receive $9 a month for their work. Due to a government shortage in uniforms at present, all men will purchase their uniforms and will be refunded their money before the end of the year.

Uniforms Coming In.

The corps is open to faculty members also, but they will not be paid nor will they be issued uniforms.

The uniforms which were ordered at the beginning of the semester are arriving daily. Two shipments have already been received, totaling more than 175 uniforms. No more uniforms will be issued to the students until after the holidays, because they have not been checked over.

HEAVY FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Four Valley Games, and Possibly One With Oklahoma, on List.

Next year's Aggie football eleven probably will face the most formidable schedule in the history of the school. Four valley games, all within the space of four weeks, and a possible battle with Bennie Owen's Oklahoma Sooners are the 1918 bill of fare.

The schedule so far follows:
Oct. 19.—Missouri at Manhattan.
Oct. 26.—Washington at St. Louis.
Nov. 2.—Kansas at Lawrence.
Nov. 9.—Iowa State (Ames) at Manhattan.

The Home Coming game will be with Ames, and should prove one of the best games in the valley, judging from the outcome of the Ames game last fall.

Another great improvement in the schedule is the Oklahoma game that Coach Clevenger is trying hard to secure. Oklahoma has always had a good team, and one that would put up a worthy fight. This game would be scheduled for the Saturday before Thanksgiving, November 23. A game with Oklahoma would mean a final contest that would be a drawing card and one in which the team would take an interest. The Washburn games for the last two years have been poorly attended, and neither team has prepared with any interest.

The rules of the Missouri valley conference allow eight games, leaving the Aggies with three dates unfilled. Coach Clevenger expects to complete schedule with teams of the Kansas conference, although it is possible that he may take on another heavy game.

FOUR NEW SIGMA DELTA CHIS.

Honorary Journalism Fraternity Initiated Pledges Last Night.

Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalism fraternity, initiated C. Warren Westwood, senior; William Giles, junior; H. Clyde Fisher, junior; and Carl Miller, sophomore, at a meeting held at the Sigma Nu house last night.

The men were pledged Sunday and since that time have been wearing yellow-glassed, tortoise shell spectacles.

BUT HOW MANY DECEMBERS?

Girls With Birthdays This Month Have a Spread.

All members of the Y. W. C. A. whose birthdays are in December were given a birthday party Monday in the home economics rest room.

Forty girls spent from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock getting acquainted and listening to phonograph music. A wheatless, meatless two course supper was served.

SEVEN AGS ARE PLEDGED.

Gamma Sigma Delta Puts Ribbons on New Men.

Gamma Sigma Delta, honorary society of agriculture, announces the pledging of Jay Lash, fellow in A. H.; O. T. Bonnett, senior in agronomy; D. E. Curry, senior in A. H.; R. V. Morrison, senior in agronomy; N. E. Dale, senior in agronomy; C. L. Headstrom, senior in agronomy; Benjamin L. Barnes, senior in A. H.

The initiation services were held last night at the Y. M. C. A.

Aggie Co-eds Beat Washburn but Ottawa was Victorious.

negative team which debated Ottawa at Ottawa lost.

It was a triangular contest between Ottawa, Washburn and K. S. A. C. on the question of responsible cabinet government. In each case the negative of the question, the system at present in use in the United States, was defeated.

The affirmative team from here was made up of Miss Ella Stinson, Miss Dora Cate, and Miss Elizabeth Circle, all members of the Ionian Literary society. The negative team was composed of Miss Olive Lagerstrom, Alpha Beta; Miss Ethel Arnold, Brown; and Miss Helen Mitchell, Brown.

Four new names were added to the list of "K" debaters—Miss Lagerstrom, Miss Stinson, Miss Cate, and Miss Circle. This is the second time in succession that an Aggie team has outtalked a team from Washburn. Until last year the record has stood straight victories for Washburn for six years.

GIRLS RESPOND TO CALL

Brought 426 Packages for Camp Funston Soldiers.

Gift packages for 426 soldiers at Funston were presented at the mass meeting of women in the old chapel Tuesday afternoon. At least 500 expected by the time the final package is made up to send to the camp Friday afternoon.

Every seat in the chapel was taken when the girls gathered with their Christmas packages to attend the first all-college women carol sing.

"The number of Christmas packages turned in is very good, considering college conditions," said Miss Mildred Inskip, Y. W. C. A. secretary. "The cooperation of the girls and faculty has made the plan a success."

Woodhouse Back to Farm.

J. L. Woodhouse, junior in general science, has withdrawn from college. He has returned to his home at Sharon Springs where he will assist in caring for 1,000 head of cattle during the winter.

To Lecture at Scottsville.

J. G. Emerson, professor of public speaking, will give a lecture at Scottsville next Friday night. Professor Emerson will give lectures during the Christmas vacation.

college, in a letter just received from him by Dr. W. M. Jardine, dean of the division of agriculture.

When the Kansas board of administration conferred with prominent agricultural college men in Washington, D. C., a month ago, there were rumors that Doctor Kerr had been offered the presidency of K. S. A. C. Newspaper stories appearing in Oregon dailies and purporting to quote Doctor Kerr gave the rumor semi-confirmation.

Oregon Board Hiked Salary.
Denials that the Oregon man had been tendered the place came from Dr. W. N. Mason, chairman of the Kansas board of administration, and from former Governor E. W. Hoch, a member of the board.

Since the meeting at Washington, the Oregon board of administration met and, according to the newspaper stories, raised Doctor Kerr's salary from $7,000 to $8,400. The Kansas offer, the Oregon story said, was $9,000.

Doctor Kerr in his letter to Dean Jardine explains that he did not know of the first story from Washington until 10 days after it was published, as he made several stops on the way to Corvallis. Then his son, Horace, died, and he was called to Denver. This delayed his denial.

A Victim of Circumstances.
Regarding the rumors, Doctor Kerr says:

"I want to emphasize, first, that I knew nothing of the Washington story until I received the story from the office, and even then did not know just what it contained until 10 days later, when I received it at Portland; second, I am in no way responsible for any publicity of any kind whatever in relation to this whole affair; and third, I have never said to anybody that I had been elected to a position in Kansas or that I had received an offer from that institution. In other words, I have been a victim of circumstances over which I have no control.

"For the reasons indicated above (Horace's death, etc.), I had not written any member of the board, and presume that it is now too late, but I wish you would see that my position is not misunderstood by Doctor Waters or by members of the board."

Clears Way for Jardine!

The practical elimination of Doctor Kerr may again bring up the possibility that the board will name Doctor

Jardine for the presidency. Dean Jardine has a strong student and alumni backing. If he is promoted, the precedent that a college executive must be imported from some other institution will be broken.

There has been a lull in the presidential gossip from Topeka. No new candidates have been mentioned for the place within the last month, although Dr. H. J. Waters' resignation goes into effect the first of the year.

Until a new executive is elected, Dean J. T. Willard probably will continue in his present capacity of acting president.

SOPHS TO MEET EVENINGS.

Seven O'clock in F-3 Is Chosen for Sessions.

The time of meeting of the sophomore class has been changed to Tuesday evenings at 7 o'clock in F-3. Ike Gates has been elected as class representative on the athletic board.

EMERSON IS GOING TO WAR

Professor of Public Speaking to Enlist in Third Training Camp.

The college is to lose another wide-awake "prof." Dr. J. G. Emerson, for the last three years head of the public speaking department, has received an appointment from Iowa State college, his alma mater, to go to the third training camp.

Doctor Emerson at present is on a speaking tour in Kansas, and his exact plans are not obtainable. Dean J. T. Willard, acting president, however, said last night that Mr. Emerson intended to leave for the camp which begins January 5.

Doctor Emerson made the public speaking courses popular, largely through his own personality and ability. He has been active in promoting college plays and other dramatic events. His degree of doctor of jurisprudence was granted by the school of law of Leland Stanford university in 1915. He also attended Harvard.

Dean Willard said last night that Doctor Emerson was leaving on the same standing with other faculty members who are with the colors. An attempt is to be made to secure him his position again at the end of the war.

TO ATTEND SCIENCE MEETING.

College Faculty Men are on Program at Pittsburgh.

Dr. R. K. Nabours, professor of zoology, G. A. Dean, professor of entomology, J. W. McCulloch, instructor, W. P. Hayes, assistant, and T. H. Parks, extension entomologist, will attend the annual meetings of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the American Association of Economic Entomologists at Pittsburgh, Pa., from December 27 to January 3. Mr. McCulloch, Mr. Hayes, and Mr. Parks will present papers at these meetings. Doctor Nabours will read a paper on Parthenogenesis and Inheritance in Grouse Locusts, before the Society of American Naturalists.

Miss Estel Wollman Smashed Old Marks in Collegian Race.

Miss Estel Wollman, special in industrial journalism, has already broken the record for the number of inches printed in a Collegian contest. Miss Wollman has 544.5 column inches to her credit, which is 139 inches more than any other contest winner has had, and the contest will not close until the end of the semester. C. P. Miller, winner of the contest last spring term, finished that race with 415 inches, smashing former marks.

Walter Neibarger, freshman in industrial journalism, who grinds out the "Written by a Freshman" dope for The Collegian, is second in the contest with 305 inches to his credit. He has been steadily shoving aside those ahead of him despite the fact that he entered the contest more than a month late. He expects to enter the contest in the spring semester with the determination to win.

ALL BACK FOR BASKETBALL

LIFTING OF QUARANTINES HAS GIVEN COACH CLEVINGER A SQUAD.

Aggie Mentor May Call His Squad Next Promising New Back for an Early Start During the Holidays—May Schedule a Game With Camp Funston.

The quarantine is off. Basketball practice has begun again. With the lifting of the bans from the fraternities' houses this week, men were released for the workouts, and Coach Z. G. Clevenger has lost a part of his gloomy look.

With only a handful of veterans left to begin the season with, Clevenger saw Dave Wooster declared ineligible and then, as if that blow was not enough, three of his provisional regulars were quarantined.

Practiced Tuesday.
Tuesday was the first practice of the season that all of the squad has been present. The men are lining up for these probable positions: Van Trine, Hinds, Cary, Polis, forwards; Whedon, center, and Clarke, Ben Hinds, Bell, guards.

It is the plan of Coach Clevenger to bring the boys back from the holidays early in order to give them all the coaching possible before the first valley game.

May Play Funston.

Although it has not been secured yet, it is planned to have one practice game with some school of Kansas conference before tackling the big games. Arrangements will also probably be made to play the team from Camp Funston. This should be a real test for the Aggies for the lineup contains some of the biggest stars in the country.

The freshman team is making everybody take notice, and the varsity is having quite a time holding its own with it. In fact, it is rumored that if the score in Tuesday afternoon's scrimmage had been accurately kept, the result would have been a victory for the freshmen. Of course, such a report isn't official but it shows that the freshmen hold considerable in the line of basketball.

The yearling squad is husky, and the freshmen have material for two unusually good teams.

12 IN THE HOSPITAL NOW

Two Have Been Released and One New Carrier Added.

Twelve meningitis carriers are now isolated in the college detention hospital. Everett Searns, Sigma Nu, has moved in and H. Burton, Sigma Nu and W. A. Nye, Aztec, have been released.

A fourth carrier has been found among the girls of the college, Miss Ruby Parkhurst at the Delta Zeta sorority house. Miss Parkhurst has gone to 1015 Humboldt street where Miss Elsie Wolfenbarger is also confined as a carrier. The Delta Zeta house is under quarantine and will be until further tests for meningitis have been made.

"We do not feel that there is any great danger in the students going to their homes for Christmas vacation," said L. E. Conrad yesterday. "A majority of the students have come in for second swabbings and we feel that the carriers have been successfully located."

INSPECTS CATTLE FEEDING.

University of California Man Looks Over Aggie Methods.

J. B. Davidson, head of the department of agricultural engineering in the farm school of the University of California, at Davis, Cal., visited H. V. Collins, instructor in steam and gas engineering, and other friends at the college Monday. Professor Davidson is inspecting the cattle feeding plants of several agricultural colleges to get ideas for the construction of a new feeding plant for the farm school. He will visit Iowa State college, the University of Nebraska, University of Illinois, and Purdue university and the next week will attend the meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers at Chicago.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1917

RED CROSS ASKS LITTLE.

This war period is going to call for one sacrifice after another.

College students responded to the Liberty Loan appeal with a vim.
They led the state in the campaign for the Friendship Fund.

Now they are asked to enrol in the Red Cross. The campaigners do not ask much—just $1—and Aggie students will respond equally as well as they have to other drives.

THE BASKETBALL OUTLOOK.

The task of building a basketball machine worthy of comparison with last year's five, although he has but one veteran and few substitutes, is one that faces Coach Clevenger.

The prospects are decidedly gloomy.
K. S. A. C. has been used to good basketball, and for that reason the indoor game is a close rival of football in this institution. But this year, with two regulars in military service, and another letter man declared ineligible on a technicality, students should not feel disappointed if the Missouri valley laurels do not again rest in Manhattan.

The question right now is Coach Clevenger's ability to make something out of a comparative nothing. If this year's team lands high in the race, Clevenger's coaching should receive most of the praise.

HOW MUCH LONGER?

Facing a Christmas in a pest house
—no wonder the inmates of the custodian's house have a grouch.

Students welcome any measures that will down disease. They are willing to be yenned up if their fellow students prosper.

But meningitis is practically unknown at Camp Funston now. There have been no new cases in the last two weeks in Manhattan.

Can not the carriers be released for Christmas?

The store for a man's Christmas

IT may be hard to realize that Christmas is

FIRST HAMP MEETING IN 1884.

Literary Group Has Grown Since its Organization.

The Hamilton Literary society was founded November 8, 1884 for men.
It was formed because of the overcrowded condition of the Webster and Alpha Beta societies.

The charter members were 16 in number. Thomas Bassler was the first president and B. Needman, the first secretary. A state charter was granted to the society January 29, 1886.

The work of the society has always been of a literary nature, and its aim is to stimulate interest in debating and literature, as well as to promote social development.

The society did not have a definite meeting place the first years of its existence, but in 1889 it obtained a room on the third floor of Anderson hall. Here the Ionian and Hamilton societies met for five years. In 1894 when Fairchild hall was completed, the two societies moved to the first floor. Later they occupied their present attractive hall in Nichols gymnasium.

Alumni members have made good in their chosen vocations, and out of their ranks have gone many men who are highly honored.

Journalism a Rough And Turbulent Life, Kitten Now Believes

"Meow!"

"Scat!" screamed the lady.

"Meow, meow, meow!" and the little gray cat stealthily pussy footed up the stairs to cast, long, wistful, hungry glances down at the dining room girl who forbade her entrance to the cafeteria.

A sophomore girl who had much pity and compassion took the poor little thing up the stairs and into the journalism office. The rattle of the typewriters and the rush and hurry of those in the office frightened the feline and caused it to dash madly about the room.

After several rounds of the office and a hurried scramble up the side of the wall the frightened cat jumped for the copy tube and found itself taking a fast and hasty ride for the lower regions.

Once arrived and inspired with the ineffectiveness of all cats she made a general mess of things by getting in to the hellbox. There was pie, pie everywhere and soon the hungry cat had made the complete rounds of the room. The bad behavior of the intruder caused the anger of the "devil" to rise. He threw a quoin at her that knocked her off her feet and sent her tumbling head over heels down an empty gallery.

Dazed and nearly frightened to death the unfortunate creature was picked up and soothed into quietude and repose by the sympathizing girl who had come to her rescue.

"Kitty" is now purring contentedly by the fireside of her new found mistress.

LETTERS TO AGGIE SOLDIERS

Beans of Division's Write to Each Man Who Is With the Colors.

Approximately 500 Aggie men who are now in military service are to receive a remembrance from K. S. A. C. through the deans of the division in which they were enrolled while students here.

Each man for whom an address can be found has been written a personal letter, "not any circular" insists Hugh Durham, assistant to Dean W. M. Jardine, and also sent a Christmas card. The plan of writing to the men with the colors was suggested at a deans' meeting and the actual work begun in the office of the dean of agriculture. The first letters, which were mailed to the men across the water were sent out December 4. In the division of agriculture there are at least a dozen men who are either in France, or on the sea, or in Hawaii or the Philippines. About 200 Christmas letters in all have been sent from this division.

Christmas letters have also been mailed from the offices of H. L. Kent, dean of the school of agriculture; J. T. Willard, dean of general science; and A. A. Potter, dean of engineering. On account of the inability to secure addresses many letters were sent to the homes of the former students to be forwarded.

OUT OF THE MAIL BOX.

Dear Editor Collegian:— It has been so long since anyone has registered a kick that I'm beginning to think that K. S. A. C. students have forgotten their right of free speech.

But, my quarrel is not with the general public. It's with certain individual in this college.

Did you ever feel like shooting someone? Well, that's how I feel. And I'm going to shoot, too. The next time that fellow gets in my way I'm going to waste good lead that ought to be saved for Germans. But, a pestilence must be wiped out.

I know that this isn't the way a murder is carried off, exactly. However, your sheet seems to be short of news, so I'm giving you a chance to get in on the ground floor. Better have your cubs keep their eyes open from now on, for unless I have an awful change of heart there is going to be blood spilled in a few days.

I don't care what you do with this. Print it if you want to. Then maybe that low down cuss will see it and tote a gun, too. I'd just as soon it would be a fair fight.

Sorry I'm going to have to leave you and the old school, but, as I've said, this pestilence must be eradicated and I guess I'll have to be the goat.

Merry Christmas,
H. C. M.

All College Girls Who Wish to Work Find Employment

Boarding the soldiers' wives and families has created an unusual demand for the services of college girls who wish to work. The majority of the 65 applications for work received by the Young Women's Christian association is for housework. Many girls take positions at boarding clubs, others care for children of the officers and some few are given board and room just for their company.

The scarcity of men in college has added opportunities for the college girl to earn her way through school. A few girls do clerical work and still fewer stenographic work. There is, however, a great demand for stenographers, especially among the college professors, but few students are fitted for the position. Some can type-write, but are unable to write shorthand, and visa versa.

One woman entered college with a capital of only seven dollars. Through the Y. W. C. A. she obtained a position and is now doing housework for her room and board. The girls accept a great variety of work from catering and nursing to laundering and scrubbing.

PEST HOUSE JUST LOVELY?

DETENTION HOSPITAL INMATES ISSUE STATEMENT.

Sanitation Isn't Perfect, but the Victrola Helps Make the Boys Forget Some of Their Troubels.

"How is the pest house?" "Simply hell," chorused more than a dozen fellows who were basking in the warm sunshine.

In a "wee" little part of the campus a hard boiled bunch of fellows are penned up awaiting the time when they will get a release. None of them will be allowed to leave until he can show two negative cultures. These fellows are not bacteriologists nor scientists nor do they prepare their own plates or cultures for they are simply carriers—not hod carriers either, but rather real college boys who have been so unfortunate as to be exposed to old bug Meningitis.

The following is a signed statement.

"The Victrola is quite popular. Records are also plentiful but the most popular and charming little ditty is entitled 'The livery stable blues.' This particular record is the most over-worked of any of these which fit in perfectly with the surroundings. Other records of a like nature will be highly desirable Christmas gift.

"The brightest spot on our limited horizon has been the visits of the American Red Cross and the eats donated by them. It is the desire of the pest house gang to extend grateful thanks to those who have remembered us unfortunates.

"Cheering practice is conducted daily and we are now quite efficient in our own popuar yell. 'We want a swab now.'

"If the situation is serious as we are led to believe it strikes us that a more careful checking of each individual case would greatly facilitate the stamping out of the dreaded disease.

"The federal health officer has shown exceptional interest in the present serious crisis. He has been especially busy for the past few weeks but has taken time to drive past the pest house every few days. He really has not had time to stop in but is absolutely certain that the house is still there. He has heard a report that the boys are there and intends to verify it early in January.

"In general the pest house is in most excellent condition in that there are 13 men confined in three rooms and the most sanitary measures have been taken by all the people who have had anything to do with the comfort and protection of the inmates.

"Especially care guarantees that the negatives become positive and that the positives remain so. Occasionally some one draws a negative just for variety sake but gets a positive again before the practice becomes monotonous.

"The bacteriology department should be highly commended for its efficiency and promptness in its handling of these cases as all have been taken care of with ease? neatness? and dispatch?

"Swabs are taken anytime from three to six days after a positive test has been reported and as two negatives tests are required before a patient is discharged we are all looking forward to the time when we will be free for the big spring drive.

"Christmas vacation is no time to run an experiment with guinea pigs and college students but we as pa-trials and good citizens are willing to sacrifice our vacation, time and money if society as a whole can be one least benefited.

"Hoping that every Aggie girl and boy has a very Merry Christmas and a most Happy New Year, we the undersigned do attach our signatures hereto.

ENTERS BUSINESS FOR SELF.

Fred Merrill Resigns as Assistant Professor of Horticulture.

Fred S. Merrill, assistant professor of horticulture, has resigned to accept a position with the Central States Orchard company of Kansas City.

Professor Merrill was graduated from the Massachusetts Agricultural college in 1913. The first year after his graduation, he worked for the etomological commissior. inspecting fruit trees in different sections of the state. Since the fall of 1913 he has been connected with the Kansas State Agricultural college.

Professor Merrill is an excellent instructor and possesses a fund of practical knowledge combined with the ability to impart, in an interesting manner, this information to others, in the opinion of students who have been in his classes.

The work that he expects to take up will give Professor Merrill the opportunity to demonstrate what can be done in the way of increased production in the orchards of the company who has secured his services.

It is expected that his loss will be keenly felt by the college.

WATERS' LAST OFFICIAL ACT

RETIRING PRESIDENT SUBMITS ANNUAL REPORT TO STATE SUPERINTENDENT.

Kansas Pays $190 a Year for Each Student Who Attends the College
Doctor Waters Is Now Managing Editor of Kansas City Weekly Star.

It cost Kansas $180 for each student enrolled in the college last year. A statement to the state superintendent of public instruction containing this fact was the last official act of Dr. H. J. Waters, who retired as president of the institution December 31. Doctor Waters now is at his desk in the Kansas City Star office in the capacity of managing editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star.

The annual statement showed that there were 3,339 students enrolled in the college last year. These were divided as follows: School of Agriculture, 422; college, 1996; postgraduate, 62; short courses, 546; and summer school, (1916), 586. There were 279 students enrolled in more than one of these classifications, making the total 3,339.

The total expenditures last year were $1,013,557.15 and the total receipts were $1,047,466.67.

Doctor Waters spent most of the holiday vacation period in cleaning up the odds and ends in the office incident to his departure.

Although the retiring president already is busy at his work in Kansas City, the Waters family probably will not move for some time. H. J., Jr., known to everyone as "Jack," is enrolled in the School of Agriculture, and plans to finish the semester.

Doctor Waters has persuaded Miss Lillian R. Shaw, for five years his private secretary, to accompany him to Kansas City, where she will act in the same capacity.

DONATES SOME ORE SPECIMENS.

Aggie Graduate Adds to Collection in Museum.

George (Dad) Croyle, '08, visited the college just before the holidays and presented some specimens of ores which will be added to the college collection. Mr. Croyle is in charge of a mining industry in Arizona.

'PREPARE TO BE TEACHERS'

That is Way Women Can Help Win the War, Mr. Ross Says.

A call for more women teachers has been issued by W. D. Ross, state superintendent of public instruction. Mr. Ross has written Dean J. T. Willard urging that Aggie women take educational subjects that they may qualify to teach during the war, thus taking the places of men who are called into service.

Mr. Ross's letter follows:

"In view of the shortage of high school teachers, due to the entrance of so many into the military service, the State Board of Education at its last meeting voted to request college authorities to appeal to the young women enrolled in upper classes to prepare themselves to take the place of the men, who in increasing numbers are likely to be withdrawn from our schools.

By enrolling in classes in education for the second semester seniors will be able to secure sufficient credits to enable the State Board to grant at least temporary certificates, and thus it is hoped that a supply of qualified teachers for the following year may be provided.

It is important that this matter be brought to the attention of the students and of the department of education, and that the urgency of the situation be made known."

In Engineers' Training Camp.

Mrs. J. W. Haeg of this city received word Wednesday from her son Roy, a former student and now of the 7th engineers at Fort Leavenworth, that he had been chosen from a company of 250 men, and was sent to the engineers' officers' training camp at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va. He left for his new location last Tuesday.

V. G. Hendrickson, '14, who is employed as instrument man on tunnel work with the Union Pacific, visited in Manhattan recently.

PRESENTED SCIENTIFIC PAPERS.

Melchers Attended Meeting of Affiliated Science Societies.

Prof. L. E. Melchers, acting head of the department of botany, presented a series of scientific papers before some of the affiliated societies of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the meetings of which were held at Pittsburgh, Pa., during the week of December 28 and January 2. One of the papers was on a new geranium disease which he has worked out and which destroys the flowers and foliage.

Two other papers were read before the American Pathological society. One of these pertains to the "Resistance of Sorghum Types to the Covered Kernel Smut." Third paper deals with cereal rust experiments which have been carried on for a number of years. The title of this paper was "Three Varieties of Hard Red Winter Wheats Resistant to Stem Rust." This was a joint article by Prof. L. E. Melchers and J. H. Parker of the department of agronomy.

PEP NIGHT IS JANUARY 12

Postponed Stunt Program Will Be Given This Week.

Aggie Pop Night which was postponed from before the holidays will be presented in the college auditorium Saturday, January 12.

The longer time which the organizations have had in which to prepare their stunts has only added to their beauty and originality. Interesting musical numbers will be presented between stunts.

The stunts which were chosen by a faculty committee from among those submitted by various organizations are "Apollo's Conquest," "Browning society," "The Evolution of the Buttery," "Kappa Kappa Gamma," "Canning King Can," "Eucledelphians," "American Ideals," Alpha Betas, "The Seasons," Tri Deltas, "The Budding of the Rose," Pi Phis; "Democracy," "Franklins," and a number which will be given by the faculty.

WILL ANSWER WAR QUESTIONS.

Extension Division Will Have Experts on All Phases.

A war information bureau will be conducted by the department of home study service in the division of extension, is the announcement by Edward C. Johnson, dean of the division. It will be for the benefit of the people of Kansas.

Each member of the department under the direction of M. G. Burton will specialize in some line of war activity, such as food, fuel, causes of the war, history of the war, transportation, Red Cross work, and training camp activities. Each will be ready to answer any question in regard to his specialty.

A list of all important war literature will be prepared as reference for those who wish to make a special study of the subject, and correspondence courses in food production, food conservation, and other war activities will be featured.

PLENTY OF COAL ON HAND

Present Supply Will Last Ten Days, and More Is Coming.

There's nothing to the coal scare.

"We have enough coal on hand now to last ten days," Dean J. T. Willard said yesterday. "Cars are arriving all the time. The facts of the matter are that we have had less troubles over the heating problem this year than for many years in the past."

The state business manager has contracted for six cars of coal a week for the college. A motor truck belonging to the college is kept busy, and could be worked nights, if the emergency existed, Dean Willard said.

310 AGGIES IN THE SERVICE.

144 Are Officers Ranging From Corporals to Brigadier General.

Three hundred ten Kansas Agricultural college men are serving in the armed forces of the nation. Other graduates, or former students, in addition to those of whom the college has record, are believed to be serving their country in some branch of the service.

Of the 310 men enlisted, 144 are officers, ranging from corporals to a brigadier general. The list of officers includes many lieutenants and captains, six majors and one brigadier general, James G. Habard. General Pershing's chief of staff is a graduate of this institution.

BASKETEERS DOWN TO WORK

BUT COACH CLEVINGER IS UNABLE TO PREDICT HOW HIS MATERIAL WILL DEVELOP.

Captain Van Trine Is the Only Veteran Left from Last Year's Winning Five, Although Clarke Is a Letter Man—Others are New to College Game.

Coach Clevenger still is in the dark as to what are the prospects for another winning basketball quintet. With Captain Van Trine as the only member of last year's championship five back in the basketball togery, the Aggie mentor must build a team, most of it from comparatively raw material.

Captain Van Trine, who was out for the first practice Saturday, is a fixture at a forward position. Van was the choice of most of the critics for a place on the all-valley five last year. Without a doubt, he will make that mythical team this season.

Football Men Land.

Johnny Clarke, nosed out of a regular berth last year only by the excellent play of Captain MacMillan and "Eddie" Wells, is almost as sure of his place. Johnny, who is captain elect of the 1918 eleven, plays a splendid game at defensive guard, and is dangerous as a goal shooter. When, starting on the Manhattan high school five it was not uncommon for Clarke to make more than half of his team's points, although he was playing a guard position, and playing it well.

"Helme" Hinds (who blossomed out as a star halfback during the last football campaign, now leads all forward candidates who are contesting for a place as Captain Van Trine's running mate. The same quickness and squirming that made Hinds dangerous when carrying the football snail him to keep away from opposing guards on the basketball floor.

Center May Go to Whedon.

"Bill" Whedon right now is the strongest of the center contestants. "Bill" plays the game hard, just as he did when he won himself a berth on the second all-valley eleven this fall. His one failing is a lack of experience as a basketball player.

Among the guard candidates, J. B. Hinds probably stands second to Johnny Clarke. Heavier than his brother, J. B. is adept at thwarting dribblers and passers who seek their way towards the goal.

"Shorty" Folz is campaigning right strongly for a forward berth. He played that position occasionally in Varsity games last year, and has improved his play this year.

Practice Began Saturday.

Captain Van Trine, Folz, the two Hinds and Whedon were out for practice Saturday. Yesterday practically every member of both the Varsity and freshmen teams was back on the floor.

With only a week left in which to drive his men towards the championship, Coach Clevenger already is giving them some of the advanced plays. Handicapped by a late start in the fall, then again hurt by the meningitis scare which sent the team into quarantine, and still again held back because no coal was available for heating the gymnasium during vacation, the Aggies must fight hard if they hit a stride that will down Ames in the first contest.

Makes a Speedier Court.

A new change in the basketball court is noticeable on the gymnasium floor. A curve in the boundary line under the basket brings the backstop two feet within the court.

"The innovation will result in faster play," Coach Clevenger said yesterday. "A ball which hits the side of the basket and bounces back into the field of play will not be counted out of bounds, and it will now be possible for a player to shoot as he passes under the basket."

Many of the scrambles for the ball under the basket result in the ball bounding over the line. Many of these delays will be done away with.

Acacia announces the pledging of Mr. Albert Waters, Blue Rapids, sophomore in agronomy.

Miss Laura Armstrong spent the Christmas vacation at her home in Clay Center.

A. P. Davidson, '15, visited with friends in Manhattan in the Christmas holidays.

IONIAN FIRST CO-ED SOCIETY

Dean Van Zile, an Alumnus of the Organization

The Ionian Literary society was the first woman's organization in the college. It was formed in the fall of 1887 with 23 members.

The officers for the first year were Miss Julia R. Pierce, president; Miss Dora Van Zile, vice president; Miss Nellie P. Little, recording secretary; Miss Carrie Hunter, corresponding secretary; Miss Carrie Hunter, corresponding secretary and Miss Tina Louise Cohn, marshal.

The first meeting place was in the north corridor of Anderson hall. From 1888 to 1894 the society used the third floor of Anderson hall. Later it moved to a room in Fairchild hall, and in 1911 to its present attractive hall in Nichols gymnasium.

The Ionians take pride in the fact that Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of the division of home economics, is an alumnus of the society.

VETS HELD A MEETING HERE

College Men Prominent on Program of Association Meeting.

The sessions of the fourteenth annual meeting of the Kansas Veterinary association was held at the college last week. More than 60 leading veterinarians of the state were present. The meetings began Tuesday morning.

Dr. C. B. McClelland of Lawrence was elected president, and Dr. J. H. Hurt of the agricultural college was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Dr. G. H. Mydland of Holton was named as a member of the executive board.

Speakers in included Dr. B. W. Murphy of the bureau of animal industry United States department of agriculture; Dr. J. T. Willard, dean division of general science in the agricultural college; Dr. R. R. Dykstra, professor of surgery; Dr. G. M. Potter, division of extension; J. B. Fitch, associate professor of dairy husbandry; Dr. H. Gish, Eldorado; Dr. J. P. Bushong, Lederle laboratories, and Dr. L. D. Eastman, Council Grove.

A dinner, theater party, trip to the college serum plant and inspection of college dairy cattle were features of the meeting. Displays of veterinary supplies interested the visitors.

BEST FOR FATTENING HOGS

Self-feeder Is Most Economical, Carl P. Thompson Says.

How labor and feed may be saved by using a self feeder is explained in a circular issued by the division of extension, and written by Carl P. Thompson of the division.

Mr. Thompson shows in the bulletin that more rapid and economical gains are made when the self feeder is used than when the hogs are fed by hand. Plans and specifications for constructing self feeders at small cost are included in the circular which may be had upon request to the division of extension.

STUDENTS MUST ENLIST NOW

Men in Engineering Schools Then May Continue Studies.

Students of engineering registered for the draft will be allowed to continue their studies until they attain their degree, if they will enlist now in the engineers' reserve, Provost Marshal General Crowder announces. Enlisting in the reserve now means the students will be liable for active service when they receive their degree. Students of civil, electrical, mechanical, chemical and mining engineering are included in the order.

NAMES SPEAKERS' BUREAU.

Dr. H. J. Waters Appoints Men to Speak for Council of Defense.

A speakers' bureau for the Kansas council of defense has been named by Dr. H. J. Waters, president of the council. This bureau consists of Edward C. Johnson, dean of the division of extension of the college; F. R. Hamilton, director of the extension service of the University of Kansas; Dr. E. J. Kuly, pastor of the First Methodist church, Topeka; Thomas W. Butcher, president of the State Normal school; Mrs. D. W. Mulvane, chairman of the woman's committee of the council of defense, and Walter Burr, director of the rural service department, division of extension of the college, secretary. The other two members may be added soon.

NO MERCY TO THE CUTTERS

ABSENCE FROM A CLASS SATURDAY OR MONDAY COUNTS AS AN UNEXCUSED.

Calendar was Arranged so That Vacation Would Begin Where the Schedule Left Off—Dean Willard Calls for Strict Account in Classes.

Strict record of students who absented themselves from Saturday and Monday classes is to be kept and reported by all teachers according to a special notice sent out by Dean J. T. Willard, acting president, Saturday morning.

"Just because the calendar is so arranged that the two weeks vacation ends on Friday," said Dean Willard, "there is a great temptation for students to miss Saturday classes. The winter vacation must be an even period, either one or two weeks. The college calendar was planned by a committee, submitted and passed by the deans and voted on favorably by the faculty."

"It is so arranged that the student is given three days before Christmas day and three days after New Years. Some students give as a reason for late returns the objection to traveling on Sunday and others cannot return on account of trains which do not run on Sundays. But these factors have been eliminated in the present calendar and those who did not come back until Tuesday for classes which had been assigned to them will be the ones who will have to settle."

"The even period of two weeks was the only way to fit in the classes which consist of lecture, recitation, and laboratory periods. The students have no reason to feel that they have been given unjust treatment. Formerly, Thanksgiving only was allowed and students began taking either the day before or the day after, until finally college was closed at Wednesday noon. Now they ask to be excused sometime on Tuesday. It is all simply a question of taking more time than has been allowed."

200 IN THE SHORT COURSES

Students Enrolled Yesterday for Work During Winter.

Enrollment in the short courses for men nearing the 200 mark yesterday. The actual count was 132 at 4 o'clock, and it is thought enough students enrolled before 5 o'clock to send the number close to, and possibly above, the 200 mark, according to Miss Jessie McD. Machir, registrar.

"I expect 250 before the enrollment is over," Miss Machir predicted.

The choice between the agriculture and mechanic courses is about even. Last year the ags ran slightly ahead of the engineers, and it is probable that the result will be about the same this year.

The courses offered are farmers' creamery, traction engines and shop practice.

TO TALK ON FRIENDSHIP FUND.

Doctor MacArthur's Y. M. C. A. Talk Will Follow Up Big Drive.

The subject, "11,500—Then What?" has been chosen by Dr. J. R. MacArthur, professor of English, who will speak at the regular Y. M. C. A. meeting, Thursday night. Doctor MacArthur's talk will be a follow-up of the recent campaign for the Students' Friendship fund, when the college not only reached its pledge of $8,000 but went to the $11,500 mark.

Short course students will be entertained by the Y. M. C. A. at a mixer given them Friday evening by the Y. M. C. A. All new men are invited to attend.

A short course basketball tourney is being arranged by the Y. M. C. A. and all men interested are requested to call at the Y. M. C. A. this week and leave their names.

Miss Jessie McD. Machir, registrar, had as guests over Christmas her brother and his family from Kansas City, Mo.

Miss Mary Kimball for five years a member of the Mercury staff is now employed in the registrar's office.

Frank Wilson, junior in general science, spent his vacation in Salina visiting friends and relatives.

FUNSTON ADDED INDUCEMENT

Farm and Home Visitors Expect to Look over Camp

That many visitors to the Farm and Home week, January 21 to 25, will visit Camp Funston, combining a trip to the college and a trip to the camp, is indicated in letters received by Edward C. Johnson, dean of the division of extension. Many of those who have no boys and girls to visit at the college have sons or husbands in training at Camp Funston. Every possible measure to provide rooms and board for all who come will be taken.

Conservation of life, food, health, energy, and clothing will be the subjects for the women's program Farm and Home week. Methods for saving fuel, energy, and labor on the part of the housewife will be especially emphasized. Addresses by Miss Miriam Birdseye of the states relations service of the United States department of agriculture and L. J. Taber, master of the Ohio State grange will be features of the evening.

ATHENIANS FORMED IN 1906

Society Adopted Constitution and Obtained Charter in 1907.

The Athenian Literary society has the distinction of being the youngest of the college literary societies for men.

Plans for the organization of the society were made December 15, 1906. On January 12, 1907, a constitution was adopted and on March 8 a state charter was obtained.

The chief purpose of the society was to promote interest in debating. At some meetings two debates were held. It has played an active part in inter-collegiate debating and its members are leaders in other college activities.

Fairchild hall was the meeting place until November, 1911. On November 11, 1911 the Athenians and Brownings dedicated their present hall in Nichols gymnasium.

The Browning Literary society was organized October 10, 1910, and on October 29, 1910, was invited to the Athenian Halloween program. A joint program was given, and since that time they have considered themselves brother and sister societies and have given an annual Christmas program.

The first annual Athenian-Browning Owl-Bake hike was held May 20, 1911. The society paper is called the "Athenian Messenger." It originated December 7, 1907 under the name of "Athenian Paralyzer and Astonisher." The society colors are purple and old gold.

WILL ADD TO THE OLD AG.

College Architects Draw Up Plans for Structure.

Plans for the addition to the old agricultural hall provided for by the legislature at its last session are being prepared by C. F. Baker, professor of architecture. The addition will be occupied by the physics department which will give up its present quarters to the chemical experiment station.

J. O. Hamilton, professor of physics, has just returned from a visit to the Bureau of Standards at Washington, D. C., the University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie Technical Institute at Pittsburgh, and the University of Illinois in order to obtain the latest in laboratory construction and equipment which are to be incorporated in the building.

SAID GOODBYE TO DR. EMERSON.

Purple Masque Honored Professor About to Leave for War.

A farewell reception for Dr. J. G. Emerson was given by the Purple Masque, honorary dramatic fraternity, the Friday evening preceding the holidays in the home economics' rest room.

The program for the evening consisted of dancing and a three course dinner. Toasts given to Doctor Emerson were, "Appreciation," Earl Taylor; "A Friend," by Don L. Burk, and "Farewell," by Miss Velma Carson. Miss Wanda Tetrick acted as toast mistress.

The friends of the Purple Masque and the play cast of the "Man on the Box" were guests.

An army kit was presented to Doctor Emerson by the Purple Masque in appreciation of his work with them.

Miss Mattie Bell, secretary to J. B. Marcellus, drainage and irrigation engineer, spent Christmas holidays in Yates Center.

AGS HAVE MOST IN SERVICE

TABULATION OF MEN WITH ORDERS SHOW DEAN JAKENHOF DIVISION IN THE LEAD.

Only a Little More Than Half of Men Have Answered Questionnaire Sent Out by Miss Machir, Registrar, to Find Out What Absentees Were Doing.

The tabulation of answers from cards sent out to men who were enrolled in college last year and had not returned, shows that approximately only 600 of the 1,100 have responded.

The survey was carried on through the registrar's office at the request of the Department of Interior, bureau of education, in order to obtain the effect of the war on student enrollment. Miss Jessie Machir, registrar, attributes the low percentage of replies to carelessness of the parents in filling out and returning the cards and also to the fact that some of the men who were not in service thought they would be held against them. Since the survey is so incomplete in location last year's students it is not considered fair by Miss Machir.

The tabulation as prepared follows: Division of Agriculture—enlisted 7, drafted 26, non-commissioned officers 37, commissioned officers 19.

Department of Veterinary Medicine—enlisted 15, drafted 3, non-commissioned officers 3, commissioned officers 6.

Division of General Science—enlisted 35, drafted 5, non-commissioned officers 8, commissioned officers 10.

Department of Journalism—enlisted 6, drafted 1, non-commissioned officers 1, commissioned officers 4.

Division of Engineering—enlisted 9, drafted 9, non-commissioned officers 22, commissioned officers 5.

Department of Architecture—enlisted 1, drafted 3, non-commissioned officers 3.

School of Agriculture—enlisted 8, non-commissioned officers 6; short course—enlisted 1, drafted 1.

OFFER MANY CANNING PRIZES.

Large Exhibits of Jars Expected From Home Week.

An exhibit of canned goods prepared by mother-daughter canning clubs will be a feature of Farm and Home week, January 21 to 25.

Fourteen clubs already have notified Otis E. Hall, state club leader, that they will send exhibits of 10 jars each. One first prize of $2 two of $20, three of $15, and several prizes of $10 are offered. Six exhibits by individuals also will be a part of this display. Many persons already have indicated their intention of sending in exhibits.

WESLEYANS TO OPEN HERE

Season books, good for eleven games, will be on sale at the athletic office Friday of this week, and season reserves will be sold at the same time. The admission books are $2 each and the reserved seats, $1.50. The opening game of the season, probably will be played at St. Mary's Saturday, where the Aggies will battle with the Catholics in a pre-season game.

Fifteen valley games, including at least one game with every conference quintet, make the schedule look formidable. Eight of the contests are to be played on the Nichols floor. The schedule, complete except in one date the week of February 10, follows:

Jan. 12—St. Mary's at St. Mary's.
Jan. 16—Kansas Wesleyan here.

LEVITY WITH THE CUTTER.

Too severe criticism should not be made of the action of a number of students who did not return Saturday.
Admittedly, it was a bad time to return, for students are only human, after all, and like their vacations.

If a professor of psychology had been consulted, he probably would have advised against taking up college work on a Saturday, when the day of rest follows. Perhaps he would have suggested that students would have been more pleased with a week and a half, and to have returned on a Wednesday or a Thursday, instead of a full two weeks, with work beginning on a Saturday. The students, of course, would have raised considerable of a howl for the latter,
if given their choice.

The rumor that the college did not have coal, late trains and sick grandmothers—these will be offered as excuses for late returns. But the real and best excuse is that it was just a bit too much for the will powers of most of the students, for, as was previously announced, they are but humans.

And everyone who heard Doctor MacArthur on "Bad Manners at K. S.
A. C." at chapel yesterday morning muttered to himself, "Yep, THEY ought to watch those things."

THE CHANGING FRATERNITIES.

New Year's Eve and New Year's evening, at a national fraternity convention attended by the writer in Cleveland, Ohio, there were a smoker and a banquet. Both were bone dry and during his three-day stay, the writer did not see one of the delegates in an intoxicated condition.

These same two evenings the Sixti-city revealed. Drunken men and women caroused in wild orgies in the cafe and grill room of the same hotel in which the fraternity functions were held.

Years ago the fraternities might have been considered the leaders of the wilder extreme.

Is the change not a pleasing one,
even to the critics of fraternities?

The Collegian estimates that enough rice is hurled at American newbies each week to keep the entire American army in that commodity for that length of time.

Boy, page Mr. Hoover.

OUT OF THE MAIL BOX.

Editor Collegian:—

Do women think? Well, rather.
The truth is they think a lot more than the person who wrote the story for a recent issue of The Collegian.
If he must have been he, for no woman would condemn her kind—if this, knowing person had thought a little for himself, and if he had ever had Old Mother Experience as a teacher he would have had no trouble in arriving at a definite conclusion in a few sentences.

Now, we are not a woman ourselves and we are not being hired by a woman to defend the cause. We have simply observed closely and have had some experience.

Yes, women think. They think too much at times for man's comfort. But they have a different way of thinking than men do. They don't think accurately always, but they come nearer thinking the right thing more times than many men do.

A woman thinks abstractly. If 20 persons were killed in an explosion she reels the figures off at an even million and lets it rest there. But, take her away from figures and facts and she can out-think even her sister.

Why, the average co-ed could tell that reporter what he is going to think about a week before he thinks it. And after reading his story we believe she wouldn't necessarily have to be average either.

Now, we haven't tried to establish our contention that women do think.
We simply wish to go on record for the fact. And we want to go further and advise that man to either age a little or experiment some before he makes any more drastic insinuations.
In witness whereof we place our hand and seal.—H. C. F.

Editor Collegian:

Amateur musicians.
What thoughts or mental pictures
does this phrase bring to your mind?
Surely you have had experience in this respect. No? Oh, you just came to town yesterday. That explains your abnormal ignorance.

Before I die I want to register one more blow at the inhuman things of the world. And in casting about for the most pitiless nuisance I stumbled upon the amateur musician and knew
I had found my foe.

But I must narrow the subject down somewhat and I know it will not be hard to do. Call it the amateur college musician and you have the pet pest of the class.

The first thing that an amateur musician unpacks when he arrives at college is his horn or flute or fiddle or whatever his particular weakness in the musical line happens to be. And he packs the thing last when he graduates or is run out of college on general principles. I said unpacks this instrument of misery first and it is my firm belief that in many cases he ceases to unpack thereupon and thereafter.

No, college amateur musicians do not improve. They did not come to college to take music and they never find the time to elect it. Consequently the quality of their attempts at musical interpretation seldom improves. True enough the quantity sometimes changes but even then the old pieces at th favorites and are played most often.

Was there ever an act more unkind, unmerciful or cruel than the long drawn out Sunday afternoon concert of the petty musician? Since the cold weather started in with its lack of outside entertainment this form of indoor sport has been increased enormously.

What will the outcome be? Why not require swabbings for all college students suspected of having the germ and if such suspicions are confirmed have the contemptible beings confined to the pest house? There they could while away the hours in perfect sublimity and who knows but these unearthly members of the earth might get together and organize the greatest jazz orchestra in the world.

If this suggestion is carried out I will be glad to pledge $100, and a brand new Jews harp to the cause.—

HELP THE COUNTY AGENTS.

College Will Loan Slides for Use in Lectures.

Twenty different sets of lantern slides are available at the college for distribution in Kansas to county agents, farmers' institutes, high schools, or any responsible person who wishes to use them for educational purposes. A lecture accompanies each set of slides sent out by the division of extension. These lectures are of a popular nature.

The sets consist of from 25 to 50 slides each. Many of these are colored and make an attractive as well as instructive program. Members of the college staff especially qualified in each subject have prepared the lectures on subjects pertaining to agriculture, home economics, and mechanic arts. They are applicable to Kansas conditions and can be relied upon top present only such practices as may be recommended for Kansas.

Live stock sets are the most popular. In the last nine months 11 county agents made use of one or more sets. During the same time they were used by nine members of the extension division, five farmers' institutes, an Indian reservation, a college literary society, and 52 schools and churches. M. G. Burton, director of home study service, division of extension, Kansas State Agricultural college, has charge of the distribution of the sets.

Written by a Freshman

Walter Neibarger

Upon looking over the map of Germany we find a town named Karlsbad. They ought to change it to Billisbad.

Some say the kaiser is between the devil and the deep sea. The devil is between the kaiser and the deep sea.

They usually refer to it as a "large audience" in a small town.

Most men are ruined by money.
Loose or women, and occasionally you find one that ruined himself.

One of our peculiarities are tears.
We never could stand them. The other day one of our friends came around with a two-inch stream of sorrow flowing from his eyes, and with broken words told us how he almost lost his mind when his wife died. We stroked our beard, remembered his intellectual talent, and told him we thought that was so.

There are some good points about weeping however. They say a lad stands a better show with a lass in proposing if he tries her when she is weepy.

The selling of kisses by New York chorus girls might have been alright had not one fat wheezy old stock broker purchased an even dozen.

It is surprising at the unexpected adventures you may find in life. The person you pass on the street may have a life, whose story would put a dime novel to sleep. Even in the most inobtrusive lives there are great tragedies and stories. Thus in our recent stay in Topeka we found a poet. Not rich in this world's goods, working in an unobtrusive place,
getting small wages, living a quiet life. Since a boy he has had the poetic "bug." He had tried to hide it, he told us. He was ashamed of it, and at the sympathetic interest manifested by us, he read it to us with true impulse. We do not claim to be a critic of poetry. This poor poet touched us. He had written these things secretly for personal enjoyment, and very few knew about it.
Here are some pieces of his poetry:

Of all the beasts that roam the field,
The blindest is the fly.
For he tangoes on your bacon.
And he fox trots on your pie.
He's a very animated chap,
The measly little "goop."

He goes strolling in the garbage can,
And swimming in your soup.
He pesticates and aggravates,
Until you almost 78:2—sweat;
And when you land a swat on him—
"Too late! He isn't there."
So when you've crossed the river
To the happy "by-and-by,"
You'd cuss upon the golden streets
If you should meet a fly.

Of a sadder strain he sings of death
like this:
Hark, 'tis a voice on the night;
A clarion call and clear,
As a voice of a bell, yet a somber knell
From caverns dark and drear;
And my soul is torn with fear.
He has written this about the war:
There's a lot of things across the pond.
We like, and some we don't.
There's lots of things we'll stand for too,
But there's one thing we won't:
And that's the Hel in Wilhelm, now
He's feeling mighty swell,
But he'll be as mild as a child,
When we remove the Hel.

Our hands got "Bern-ed" on Bernstorff, then
We started to "get wise"
In CENTRAL ALLIES, we smelled the "cent"

And we also saw the "lies."
That's past. We'll enter Berlin soon, Goodbye, Wilhelm, farewell!
With England, France and the rest,
We'll make you lose that HEL.

This we say was an adventure. We find them everywhere in the common things about us. Who knows but what we discovered another Shelly or Reilly?

Lots to show you in heavy underwear for men at the right price. Miller's Clo. Store.

Freshman Isn't Only Student Harrassed; Pity Poor Seniors

The life of an upperclassman at college is far from being a bed of roses. It is true that he is loved, honored, and obeyed by the freshmen but he is seldom petted or pampered by his fellow classmates.

There are certain inherent customs in every college which govern the actions of upper classmen. To violate the unwritten law is to invite the wrath of the student body in general.
And, he who has encountered a student body, with blood in its eye, knows what regret means.

Sections of seats at chapel are reserved, through precedence, for the use of individual classes, exclusively.
Woe be unto the man who unconsciously, or otherwise, gets into the wrong pew. For he is immediately ejected by the outraged class in the direction of the least resistance whether it be to his comfort or not.
He may be passed overhead, thrown bodily the entire distance, or if he unluckily gets beneath the seats he is stimulated generously on his way to the proper section.

Another breach of the rules is to take a "date" to a football game. Between halves of the game, all upperclassmen who are in proximity to a co-ed are taken to the center of the field and there before the eyes of the crowd and their loved ones are unceremoniously tossed in a blanket available at all games. After everything is dislodged from the pockets of the culprit he is allowed to return to the source of his trouble.

He who is wise will leave all unattached articles upon his person with a friend, preferably the co-ed, while he attempts aerial acrobatics. Only upper classmen are tossed for freshmen have an uncanny habit of keeping within all rules whether based upon fact or fiction.

Senior Class Meeting tonight 7:15 o'clock. C-26. Be there.

The home study department is carrying on in connection with agricultural study in various high schools of the state, a line of work in which high school students are displaying much interest. The course of study is based on the state text book, of which Dr. H. J. Waters is the author. The text is discussed in round table fashion by the agriculture class.
Assignments of certain parts of the lesson are then made to the students who write out the lessons and send them to the home study department of the college. Here they are reviewed by W. L. French.

College Prof's Flock Circles To the Left At His Feet for Food

Three years of strenuous activity in exploring the snow and icebound regions of the Arctic put M. C. Tanquary, assistant professor of entomology, in the state of mind to appreciate thoroughly the comforts of civilization and the satisfaction derived from peaceful pursuits.

In addition to the Investigational work of Professor Tanquary is conducting at the college, he has a three-acre experiment station at his home a quarter of a mile west of the campus, where he is working out problems of bee-culture, animal husbandry, gardening and poultry. In poultry raising, he has achieved particularly interesting results in investigating the cerebral orientation of Leghorn fowls.

He has trained his flock to perform all kinds of "stunts," among others to fly across the road, do their foraging in a neighbor's barn lot, and fly back home without being hit by one of the numerous passing automobiles. But most interesting of all is the serious ceremony of the morning meal. With rattle of the corn in the tin pan as the professor approaches the feeding yard, hens and roosters come flying from every direction toward him. Then, gathering in a crowded circle, the fowls at top speed rush around his feet three times in a counter-clockwise direction, then stop and begin a vigorous cackling demand for feed.

It has been found impossible to teach them to run in a clockwise direction or to circle around more than three times.

Professor Tanquary says that he will exhibit the accomplishments of his fowls, but it is necessary to be on hand early, for they will not perform after the sun has been an hour in the sky.

Sat In Sulphuric Then Yelled Wildly "Sumpen to Stop It"

"Help! Help! Help! I'm ruined if you don't do something quick," shouted a freshman lad in chemistry laboratory, as he ran wildly up to the young professor in charge.

"What in creation is the matter with you?" said the professor with a lazy smile. "We know you sprang from monkey but you can't expect to find your tail now. You lost it several centuries ago."

This last remark was made in view of the fact that the freshman was wildly twisting his head behind him and seemed to be in great agony for some cause in the rear. All the while he was yelling excitedly about "something to stop it, and stop it blamed quick."

Finally the stupid professor was made to understand that the poor fellow had sat down on a stool which a little pool of sulphuric acid was already innocently occupying. The professor's first move was to grab a bottle of ammonia, but for the next few moments he was dumb. He had never had a case like this before and he could not figure out any directions for applying the medicine.

The professor was conscious only of the frantic cries of the freshman. "It's eatin' me naked, man. It's eatin' me naked. Do something quick!"

This yelling soon brought an interested group of fellow freshmen around. They lined up in a circle around the sulphuric acid victim, with faces like those one might expect to see at a bull fight. Only one freshman seemed to want to put the raving man out of his misery.

He shouted to the professor, "Soak your handkerchief in that ammonia and give him a spanking."

This remark seemed to hasten the professor's inspiration. He jerked a stool near by and poured the healing fluid on top of it. Then yanking the dancing freshman by the collar he forced him to sit down in the cold fluid.

It was a peaceful smile that stole over the freshman's face then, instead of a shivering one, although it was in December. He was probably thinking how fortunate it was that the weather had forced him to wear a long overcoat to class.

ORGANIZE THE BOY WORKERS

WORKING RESERVE ENLIST BOYS BETWEEN 16 AND 21.

Oath of Allegiance to the Government is Taken by Each Boy Who Joins the Organization.

A meeting of the agricultural teachers in the high schools of Kansas was held at the college in the interests of the United States Boys' Working Reserve December 27, 28, and 29.

The United States Boys' Working Reserve is being organized by Secretary Wilson in the United States department of labor. Its purpose is to train boys and to have them in readiness to supply the demands of farms of the United States. For its basic organization Secretary Wilson has appointed William E. Hall national director, W. L. Porter, state director of Kansas, and there will be county directors, and directors for all cities of the first and second class appointed.

It will be the business of the director of each town to organize a Boys' Working Reserve in his community. Boys who are eligible for this organization must be between the ages of 16 and 21, and in some cases must pass a physical examination.

These boys will be given training in practical farm work and prepared to do the work on the farm. This training will be given through the high school, and the local director will probably be the superintendent of the high school in each town.

In order to systematize this training which the boys will receive, Dr. W. M. Jardine, dean of the division of agriculture has been appointed a member of the state committee and under his management a course of instruction will be prepared for the teachers of agriculture in the high schools of Kansas. Teachers will be invited to attend this meeting when the plans for the organization will be explained fully.

The college will further assist the organization by sending men out to each high school for a period of two weeks to demonstrate farm methods. Each boy, upon enlisting in this organization, must take an oath of allegiance to the country. He will then be given a badge which will indicate that he is a member. After he has taken his course of instruction and is competent to be useful to the farmer, it will be the business of the director to find a place on the farm where the boy is needed.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGLIAN

VOLUME 24. NUMBER 31.

KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1918.

ALL READY FOR POP NIGHT

WEIGHTY NATURAL SCIENCE PROBLEMS WILL BE DECIDED TOMORROW NIGHT.

The Kappas have a Caterpillar Stunt of some kind, and 'Tis Rumored That They Intend to Defy Mother Nature—This Story Was Written Quite Harriedly.

How can a caterpillar dance? Or does it? If it doesn't dance, how does it get across the stage at the Aggie Pop Night tomorrow?

College naturalists have been called in to solve this interesting problem. Rumor has it that the Kappa Kappa Gammas are going to have a leg-less (everything is—less now) go prancing across the stage as the first part of their stunt, "The Evolution of the Butterfly."

There are some who say the stunt can't be done. Other of the experts assert that maybe the caterpillar has a peculiar dance of his own, and that he—or she—doesn't need legs with which to do the dancing. And still others say the dance won't be a dance at all.

The caterpillar dance, crawl, wobble, wiggle, squirm, or whatever it is that a caterpillar does, will be the opening event of the Kappa stunt. Then the butterfly, with his wings bearing every color of the rainbow, will—but that's telling too much of the stunt. It's all supposed to be a secret.

Fact is, all the stunts are secret. But a reporter obtained some inside dope on the Kappa stunt, and because a Pop Night story had to be written and because the story had been run four times, and each time the same, he decided to work up a little enthusiasm by "peaching" on the Kappas.

John, pick up that paragraph we've run four times and tack it on to the end of this "lead."

The names of the stunts are "Apollo's Conquest," by Brownings; "The Evolution of the Butterfly," by Kappa Kappa Gammas; "Kanning King Can," by Eurodelphians; "American Ideals," by Alpha Betas; "The Seasons," by Delta Delta Deltas; "The Budding of the Rose," by Pi Phi; and "Democracy," by the Franklins. The faculty will give a number of stunts.

Now throw the stuff into those funny, and we will go to press.

Oh, yes, the admission price is 25 cents.

TO JUDGE TALKERS TONIGHT

Candidates for Valley Oratorical are to Try Out.

Tryouts for the Missouri valley oratorical contest will be held this evening in G-56 at 7:30 o'clock. Five judges for the try-out will be selected from among faculty members.

Those who intend to try out are asked to consult O. H. Durns, in charge of public speaking, at once. So far only three persons have reported.

All students of the college, in good standing, are eligible to try out. Those who are trying out for the inter-society oratorical contest may use their orations to try out for the Missouri valley contest.

There will be a first prize of $100 and a probable second prize of $50.

SENT AGGIE MEN TO DODGE

Cadets from this Institution Will Not Be Trained at Funston

Kansas State Agricultural college students in the third officers training camp at Camp Funston were ordered Tuesday to Fort Dodge, Iowa, by Command of Major-General Ballou.

Seven of the men were unable to start to Fort Dodge on that day or account of being quarantined for diphtheria in the First Battery. They were H. M. Gillespie, R. V. Morrison, W. A. Nye, O. A. Hindeman, H. H. Dinsmore, H. E. Hartzler, and H. Clyde Fisher. The quarantine went into effect just before the orders for entrainment were received.

The rest of the Aggie men obtained permission to spend a few hours in Manhattan and started to Fort Dodge on the midnight train. The men who entrained Tuesday night were W. L. Thackeray, A. W. Foster, N. H. Davis, T. Yost, E. Q. Perry, P. F. Griffin, C. W. Pate, W. G. Bruce, C. A. Fletcher, B. F. Buzard, J. B. Elliott, W. C. McGraw, G. D. Montague, I. G. Freeman and R. N. Phillips.

The government furnished transportation from Camp Funston to Fort Dodge.

AZTEX INTRE-FRAT FAVORITES.

Fraternity Five Has Downed All but Two of Opponents.

The Aztex are still winning in the inter-fraternity league and have only two more games to play, making the trophy look like a cinch for them.

Four games were played this week, two on Wednesday and two on Thursday. Wednesday's games resulted in victories for the Aztex and Sigma Nu. The Aztex defeated the S. A. E's, 35 to 12. Schmidt starred for the Sig Alphas, while Hinds, Whedon and Jennings were the big scorers for the Aztex. The Sigma Nu defeated the Acacias 14 to 9, in a fast and interesting game. The Sigma Nu stars were Meeker and Anderson, while Curry starred for the Acacias.

The Aztex came back strong on Thursday night, and succeeded in downing the Pi Kaps in a 20 to 10 game. Whedon, Jennings, and Beatty played their usual star game for the Aztex, while Kelly and Helmskamp did the best work for the Pi Kaps. In the second game, the Sigma Nus defeated the Betas 22 to 5. The Sigma Nus were superior in team work and passing. Anderson, Meeker, and Robinson starred. Spangler and Myers played well for the Betas.

SELLING BASKETBALL BOOKS

Season Tickets and Season Reserves Go on Sale This Morning.

Coach Clevenger announced that the tickets would be placed on sale at 9 o'clock Friday morning in the athletic office, room 30 in the gymnasium. Only 1,000 tickets have been printed and when these are sold out there will be no second issue, so all persons wanting tickets had better purchase them immediately.

The price of the tickets are $2 for the 10 games. Reserved seats for the season will be sold for $1.50 extra. These prices do not include the war tax levied by the government upon all amusements. This tax will be collected at the door. The total single admissions for the ten games amounts to $4.75, or a saving of $2.75 on a season ticket.

WILLARD PROMOTED

DEAN OF GENERAL SCIENCE OFFICIALLY NAMED ACTING PRESIDENT.

HE WAS GRADUATED IN 1883

New Head of College Received His Diploma and Master's and Doctor's Degrees Here.

Since the Retirement of Doctor Willard, Dean Willard is Oldest Active Faculty Member.

PRICE IS IN AS ACTING DEAN

Doctor Willard Lightens Present Work by Placing Professor of History in Temporary Charge of the Division of General Science—P. J. Newman Will Direct Chemistry Work.

The title of acting president of the college has been officially conferred on Dr. J. T. Willard by the state board of administration.

Dean Willard temporarily takes the place of Dr. H. J. Waters, who gave up his work here the last of the year to take up the managing editorship of the Weekly Kansas City Star. The new position carries with it a substantial raise in salary.

Was A Natural Choice

The move did not come as a surprise. In the absence of a new president, it was taken for granted that the honor would go to Dean Willard, who is the senior active member of the faculty. Dean Willard's experience as acting president in the absence of Doctor Waters, and also his familiarity with the college and its students were contributing factors.

Doctor Willard is a graduate of the college. He was graduated in 1883, and received his master's degree in 1886. In 1908 he was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of science, in recognition of his distinguished services to the college and to scientific investigation and teaching.

Knows College Intimately

Except for time spent in graduate study elsewhere, Doctor Willard has been a member of the staff of the institution since his graduation, and has an intimate knowledge of college matters. Starting as assistant in chemistry, his ability and efficiency caused him to be advanced steadily. For 20 years he has held a full professorship and has been chemist in the agricultural experiment station. For a number of years has been director of the station, and is now vice director. He is also chemist in the engineering experiment station.

Since 1909 he has been dean of the division of general science, where his administration has been marked by a steady increase in enrollment and decided progress in standard of instruction. He is prominent in alumni councils. He is well known in state and national scientific circles.

On a number of previous occasions

Dean Willard has acted as president of the college.

Curtail Social Expenses

At a meeting of the Kansas College association in Topeka Tuesday, doctor Willard made an address on "How Far Should We Curtail the Expense of the Social Life of our Institutions During the War?"

Doctor Willard pointed out clearly the place which social affairs should occupy in an institution of learning. Converse with others, he showed, is essential to the happiness and the development of modern men and women.

Considers Home Founding Instinct

"The social meetings of young people," Doctor Willard went on to say, "are doubtless closely involved with the home founding instinct, and any consideration of college social affairs that does not recognize this is very incomplete. Marriageable people wish to get together whether there is intellectual, esthetic, or religious activity accompanying the occasion, or not, and opportunities for such meeting under suitable conditions must be provided. A pair of young people may have a perfectly delightful time, and conduct a sparkling conversation in which all of the ideas are light as thistledown.

"It must not be assumed, however, that their natural attraction is wholly on the physical plane. The esthetic plays a vital part. Beauty of form and features; sweetness of voice; taste and style in dress; charm of manners, and harmony and luxury of surroundings are among the chief pieces in the great game. Too often they out weigh intellectual strength, business ability, moral character and all of the fundamental virtues.

Get Rid of Extravagance

"Rivalry for personal favor leads to rivalry in every form of individual display, and to extravagance in expenditures for flowers, confectionery, needless suppers, cars, etc. Campaigns for membership in fraternities or sororities and efforts to establish or maintain prestige, too often include functions in which much money is spent for decorations, favors, cut-of-town orchestras, and elaborate refreshments."

Doctor Willard expressed the belief that there need be little difference between the institutional and social life of wartime and that of times of peace, but that wartime might afford an occasion for getting rid of the extravagance which is quite as deleterious in periods of peace.

PROF. PRICE ACTING DEAN

Acting President Willard Advances Historian to Place.

One of the first official acts of the Willard administration was to appoint Prof. Ralph R. Price acting dean of the division of general science. He will handle Doctor Willard's former duties until a new president is named. Professor Price is head of the history department.

Acting Dean Price will be in Dean Willard's office from 8 to 10:30 o'clock Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, he announced last night.

Dean Willard also has appointed P. J. Newman acting head of the chemistry department, and has named Mr. Newman an assistant professor.

No radical changes in policy are contemplated, Dean Willard says. The appointment was made only this week, and no time has been given to work out new programs.

One of the matters that will be settled soon is the question of credits to students who enlist. A policy of granting credit hours in elective work was made effective last spring. Dean Willard and his associate deans have been in conference over the new policy, and probably will present a program to the faculty some time before the beginning of the spring semester.

BIG PERCHERON SALE SOON.

Event Such a Success Last Year That It Will Be Repeated.

The second Kansas Breeders' Percheron sale will be held at the college, January 25. Fifty head of pure bred Percherons will be sold. The sale is under the management of Dr. C. W. McCampbell, associate professor of animal husbandry. It was a success last year, and the interest shown by the breeders over the state indicates prospects for a better sale this year.

The purpose of the sale is to assist the small breeder to sell his surplus stock, providing it is of good quality.

Every Percheron that is entered by a breeder must be inspected and approved by a representative of the college, and the purchaser receives a guarantee that the animal is pure bred. This is a valuable feature to the purchaser, as much deception has been practiced in misrepresenting horses in the past.

TALKS IN TOPEKA TODAY.

Farmer Organization Methods Will Be Discussed by Dean Johnson

Edward C. Johnson, dean of the extension division will address the Kansas State Board of Agriculture in Topeka Friday morning on "Competition or Coordination of Farmers' Organizations." Dean Johnson will go from Topeka to St. Louis to attend a conference of extension directors and state live stock sanitary commissioners who are to meet with the United States secretary of agriculture, D. F. Houston.

At State Agronomy Meeting

L. E. Call, professor of agronomy, is attending the meeting of the Kansas State board of agriculture, January 9 and 10 at Topeka, and later will go to Wichita on a trip of inspection.

WAR CALL TO AGGIE ALUMNI

ORDNANCE DEPARTMENT URGENTLY IN NEED OF EXPERT ENGINEERS.

Positions Pay from $800 to $2,500 a Year to Men Who are Qualified—Although in Active War Work, Engineers Will remain Civililians, Appeal States.

Aggie engineering alumni have been appealed to by the ordnance division of the war department. The ordnance section is urgently in need of mechanical draftsmen and mechanical engineers at salaries of $800 to $2,500 a year for civilian work in the design, manufacture and testing of munitions.

A letter has just been received by A. A. Potter, dean of the division of engineering, asking for assistance in locating men qualified for this work.

Mechanical draftsmen are employed in two grades. To be eligible for Grade 1, a man must be a college graduate with at least six months of experience as mechanical draftsman, or must have had two years of college course and three years of experience. This grade pays $800 to $1,400 per year.

For Grade 2, a man must be a college graduate with two years of experience in mechanical drafting, or a mechanical engineering graduate with one year of experience. The pay is $1,400 to $1,800 per year.

Mechanical engineers with factory experience, qualified for positions as factory superintendents, are paid $3,000 to $3,600 for work in the manufacture of artillery ammunition. Others who have had experience in experimental work are needed for work in connection with fuses, primers, hand grenades, and similar items, at salaries of $2,500 to $3,000.

Alumni who can qualify for these positions are urged to write for full information to the Civilian Personnel Division, 1333 F Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. The need for such men is very vital and pressing and those responding will be contributing materially to the successful prosecution of the war, the war department's appeal states.

50 NEEDN'T RUSH TO WAR

Engineering Faculty Recommends Men for Preferred Classification.

Reward for scholarship enables nearly 50 engineering students to be recommended for deferred classification in the inactive list of the engineers' reserve corps, according to an action by the members of the engineering faculty.

This deferred classification will allow these students so classified to continue their college course. Engineering students are allowed a temporary furlough to complete their course.

In selecting those to be recommended, the faculty took into consideration the grades, and attendance, as well as the personality of the student. Each student was considered separately.

In order to meet the requirements of the war department, the engineering faculty spent practically all of Christmas vacation in considering this proposition. Forty members of the faculty met Saturday afternoon and made their selections after 3 1/2 hours discussing the matter. Only the men now of draft age were considered.

COLORADO U. MAN SPOKE

Dean Milo S. Kitchum Talked at Engineer Seminar.

Milo S. Kitchum, dean of the college of engineering at the University of Colorado, and president of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, addressed the engineering seminar yesterday. Dean Kitchum is the author of several civil engineering text and reference books.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 11, 1918.

WE NEEDED AN EXECUTIVE.

The selection of a man to have charge of the college pleases the students. With Dean Willard serving only as an assistant to Doctor Waters, he had but limited powers, for he knew that any action he might take could be over-ruled by the incoming president.

But now the state board of administration has placed its stamp of approval on Dean Willard, and that official can initiate new movements, for a college, like a fish story, must grow
if it is alive.

The board's action probably settles the presidential controversy for a while. If any one who could take up his duties here this year had been chosen by the board, that man probably would have filled Doctor Waters' place immediately. Of course the board may still be on the hunt, but a natural conclusion to draw is that some big man has been decided upon, but that no change can be made during the present school year.

Dean Willard's appointment also probably does away with the chance of any local man to be promoted to the position. Such a change would have been made immediately.

BOOST FARM AND HOME WEEK.

Farm and Home Week—K. S. A. C.'s annual welcome to the folks back home—is in the offing. Every year the division of extension invites the farmers of the state to be the college's guests for a week, and at the same time, teaches the visitors some of the fundamental points of farming, inspires the county agents, works up corn and pig clubs for the younger people and does a great lot of good generally.

Each year the week has been a tremendous success, with larger crowds coming each time.

Dean Johnson faces a bigger problem this year than ever before. Many of the usual visitors, underestimating the value they receive by attending, will stay at home as a war economy measure.

The students must meet this crisis.
Farm and Home week is needed. No visitor can help from being broadened by the instruction and entertainment he receives.

When the college is face to face with the problem of obtaining and keeping students, would it not be a good idea for each of the present students to write home and invite his parents, and the parents of prospective students? Father and mother want to know that son or daughter is getting the maximum value. The best way to prove that K. S. A. C. is doing a real work is to bring the parents here and show them the workings of the institution.

Write that letter home today.

To Teach Forage Crops

R. E. Getty, in charge of forage crops in the United States department of agriculture at Fort Hays branch station, will teach the forage crop classes in the short course at the Kansas State agricultural college.

WANTED—To rent or purchase a 6 or 6 room modern house.—J. B. Marcelline, Phone 962 K. S. A. C.

Y. M. IS THE SOLDIER HOME

DAVE HOOTON WRITES BACK OF ORGANIZATION'S WORK.

Everywhere His Regiment Went, the "Y" Was on the Job—Working on a Sawmill Gang Now.

Dave Hooton, former Aggie student, has written interestingly of the work of the Y. M. C. A. in France. His letter follows:

"Your letter of November 18th just received and was very welcome as letters always are over here. It has been said that the American Soldiers live on letters and there is quite a little truth in it as letters from home do a fellow lots of good.

"I was delighted to hear of the splendid way in which K. S. A. C. responded to the call of the Y. M. C. A.
The Y. M. C. A. is a great thing and all of the boys appreciate what it is doing."

"It has followed us all the way over since we left home. While in Kansas City awaiting the word from Washington whereby I could enlist
I made the "Y" my headquarters. At Jefferson Barracks the "Y" had some kind of entertainment every night with its writing tables, magazines and testaments. In Washington we had the same thing, but on leaving home and going to the Y. M. C. A. came on ship-board and gave us magazines and writing material and entertained us with music and readings. Then when we got across we were welcomed into the English Y. M. hut with hot chocolate and cake.

In France we still found the English
Y. M. C. A. (It was a British Base). Then when we went to our headquarters
we were greeted with the sign "American Y. M. C. A." While they did not have the room and all the equipment of the "Y's" at home it was a good warm homelike place where we could go and spend our time when on duty.

"When we left our headquarters our Company went to a district. By itself and now I am with a small detail of 25 men who are operating a French saw mill yet the Y. M. keeps us supplied with writing material.
We are strong for the "Y."

"I was surprised at the large number of K. S. A. C. boys in the service.
Yet I knew there were a lot of us and we certainly are scattered. And as the draft is called the list will grow.

"We are making the French saw mill do double time now. The French people run it during the day and we operate it at night. It is quite a little different from an American mill but it produces the lumber and that is what counts now. We are living in a French house and have it all fixed up in fine shape. I don't mind the night work so I think I have a nice winter's job.

"It will soon be Xmas and as there isn't much that we are permitted to send home we have decided to fix up a Xmas tree for the French children here in the village. Perhaps it won't be much but I think these children will appreciate it. They are a bright bunch of youngsters and they like to be around our camp.

As ever,
D. R. HOOTON, Co. D.,

Aggies Crowd Trains
On Their Ways Home
Before the Holidays

"Br-r-r-r," sounded the Manhattan city jitneys on the night of December 21, as they scurried about from one house to another in an attempt to accommodate students who were bent upon catching the 12:30 train. Eager homeseekers flew down the front walks of their rooming houses and were snatched up by the panting, impatient little cars.

At the depot there were hundreds of Aggies. Aggies thronged the station platform. Aggies waiting to purchase tickets formed a line that wrapped itself several times about the interior of the waiting room, and ended nobody knew where, although everyone had a definite idea as to where it began. And all the Aggies were of the same thought—"Home for Christmas."

The 12:30 o'clock train came screaming in, as if to drown any protests that might be voiced due to its late arrival. The students clambered aboard, and their baggage was hoisted up. Passengers who had been riding on the train all day arose from their slumbers and rubbed their eyes.
"What's the rump?" they asked.

"Say, stranger, what place is this?"
queried a sleepy traveler from somewhere in Colorado.

"Why this is Manhattan where the Kansas State Agricultural college is,
and the studes are going home for Christmas," was the answer he got.

"Well is the whole institution trying to get out on the same train?"
the traveler questioned further.

A commotion at the window beside him arrested his attention, and he good naturedly shoved over toward the aisle to make room for a young athlete who, wishing to relieve the congestion at the car door, was coming in feet first through the window.

Loaded, the train pulled out toward McFarland. Aggies were suspended over the backs of the chairs; Aggies rode astride their suitcases in the aisles, and Aggies perched themselves on the arms of the chairs. They were all good-natured Aggies, and when at McFarland, their train turned to the southward, they were still throwing fun at the conductor who, refusing to attempt to wade through the crowded files of the last coach, peered broug the door at the front, as if the spectacle he beheld were a box of monkeys.

In the early morning hours, the train was still moving southward across the southern part of the state.
The Aggies were a subdued bunch
now. A torpor pervaded the atmosphere throughout the length of the coaches, for all the occupants, their weary bodies distorted into every conceivable, comfort-seeking position, were engaged in the serious business of sleeping.

Toward daybreak there was a general pulling out of watches and much conjecture as to the whereabouts of the train, for at 6:30 o'clock the train was due at Wichita, and the remaining Aggies hoped to change cars for outlying stations.

Ten-thirty came, and a clear call sounded through the length of the coaches:
"Wichita! Twenty-five minutes for breakfast."

MAN A REAL PRAIRIE DOG.

Sole Survivor of a Western Kansas Town in Museum.

The prairie dog in the museum is the only one many Kansans have ever seen, according to Dr. R. K. Nabours, curator of the natural history museum.
Prairie dogs are not found in eastern Kansas.

Although he has never left his cago since his capture nearly eight years ago he is not to be pitied. He is the lone survivor of a western Kansas town—a prairie dog town—and had he not been made a prisoner he would probably have moldered in oblivion along with his many townfellows who were poisoned at the time of his capture.

He feeds upon various kinds of grain and is especially fond of alfalfa and other green things. Candy and nuts are acceptable to him and he has grown fat and lazy with his indoor living. Perhaps he dreams sometimes of long stretches of grassy prairie with yawning holes and little mounds of earth about which he frisked in the old days, but when he is tired of inaction, he only rises slowly, stretches his legs, and settles down again to rest from this exertion.

He has lost his desire to bite his observers and is dangerous no more.
His nails grow long in idleness. "Pep" does not seem to be necessary for one whose business is that of a natural history specimen.

Off to the Front—

That's where every real American wants to be—right at the front—whether in war or in business.

Getting to the front is a question of proper food, rational exercise and simple living.
Knowing what to eat and how to eat sometimes spells success for the man with poor physical endowment.

Shredded Wheat Biscuit

is the food for the man at the front, for the upstanding man, for the man who does things with hand or brain. It is 100 per cent. whole wheat, nothing wasted, nothing thrown away.

For your "meatless meals" try Shredded Wheat Biscuit with sliced bananas, stewed prunes, baked apples, or other fruits. Two of these Shredded Wheat Biscuits with fruit make a nourishing, satisfying meal for breakfast, lunch or dinner at a cost of a few pennies.

Fraternity Freshmen Worked All the Time Bemoans Lost Sleep

"This is truly a helluva life," moans the freshman pledge as he wearily crawls into bed after spending half the night in tending to the seemingly absurd and various wants of older fraternity brothers. "Here it is after 12 o'clock and a Chem and Botany quiz today which I have not looked at."

"I came home after seventh hour to study and find that the coal man has left two or three tons of coal lying on the ground near the house. An up perclassman meets me in the hall and joyfully informs me that the coal must be removed to the furnace room and that I have been the one selected to move said coal. I search for half an hour and find a pair of overalls which I don. Then I commence."

"By dinner time the job is finished and I look forward thankfully to the time when I can prepare for those quizzes. I come in to dinner and find that we have alumni guests. Being at a loss for entertainment another brother suggests that I sing a song. I rebel but upon being reminded of a squad of paddle manipulators I rise and sing, "Work for the Night is Coming."

"Dinner is over and I start for my room and lessons. Some one tells me to go help with the dishes as the dishwasher left early. To keep a date. Dishes are finished and again I start for my room. I get upstairs and someone sticks his head out of a door and yells for a pledge. None are around of course but me and again I fall victim."

"The fellow wants his suit pressed and is in a hurry because he has a date. As soon as the suit is pressed another man wants his shoes shined and wearily with smoldering rage in my breast I go to do his bidding with a weak smile on my face."

"When this is finished it seems that the wants of all are supplied and I start in on Chemistry. My peace is not to last long however, as the man across the hall discovers that he needs a pair of shoe strings and orders me to go down town and purchase him some. I flatly refuse, whereupon, half a dozen paddles are brought into evidence. I am doubled over a table and the paddles applied to the point of the angle formed."

"I start to town with ever increasing anger, fully decided to buy dynamite and blow up the house or do some other equally revengeful act. I buy the shoe strings and start home, but happening to notice the picture poster I decided to go to the show. When I arrive home I am sent to the basement to fix the furnace fire for the night as a just punishment for having delayed the delivery of the shoe strings."

"Now every one has gone to bed and my chance has come to study for the quizzes. But alas, I am too tired to have an interest in future quiz fate."

And the freshman finally goes to sleep to dream that a host of fraternity brothers each armed with a paddle and an electric iron suspended from their neck by a shoe string are standing threateningly beside his bed, ordering him to get up and go count the brick in the pavement of Blumont avenue.

The Stack of Cakes Favorite Breakfast Plate for Students

"A Stack!" "Stack!", repeats the waiter. "Stack!" echoes the cook, and the order is in.

In three minutes three steaming, delicious, Aunt Jemima's, or just plain wheat flour cakes are shoved before the waiting student. And in less than three more minutes the stack plus butter and sirup are shoved into the waiting, good natured stomach.

This process is repeated approximately 150 times every morning. Aggieville restaurants serve no less than 125 hungry students between six and eight in the morning and the cafeteria adds a possible 25 between seven and eight.

Stacks in Aggieville consist of three cakes and so the total number consumed there is 375. Most of the cafeteria stacks are eaten by girls. Consequently they consist of but two cakes. This brings the grand total of cakes devoured up to 425.

"But why do so many folks eat stacks?" was asked.

"Cheap, good filling, and take but little time," came the answer.

A first hour student with a healthy appetite and a sleepy nature rolls out of bed with the first clasp of the college bell. After dressing only a few minutes are left in which to satisfy that desire for sustenance. No time is left for thought or joyful expectation of what is to come, but, speed is required. A stack is the first thought and a stack will fill the requirements—therefore the popularity of this breakfast order.

And it will ever be thus, until Edison or Bryan or some other prominent inventor discovers a food which can be consumed in less time and with as much resultant comfort as can the pancake.

ISSUES FARM LABOR APPEAL.

Dean Jardine Busy in Organizing Working Boys' Reserve.

The Kansas state council of defense has issued the seventh circular, prepared by Dr. W. M. Jardine, dean of the division of agriculture. The Kansas State council of defense is attempting to relieve the labor shortage caused by the 25,000 young Kansas men who joined the army and navy, by assisting the Boys' National Reserve to prepare the 10,000 high school city boys who come in this class for service on the farm.

The circular deals with the care and handling of work horses such as harnessing, hitching, and feeding, and also the care of farm machinery, and the handling and care of dairy cows. Its purpose is to acquaint the city boy with the rudimentaries of farm life and work.

ARE BACK FOR SECOND YEAR

Many Have Returned in the Engineering Short Courses.

The registration for the engineering short courses is practically completed. The number of students enrolled in the tractor short course is 30 per cent less than last year, but number in the shop short course is just the same. One hundred and sixteen men have registered. One hundred and one of these are in the tractor short course.

A significant feature of the registration is that a comparatively large number of men have come back to take second year work in the tractor course. The need for thorough training is more fully recognized after these men have had an opportunity to get first hand experience.

Farm machinery is this year for the first time a required subject in the tractor short course.

W. H. Sanders, instructor in farm engineering, is one of the busiest men on the hill taking care of the various tractor students. He has a quantity of new equipment which will aid in presenting the work. New tractors are coming in every day.

K. J. T. Ekblaw, professor in farm engineering, has general supervision of the tractor short course, and W. W. Carlson, professor of shop practice, has charge of the shop short course.

COUNTY AGENTS DO BIG "BIT."

Dean Johnson Says They are Arising to Meet the Crisis.

Work of the county agricultural agent is occupying an important place in the war program, according to Edward C. Johnson, dean of the division of extension.

"Those whose business it is to increase the efficiency of state and nation are focusing their attention upon the work of agricultural agents, as the need for it is even more apparent in the present crisis than it was in times of peace," said Dean Johnson.

"Many new duties have been given county agricultural agents in the United States since the country entered the war, and many counties which a year ago were indifferent to the need for agents are now asking for them."

Canada's county agent work was badly crippled at the beginning of the war due to the fact that 75 per cent of the county agents of that country enlisted in the army, pointed out Dean Johnson. Some of these men are now returning incapacitated for further service at the front but still able to do efficient county agent work, and this work is being reestablished.

Canadians are studying the county agent methods used in the United States and the results obtained in order that the most effective phases of their work may be emphasized in that country. The Manitoba Agricultural college has asked for an outline of the agricultural agent work and club work as it is being done in Kansas.

The most valuable testimony for agricultural agent work is the one made by the farmer who has voted against the work but who later recognizes it as effective and worth while.

"What you did in the interest of dairying and the use of silos had its effect on me," commented one farmer, "but when I heard that you were boosting for sheep I had to yield

THEY GO BACK TO THE FARM

Large Proportion of Aggie Students Return to Agriculture.

That farming is more attractive than any other occupation open to Kansas State Agricultural college graduates is shown by the fact that more students enter agriculture than any other field of work. Statistics have been gathered concerning the work engaged in by former K. S. A. C. students. These show that, generally speaking, from 40 to 50 per cent of these graduates return directly to the farm.

More students return to the farm from the courses in dairy husbandry than from other courses offered in agriculture. Figures show that 87 per cent of the graduates from this course go back to the farm. The course in animal husbandry sends the next greatest per cent back. It has been found that 60 per cent of those who finish this course elect agriculture as their life work.

Additional courses in agriculture offered by the college are agronomy, veterinary medicine, and horticulture. They rank in the order named with respect to their per cent of their graduates returning to the farm.

THE BEAUTY RACE IS ON

ROYAL PURPLE CONTEST BEGINS TODAY AND WILL LAST UNTIL NEXT TUESDAY.

Six Aggie Women Receiving Highest Number of Votes Will Have Pictures Placed in Beauty Section of the Senior Annual—Mr. Raffles, an Enigma.

THE CONTESTANTS.

Rose Blackwelder, Betty Cotton, Greeta Gramse, Sarella Herrick, Hazel Merfillat, Mary Hazel Phinney, Pauline Richards, Margaret Robinson, Nell Robinson, Ella Stinson, Thomas.

The Royal Purple beauty contest, that annual battle of feminine comeliness and popularity, started off in full swing this morning. For a week the student who has paid for space in the classbook will be harassed by girl workers seeking votes. The same student will have to push away eager Royal Purple salesmen, for each penny that goes towards making up the classbook means a vote, and the maidens receiving the six highest number of votes will land places in the beauty section.

The race will close promptly at 6 o'clock Tuesday, just a week from today. On that day the mysterious Mr. Raffles will appear on the campus at an hour to be designated in a later story.

One little secret concerning Mr. Raffles is divulged at this time. He is one of the student body of the Colorado agricultural college. Further than that the committee refuses to say.

Want Stories on Contest.

The contest promises to be one of more than local interest this year. Both Topeka and Kansas City newspapers have already written to the management asking for the photographs of the winners of the contest as well as a complete story of it.

The pictures of the winners will be made at Henry Moore's studio in Kansas City. The Royal Purple management considers itself fortunate in securing the services of so able a photographer to do this work.

In speaking of Mr. Moore and his work along photographic lines, N. A. Crawford, professor of journalism, says, "The Royal Purple management may consider themselves fortunate in securing Mr. Moore's services. His work is well known in Kansas City and the surrounding country and ranks among the foremost photographers there. The section this year should surpass that of any previous year."

Pictures in Paris Gowns.
Agents selling Royal Purples will receive one copy free for every 20 books sold. Those wishing to sell should see George J. Gibbons, the manager, at the window opposite the post office at an early hour on Tuesday.

The six girls winning the contest will be accompanied to Kansas City by one of the faculty women. All traveling expenses will be paid by the Royal Purple management. Costumes have been secured from one of the leading establishments in Kansas City and purchasers of the class book need not be surprised to see the winners adorned in real Parisian creations.

REWARD 7 STUDENT ACTORS

Purple Masque Has Pledged Successful "Man on Box" Artists.

The Purple Masque, honorary dramatic fraternity, has elected seven of the cast of the "Man on the Box" to membership. They are Miss Ernestine Bibby, sophomore in home economics; Miss Helen Lawson, freshman in home economics; Miss Dorothy Norris, senior in home economics; Elmer Glibreath, freshman in general science; William Giles, junior in industrial journalism; Lloyd L. Hamilton, freshman in industrial journalism and Floyd Work, sophomore in civil engineering.

Miss Bibby and Mr. Glibreath played the two leading roles. Mr. Hamilton took the part of Colonel Annesley, the father of the leading lady. Miss Norris was the flirting widow who made love to the judge, alias Mr. Work. Miss Helen Lawson was the French maid and Mr. Giles was the French chef.

KEEP AN AGGIE MAN BUSY.

Fred H. Nash is Succeeding in Work in Oil Fields.

Fred H. Nash, '17, has written to C. E. Reid, professor of electrical engineering, from Bigheart, Okla., where he is employed by the Doherty Syndicate.

After graduation Mr. Nash went to Bartlesville, Okla., to take a two-year cadet training course with this company but the need for engineers was so great that he was soon put into active service with the Wichita Pipe Line company at Dorumright where he assisted in the steam and gas compressing station consisting of two 750 horsepower engine compression units with the usual boiler plant.

He was transferred November 1 to Bigheart as superintendent of a gasoline plant for the Empire Gasoline company, which has reached an output of 3,000 gallons a day when gasoline was plentiful. Mr. Nash says that he used to think he had enough to do at school but found that he could work three times as hard when trouble developed in the plant.

FIRST CALL FOR TRACK MEN

"Germany" Schulz Must Have More Material to Develop Winner.

Wanted—Several good short putters and a large number of sprinters, long distance men, and jumpers. Applicants are asked to see "Germany" Schulz in Nichols gymnasium.

"Germany" looks for hard sledding in the development of his track team this year. Thus far there are only three letter men back. The rest of them are on farms or helping chase the kaiser. The three veterans are Eggerman in the mile, Beatty in the hurdles, and Essick in the sprints. It is not known whether Essick will be out or not, as he has not appeared in a suit. The Aggies are not worse off than their old rival, K. U., for Coach Omar Hamilton has only three letter men for his team, and one of them may be declared ineligible.

A large squad has been out but as there are not enough men to fill the entries in all of the events, the competition is not exceptionally keen. This leaves a good chance for any man who has ever run at all to go right in and get a place on the team, says "Germany."

The squad, outside the letter men, consists of Foreman, Seebor, McIntosh, Beckett, Barnes, Nye, Frost, Corbett, Frankenhoff, and Taylor. These men have been out for some time and are showing up well. The squad is not nearly large enough, though and from "Germany's" office comes the insistent call for more men—more good track material.

Only one indoor meet has been scheduled. It is with K. U., and comes February 18. Besides this meet there will be the invitation meet of the Kansas City Athletic club, held in Convention Hall at Kansas City early in March.

There will also be the Varsity meet, where the members of the team are chosen, the Frosh-Soph meet, and the inter-class meet. These contests all will be held in the gymnasium.

While the Varsity squad this year is not as large as usual, the freshmen team has several stars in the making. Evans, Neoley, Price and Jumps, promise to develop into a quartet of stars who will make records for themselves before another year passes.

SIX MORE GO INTO IONIAN.

Literary Society Holds Initiation Services for Pledges.

The Ionian Literary society initiated six new girls Saturday. They are Miss Bly Ewalt, freshman in home economics; Miss Mary Gilliam, sophomore in home economics; Miss Martha Baird, freshman in home economics; Miss Jessie Hibler, freshman in home economics; Miss Ursula Senn, freshman in home economics; and Miss Ethel Roop, freshman in home economics.

A "Hoover" program will be given Saturday and officers for next semester will be nominated.

Miss Hattie Bryan, junior here last year, expects to enter college next semester. Miss Bryan has been out of school on account of her mother's illness.

E. A. Herr, junior in general science, has withdrawn from school to join the medicine corps. He is stationed at Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

GAVE SHORT COURSE A MIXER.

Y. M. C. A. Entertained New Men, 75 of Whom Joined Organization.

The annual mixer and get-acquainted meeting for the short course students was held Friday night at the Y. M. C. A. building. More than 125 men were present.

Talks welcoming the men to the college and the Y. M. C. A. were made by Hugh Durham, assistant to the dean of the division of agriculture, and Homer Cross, president of the Y. M. A short program consisting of readings and music was rendered. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games and in getting acquainted.

Fifty men have signed up for the short course basketball tournament. Other men who wish to play are asked to sign up at the Y. M. C. A. so that schedules can be arranged. That the short course men are enthusiastic over the work of the Y. M. is shown by the fact that more than 75 have joined.

FRENCHMAN WILL TALK WAR

Lieutenant Perigord Has Seen Service in Many Important Battles.

War talks by distinguished officers and military demonstrations have been arranged for two morning sessions. Farm and Home Week at the Kansas State Agricultural college. The dates are Wednesday, January 23, and Friday, January 25. Many persons are expected to come to Manhattan particularly for these sessions.

Lieutenant Paul Perigord of the French army, representing the French high commission, will be the special attraction Wednesday morning. Arrangements have been made to bring officers of the French, English, and American armies from Camp Funston for the occasion. Capt. W. P. J. O'Neill, commandant of cadets in the agricultural college, will preside. The college cadets will be seated in the auditorium by companies.

A Catholic Priest Once.

Lieutenant Perigord first came to this country as a Catholic priest to devote himself to missionary work in the northwest. He later took post graduate studies in the University of Chicago, Columbia, and Minnesota. When the declaration of war came he was putting the final touches on a thesis which he was to present to the faculty of the latter institution as the final requirement for his degree.

Lieutenant Perigord took part in many important battles from the Marne to the last successful offensive around Verdun. In each one he was mentioned in general orders for distinguished service. He was seriously wounded in March, 1915, but went back to the trenches. Recently when he was about to be made a captain he was ordered to come to the United States.

Funston Man to Talk.

Friday an officer of high rank from Camp Funston will speak on "Our Nation's War Machine." A special military demonstration will be a feature of this session.

Dwight H. Heard, former governor of Arizona, now chairman of the state council of defense of that state, will speak Thursday morning before the general assembly on "The Live Stock Industry and the War." The speaker for the evening program will be Miss Miriam Birdseye of the states relations service, United States department of agriculture, and L. J. Taber of Earningsville, Ohio, master of the Ohio state grange.

WILL GIVE "UNDER COVER"

Purple Masque Plans Another Play for Festival Week.

The Purple Masque will stage another play next semester. "Under Cover" will be put on some time in the festival week in the spring.

Tryouts will be held Thursday and Friday evenings in F-3. All college students who wish to try out may see Miss Ada Dykes Tuesday and Wednesday in G-53.

Dr. MacArthur at Y. M.

Dr. J. J. MacArthur gave a talk last week at the Y. M. C. A. His subject was "Eleven-thousand-dollars and then what?"

Miss Edith Weaver, freshman in home economics, who underwent an operation at her home in Kansas City, is expected back in school this week.

Kendall Haas, student in college, left for Topeka Saturday.

PI PHIS WON THE POP CUP

"BUDDIN OF THE ROSE," A SATIRY, TOOK FIRST PLACE AMONG THE STUNTS.

Browning Playlet Took Second, and the Eurodelphians were Third With a Demonstration for Mr. Hoover—Evening a Monetary Success for Y. W.

The Pi Beta Phi sorority, presenting the idyllic fantasy "The Buddin of the Rose," won first place and the possession for one year of the beautiful silver loving cup offered as a prize, at Aggie Pop Night Saturday.

A number of dances told the story of the rose. First the Elf, Miss Sarella Herrick, planted the seed. Then the Wind, interpreted by Miss Helen Carlyle, Miss Dorothy Hoag, Miss Elsie Andrews and Miss Mable Troutetter, scattered the seed. How the Clouds gathered was described in a quartet dance by Miss Irene Mort, Miss Irma Boerner, Miss Irene Tolliver and Miss Helen Louise Giles. Then came Raindrops, portrayed by Miss Anne Winslow, Miss Helen Blank and Miss Lillian Guthrie, followed by the Sun, which nurtured the bud. Miss Ernestine Bily took the part of the Sun.

The Rose, gradually unfolding until there came the full flush, completed the idyll. Miss William Roark interpreted the bud in its advance to the rose.

Brownings Were Second.

Second place went to the Brownings, who also presented a descriptive dance. The story of "Apollo's Conquest," was a simple one telling of the victory of the sun.

"Kapping King Can," a playlet which described the breaking away of the housewife from the shackles of King Garbage can, was the Eurodelphian-stunt, which took third place. Hoover principles were substituted for extravagance and waste.

Other stunts given were "The Evolution of the Butterfly," by the Kappas; "Americans Ideals," by the Alpha Betas; "The Seasons" by the Tri-Deltas; and "Democracy," by the Franks.

Y. W. Cleared $240.

Mrs. Mary P. Van Zile, dean of women, presented the cup to Miss Irma Boerner, president of the Pi Phis, at the end of the stunt program. The Kappas have been possessors of the cup for a year.

Approximately $240 was cleared by the Y. M. C. A. as the result of the evening. The auditorium was packed with a representative college and Manhattan audience.

The judges were Mrs. McEachron of Topeka; Miss Winifred Myers of the Hostess House, Camp Funston, and Miss Anne B. Kerr of Chicago.

RAWSON AN ARMY ELECTRICIAN.

After Being Drafted, Aggie Man Was Given Choice Work.

Paul C. Rawson, 16, writes from the base hospital at Camp Pike, Ark., telling of his work as an electrician. He was called into the army the first of October and was sent to Camp Pike to the field artillery. From this division he was selected for electrical work in the hospital on account of data found on his occupational card which he had filled out at the time he was drafted. Mr. Rawson was formerly with the Western Electric company in Chicago.

BEGIN Y. W. FINANCE DRIVE.

Association Needs More Money to Continue Good Work.

The finance committee of the Y. W. C. A. has set aside this week for their finance campaign. Every college girl will have an opportunity within the week to give to the fund.

The local association has financed many pieces of social service work on the campus this year. The Y. W. C. A. had a share in the local expense of the Students' Friendship war fund, the patriotic league, equipping the Red Cross room in the home economics building and the incidental expenses of the Christmas club for soldiers. The Big Sister movement has taken considerable funds also.

"I wonder if we have given to the limit as college women of K. S. A. C.," said Miss Mildred Inskeep speaking of the campaign this morning. "We are just learning the art. The local association has made possible many splendid pieces of work this fall. Can we afford to do less than our best? If every girl gave $1 our expenses could be easily met."

AGGIE MAN A FRENCH MAYOR

Eddie Wells, Star Athlete, Is Ruler Over 2,000 Americans.

Lieut. Edward Wells, former student in industrial journalism and an all-Missouri valley player both in football and basketball, who left the United States with officers from various training camps to enter intensive training in a French camp, is having a variety of experiences, although as yet he has done no actual fighting. He said in a letter he had become an American French town mayor.

Lieutenant Wells shares the office of the French mayor, and as he cannot speak French fluently and the French mayor cannot speak English, they do not get into arguments. It is his duty to billet and rebillet 2,000 United States soldiers, and more than 100 officers. He sees that the soldiers do not get their billets mixed, and is expected to keep the French people who own the property in good humor so that no trouble will be caused. He also keeps track of a number of horses and some supplies.

Lieutenant Wells is in a French home, where there is a kind old French lady, whom he calls his French "grandma." She mends his trousers, heats water for his shaving, gives him a comfortable bed—in fact does many of the little thoughtful things that a regular American grandmother might do. She is as big around as she is tall, and as good as she is big around. Lieutenant Wells stated.

WALTERS LIKED U. OF ILLINOIS.

Visit at Urbana was Pleasant, Aggie Professor Reports.

Dr. J. D. Walters has returned from Urbana, Ill., where he visited with his son-in-law, Dr. A. Emch, professor of mathematics in the University of Illinois.

While there Doctor Walters made a survey of that institution. He spent much of his time in the laboratory of the departments of physics, engineering and ceramics. He found time to visit the aviation training camp at Rantoul.

Owing to intense cold prevailing throughout Illinois, practically the whole month of December there was no practice work being done by the aviators. The time was given to drilling in the university armory and lectures in the physics building.

"Some of the instructors got permission to borrow small quantities of 'black diamond' from the university piles," said Doctor Walters. "The University has plenty of coal on hand to keep warm, but the coal bins of the professors seem to be at low ebb everywhere."

Doctor Walters speaks enthusiastically of the Illinois university with its 4,000 students and its 400 professors and of the twin cities, Urbana and Champaign. He reports many of the classes badly crippled on account of the enlistment of more than 1,000 students.

MISS INSKEEP TO THE Y. W.

Association Secretary Will Speak at Thursday Services.

Y. W. C. A. vesper services will be held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the home economics rest room.

Miss Mildred Inskeep, association secretary, will speak. The octette will furnish music.

AGGIES TOOK THE OPENER

CATHOLICS WERE TOO SLOW AND CLEVENGER MEN WON, 42 TO 20.

Machine-Like Teamwork of the Purple Five Bowled Over St. Marys Quintet—Whedon Starred in Basket Gathering, and Guards Played Well.

The Aggies are off to a flying start. Despite the gloom that has been hanging over the Aggie camp, the Wildcats came out strong in their game with St. Marys and showed real valley calibre by defeating the Catholics 42 to 20. The showing of the team was a surprise to all who saw the game.

The five worked as a unit, and the floor work of the men was unusual for the first game of the season. While the passing was not as good as it might have been, the deficiency was due principally to the slight surface of the floor. The Aggie forwards were continually slipping and falling, and necessarily the passing suffered. This factor, combined with the glass backstops of the St. Marys court, kept the Aggie score from being much larger than it was.

Guarding Was High Class.

Coach Cleverger was much pleased with the work of the guards. Johnny Clarke played a brilliant game, and Ben Hinds worked well with him. Both guards proved their ability to play the floor and to score as well as to play a close guarding game. The St. Marys forwards were able to throw only one goal from a close shot. All of the other tosses were made from midcourt.

Bill Whedon proved to be the scoring machine in the game, making 12 goals, thus accounting for 24 of the Aggie points. The big center showed up well for his first game. He played a fast heady game, and proved his ability to score when given the opportunity. Whedon is large enough to compete against any of the valley centers, and showed that he knew how to use his weight.

Van Trine played an excellent floor and passing game, and guarded well. Van showed his old time form and was all over the floor all the time. His playing was hurt somewhat by the slick floor, which cut down his speed. Hinds also played well. Although he did little scoring, he made up for it by excellent floor work.

Aggies Showed Teamwork.

The whole team showed a scoring and floor work ability that was unexpected. The men worked well together, and the forwards showed that they could play a guarding as well as well as a scoring game.

Although only two second string men got into the game, both of them showed up well. Fols and Cary, both substitute forwards, demonstrated real basketball ability.

The St. Marys team must be given credit for playing a scrappy, fast game, but the Catholics were outclassed by Cleverger's basketekers. The Wildcats are feeling that they have proved themselves, and are feeling confident of success in their games with Kansas Wesleyan and the Ames Aggies, which come Wednesday and Saturday.

IT PAYS TO WORK

The names of 50 engineering students who have made successes of their college life, as far as they have gone, appear in this issue of The Collegian. Chosen as the men who are to be granted preferred classification in the draft, the 50 represent the engineering faculty's choice of students whom they believe will make good.

There are many in college who would like to be rated as well with the college authorities. But in this class are those who dislike to get their lessons, who enjoy cutting classes, and who refuse to broaden themselves by wading into their work with zest.

The lesson is not hard to find.

RAH FOR THE BEAUTY RACE!

The Royal Purple management is taking a great big stick and is stirring up the usually stolid and sedate life of K. S. A. C. This club is the beauty contest, and for a week, the political pot will be bubbling just as it always should.

The college has too few invigorators. It takes itself too seriously. Not that seriousness is to be derided, however. It is needed, and K. S. A. C. is proud of its dignity. But there are needed more events and stunts which will cement the student body together as a whole.

Jumping into this beauty race for all that's in them, as some undoubtedly will do, is bound to broaden the workers. The ability to work into activities is one of a college student's best assets, both in and out of college.

REDUCE COLLEGE ACTIVITIES

ASSOCIATION URGES SUBSTITUTION OF "GYM" FOR BASEBALL.

Plan to Excuse Seniors in Good Standing, Called Into Service, From Remaining Work and Grant Degrees.

Topeka, Jan. 9.—Inter-mural training to replace college athletics, abandonment of college social functions, shortening the length of the school term by having six days of school each week, dropping baseball from school activities, as well as many other similar suggestions, were made at the educational conference of the Kansas State Colleges' association, which met in Topeka to confer on the various problems arising from the war and which confront every educational institution in the state.

Do Away With Baseball.

Doing away with baseball was urged by nearly all the representatives and the belief among the executives present was that this would be done in all the schools, the Kansas State Agricultural college, Emporia Normal and Kansas university included. Organization of gymnasium classes for all students, and cutting down on all branches of athletics was also urged. Prohibition of all expensive social functions should come in all schools, it was agreed. Make the social life simple and inexpensive, the executives declared.

Credits for Selected Men.

It was further recommended that seniors in good standing, who are called into service during the present year, be excused from the remainder of their work and granted their degrees; that other students called during the year be given credit in accordance to the amount of work completed, no credit being given for less than six weeks and 15 weeks being counted a full semester.

A committee was appointed to draft resolutions embodying the suggestions made at yesterday's conference and to send them to the various schools at once for final action. No final action on any of the suggestions was taken yesterday, but it is the opinion of the directors that many of the suggestions will be in force in all schools within a short time.

J. T. Willard, acting president of K. S. A. C., was present at the meeting.

Prepare now at the Manhattan Business College for the Civil Service Examination. Rush orders for Uncle Sam must be filled.

Labyrinth of Tunnels Carrying Heat Pipes
Is Under the Campus

Do you know that under the campus is labyrinth tunnels. The steam, electricity and water is carried to the college by means of these tunnels.

The steam pipes are laid along the sides of the tunnels and the electric wires run along the top of the tunnel. The main tunnel is so large that it is possible for men to go through to examine the pipes and wires and to do repair work.

There are two principal tunnels. They both start from the powerhouse. One runs south and supplies all the buildings south of the powerhouse. The other one runs eastward from the powerhouse and supplies all the buildings east of the power plant. A branch of this east tunnel runs north and supplies the veterinary and farm buildings, the dairy barn, the stock pavilion and the new agricultural building.

Part of the tunnels are built of brick and are four feet wide and eight feet high. The rest are built of concrete and are five feet wide and seven feet high. A person or persons can walk underground from the gymnasium building to the horticultural building.

The steam pipes are covered with asbestos so that the heat will be conserved, and to make it possible for men to work in the tunnels. The asbestos cover also prevents ignition of the electric wires. It takes 50 tons of coal to heat the campus buildings 24 hours in cold weather and approximately 125,000 gallons of water to supply the college one day with water.

We have arranged a three months' course to prepare you for the Civil Service Examination. If you do not have the money now, you may wait and pay us out of your first three months' salary.

Are You Fit To Do Your Bit?

We can't all go to the trenches, but these are times that call men and women to "the firing line" in all departments of industry. Are you fit to do your bit?

Strength for the day's work calls for food that supplies tissue-building material in a digestible form.

The whole wheat grain contains all the elements needed to furnish energy for the day's work. But be sure to eat the whole wheat. Don't waste any of it.

Shredded Wheat Biscuit

is the whole wheat grain made digestible by boiling in steam; it is then shredded and then baked crisp and brown in coal ovens. It is 100 per cent. whole wheat, nothing wasted, nothing thrown away. Two or three of these crisp little loaves of baked whole wheat with milk and a little fruit make a complete, nourishing, satisfying meal at a cost of a few pennies.

To get the full, nutty flavor of the baked wheat pour hot milk over the Biscuits and salt to suit the taste. This makes a delicious, hot, nourishing dish for a cold day.

College Cubs Imitate Clever Shylock Holmes In Wild Hunt for Copy

A reporter's life is like a soggy cake that has all the hollows filled with creamy frosting and walnuts. The only things that keep him sticking to it is the hope that possibly the next minute he may hit upon a spot of sweetness and softness. But like the cake it is tough and altogether hard to swallow at times.

The Collegian reporter, whose grade and consequently his happiness depends upon the number of stories he hangs on the hook in the office, is a victim of circumstances.

The writer has been quietly observing the methods the Collegian reporters use in getting news. They are so varied and complicated that volumes could be written upon the subject. If one will take the time to notice, the reporter carries a few sheets of copy paper on which everything from a new slang phrase to the best way to standardize farm products, is jotted down.

The reporter watches the bulletin boards as a cat does a mouse. If it is a meeting he makes every effort to attend in hopes of getting a story. Unless he has a regular beat he is, probably tramping on some one's ground. If this is the case his life is in great danger, for stolen news causes an almost irreconcilable chasm between two cub reporters.

When some unknown person stops to listen to an interesting conversation relating a funny incident about college, beware. The story will appear in the Collegian in spite of everything. The reporter keeps his ears and eyes wide open.

His blood fairly tingles when he noses out a good story. No one is safe from the quick eye and ready pen of the cub. Answering his apparently innocent questions may cause someone to be boldly quoted in a feature story.

It is only the reporter who has been asleep during the week who can find nothing to write about. Here is where the sogginess of the cake comes in. A story has to be written whether there is one lurking about or not. In desperation the cub walks about over the campus, looking from the basement windows in the gymnasium to the belfry on Anderson hall. Not a story jumps to meet him on his journey.

But the reporter is not to be outdone. At the eleventh hour he is filled with a determination admirable in a game cock. With fingers tangled in his hair and a painful expression covering his usually happy countenance, he sits down and makes a story out of nothing.

Let us show you how much we can save you in an overcoat at Miller's Cio. Store.

Aggie Man Was Working on Captive Balloon That Escaped

In a letter to the Collegian, Theodore F. Hobbie, stationed at Ft. Omaha, Nebr., gives his regards to faculty members and students of the college. His letter is here quoted.

"Dear Collegian:

I received a letter from the Y. M. C. A. this morning and it seemed good to hear from the old school again.

"It seems that I am quite near and yet far away from Manhattan.

"You probably heard about and maybe saw the captive balloon that escaped from us some time ago. I was working on the balloon when it got away and as it disappeared I said to myself, 'That bay won't miss Manhattan very far. I wish I were riding her.'

"As far as I can find out there is only one other Aggie up here. However I was out to a little social gathering the other evening and I ran across a man from M. U. who was a room mate of Simpson. He has been in Manhattan several times and knew a bunch of the fellows I did so he almost seems like an old friend.

"Give my regards to Dean Jardine, Professor Durham and all the rest. Christmas greetings to the whole school.

I remain,
Corp. Theodore F. Hobbie.

Opening of Windows To Let In Cold Air Proves a Boomerang

The joke planned so carefully for the other fellow is the hardest thing in the world to swallow when it turns on oneself. Last Monday the intense cold weather and the small amount of coal made the class rooms exceedingly cold.

Some of the classes were excused in the morning on account of the cold. Word of this little holiday was soon carried to the afternoon classes. It was predicted that if the rooms were not warm by noon the classes would be dismissed for the day.

Such a prediction offered a violent temptation for two venturesome girls in Professor Hughes's fifth hour organic chemistry class. They reasoned that if room C28 could be chilled down below 60 degrees they could go home after lunch and enjoy a peaceful little nap.

At 12.20 o'clock the two girls quietly slipped into the class room, flung wide open the windows, and then slipped out again. They were back in time, however, to watch for the return of the professor. Meantime the mercury kept slipping and slipping toward the bottom of the thermometer.

Five minutes of one and the windows were quickly closed, shutting in a group of girls who were shaking and shivering. The discomfort would surely last only a few more minutes, for who would ask a class to sit in a room so chilly?

The conscience of the two instigators of the plan began to prick and they refused to lead the class out of the room if a holiday should be declared. Suspicion was one thing they could not stand.

When the professor entered the room he read the thermometer which coolly declared the temperature of the room to be at 50 degrees.

"If any one in the class thinks it is too cold to remain she may be excused," announced Professor Hughes.

Surely some one would get up and start the class to go, thought the two girls, shaking from head to foot. No one made a move, however. The two girls sat there in misery through the whole hour thinking how warm it might have been.

AGS HAVE TWO LITERARIES

Philomathian and Lincoln Were Organized in 1913.

The Philomathian Literary society, the girls' organization of the school of agriculture, dates from October 18, 1913, and the Lincoln society, the "brother" organization was formed the same year. The constitutions are modeled after those of the college organizations.

Steady progress has been made by the societies, and they are an important factor in the life of students of the school of agriculture.

The Philomathian membership is 30 and that of the Lincoln 56.

Two annual joint functions are given—a Christmas party and an annual picnic in the spring. The annual oratorical contest has been won by the Philomathians the last two years.

TRUCKS ARE NOW A NECESSITY.

Farmer Can Not Afford to be Without Motors, Sanders Says.

The auto truck is no longer a luxury but almost a necessity for the successful Kansas farmer, thinks W. H. Sanders, instructor in farm motors in the college.

Thousands of young men have been taken from the state for national service. At least 55 per cent of these are from the farms or have been engaged in farm work. This creates a shortage in farm labor which is likely to become permanent as successive drafts take place, and the government is urging the few left on the farms to produce more farm products than ever before.

Much valuable time is lost in the crop growing season by the use of horses in making trips to town for needed supplies, for such trips usually take three or four hours or more. The auto truck could be used to good advantage for these trips.

The truck ranges in capacity from half a ton to six tons, is as easily operated as an automobile, and the limit of its speed is governed only by the road over which it travels, the maximum being 20 miles an hour.

On the carefully laid out farmstead, the auto truck is capable of a great saving of labor in the handling of produce from the field to the granary or haymow, and in any other work that would suggest itself, as well as in the hauling of such produce to market.

DIVISION TEAMS WILL PLAY

Success of Football Tournament Leads to Basketball Series.

More basketball for Kansas Aggies! The teams of the different divisions are going to mix in a series of games for the intramural championship of the school.

Following the success of the intramural football games, E. A. Bauer, assistant professor of physical education, decided to have a series of basketball games between the different departments. The different departments to be represented will be the Vets, Animal Husbandry, Agronomy, General Science, Mechanical Engineering, Civil Engineering, and the School of Agriculture.

Each team will play each other team one game, making a total of 21 games in all to be played. The first games will be played Saturday, January 19, at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Two games will be played—the Mechanics playing the Civils and the General Sciences the School of Ag.

To give each department a fair chance the seven men on the varsity and the eight men on the Freshman Varsity were ruled from competing in the games. The gymnasium will be open for practice Wednesday afternoon for the different teams. There will be no games after those played Saturday until next semester.

A cup will be given to the winning team which will hold it until some other team takes the championship.

CLAY CENTER WON, 30 TO 29.

Manhattan Boys Lost Hard Fought Game Friday Night.

The Manhattan high school basketball team lost a hard fought game to the Clay county high school quintet Friday in the high school gymnasium, by the close score of 29 to 30. Manhattan made the first score of the game, but the lead was soon taken from her and after that the Clay Center boys were never headed.

Williams and Kerr of the local team were the stars for Manhattan, and Yeltman was the star of the Clay Center aggregation. Manhattan scored several points on free throws. The Clay Center boys outweighed the local boys and several were last year's men, while the Manhattan team was composed of entirely new men.

The lineup was:

Manhattan	Pos.	Clay Center

IMITATIVE READER COMING

Miss Gay Zenola MacLaren Reproduces Plays She Has Heard.

The third number in the Artists' Series is a dramatic recital by Miss Gay Zenola MacLaren. She will be here Monday, January 21.

Miss MacLaren has been pronounced a genius in her art, and no doubt her talent is exceptional. For one person to present an entire play with its many characters of varying types, is a task that would seem well nigh impossible, but this Miss MacLaren does. After seeing a play five or six times she can reproduce it word for word, giving all the characters the color and life of the play itself.

Since our nation has been at war Miss MacLaren has been spending a large portion of her time giving recitals to the men in the camps.

PROGRAM FOR SHORT COURSE STUDENTS.

Y. M. Plans Entertainment for Visitors Every Two Weeks.

The Y. M. C. A. entertained 130 short course students Friday evening with a program lasting nearly two hours.

The program consisted of a cornet solo by W. W. Trego, a piano solo by Clair Brown and various stunts conducted by Walter Houghton, an address of welcome given by Homer Cross, president of the Y. M. C. A., and a talk by Hugh Durham, in behalf of the faculty.

The Y. M. C. A. has planned to have a "stunt night" similar to this one for the short course students, every two weeks.

A Bible campaign for the short course students has been started by the Y. M. C. A. and special classes will be held.

Sergeant Morris Evans, former student, who is stationed at Camp Funston, spent the week end visiting with friends in Manhattan.

Miss Mildred Inskeep spent a part of her vacation in Macon, Georgia, visiting Miss Vilona Cutler, '17, who is in Y. W. C. A. work there.

There is one encouraging thing about raising a boy. When he becomes a man he is about half way between what his parents hoped he would be and what his neighbors predicted he would.—Courtland Register.

Here is a prize mail order house story told by the Chautau Tribune. A woman went into a Chautau store the day before Christmas and picked out a doll. Then she went to the proprietor and asked him to loan it to her until after Christmas. "I have a doll coming from Sears-Roebuck," she explained, "but it will not come in time now, and I don't want my little girl disappointed." The merchant was a real sport. "Why certainly, madam," he said, "I'll be glad to accommodate you."

NO EFFECT ON 1918 SENIORS

NOT UNTIL 1919 WILL COMMISSIONS BE GRANTED TO AGGIE GRADUATES.

Members of This Year's Class May Become Lieutenants Upon Passing an Examination, However—Capt. O'Neill Urges All Upperclassmen to Receive Military Training.

Seniors who join the reserve officers' training corps will not be given commissions in the officers' reserve corps, at the end of the next semester without taking an examination, according to information received from the war department.

All seniors nevertheless are urged to join the corps as the training which they will receive will be of value to them in the training camps, in the opinion of Capt. W. P. J. O'Neill, U. S. A., commandant.

It is held by the war department that in order to receive a commission in the officers' reserve corps without an examination the graduate of the reserve officers' training corps must have satisfactorily completed the four years course. This would include the basic course, advanced course, and the camp training to be prescribed by the secretary of war.

There can be, according to these regulations, no graduates from the reserve officers' training corps at K. S. A. C. until the close of the school year 1918-1919.

TOLD OF LIFE IN MOUNTAINS.

Miss Mildred Inskip Spoke at Y. W. C. Meeting Yesterday

"Work among the mountaineers of North Carolina" was the subject of a talk given yesterday afternoon by Miss Mildred Inskip at the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Inskip spoke of the summer spent in a community of these mountaineers, 30 miles from a railroad and of the practical missionary work which is being carried on there now, recently taken over by the state. She emphasized the fact that these communities, where there are many who cannot read nor write, are needing teachers and that K. S. A. C. girls who could assist in the teaching of practical home economics would find a large opening for service.

ASTEX DOWN ANOTHER TEAM

Betas Were Victims Monday, 2 to 24—Sig Alpha Beat Sigma Nus, 16 to 14.

The Astex made sure at least a tie for the inter-fraternity basketball cup by defeating the Betas Monday night 24 to 2.

The game was fast and tight for the first half, the Betas holding the Astex forwards to four points. In the second half, however, the Astex went wild and tossed baskets from all sides. The Astex stars were Jennings Whedon and Hoots, while Spangler, and Myers played best for the Beta stars.

The best game of the evening, and the fastest of the fraternity games this year, was won by the Sig Alpha by a score of 16 to 14. The Sigma Nus put up a fine game, and at the end of the regular playing period the score was a tie. In the playoff the Sig Alpha forged two points ahead, thus taking the chances of winning the championship from the Sigma Nus. Schmidt and Sullivan for the Sig Alpha and Anderson, Meeker, and Burton were the stars of the game.

WOMEN PLAN TO RAISE GARDENS

An Association Has Been Formed to Promote Work.

That the agricultural college shall assist in the instruction of Kansas farm women along agricultural lines is the hope of the Women's Farm and Garden Association of Kansas which was organized in Topeka Saturday, January 12.

The conference was held for the purpose of organizing the farm women of Kansas in order that they may do their bit in the way government authorities may suggest. The plan of the organization is to make a state-wide campaign of women and children to interest them in the raising, marketing and canning of food. Miss Mary M. Baird of the home study department of the college addressed the association on the upkeep of the farm during the war, her subject being "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

PLAN CO-ED WAR WORK RALLY

Miss Inskip to Ask Each Girl to Devote Time to Red Cross

A big patriotic rally for all college girls has been planned to be given early in the new term. The object of the meeting is to renew interest in the Red Cross and Surgical dressing work. Miss Mildred Inskip, Y. W. C. A. secretary, has asked that each girl when she is making out her schedule allow at least one hour which may be spent in the Red Cross room in domestic science hall.

TALKERS TRY OUT THURSDAY

Action of President Wilson Has Changed Debate Question.

Tryouts for college debate squads will be held Thursday, January 31, from 1 to 4 o'clock and from 7 to 9 o'clock, and at the same hours on Friday, February 1.

Because of the action which the federal government has already taken it has been thought best to discard the question of government ownership of railroads. That cities of more than 5,000 population should adopt a commission form of government is the subject which has been substituted.

The constructive speeches are to be four minutes in length with two minutes of rebuttal. Before a speech is given ten questions will be issued and ten minutes allowed in which to prepare rebuttal material on the questions.

All who are to try for places on the debate squads are urged to place their names, with the time at which they wish to try out, in the hands of one of the following persons by the evening of January 26: Miss Marie Johnston, Franklin; Miss Olive Legerstrom, Alpha Beta; Calvin Medlin, Athenian; Miss Lola Sloop, Browning; Miss Dora Cate, Ionian; Arthur Boyer, Hamilton; Miss Gussie Johnson, Eurodelphian; Earl Frost, Webster.

Don L. Burk, assistant professor of English and debate coach, will address each of the literary societies on the subject of debate Saturday, January 19. The question for the intersociety debates has also been changed to the subject of commission form of government. These debates will be held Saturday, February, February 2. Pennants again will be given to the society winning the largest number of debates.

PI PHIS TO RUN "JOHNNY'S."

Popular Confectionery Shop Will Be in Charge of Women.

Saturday is to be Pi Phi day at Johnny Harrison's.

From 1 o'clock in the afternoon to 8 o'clock in the evening, Pi Phi will be chefs, waitresses, cooks, dishwashers, dumbwaiters, or whatever it is that is needed around an up-to-date confectionery shop.

The sorority subscribed a generous sum to the Students' Friendship war relief fund. The members asked Mr. Harrison to allow Pi Phi a share of Saturday's proceeds in exchange for some expert waitresses.

Johnny agreed, so the Pi Phi will run the shop Saturday afternoon.

FAR, FAR AHEAD OF K. U.

AGGIE STUDENTS HAVE PAID NEARLY ALL OF FRIENDSHIP FUND PLEDGES

Of the $11,500 Subscribed Here $9,000 Already Has Been Collected—While Only Half of Jayhawkers Pledges Are In—College Ranks High

Students of the college have paid nearly $9,000 of their $11,500 pledge to the Students' Friendship war fund, thus easily retaining their war work lead over the Kansas Jayhawkers. The figures were announced yesterday by I. Victor Iles, treasurer of the local fund.

Mr. Iles had sent $8,000 in to national headquarters at New York before the holidays. Since that time, enough more money has been paid in to the fund to boost the amount now in the bank close to $1,000, and a remittance of this amount will be made soon.

But K. U. Payments Lag Only approximately 50 per cent of the $8,000 that the university pledged has been paid in, says a recent announcement in the Daily Kansan, which calls on the Lawrence students to "please pay up."

The response of the students has been gratifying to Mr. Iles. Although many of the payments were not due until the end of this semester, and a few had been made payable as late as March 1, the college already has remitted the amount of its original pledge, $8,000.

College Is Near Top Recognition of the place K. S. A. C. holds in the student war work campaign is given in the January number of the North American Student, the Y. M. C. A. monthly magazine. In the list of colleges which have remitted sums before December 17, 1917, there are but six institutions which had contributed more than K. S. A. C. The University of Kansas was not even mentioned.

Mr. Iles announced yesterday that the window, opposite the postoffice again will be open next Wednesday. "Students who are leaving this semester should be sure to pay up, as they no doubt will forget the fund after going home," the treasurer said.

"CONSCRIPT" LARNED FARMER

Dean Johnson Drafts E. E. Frizell as Labor Administrator.

E. E. Frizell of Larned, farmer, business man and ranch owner in western Kansas for 40 years, has been drafted for war service as farm labor administrator for Kansas, his work to begin February 1. This announcement was made Tuesday by Edward C. Johnson, dean of the division of extension in the Kansas State Agricultural college, who was asked by the United States government to nominate a farm labor administrator.

Mr. Frizell will work in connection with the Kansas State council of defense, the extension service of the agricultural college, the Kansas state labor bureau, Kansas farmers' organizations and the United States department of agriculture in their effort to organize all Kansas communities so that every possible source of farm labor can be utilized in producing crops this year. His headquarters will be at the agricultural college.

Mr. Frizell is now operating three ranches in Pawnee, Hodgeman and Ness counties—a total of 12,200 acres. He has 5,000 acres in wheat, 600 in alfalfa, one thousand acres are under irrigation. In addition, he has more than 1,000 head of cattle, 220 head of horses, together with many hogs and sheep. In providing labor for this large business, he has become thoroughly familiar with the farm labor situation, and farm labor requirements.

As mayor of Larned for 17 years, Mr. Frizell has conducted farm labor bureau to supply labor to Pawnee county and counties to the west. He has been a member of the Kansas state board of agriculture for five years, was re-elected as a member at its recent session, and is one of the directors of the Kansas state fair.

NO CHANGES NEXT SEMESTER

Chapel and Class Meeting Troubles Not Remedied

Two hundred fifty new semester schedules will be placed on sale at the post office in Main tomorrow. With the aid of these it is hoped that the students will have their programs for the coming term at least partially planned, thereby lessening the time spent in enrollment.

In the spring semester schedule no changes have been made, as far as general features are concerned. Chapel will be conducted at the same hour as during the past term which, for information of many, is announced as Monday at 4th hour.

Drill will also be held at the same time as formerly and no further time has been set aside for class meetings other than Saturday afternoon from 1 until 3 o'clock.

According to Acting president Willard, changes in regard to chapel hour have been contemplated but will not be put into effect within the next semester.

CALL OFF NEXT Y. W. MEETING

Finals Take Precedence over Vesper Services, Board Decides

There will be no meeting of the Y. W. C. A. next Thursday afternoon on account of examinations. Arrangements have been made for a number of special meetings beginning with the first Thursday of the new term.

AGRICULTURE FOR THE GIRLS

Dean Van Zile Predicts Co-Eds May Take Men's Places

Senior girls in the home economics division have been requested by Dean Mary P. Van Zile to choose their electives for the coming term from agriculture and manual training in view of the fact that they will be called upon to teach these subjects.

There has been a general call for teachers, and on account of war conditions, teaching positions made vacant by men must be filled by the women who are now graduating. In place of the subjects of gardening which is regularly assigned to senior girls, Albert Dickens, professor of horticulture, has arranged a course in agriculture for them for the spring semester.

NOTED ECONOMIST HERE MONDAY

Doctor Carver of Harvard Will Speak at Chapel.

Dr. Thomas Nixon Carver of Harvard university will speak to the students at assembly, Monday.

Doctor Carver is professor of economics, and his reputation as a scholar, teacher, and author is nationwide. The text, "Principles of Rural Education," used in the college, was written by him.

"Doctor Carver is a highly interesting and convincing speaker," said J. E. Kammerer, professor of economics. "No student should miss the opportunity to hear him."

HOLDING OUT VOTES

CANDIDATES IN ROYAL PURPLE BEAUTY CONTEST ARE SEARING WITH THEIR BALLOTS

MARGARET ROBINSON AHEAD

Senior Class Nominee Pulled from Ninth Place to the Top of the Heap in a Day.

Miss Sarella Herrick, Junior Candidate, Who was in Fifth Yesterday, Now Second

ONLY A TENTH OF THE VOTES IN

Last Year the Total Reached Half a Million, While Only 55,300 Points Have Been Scored So Far in 1918 Race—No Contestant Far Out in the Lead

HOW THE RACE STANDS

Margaret Robinson	10,900
Sarella Herrick	8,750
Mary Hazel Phinney	8,750
Hazel Merriflat	6,950
Nell Robinson	6,500
Elizabeth Cotton	5,000
Ella Stinson	4,000
Ruth Thomas	3,200
Greta Gramse	1,200
Rose Blackwelder	500
Total votes cast	55,300

Doing out only enough votes to give their contestants an appearance of being in the race, managers of Royal Purple beauty candidates are quietly sitting back waiting for the next moves of their opponents. And no one seems disposed to hike the ante, so with the contest on its fourth day, only about one-tenth of the votes have been cast.

But while managers hold out the votes, other members of the different factions are not quiet. There never was much more of a bustling about and campaigning in main hall than there is this week. Workers, most of them girls, keep up a constant bombardment, and if the poor victim attempts to escape, a verbal barrage is thrown about him, until in desperation he either gives up his votes, or glibly tells the workers that he already has cast his ballot.

From Bottom to Top

Each day brings surprises in the race, as one or another of the candidates shoots from near the bottom to the top of the ladder. Yesterday it was Miss Margaret Robinson, a senior nominee, who climbed from ninth place to the top of the Rosebush. Miss Robinson began the day with 500 votes and ended it with 10,900.

With Miss Robinson climbed Miss Sarella Herrick, the junior nominee. Miss Herrick had but 4,000 votes and was in fifth place in the morning, but had reached the second rung of the ladder by the time the count was taken at 5:30 o'clock yesterday evening.

Three Class Nominees Up

The followers of Miss Mary Hazel Phinney, who lead yesterday morning but was in third place last night, were conservative in their voting. Her total jumped only from 7,750 to 8,750 during the day. Hazel Merriflat, who was in third place in the morning, finished fourth with 6,950 votes.

Class candidates are reigning supreme so far in the race. Three of the four highest ranking candidates have been nominated by classes. Miss Margaret Robinson, in first place and Miss Hazel Merriflat, who is fourth were named by the seniors, while Miss Sarella Herrick, a junior nominee, apparently received a number of votes from her classmates.

Advertising Space Counts

Votes may be secured for advertising space taken in the Royal Purple. It was announced last night. It will not be necessary to pay for this space now, but the merchant or firm have to sign a contract and make a written statement asking for the proper number of votes. Many merchants have contracted for space who have not yet asked for votes. Advertising contracts may be secured from Giles Sullivan or Ira Rogers at the window opposite the postoffice. Girls will have the privilege of securing contracts for advertising space and will be given the votes which go with it if they have a statement from the person or firm contracting.

Limit Raffles Hunt.

Juniors who have paid their Royal Purple assessment can procure their 300 votes by presenting their receipt. The time for having pictures taken has been extended to February 1. Juniors and sophomores must pay their assessments before the close of the contest.

The mysterious Mr. Raffles will be here next Tuesday and promises to elude his pursuers for at least an hour. Only girls will be allowed to discover Mr. Raffles, but any student is eligible to become the owner of the hidden money. The next issue of the Collegian will tell when Mr. Raffles will appear and where he will go.

Only a Few Books Left.

Those who expect to secure a copy of the 1918 Royal Purple will have to contract for it before next Tuesday evening, according to G. C. Gibbons, business manager.

"It is imperative that the book be completed before the next draft because many of the staff men may be called," Mr. Gibbons said yesterday. All but 500 books were sold before the beauty contest began. No extra copies will be ordered and deliveries will only be made to those who have contracted for books.

KNOWS HUMAN NATURE WELL

Miss MacLaren, Imitative Leader, Understands People.

Miss Gay Zanola MacLaren will give a dramatic recital in the college auditorium, Monday evening. Miss MacLaren has a place among the foremost of American entertainers, and the college may expect something unusual in her line.

For a person to entertain the humblest laborer as well as the cultured person of intellect is an accomplishment that is truly exceptional. Yet this Miss MacLaren does. She has entertained the large city audience as well as those in the mining camps of Arizona. On one occasion Miss MacLaren gave a recital in Quartzite, Arizona, which is 95 miles from a railroad. The performance had to be given in a large tent. So great was the anticipation in the camp that it went through one of the most complete epidemics of clean shirts that it had ever known.

Miss MacLaren is a good student of human nature and knows how to apply her art. Her power is not the result of years of study and work but is a natural born gift of mimicry. There are twenty plays in her repertoire and she imitates more than 200 different characters.

The recital Monday evening is the third number in the Artists' Series. The two preceding numbers were "Little Women", a play, and a song recital by Christine Miller. The fourth number is the Zoellner String Quartet, which will appear Feb. 25.

SOPHS HAVE A HOP TONIGHT

Class Is to Dance in Women's Gym—Snapshots Are Needed

The sophomore class dance will be held in the women's gymnasium tonight.

The class has voted to take a page in the Royal Purple for snapshots. All persons who have good pictures of the class members or of class activities are urged to send them to S. D. Thackeray, manager of the sophomore section in the class book. The name should be written on the back of the snapshot and if it is not available for use it will be returned.

MAKE ARMY FURNITURE HERE

Two Aggies Detailed to Make Chairs and Tables for Regiment

Corp. Myron Johnson and James F. Adeo, two former K. S. A. C. students now in the national army at Camp Funston, have been detailed to do special work at the college shops.

The men are making chairs and tables to be used in the all Kansas regiment recreation hall which was dedicated Tuesday night. The men came to the college shops because they did not have tools and work benches at the camp. Army trucks are taking the chairs and tables to the fort as they are completed.

Purple Masque Meeting

The Purple Masque will meet Friday at 5 o'clock in G-53.

DOUBLED WESLEYAN SCORE

CLARKE STARRED IN 48 TO 24 AGGIE VICTORY OVER SALLINA METHODISTS.

At Times the Clevenger Five Flashed Brilliantly, But the Invaders Also Took Turns at Being on the Offensive, Making the Game a See-Saw Affair.

The Aggies, with John Clarke starring, had little difficulty in winning from the Kansas Wesleyan five by a score of 48 to 24, Wednesday evening.

It was not through good playing that the Aggies won, however, because their playing was slow and without any flash or pep several times during each half. It was simply a case of superior coaching and knowledge of the game that won. Although the outcome of the game was never in doubt, both teams scored spasmodically, making the contest a see-saw affair.

Johnny Clark was the individual star of the game, scoring six goals from his guard position, and making two more points from free throws. Besides scoring 14 points, Johnny played a stellar game at guard, working well with Hinds, and breaking up many Wesleyan rushes. Johnny was the only Aggie who did not play erratically.

Bill Whedon was the other Aggie star. Bill was playing a great scoring game, and was taking his man every time the opponents had the ball. Bill is also showing a great improvement in jumping and getting the ball on the tip-off. He scored seven of the Aggie baskets.

The playing of the team as a whole was not so good as the St. Marys game. At times, though, they worked together well and showed flashes of old time form. The guarding was good, and nearly all of the Wesleyan tosses were made on long shots.

The forwards, Van Trine and Hinds worked well and covered the floor in good style. They guarded closely, and took a man every time the Wesleyans started down the floor.

The Wesleyans had a good team. They were fast and played the floor well, and with luck should land high in the Kansas conference race. They were especially lucky on their long shots, Bergsten and Zamzla both caging several baskets from near the middle black line.

WELCOME TO BASKETBALL

Old Man Basketball ushered himself in Wednesday evening. Although he trotted out only a mediocre Aggie five, as Aggie fives go, he brought a promise of a real team later, of a Purple five that will take its place alongside other winning quintets of the past.

One big defect stood out strongly. The Aggies do not have the machine-like teamwork of the combinations of former years. Except at times there was none of the quick, clean passes, pretty dribbling, and accurate shots that last season's five exhibited.

But the cause of the defect was as evident as the defect itself. Time has not been given the team to develop. Only two players on the five are veterans. The others are new to the college pastime. Two of the regulars, Whedon and Ben Hinds, played very little basketball last year.

And again the remedy stands out even more strongly than the cause of the defect, or the defect itself. More practices and more games, then there will be a real team of first class Missouri valley calibre.

The first valley contest comes Saturday. Ames, with a running start in the conference, will buck up against the Cleveland five. If the Purple can weather that bout, there will be another week of practice before the Drake Bulldogs are played. And by that time, if the predictions of Aggie dopesters run true, the Cleveland men will be fit to do battle with any team in the valley.

Blustery Zero Weather Wrecks Fondest Hopes
Of a Would-Be Beauty

The new beauty gave one last fond look in the mirror before going to college. Yes, her hair was arranged in its most becoming manner, her small hat looked quite "spiffy," her eyes sparkled, for she had been careful to get a good beauty rest. She brushed an imaginary wrinkle from her green broadcloth coat. Green always did bring out the color in her cheeks.

As she hurried to her first hour class she wore her most bewitching smile. Truly she would win more than one vote from her fair rivals.

My, how cold! The wind from the north struck her in the face but she went happily onward. What of it, it would only bring more color into her face. She quickened her pace, her foot slipped and earth and beauty came close together. She gracefully recovered herself, forgetting everything except the cold. Her hands were too cold to brush the snow from her coat.

She was nearing her first hour class but what a different girl from the one who had gazed fondly into the mirror. Her hat was somewhat less artistically arranged since her recent fall. Several stray locks found their way from under the hat. Her nose was red, her lips were blue and she was cold. An angry look crept into her eyes and the bewitching smile disappeared.

Resolved—that one cannot be a beauty unless under favorable conditions.

For chemistry students—A chemical compound formed by spilling HNO on a dog's tail reads thus. HNO plus Dt plus NOT. In other words the main product of such a reaction would be NOT, or no tail.

When a teacher accidentally calls a gentleman by the title Miss, the ladies all laugh as if it were a great joke on the unfortunate one.

Dame Nature did woman a distinct favor when she failed to raise whiskers on the feminine chin. It would be a sight worth seeing to see such a one, trying to keep her mouth shut while the barber shaved her.

The Germans have moved the peace conference to Warsaw. That's a more logical place.

These peace offers are mostly word scraps.

One newspaper refers to its lone January wedding like this: "Their two souls melted into each other." Folks aren't supposed to do it in January. Wait until spring comes and see a real thaw.

You probably know there will be a frosh-soph meet before long. Aw-he-he-he!

Small boys call 'em dog fights, the Mexicans call 'em bull fights, the men call it a horse race, but in Aggie country it's a beauty contest.

A Y. M. C. A. speaker at the short-horn mixer said, "Doctor MacArthur spoke here at the last meeting. Men, if you ever get a chance to hear Doctor MacArthur, you don't want to fail to miss it."—Handed in.

Here's our guess as to the outcome of the beauty contest; first Sarella Herrick; second, Betty Cotton; third Nell Robison; fourth Mary Hazel Phinney; fifth Hazel Merrilatt.

Here is also a description of Mr. Raffles: Not exactly tall and not exactly short; wears a necktie, and other things; combs his hair and has nifty trousers with cuffs on the bottom. You will be sure to find him if you follow this description.

If ye had our way there would be some 800 contestants in the beauty race. They're all purty.

We wonder what's the matter! No one has yet nominated "Hank" Kansas for the beauty contest.

Never again will we say women shouldn't mix in politics. One fellow was solicited 17 times. Another bought an annual from an attractive young lady and forgot to ask her who he was voting for.

A beauty contest is "real" politics. A sample of the other kind will be had in a few days when the various classes call a meeting. Someone will call for nominations, when finally someone with more nerve than the rest, will get up on wobbly legs and sputter something. Then someone who couldn't hear the name will second the motion, before anyone can correct him. In a day or two a few will vote, and some poor innocent person will be elected president. But a beauty contest! Phew! That's more fun than a dog fight.

Learned Senior Lady Is Down "Ker Thump" Right In Main Hall

Down the hall they went—hundreds of 'em—fat ones, lean ones, happy ones, sour ones, but all of 'em pretty ones. How beautiful is woman, like the stately deer of the forests, like the monarch of the jungle, queen of everything—but not when she spreads herself over several square rods of the main hall. Its wonderful how a little piece of hard snow on the heel will change a woman. It has more power (in the other direction) than a dozen cans of face powder.

Thus it was that one morning down the main hall came one of the afore-said description. Just as she went around the corner to look into her box—zip—out went her feet, and the whole hall resounded with a mighty THUMP.

Now, etiquette specialists say when an unpleasant thing occurs, one should look the other way and talk incessantly. Bosh! That isn't what a young man does—one an occasion like that. In an instant several applications for aid had been received. Up she came, and after hastily glancing up the hall to see who saw her (a feminine trait) she thanked the hero. That raises a new question. Just what answer should a real hero like that receive if he should accidentally drop a note into the postoffice? Answer? There is only one answer a person like that could get, for who is more a real hero, than he who saves a lady who goes "Ker-Thump" in the main hall?

But there is one limitation. It's playing unfair to deliberately place snow on the sidewalk in front of Anderson hall!

Freshie Brings His Gentle Little Lamb To School One Day

Return once more to days gone by, and feel again the pang a freshie feels who has never owned a perfectly good bull dog, in the long years he has spent with pa and ma. Just think! No one to love and pet—except the senior girls, and who wants a senior girl when he can get a perfectly good bull dog to have around? Well, the freshie departed from the path of his forefather (and mother) and purchased a young brindle bull pup. Gradually the pup grew to "manhood" and greatly enjoyed his new kennel in the back yard, until the cold weather necessitated his taking a place beneath the covers at the foot of the bed during the cold zero nights.

Then one morning as freshie stretched his legs toward the chemistry laboratory, Mr. Young Pup slipped out after him and followed. The frosh pulled his overcoat over his ears, and dashed up the hill without looking behind. Into the chem building he sped, young Cy right behind him.

The frosh immediately busied himself with his experiments, while Cy decided to look around and experiment a little on his own hook. He snipped about for sometime, and finally located a harmless looking bottle of sulphuric acid. Of course in small dog style, he upset the bottle and a large portion formed a compound with Dt (dog tail). For a moment he looked around bewildered, then at the highest rate of bull dog speed, and yelping like a fire wagon, he yip-yiped down across the laboratory, and through the door. As he went down across the campus, all the freshie could see was a streak of dog, with a slight evidence of smoke stringing behind.

Yesterday a farmer who lives out near Camp Funston brought an animal into town which he called a young mountain lion. Mountain lion? Yes, for all that was left of poor Cy's tail, was a bone and a switch on the end. And another freshie heart is broken.

Freshie Looks Over Candidates for Royal Purple Beauty Contest

"Vote for who?" queried the poor freshman in answer to the well known question. Dinged if he'd heard about it. Gradually the matter became clear, and he decided that no one's idea of beauty save his own should decide his vote. What would he do? Look 'em over, of course.

Thus he started out with a wise Soph as guide to point out the candidates. They sought a sheltered spot in the main hall, to catch a glimpse of these Aggie beauties as they passed.

Down the hall came one of those luffy, fluffy, dreamy creatures who smash so many freshman hearts. No use asking whether she was a contestant, SHE WAS one by nature. What? She's no contestant? "Well, I'll swan," said the frosh, "How did she get by?"

One after another they passed, the good points being assimilated with results similar to the first occasion. His remarks were a continual string of "ums" and "ahs". Each contestant finally passed. A great silence fell round about. The Soph looked up for some sort of decision, but found the freshie catching his breath in ponderous gulps, and sparrow fluid streaming down his freshie cheeks.

"What's the matter?" thundered the Soph.

"I can't afford to buy more than 1000 votes—ho, ho, ho—and dern 'em, they're all purty." Poor fellow! His fate is but the common fate of all. Of those who look about in the main hall.

Let us show you how much we can save you in an overcoat at Miller's Clo. Store.

College Co-eds Aren't Only Members of Fair Sex Who Do Not Think

(Written by a woman.)

Aggie co-eds rejoice and be exceedingly glad! Your freedom from brains has been surpassed!

Seated in a train on a recent trip to that new and vulgar state called Oklahoma, I gradually became conscious of a conversation behind me, the like of which, for idiosyncrasy de luxe, I had never heard before.

Said the first prime nut, a much arrayed Eve of fifty: "Isn't this war horrid? I do hope it'll stop soon!"

"Oh, dear, yes! Rates have gone up so at all the hotels!" inane responded the fat, overdressed woman beside her, with whom she had just scraped acquaintance.

"Do you really think we will receive a just reward in heaven for all the good acts we do here?" queried the first.

"Oh yes! Since coming into Science I have learned to understand all those things and have experienced such a spiritual uplift. But John, that's my third husband, he doesn't believe in Christian Science."

"How many husbands have you had?"

"I'm living with my third one now. My first dear one was taken from me after five short years." (I turned around in time to see a two-inch stream of moisture ooze plaintively over the facial decorations.) "And Harry and I just couldn't get along. And then I married John."

"I buried my third beloved a year ago this Christmas, so this season is a sad one for me," vouchsafed the first. "Sometimes I wonder if the right one will find me next time. But I'm sure I'll know him when he comes."

"Oh, there comes John now," said the second. "I'm so glad because I do want you to meet him!"

Down the aisle waddled a fat, messy old reprobate of seventy and sat down nonchalantly on the arm of their seat. After introduction and a lengthy chattering of the two women, "John" betook himself back to the smoker.

The wife looked proudly after him while her new friend exclaimed admiringly, "Why, he's just an overgrown baby, isn't he?"

Is Sayin' H-I Cussin' Asks a Puzzled Frosh Who Got Self In Bad

Ugh! That's what one freshie said at 9:30 p. m. as he delivered his representative of the feminine gender upon her doorstep, and murmured a few words before parting: The sad part is, one of those words did not exactly fit, and unwittingly came the word h-i.

Diplomatic relations were broken off and the gloomy air about that freshie head as he trudged home could have

Coach Clevenger was much disappointed when Dave Wooster was declared ineligible. He is feeling better though, after the fine exhibition of guarding that Clarke and Hinds put up against the St. Marys forwards.

Aldrich and Boyd, two of stars of last years Ames football team are regulars on the basketball quintette. If they are as good in basketball as in football, the guards will have to be "right on 'em" all the time.

The games between K. U. and Ames will give Coach Clevenger an idea of this is with the understanding that how we stand with K. U. Of course, we will defeat Ames and put them out of the race.

K. U. also has two football men on the basketball squad, Laslett and Man deville. Lomborg, another K. U. star is a second string man.

University of Missouri, with four veterans in her line-up was able to beat the Polytechnic Institute of Kansas City, 37 to 21. If this is Missouri's speed she had better look to her basketball aspirations.

Eddie Wells, last years star, is now mayor of a French village. Of course, we don't want to deprive the French citizens of a good man, but we think that Eddie would do a lot more good right here on our basketball team.

Jennings, freshman center, is one of the best jumpers ever seen on the Aggie court. He plays something like great Fred Williams of Missouri. He has a great basketball future before him.

Although we have only seen the practice games, we are of the opinion that the extension of the back line of the basket ball court just behind the basket speeds the game up considerably. It certainly saves in time out, which come so often when a player makes a close shot and then steps out of bounds. It will mean more scores, too.

Has Commission as Captain Earl Wheeler, '05, manager of the Washington office of the General Electric company, has obtained leave of absence and is now captain in the engineer reserve corps. He is in charge of the inspection, expediting, and shipment of supplies for the engineers.

INTO THE BIG SPRINT

ONLY TWO MORE DAYS OF BEAUTY CONTEST, AND THE FIGHT THICKENS.

MISS HERRICK NOW IN LEAD

Junior Class and Phi Phi Candidate is 9,000 Votes Ahead of Miss Hazel Merrilatt, Second.

But Impression Still Prevails That Many Candidates Low in Race Will Shoot to Top Later

PROLONG RACE FOR MR. RAFFLES

Mysterious Gentleman who, When Identified, Will Deliver 5,000 Votes, Is Delayed, and the End of the Contest Has Been Postponed Until Wednesday.

HOW THEY STAND TODAY.

Sarella Herrick	53,000
Hazel Merrilatt	44,000
Ella Stinson	34,000
Mary Hazel Phinney	28,600
Greta Gramse	26,860
Margaret Robinson	26,350
Elizabeth Cotton	21,900
Nell Robinson	19,550
Ruth Thomas	15,850
Rose Blackwelder	3,000

Total votes cast.....272,910

And now the grand finale of the 1917 Royal Purple beauty contest.

Workers who are behind the different candidates in the race increased the rapid pace they have been going the last week this morning. To many of the would-be chosen beauties, increased effort today and tomorrow may mean first place, while many others would be content to land among the lucky half dozen who are to be rewarded by having their pictures given a page of space in the class book.

Race Will End Wednesday.

The date of the closing of the contest was shifted from Tuesday to Wednesday to give the mysterious Mr. Raffles more time in which to make ready for his appearance. Also, the management probably reasoned that the race had not reached its full momentum, and that spice would be added by the postponement of the end.

With no candidate far enough ahead that she may finally be judged the winner, this year's race promises to be the most interesting in Aggie history. Nearly 275,000 votes are in, last night's count shows. There will be at least 400,000 votes cast by Wednesday evening is the prediction made by George C. Gibbons, manager of the class book and in direct charge of the beauty race.

Lead Goes to Miss Herrick.

Miss Sarella Herrick, after shooting from fifth to second Friday, jumped into first place Saturday and has held the lead since. She had 35,900 votes Saturday evening and Miss Hazel Merrilatt, her nearest rival, was 4,000 behind with 31,576. But yesterday Miss Herrick scored heavily, and the final count showed her to be ahead of Miss Merrilatt by 9,000 votes, Miss Herrick's total being 53,000.

While the Herrick-Merrilatt-Stinson trio has hung together in the lead there have been changes farther down the ladder. Both Miss Margaret Robinson and Miss Greta Gramse have shot ahead of Miss Mary Hazel Phinney, who was fourth Saturday. Miss Elizabeth Cotton has held her own in seventh place, but Miss Ruth Thomas and Miss Nell Robinson, eighth and ninth place respectively Saturday, have shifted places.

But Workers Keep Working.

Because several of the leaders have forged far enough ahead that they have clinched a place in the beauty section of the annual, their workers have not relaxed, for there still is fear that one of the candidates lower in the race may meteorically shoot to the top. Miss Elizabeth Cotton and Miss Nell Robinson especially are feared, for although both are low in the present standings, they have had the support of strong workers, who may be holding back votes, waiting for a spectacular finish.

Although managers have been keeping close tab on the standings of their candidates, the independent vote is turning out stronger than anticipated. Many of the contestants high in the race have received votes which are unaccounted for by their managers.

A Substitute Raffles.

Owing to congested railroad service Mr. Raffles from the Colorado Aggies will not be here as planned, but a man who is known to most of the student body has been chosen to take his place. The Royal Purple management refused to say whether or not he would be a member of the student body. Mr. Raffles is of medium size and rather slight of stature.

Mr. Raffles will attend the special chapel Wednesday morning at the fourth hour. If not discovered at that time he will appear again at the cafeteria where he will eat his lunch. He will go through Anderson hall at the same time that the students are going to their fifth hour classes.

Only One Password.

Girls who are looking for Mr. Raffles must be sure to use the correct question in accosting him. He will not be recognized except by answering the question, "Are you the mysterious Mr. Raffles looking for the Royal Purple beauty?"

A $5 bill will be placed in a certain tree on the campus, and whoever finds the money will become the owner and be given 5000 votes. Mr. Raffles will know where the bill is hidden, and in case no one finds it the girl who discovers him will become the owner of the money as well as the votes. Miss Ella Stinson has the distinction of having the strongest worker in the race. The sophomore class, which nominated her, decided to cast at its 30,000 votes for Miss Stinson.

PROF. SEATON INTO THE ARMY

College Mechanical Engineering Head Is Commissioned Captain.

Prof. R. A. Seaton, head of the mechanical engineering department at the college, has accepted a commission as captain in the ordnance reserve corps, and is now awaiting call from the war department to report for duty. He expects to go to Washington first, and later may be sent to some arsenal. He will probably be engaged in the designing of artillery ammunition.

While away Professor Seaton will be on leave of absence from the college. Who will take his place there has not been announced.

RESIGNS TO JOIN THE COLORS.

Marcus Almgreen Will Report at Cambridge, Mass., for Training.

Marcus Almgreen, instructor in the traction laboratory, took an examination at Omaha. He received notice from there Thursday to report for training school at the Technology Military training school at Cambridge, Mass., before January 26.

The rural engineering department has added a star to its patriotic flag in honor of Mr. Almgreen.

The loss of Mr. Almgreen as tractor instructor has made it necessary to employ student help. Ross Hill, freshman in agriculture and S. J. Molby, senior in agronomy, will give their time to this work.

AGGIES STAVE OFF AMES

IOWA SPRINT IN LAST HALF LACKED PUNCH, AND PURPLE WON, 33 to 27.

Clevenger Brought Out a Team That Surprised Aggie Fans From the First—Captain Van Trine and John Clarke Stood Out for Wildcats.

By wonderful playing, the Aggies overcame the early lead of the Ames Farmers and defeated them 33 to 27.

The game started off with the Ames men scoring one point, Aldrich putting in a free throw on Van Trine's foul. Whedon came back with a field goal. Aldrich then made it 2 to 3 with a goal from a long shot. Van Trine then scored, and Aldrich scored another counter on a long shot, making the score five to three for Ames. This was the last time during the game that Ames was ahead.

Illnds goal gave the Aggies the lead and they were never headed. The first half closed with the score 21 to 14 for the Aggies.

Aggies a Different Team

The second half started with both teams playing a great passing game, and scoring about even. Then the Ames Farmers got the range, and brought the score up to within three points of the Aggies, the count being 28 to 25. But Johnny Clark took the ball down the entire length of the field, and made one of the prettiest goals of the evening. This was the starting point for the Aggies, for Van Trine made a goal, and a few minutes later cased one point on a free throw. This made the score 33 to 25. The Aggies did not score again while Ames added two points to her total on free throws, the game ending Aggies 33, Ames 27.

The game was fast from start to finish and the showing of the Aggies was nothing short of marvelous compared with their playing in the other games of the season. Every man played a star game, and was after the ball all of the time. The Ames men presented one of the best passing games ever seen on the Aggie court, and the ability of the guards to break up their passing was one of the most difficult problems they will meet this year. Seeing that they could not break through the Aggie defense, the Ames Cyclones started the long shot game, and made a success of it. Some of the Ames baskets would be considered nothing less than luck had it not been that they continued to make them all during the game.

Van Trine The Aggie Star

Captain Van Trine was the star for the Aggies. Van scored six field goals in the first half, and made one free throw. While he showed unusual scoring ability his floor work was even better, and he handled the ball accurately at all times. "Heinie" Hinds did not score much during the first half, contenting himself with feeding the other men. He came back in the second half, though, and counted three goals. His floorwork during the entire game was good, and he played a heady forward position all evening.

Bill Whedon made good in his first trip against a valley center, playing the floor in fine style and scoring three field goals. The guarding of Clarke and Ben Hinds left little to be desired. Their breaking up the passes of the Ames players was so sure that they made the Farmers change their style of playing. Johnny Clarke is one of the best dribblers on the team. While he seems to take his time going down the floor, it is seldom that the opposing guards ever get close enough to him to break up his dribble. This ability to take the ball down the floor was a great help in winning the game. Ben Hinds, although playing a hard game, followed Referee Quigley's injunction, and "played the ball". He was usually in every mix-up, and almost always had the ball in his possession when the whistle blew.

Main Praise to Clevenger.

The game was an exhibition of what coaching can do for a team. Starting out with a squad of almost all new material. Coach Clevenger has built up a team which promises to make good the records of other Aggie crews that have won the championship of the Valley. The score indicates the Aggies are about on a par with K. U., but the K. U. court usually cuts down the playing ability of a team a deal. In the K. U. game, which Ames lost by close counts Aldrich failed to make free throws with any regularity, while in the game Saturday, he threw nine out of twelve.

The Ames men deserve a lot of credit for the team they have. The passing was excellent, and they had two of the fastest men in the valley in Aldrich and Boyd, both of whom are good on dribbling and are sure shots for baskets. Broberlin was also a fast man and showed good scoring ability.

Large Crowd of Visitors Already in Town, and More are Expected Today.

Hundreds of men, women, and children from Kansas farms are here today for Farm and Home week, an annual college event which began yesterday. The sessions will continue until Friday evening. Speakers of national reputation will speak.

Annual meetings of several Kansas agricultural and stock breeders' associations will be held in the course of the week. The Kansas Crop Improvement association and the Kansas Swine Breeders' association will meet today; the Kansas State Dairy association and the Kansas Sheep Breeders' association, tomorrow; and the Kansas Improved Stock Breeders' association, Thursday. The Kansas breeders' Percheron sale will be held in the judging pavilion at 4:30 o'clock Friday.

A conference for potato growers will be held Thursday afternoon. An all day farm bureau conference will be held Friday, and the Kansas Horse Breeders' association will meet Thursday evening and all day Friday.

Exhibits are a feature of the meeting. That of corn and other grains by the Kansas Crop Improvement association is an annual affair. The displays by mother-daughter canning clubs are attracting attention. The exhibits by boys and girls are of particular interest to the young people.

The speaker at the general session last night was Dr. Thomas Nixon Carver, professor of rural economics in Harvard university, whose subject was, "The Farmer's Income as Affected by War Conditions." Dr. Henry Jackson Waters, managing editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star, and former president of the college, speaks this morning on "Rural Community Action in a Government at War."

TRY OUT FOR "UNDER COVER."

Students are Competing for Parts in the Next Play.

Try outs for "Under Cover," the Purple Masque play which is to be put on in March, are being held in F-3 this week. There is still time for persons to try for parts. Any one wishing to try for a place on the cast may see Miss Ada Dykes, coach in G-33.

MID-WEEK DANCING AT END

COMMITTEE ON STUDENT AFFAIRS DECIDES THAT TOO MUCH TIME IS WASTED.

Complaints Have Been Made That Students Loiter at Popular Lunch Room—Committee Also Places Ban on Meetings College Campus.

No more afternoon and evening dancing downstairs at Harrison's—that is the edict, promulgated last week and put into effect yesterday, of the college committee on student affairs. At the same time the committee decided against allowing classes to hold meetings off the campus, except at the Y. M. C. A.

The action of the committee in refusing to allow more dancing in the Harrison confectionary grew out of complaints made that students were wasting their time at the popular lunch room. Since "Johnny" purchased a player piano and placed it in the dining room, many students have passed away spare time at Harrison's.

The committee's announcement follows:

"At a meeting of the committee on student affairs held this week the matter of class meetings being held off the campus was brought up for consideration. The committee voted to disapprove meetings of classes held anywhere except in buildings on the campus or the Y. M. C. A. This of course does not include social affairs which have been formally approved by the committee.

"For some time the committee has had under discussion the practice of dancing during business hours in Harrison's lunch room. The committee has gone into the matter quite thoroughly and unanimously voted that students be notified that the committee disapproved of such dancing and request that it be stopped from this time on. This decision was arrived at after some six weeks of careful investigation.

HAMPS CLAIM MOST FRESHMEN.

But Prof. Sanders Says Short Courses are Worthwhile.

The traction short course classes for this year range from 15 to 28 in each section for those taking the first year's work.

There are two class sections of the second year students with 10 to 30 members respectively. Of this number there are thirty students from the farmer's short course, the remainder are taking either traction or shop short course work.

"This is a smaller enrollment than last year, but the way in which these students are taking hold of the work," said Prof. W. H. Sanders, "is an indication of the serious thoughts they are giving the subject and the necessity they feel for being better prepared to meet the present farming conditions."

ATTENDS IDAHO CONFERENCE.

Aggie Drainage Man Important in Western Gathering.

J. B. Marcellus, drainage and irrigation engineer, spent last week in Idaho attending a joint conference of agricultural, live stock, engineering and irrigation societies held at Idaho Falls, Idaho. This conference is similar to Farm and Home week.

Mr. Marcellus will address the Idaho Society of Engineers and the Irrigation Congress he has spent seven years in Idaho in engineering work, and attended these meetings at the request of the secretary of the joint conference committee.

OFFER TO CARVER?

WELL-FOUNDED REPORTS INDICATE THAT BOARD IS ASKING HARVARD MAN.

NO ONE WILL DENY RUMORS

Doctor Carver Said-Stopped a Direct Question as to Truth of the Reports.

States That Board Need not Look Outside Present Faculty for Capable Man.

AN ECONOMIST OF HIGH RANKING

Doctor Carver is Head of His Department at Harvard, and is Recognized as an Authority—Has Appeared at This College Before.

Were Aggie students who attended chapel yesterday morning listening to the talk of their next president as Dr. Thomas Nixon Carver, professor of economics at Harvard university, asked and answered the question, "Is democracy worth saving?"

There is no one who will answer the question, either affirmatively or negatively.

Doctor Carver was interviewed yesterday afternoon, that is, if a refusal to say anything constitutes an interview. When the question, "Have you received an offer?" was asked the prominent economist did nothing more than smile his usual smile.

Finally he permitted himself to be quoted to this extent,

"You can say for me, that as far as I can see, there is no reason why the board should go outside the present faculty to pick its man."

All Answers Indefinite. After delivering himself of that statement, Doctor Carver hid his thoughts behind an impenetrable mask. Yes, he liked the school. He had been here a number of times before, and knew the lay of the ground pretty well. And it was a fine day, wasn't it?

The students liked his talk? Well, he was glad of that. He always liked to please an audience, especially a student audience. How long had the snow been on the ground?

To that extent Doctor Carver was "interviewed." On other questions, or on the real question of the presidency, he either had nothing to say, or shifted the subject without even saying that he had nothing to say.

The wise ones are guessing that the board has offered the presidency to Doctor Carver, and that he is considering that offer. Attempts to communicate with Governor Capper and Dr. Wilbur N. Mason, chairman of the state board, on the long distance telephone, failed last night.

Authority on Economics.

Doctor Carver occupies an enviable position in the field of economics. He received his doctor's degree from Cornell university, was professor of economics at Oberlin college for a number of years and for the last 14 years has headed that department at Harvard.

He is the author of several standard texts on subjects related to economics.

Asks Democracy's Worth.

"Is democracy worth saving?" This question was asked by Doctor Carver, yesterday morning.

"A democracy may be just as bad as an autocracy depending on the kind it is," said Doctor Carver. "It may be made up of undisciplined persons, or it may be the kind of democracy in which every person does just as he pleases regardless of anyone else—then it is not worth saving.

"The world as it is now constituted is an unsafe place for undisciplined democracy. The world has always been ruled by disciplined people, and of those there is more than one kind. First, there is the discipline of the benevolent despot, and a disciplined autocracy will always rule over an undisciplined democracy. The other discipline comes from within—this is the discipline of the true democracy. It is a law of the universe that dis-

DOCTOR CARVER PLEASED.

If Dr. Thomas Nixon Carver is to be the next president of this college, he has made a good start, for at student assembly he won the good will of the student body.

Doctor Carver seems to be of the dynamic, good natured type of a scholar who mixes well with men, and makes lasting friendships. His vigor was impressive, but not more so than his understanding of human nature.

There are many who have not given up hope that Dean Jardine is to be the next executive. But those same supporters of the Aggie agriculturalist probably agree that if their candidate cannot be chosen, Doctor Carver is the man for the place.

The Collegian wishes it could say for sure that the president had been named. But there are strong, strong indications that he has, that the choice is being kept secret and that the man's name is Carver.

When you draw No. 110 out of the dean's box next Tuesday, and know that you will be able to take out an assignment, say, in a week or so—right then, won't you be pretty dog-goned sorry that you didn't have those electives doctored up this week?

ARE THE AGGIES PIKERS?

Just because "bear" stories have been circulated that the Clevenger has basketball aggregation wouldn't amount to much this year, many students did not buy their customary season books. But the Clevenger men exhibited their wares Saturday, showed that they will in time become a real team, and it is up to the student body to do an about face and boost for the five.

The season book and seat sale has been discouraging. Coach Clevenger frankly admits. Has the taste of a championship dulled our appetites for the kind of basketball that Aggie fans will see this year? If it has, why win championships?

LEADERSHIP OF COLLEGE MEN

When the history of America's part in the great war now raging in Europe is written, there will assuredly be glory enough for all, from the humblest alien-born citizen battling to preserve the freedom for which he crossed the ocean, to the descendants of those who fought for our independence. But one of the brightest pages in this history will be the record of what our college men have done. And this includes undergraduates, faculty members and alumni.
With one accord they have followed the call of duty. Virtually 25 percent of the student bodies of all our great universities have enlisted in the service and many more are waiting to be called in the selective draft. The vast number of alumni who have offered themselves is shown by the fact that the compilation of war records is properly monopolizing the columns of our university publications.

Perhaps it sounds trite to say it,
but the very prominence college men have taken, first in molding America's attitude toward the struggles before we were drawn into it; next, in asserting the rights of the United States, and finally in contributing the best of their blood, intelligence and money to assure victory, is a record of positive, aggressive leadership such as college men should be taught to admire. One of the magnificent things about America's participation is the great number of university men, professors, physicians, surgeons and scientists, who have abandoned their work, frequently sacrificing big incomes, to lay everything on their country's altar. The intercollegiate intelligence bureau is a striking example of how our university graduates, even before the war involved this country, began to mobilize their resources to be ready for any emergency.

Finally our universities have organized the America University Union in Paris, where students and alumni

Pa and Ma Drop In
On Their Unsuspecting
Freshman Sonny Boy

Freshmen usually haven't been away from home more than a dozen times in their short life times, and some of them have a "hoopin bug time" here for a while.

The scene of this little sketch is laid in a rooming house near Aggieville. Johnnie had just gotten in from supper, and an awful deed had just been committed by him. He had purchased a box of cigarettes. He pulled out the old chemistry, and looked at it with a feeling of disgust. With a whoop he tossed it over into one corner, called in the gang and proceeded to have a good time.

Hank had been "out among 'em" the night before, and so far had not reported his date to the gang. Johnnie reminded him of the fact, but Hank replied that it was none of the gang's business.

Now everyone knows it is a rule in a freshe gang to give ten "spats" for cussin' or any other breach of rules, so Hank was doomed. Off went the coats and spectacles, and thump-thump-thump around the room they went. The clock fell off the shelf, and the table upset, scattering books and papers all over the room. Finally Hank reformed just as the "spats" began to fall, and he gave up the desired information.

A few miles away a train was speeding toward Manhattan carrying freshie's pa and ma. Pa was dum-bering peacefully, while ma was munching a sandwich. On, on came the train, and pulled into the station. Ma rushed pa and they put on their things and caught a taxi.

In the meantime Johnnie had pulled out his package of cigarettes. Just as peaceful rest comes after an arduous task, so these freshmen sat back with their feet perched upon the table, filling the room with a cloud of smoke.
Their hair was ruffled, their collars half off, and the room was a "right to be seen." Just at this moment someone looked out the window and saw the taxi.

An unearthly screech came from Johnnie's direction, and that was all the warning that was needed. Johnnie dashed for the bath to change his appearance. The others threw open the windows, cleared up the room in hot haste. Several open books were placed in a strategic position on the table, with some suggestive papers lying near. Johnnie came out of the bath just as the door bell rang, and the visitors dashed for their various rooms. When pa and ma came upstairs Johnnie was so deeply occupied with chemistry that he did not notice pa and ma watching him for several moments, when ——— (censored) ——— Ma was smiling to see her son so deeply occupied, and pa wore a deeply satisfied look. Ma then opened the basket filled with fruit cake, cocoanut pie, and strawberry jam.

Oh, these freshe days are great days. Of course all freshmen get over it and in due time become reserved and learned as all college men should be. But, oh, how one feels when he recalls that first visit from pa and ma.

Poetry Contest.

A great many people have the poetic bug without the poetic, while others unsuspected, can write rhymes of real merit. Therefore the colm will put on a contest in four line verse, similar to the above jingle from the Boston Transcript. A competent judge will be obtained, and the best ones published in the Collegian in a couple of weeks. A humorous sort is preferred. So if you have an idea, write it down in a four line jingle and send it to box 193 at the post office.

"What are you going to do about the fellows who have no common sense?" asks Alex Melkielejohn. Nothing. They'll do it themselves.

They put a g on a Hun down at Yuma, Arizona the other day.

The Russians exemplify liberty without the fiber.

Nat Goodwin says he prefers the old fashioned woman, and this is how he describes her: "I think a woman should do everything she can to make herself beautiful, and intelligent, useful and interesting." Phew! And he says she's old fashioned.

The Illustrated World says this about man: "Oh, man, you are as frail as a bubble. Science says the opposite sex has more stamina, more endurance than you can ever hope to have. Your place is second in the race." Biff-bam-boora! Hold 'im!
Hold 'im!

The same paper says this about woman: "Woman, you are more nearly the primitive type than man; you are more a savage, more barbarian." Our heroes are few and far between, but this we know—the editor of the Illustrated World is a brave man.

Remarkable Remark—"I'm almost afraid to say anything around you for fear you will put it in the paper." Yea verily.

The other day as the colm was peacefully walking down the street up came a feminine representative of Mars, looking her fist within one-fourth inch of our peaceful whiskers.
The trouble was that we didn't pick the beauty winners to suit her. As a protection to the colm's chin we hereby predict every candidate will win first place. That ought to suit 'em all.

Having gotten that affair straightened up, someone will now probably disagree with us, as to whether a colm has a chin or not.

The beauty contest being over, the next exciting thing will be the semester exams.

Co-eds Converse On Dates While Eating
Pickles In Cafeteria

"Say," whispered the co-ed as she crammed one more pickle down Broadway, "Jennie says George and Heleen have busted up. Whoda tho' it?"
"What?" murmured the other, as she bit a castor bean in two. "Well, wouldn't that getcha?"

The other moved closer, and in a voice just loud enough for those at surrounding tables to hear, said,
"Don't chano, I've had seven dates this week, and turned down seven more dups."

"Huh, that high flyin' society boy,
Mr. ——— has been tryin' to get a date with mah, and I sure told him, nothin' doin'."

A Collegian newsgatherer happened to be sitting near, and he became interested in the conversation and found out who the young ladies were, where they stayed and who knew them. As a matter of personal curiosity he asked a roommate how many dates they had had in the week just passed, and this was the reply:

"Oh, they are the ones, who have been trying for a date for two weeks with that shorthorn."

More Dope On Question
Do Women Really Think
It's a Kitten This Time

Meow Me-e-e-ow

The whole class turned as one person as the friendly kitten trotted down the aisle toward the teacher's desk.

"Meow" said the kitten again as she mounted the platform. Since kittens were ever more fascinating than 'profs' (except young married ones)
all the girls turned their whole attention to the charming feline visitor.

The professor soon realized that there were too many odds in favor of the cat since she was occupying a conspicuous place on the edge of the platform, so he arose from his chair
That was just what Tabby was waiting for. With a graceful bound she landed right in the center of his chair and curling there in feline grace she emphatically and other abstract 'selves' one's feet are likely to become tired, so the professor decided to sit down again. He turned and drew the chair towards him. The class held its breath Was he going to sit on the purring pussy? Tabby, however, had been out in the world long enough to learn to look out for herself and with a hard look on her pretty face jumped down in time to save being mashed.

In defiance of the recent assertion that members of the feminine sex never think, Tabby evidently thought, for she leaped right into the middle of the astonished professor's lap!

A veil of silence is drawn over what followed, but if Pussy was capable of expressing herself in human language, she would probably say:

"Of all bad thoughts within my ken,
I'll reserve the worst of these for men."

COLLEGE JOURNALISM

College journalism is one of the unappreciated arts. And yet it is more than passing strange that it should be, for, as a means of preparation for the future of any student, its equal is difficult to discover among the various activities of college life.

In no matter what branch of business or professional life the college graduate finds himself, he is obliged to have ideas and to express them on paper at times. Besides he is a college man he is supposed to think intelligently and, by the same token, he is expected to possess the ability to express his ideas lucidly and accurately.

To report actual events for publication in a school paper gives the student both material and purpose; and there is no branch of writing that demands more excellent practice in the co-ordination of ideas and rapidity and clearness of observation.

The desire to write well is incipient in every college student. Nothing is more amusing than to see a writer wrap himself in a maze of words from which it is more difficult to extract the meaning than it is to "squeeze blood from a turnip." Nothing excites more admiration than a business or social letter that is couched in clear flowing English. Yet many of us content ourselves with a "hit-and-miss" method of writing on the grounds that we are possessed of that spark of genius that enables us to put our thoughts on paper.

It is the aim of a college paper to entertain, to furnish news, and last, but by no means least, to serve as a means for the development of literary ability among its contributors.—The Mississippi.

THE STUDENT IN THE WAR

By HERBERT HOOVER
United States Food Administrator

(From the Patriotic News service of the National Committee of Patriotic Societies, Washington, D. C.)

To the college men of America I address myself with confidence, a confidence born of unforgettable experience.

In the relief of Belgium, most of the actual work of the Commission in the occupied territory was done by young American collegians. Each time a call was made for volunteers many more than asked for offered their services. And those that were chosen performed their duties, not only effectively but with a spirit of devotion that made their service beyond praise. They combined idealism and efficiency. It is the combination that moves the world forward.

Today all the young college men of America face a special responsibility and duty. At no time in the world's history has the technically trained mind been at a higher premium. And this need for it and demand on it will continue after the war is over. Hence the young man in college is faced with a serious problem. He must ask himself: Is the immediate need of me by my country in my present stage of training greater than this need will be later, and when I have acquired a higher training? This is a question the clear answer to which cannot be indicated for all by a single formula, because the young men in college find themselves under varying circumstances. Yet an answer in general terms is some helpfulness may be made.

To the younger men, the lower classmen, only beginning their professional training, I say: Keep on with your college work. If the war lasts long you will be needed more later than now; and you will be better qualified to fill the need then. If the war ends soon, there will still be urgent need for your help in the necessary great work of reconstruction and rehabilitation. The more advanced your training, the more valuable you will be. So try to possess yourself in patience and stick to your college work.

To the upper classmen, I would say: Hold yourself ready to respond to your country's present need at any moment. Where you see your way clear to make your training useful, do not hesitate to follow the way. But you, too, should remember that every additional month or semester of training will make you a more effective helper to your country in this time of its emergency, ever growing more critical. So be willing and ready to go out, but go in no thoughtless hurry, nor merely to satisfy the natural restlessness of the moment.

Finally, to both lower and upper classmen, and to the great army of American college and university graduates, I would say: The country looks to you for justification of the advantages it has given or is now giving you. You are a privileged class

All special privilege brings special responsibility and special duty. Yours is the advantage of the expanded mind and the uplifted spirit. Your knowledge of the conditions and needs of your country, and your understanding of the real meaning of patriotism should be beyond those of the many denied your privilege. Therefore, your response to the call of your country's need should be quicker, more insistent, more persistent and more ready to adapt itself to any form of this need than that of the unprivileged many. You have already responded nobly to the call to the colors. But not all of you can now march to battle; not all of you should try to, but all who should not or cannot, and all who are sticking to their work of making themselves fitter for their future service can still serve, and serve now. There is very much that you can do right now.

I would call your attention to just one of the many ways in which you can help, and help importantly. It is the way to insuring the absolutely necessary food supply to ourselves, and to our Allies.

Especially must the matter of the food supply of our Allies be stressed. The vital world problem of food is not generally understood. The popular view is too self-centered, too selfish—to use an ugly word. It does not look across the sea. The backwash of Europe's misery does not carry to our shores. We do not know, and hence cannot feel, the pangs of hunger, and pain of hunger weakness that are everywhere in Europe. They are pains felt by our Allies as well as by our foes. We must make this known to all our people, that all our people may understand the great indispensable and immediate role they must play in this all-important part of the war situation. You who can readily understand must help.

You can impress on the people around you, and wherever you go, the fact that the critical phase of the world food problem is now, not the question high or low prices, but the question of producing and saving and sending enough food to our Allies to keep them alive and strong and steadfast in war. The critical question now in this war is the question of the actual physical strength of the fighting nations.

You can understand it, and you can explain it. You can help us let the people of this country know that our Allies depend absolutely on us to maintain their food supply. They, themselves, simply cannot do it. It is not done for them by us the end of the war is near, and it is a bad end, an inconceivable bad end. From every American college man the country expects the truest devotion, the truest patriotism and the highest service. And it will get it. You will give it.

It is wonderful and a pity, too, that mere military force is accomplishing at camps with millions of our boys, what no kindness, no argument, no entreaties of parents have ever been able to do, get them up early in the morning and to bed in seasonable time at night.—Judge Ruppenthal.

discipline rules, and there is no going against the laws of the universe."

Major Needs Come First.

In a football team, each player does not play for himself but for the whole team, pointed out the speaker, and so it must be with a nation. The disciplined man subordinates the lesser needs of the individual to the larger needs of the group, and thus a disciplined people has the essential teamwork. Democracy will win in the present war only if the devotees of that democracy so sacrificed that good teamwork is accomplished.

Much has been said recently about spending money freely in order to keep it in circulation and thus make for prosperity. In this the people should be careful as to whether the money kept in circulation is spent on frivolities and non-essentials or in ways in which it can help the government. If invested in Liberty bonds, it is spent and will circulate, and will do much good, as will also money that is given to the Young Men's Christian association and the Red Cross, while money spent for mere peacetime trivialities simply makes for exchange.

Exchange is a good thing only if it permits specialization of production, and under these conditions work will be done better. Exchange simply for the sake of trading is valueless from an economic standpoint, because nothing is produced.

Topeka, Jan. 19.—Two hundred and seventy-five Kansas republicans met at the National hotel yesterday afternoon and pledged their support to Henry J. Allen, of Wichita, for governor and promised to keep his candidacy alive for him during his absence in France as a commissioner of the Red Cross. Allen's presence as a speaker at the war conference made a convenient occasion for the gathering of the clans and the enthusiastic send-off given his candidacy was very cheering to him. He was all smiles after the conference.

"The boys will look after my affairs for me while I am away," he said, "and I am more than content to leave things in their hands."

NOTES ON THE GAME

Referee Quigley made a good talk on the subject of war conservation between halves. He had a good voice and impressive manner of delivering his talk.

Some of the crowd showed some poor sportsmanship when they hooted at Ames man when he was practicing once during a period of time out. We have a record of good sportsmanship, but such actions as that will never help it.

There was a good crowd at the game, and after seeing what the Aggies can do, the gym should be packed for the next game.

Van Trine showed his old time form, and it looks like a record season for the star Aggie forward.

MANY MACHINES IN LABORATORY

Sent Here by Motor Co. for Students to Examine.

The tractor laboratory is now filled with new engines sent here by different motor companies in the United States. These machines are here free of charge for the traction students to study.

It was found necessary to take some of the steam engines elsewhere to store in order to allow sufficient space in which the students may work.

The International Harvester company sent one Mogul, 10-20; one from Titan, 10-20; and the unmounted parts of another, 10-20.

The Emerson Brantingham company sent one tractor 12-20 and a motor transmission the same size, unmounted.

Other tractors that were sent are one complete tractor from the Allis-Chalmers company, 10-15; one from J. I. Case Plow Works, 1020; trade name Willis Cub Junior; one from the Russell company, 12-25, trade name Little Boss; one from Moline Universal, 8-16 and one from Buffalo Pitts, 4675.

The steamers that were used by the laboratory consist of a Russell 22-66, Big Boss; an Avery Undermounted, 30-90 and an old decrepit Huber, rating unknown. More motors and steamers are expected soon.

THE NAVY AND THE COLLEGE MAN

By Hon. Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy.

(From the Patriotic News Service of the National Committee of Patriotic Societies, Washington, D. C.)

It is vital to a powerful navy to have powerful guns and powerful ships, but they are only so much well-fashioned steel unless they are manned by officers and men with trained minds and hands, with steady nerves and heads. We have today in the Navy all the men we need until ships under construction and repair are furnished and put in commission. The greatest need, therefore, is for officers who know how to sail a ship, how to man its guns, how to organize it to fight.

The Navy's reliance upon the Naval Academy for educated and capable officers in peace times is well placed. Since the war began this fine institution, unsurpassed in the world, has doubled, but today its facilities are inadequate to graduate officers as rapidly as they are needed.

But all the normal sources of officers combined did not serve to give as many as the expanding Navy needed, and we turned with confidence to the civilians with love of the sea and some knowledge of seamanship to qualify themselves for command. Before war was declared there were some reserve officers who had shown talent and are giving evidence of ability, but many of the men initiated into the glorious company of naval officers came direct from civil life, and upon their willingness to learn, their swiftness and their aptitude we must depend for a large increase in the number of those who are to be given command of ships.

The Navy has given warm welcome to college students and college graduates. I wish I could personally shake hands with each college man who has entered or will enter the service. I would like to say to each:

"You will touch here with the stimulating traditions dear to all who love the Navy.

"Your country has confidence in you. You will justify that confidence in proportion as you master the work which you are entering. Its rewards come only to those of good courage whose minds are wholly given to learning the mysteries of modern fighting craft.

"I am empowered officially to welcome the youthful defenders of our country. You come as citizens called to duties of citizenship in time of war. When civil liberty is at stake, civilians become warriors. So today the Republic has gone to war!

"As you may be called into service you will go to the fleet, to the patrol, to the transports, to whatever duty you will be assigned with the feeling that you have shown that civilians can do whatever there is need for them to do.

"You are engaged in a righteous war, and when faith in right shall triumph over faith in might, as it surely will, you will share with the veterans of the Navy the gratitude of a people who have never looked to their Navy in vain.

"I do not know what particular service you will be called to do. I can not lift the veil. One thing I do know, however, and that is that you will be worthy of the noble work into which you enter. May the All-Wise Provi-
